

Paul Harvey to Appear at Texas Tech March 16th

Ropes FFA Members Compete in Houston Livestock Show

Nine members of Ropes FFA are competing in the 1976 Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo being held February 25 through March 7. Entering market barrows are Scott Drake, Brad Pettiet, Jeff Arnwine, Marley Huie, Janet Duesk, Kenneth Chambers, Doug Willis and Brad Norrell. Larry Dalton entered a market steer. Their teacher is Johnny B. Pritchard.

The competition in the junior events is set for the second week of the show when 4-H and FFA boys and girls from all sections of the state will be vying for top premiums and prices.

This is the largest junior livestock show in the country.

These young people will join adult exhibitors in seeking premiums of more than $445,500, a new record for the Houston show. Approximately 20,000 entries are expected.

The show is again being held in the $18 million facility with rodeo performances in the Astrodome.

Rodeo audiences will be treated to performances by eight great stars: Freddy Fender and Tanya Tucker, Feb. 28; Olivia Newton-John, Feb. 28-29; Charley Pride, March 1-2; Rufus, featuring Chaka Khan, March 3; Glen Campbell, March 4-5; Charlie Rich, March 6 and Mac Davis, March 7.

Ropes Student on Deans List

Wesley T. Bradshaw, senior physical education major from Ropesville, has been named to the dean's honor roll for the fall semester at West Texas State University.

To be on the dean's honor roll, students must have at least a 2.25 grade point average on a 3.00 scale.

Bradshaw is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C.E. Bradshaw of Route 1.

GSPA to Decide 1976-77 Policies At Annual Membership Meeting

Members of Grain Sorghum Producers Association will convene at Lubbock's Hilton Inn March 12 to develop policies under which the national commodity organization will operate in 1976-77.

Subjects to be discussed by the membership will be governmental versus private grain inspection, overseas market promotion, types of farm programs to be pursued and policies affecting grain sorghum producers.

Morning activities will include discussions dealing with production costs, overseas market promotion and grain grading problems.

Hubert Dyke of Washington, D.C., vice president of the U.S. Feed Grains Council, will discuss potential for market development in Eastern Europe, Russia, the Middle East and Asia, focusing on the producer's responsibility in financing overseas promotion.

Dr. Burton French of Washington, D.C. will discuss findings of the national Department of Agriculture cost of production study, conducted by a task force which he headed.

Ross Stewart, USDA grain inspector from Fort Worth, Texas, will review grain grading problems and possible solutions.

Officers and directors will be elected during the afternoon business session. All activities of the day-long meeting, with the exception of the executive committee meeting, are open to the public.

Art Association Events for March 16

The Lubbock Art Association will feature a number of activities Sunday, March 14 at the Municipal Garden and Arts Center.

From 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. a special slide presentation entitled "25 Years of the Lubbock Art Association" will be narrated by Conny Martin, former LAA president and well-known area artist. The program, which is a part of the Art Association's participation in Lubbock's Bicentennial celebration, will show contributions made by LAA to the cultural life of the city and the region.

In addition, the works of students in LAA's classes at the Garden & Art Center, will be on Continued On Page Two

Historical Costumes Program Scheduled By South Plains Genealogical Society

Historical research through the study of clothing will be the subject of a color slide program presented by the South Plains Genealogical Society at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, March 11 in the Municipal Garden & Arts Center, 4215 University Avenue.

Guest speaker will be Betty Savage Mills, Curator of Costumes and Textiles at the Museum

News commentator Paul Harvey will visit Lubbock and Texas Tech University on March 16.

During his one-day visit, sponsored by the Business Administration Council (BAC) of the college of business administration at Texas Tech as a bi-centennial event, Harvey will speak on "A Time to Be Alive" at 8:15 p.m. in the Municipal Auditorium.

Tickets are $3 and $4, and are available at Hemphill-Wells, Furr's Family Center, University Center, Dunlap's, Montgomery Ward, and room 172 in the Business Administration Building.

Harvey is scheduled to arrive at 4:30 p.m., Tuesday (March 16), by personal jet. He will meet with Dr. Carl Stem, dean, college of business administration, and student and faculty representatives. The Saddle Tramps have planned a red carpet welcome for Harvey when he arrives on campus.

Paul Harvey News, often referred to as the world's largest one-man news network, covers about 600 radio stations, 100 TV stations and 300 newspapers.

He has four record albums which include his personal philosophy and a collection of voices of great evangelists of the past. He has also authored four books: "Remember These Things," "Autumn of Liberty," "The Rest of the Story," and "You Said It."

Listed among the "Ten Best-Dressed Men," Harvey has been the recipient of nine honorary degrees from various colleges and universities around the country.

He has been chosen as First Annual Colonial American for 1976. The citation says: "Paul Harvey, modern Minute Man and American Patriot who communicates nationwide the true spirit of '76!"

"The BAC is sponsoring Harvey's visit to Lubbock to give West Texans the opportunity to hear this commentator who is so popular in this area," said Rick Liberty, student president of the BAC.

Survey Shows Deep Soil Moisture Available for '76 Crops

While South Plains farmers cast a worried eye toward drying top soil and cloudless skies, most of them can take comfort in the fact that down under that dry surface is good, coil moisture.

A survey of 87 locations in 14 counties across the South Plains completed in early February shows that a "significant amount of moisture is being held in the subsurface layer from one to five feet deep," according to a report released this week by Oliver Newton, agricultural meteorologist with the National Weather Service.

The report indicates that with the exception of two or three small areas, only two to four inches of moisture are needed from now to May to provide adequate moisture in the soil profile from Parmer, Castro and Swisher counties all the way south to Dawson County.

This moisture is needed to get this season's crops up and going. Newton, who is based at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center just north of Lubbock, says that dry weather since last November generally has led farmers to believe that preplant watering to get their 1976 crops started is all but certain. This may not be the case.

"Needless to say, the top 12 to 18 inches of soil is very dry in virtually all parts of the South Plains," Newton said. "Most areas will need from two to three inches of moisture prior to planting time. This must be supplied by rain or irrigation in order to get the crops off to a good start. Most of that moisture will have to come fairly close to planting time in order to get the crops germinated."

Newton is optimistic about getting the needed moisture, according to past rainfall patterns over the years.

He said that late fall and winter seasons of the South Plains are usually dry but with an occasional wet month. More significant, the bulk of the rainfall over a year's time comes during the spring and summer months when the agricultural needs are greatest.

To take advantage of spring rains that may occur, Newton believes farmers should prepare their land early and delay the preplant irrigation as long as their water supply will permit. Then, if two inches of water or less is required to fill the soil profile, there is a reasonably good chance that early spring rains will provide this moisture and eliminate the need for a preplant

A&M to Observe AG Centennial Week April 5-9

State and national leaders will explore the future of Texas agriculture at College Station April 5-9 during Agricultural Centennial Week, a special feature of the Texas A&M University centennial celebration.

The April 5 program will observe "Youth and Agriculture Day" and feature four presidents and vice presidents of state youth organizations.

"One of the real challenges to Texas agriculture is to identify future trends and directions as we advance toward a new century," said Dr. L.S. Pope, A&M associate dean of agriculture and conference chairman.

"Our program will cover a broad range of agricultural issues that have impact on the Texas scene, such as export trade, energy restrictions, chemical use, weather problems and the role of food in foreign and domestic policy," Pope noted.

Following the youth and agriculture salute, a two-day symposium is set on the theme: "Maintaining Agriculture's Momentum into the Century Ahead."

A luncheon program on April 6 will recognize outstanding leaders in Texas agriculture.

The third annual Texas Animal Agriculture Conference on Thursday and Friday will complete the Agricultural Centennial Week. L.A. Maddox, Jr., beef cattle specialist, is conference coordinator.

Pope said the Agricultural Centennial Conference will be one of the most comprehensive ever held at Texas A&M. "It has been planned especially for youth concerned with agriculture's future as well as for state agricultural leaders, ranchers, stockmen and representatives of the state's agribusiness segment," he emphasized.

Lubbock County Extension Agent

Do you ever have trouble making decisions? 4-H'ers are some of the best "decision makers" in the country!

They learn this process through project work and through specialized decision oriented activities—by participating on judging teams.

Teams are being organized now in livestock, grasses, horse, and dairy judging. All interested 4-H'ers are urged to try to become a member of any one of these teams.

Or, if some of you adults have ever worked in these areas, we would appreciate your help in instructing these teams.

Several 4-H'ers participated in the Houston Livestock Show this week. Those attending were: Brend Drennan, Cindy and Kevin Mitchell and Diane Hitt of Wolfforth; Terri Daniel, Blake Anthony, Byron May, Jana Winter and Rafe Foreman of Idalou; and David Stuart and Ann Chalk of Lubbock. A lot of effort and long hours preceded successful 4-H projects.

If you would like to learn to manage your time and money, make crafts, take care of children, help decorate your home, or about the inside track on dating—get in a 4-H project group.

For more information on all of these activities call the Lubbock County Extension Office at 763-5351, Ext. 235.

4-H is where the action is!

Pewter Looks Antique But Wears Durably

Americans trying to "recapture the past" for Bicentennial celebrations find pewter suits their needs—it looks antique but is durable enough for everyday use.

One recent innovation is fine pewter flatware, usually in satin finish with stainless steel knife blades, fork tines and spoon bowls. Also, decorative pewter figurines, often depicting Colonial and American Revolution characters, are popular.

When selecting pewter flatware, look for good quality workmanship. Hold each piece in your hand. It should feel comfortable and well balanced. Some pewter is hollow-handled and feels light. Others with a solid handle are much heavier.

To deal with the heat problems of pewter, manufacturers have developed pewter look-alikes. These non-pewter alloys have the look and feel of antique pewter but are stronger, more durable and safe for freezer-to-oven-to-table use.

When purchasing pewter—especially flatware—it is important to check manufacturer's labels and tags for care information. Coupled with its 'new' elegance and variety of designs available, most pewter flatware is dishwasher safe.

But other pieces should be washed by hand in warm sudsy water. Rinsing in hot water and drying immediately with a soft towel will help prevent water-spotting.

Pewter polish may be used occasionally to restore original sheen. Either pewter or silver polish will renew bright-finish pewter. Read and follow directions.

Some pewter and simulated pewter has a protective finish and shouldn't be polished. Like silver, pewter in frequent use will develop tiny scratches that blend into a patina.

Consumer Update

The wide variety and number of menswear patterns show how popular sewing for men now is. Pattern companies are featuring designs for all aspects of wearing—accessories, sleep and lounge wear, sports wear, dress wear, formal wear and outer wear.

Getting rid of clutter makes cleaning easier and makes the family feel better too. It only takes a few minutes to pick up newspapers, dishes, clothes and toys. Then quick treatment with a dust cloth and vacuum cleaner make a room presentable between more thorough cleanings.

A basic repair tool kit should contain a good claw hammer, a big and little slotted screwdriver, a medium and/or small phillips screwdriver, slip joint or parrot pliers, a six-inch adjustable wrench, a shop knife with disposable blades, a push drill, putty knife, and ice pick or awl.

"How to Raise a Crook"

1. Begin from infancy to give the child everything he wants. This way he will grow up to believe that the world owes him a living.
2. When he picks up bad words, laugh at him. It will encourage him to pick up "cuter" phrases that will blow the top off your head later.
3. Never give him any spiritual training. Wait until he is twenty-one, and then let him decide for himself.
4. Avoid the use of the word "wrong." It may develop a guilt complex. This will condition him to believe later when he is arrested for stealing a car that society is against him and he is being persecuted.
5. Pick up anything he leaves lying around—books, shoes, clothing. Do everything for him so he will be experienced in throwing the responsibility onto others.
6. Let him read any printed matter he can get his hands on. Be careful the silverware and drinking glasses are sterilized, but let his mind feed on garbage.
7. Quarrel frequently in the presence of the children. Then they won't be too shocked when the home is broken up.
8. Give the child all the spending money he wants. Never let him earn his own. Why should he have things as tough as you had them?
9. Satisfy his every craving for food, drink, and comfort. See that every desire is gratified. Denial may lead to harmful frustrations.
10. Take his part against the neighbors, teachers, and policemen. They are all prejudiced against your child.
11. When he gets into real trouble, apologize for yourselves by saying, "I never could do anything with him."
12. Prepare for a life of grief—you will have it.

Prov. 22:6, "Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old, he will not depart from it." from the Presbyterian Journal

Services Held for Bert Deavours

Funeral services for Sidney Bert Deavours, 66, prominent retired farmer of Shallowater, were held at 10 a.m. Friday in the local United Methodist Church with Rev. Tommy Ewing, pastor, officiating.

Burial followed in the City of Lubbock Cemetery under the direction of Franklin-Bartley Funeral Home.

Deavours, a resident of Shallowater since 1942, died around 11 p.m. Tuesday night at his home, after a brief illness.

He was very active in local affairs, having served on the Shallowater City Council for 11 years, and the ASC board for several years, was treasurer of Masonic Lodge #1279 at the time of his death, and a member of the United Methodist Church.

Survivors include his wife, Eula, two daughters, Mrs. Sara Johnson of Nacogdoches, and Betty of 4302 Chicago Avenue in Lubbock; four sons, Jerry, Sidney, Jr., and David, all of Shallowater, and Jimmy of Lubbock; two sisters, Ethel Davis of Kerman, Calif. and Ruth Sherrod of Acuff; two brothers, Ted of Omaha and Raymond of Whiteface; and 8 grandchildren. He is also survived by three step-children, Lawrence Roberts and Roy Wayne Roberts of Shallowater; and Melba Joyce Hobbs of Lubbock; and 7 step grandchildren.

Pallbearers were Sam Evans, Kenneth Shropshire, Bruce Davis, Carey Gooch, Ed Anderson and A.C. Henderson.

Honorary pallbearers were George Blackmon, Merl Galbraith, Gerald Clifton, Rumaldo Flores, Sr., Rosco Sides, Luther Vaughan and Ade Miller.

Services Held for Mrs. Laura L. Cook

Funeral services for Mrs. Laura L. Cook, 83, of 2010 43rd St., in Lubbock were held at 2 p.m. Wednesday in the First Church of the Nazarene with the pastor, Rev. Charles K. Kirby, officiating.

Burial was in the City of Lubbock Cemetery under the direction of Franklin-Bartley Funeral Home.

Mrs. Cook died at 6:40 p.m. Monday in West Texas Hospital after a lengthy illness.

A native of Shelby County, Mrs. Cook had lived in Lubbock since 1935 and formerly operated Mrs. Cook's Belt and Button Shop and was a member of the First Church of the Nazarene.

Survivors include two sons, Jack W. of Shallowater and Joe W. of Ropesville; one daughter, Dorothy Newton of 1518 38th St. in Lubbock; six grandchildren and seven great grandchildren.

Services Held for Wade Hardy

Funeral services for Wade Hardy, 84 year old former Shallowater area resident and Lubbock County Sheriff from 1928 to 1932, were held at 2 p.m. Monday in Byrum Funeral Home Chapel in Lancaster, with Rev. John Jackson, pastor of the Lancaster First Baptist Church, officiating.

Burial was in Laurel Land Memorial Park in Lancaster, directed by Byrum Funeral Home.

Hardy died at his home in Lancaster Friday morning from natural causes. He lived in the Hardy community in the 1920s where he had farming and ranching interests, prior to servicing a 4 year term as sheriff of Lubbock County.

Survivors include his wife, Essie; one son, Dr. Douglas Hardy of Dallas; a daughter, Mrs. Lovann Montesi of New York; one brother, Alton Hardy of Lubbock; a sister, Mrs. Vivian Ragland of Abernathy and 8 grandchildren.

He was an uncle to Billy Hardy of Shallowater, and a cousin of Mrs. M.T. Stanton, Mrs. J.E. Wright, Jessie Lee Vance, C.C. Vance and Mrs. Scottie Moreland, all of Shallowater, and a distant relative to several other Shallowater area residents.

Sister of Shallowater Man Dies in Ralls

Funeral services for a former Shallowater resident, Mrs. Myra Watts, 84 years old, were held at 10 a.m. Saturday in the First United Methodist Church in Ralls, with the pastor, Rev. Dick Richards and Rev. H.B. Coggins of Abernathy, officiating.

Burial was in the Ralls Cemetery under the direction of Carter Funeral Home.

Mrs. Watts, a native of Kosse, died at 8:30 p.m. last Wednesday at her home in Ralls, following a lengthy illness.

She moved to Shallowater from Bremond in 1926 where she resided until she moved to Ralls in 1942, where she lived at the time of her death.

Survivors include three sons, Millard of Cobina, Calif., Merwin of Texas Xity, and Wayne of St. Louis, Mo.; one daughter, Mrs. Bob Kimbrough of Ralls; two brothers, R.R. "Babe" Warren of Shallowater and C.G. Warren of Kosse; one sister, Mary Warren of Pasadena, California; 19 grandchildren and 8 great grandchildren.

Shallowater Woman's Sister Dies

Services for Mrs. Elsie Lunch Davis, 64 years old, of 4109 30th St., in Lubbock, were held at the Resthaven-Singleton-Wilson chapel with Horace Coffman, associate minister of the Broadway Church of Christ officiating. Burial followed in Resthaven Memorial Park.

Mrs. Davis, a sister of Mrs. Eula Deavours of Shallowater died at her home after a lengthy illness.

Well, sire, the Southwest Conference fathers withstood the pressures and reaffirmed their first pronouncement—two Texas A&M players were recruited illegally and were suspended.

The general betting was that there would be a whitewash and no action would be taken. Instead, the conference followed the dictate of the courts, held a hearing with players and witnesses present and then stood by their original statement.

Karl Godine and Jarvis Williams are suspended for the playoffs and for one additional season, which means that they have two years of eligibility left—if they stay at Aggieland.

No other punishment was applied. The Aggies were not forced to forfeit any games in which the players appeared. There was no probation. The Aggies may appear on TV. At first glance, it would appear that, for the infractions, A&M got off pretty easy.

True. But if you buy that, you're overlooking one thing. The conference turned its information over to the NCAA, which can review, investigate further, impose stiffer penalties or take any action it deems necessary.

What the conference did, in essence, is to say that we found A&M guilty, which is the important thing. The league is vindicated in its action. Now, you take the ball, NCAA, and run with it. That takes the heat off the conference.

Writers from Houston here for the Houston and Rice basketball games are convinced that, before it's all over, the NCAA will dig into the overall A&M program and that the whole story will come out. And, they say, when it does, it won't be pretty.

Many conferences have done the same as the SWC, imposed minor penalties and left the harsher action up to the NCAA. The NCAA has more power and authority.

One of the most asked questions is, why the delay in SWC action? Leon Black of Texas turned the information over to the conference in September, but it's five months before any action is taken.

The answer is simple. The action wasn't taken through the courts, there was no supponea powers and the investigating agency had to come by the answers through hard digging. And that takes time. Apparently the agency got the answers in the long run.

*****

The finals of the SWC basketball tournament are coming up and there are some good games on tap. SMU and Arkansas ought to be a real barn burner, while Texas Tech and Houston also is a top attraction. Moody Coliseum should be filled.

The first round games were a financial flop. The crowds, as expected, were non-existent. People stayed home in droves, although the Houston-Baylor game was a topnotch attraction.

Rick Bullock deserved better from Tech fans and students than the meager turnout on "Rick Bullock Day." The big center has been terrific for four years and the ovation, from 3,602 fans, was great, but it should have been 10,000 fans.

With all due respect to the supporting cast of players, Bullock has been the key since he's been at Tech. He's been the spark and he will be sorely missed.

Despite what the stories said, Leon Black stepped down because he courageously, and honestly, blew the whistle on A&M. He is to be saluted for his courage.

Black has, overall, done a good job at Texas. The former Longhorn guard won a couple of championships and, in the process, developed a lot of good players. And, with a new facility coming up, it's a shame that he won't be around to enjoy it.

Pro athletes are getting some bad advice and you wonder how much longer they are going to listen. It's gotten to the point where sports for sport's sake is gone. The sports field is big business, especially when Organized Labor enters the picture.

Okay, so athletes join a union. They can expect from business the same treatment awarded to any labor union: No contract, no work. It's a sad note.

The owners say okay, you want an agreement, a contract, fine, sign here. Labor (baseball players) answer that they don't like the terms—but they want to go to spring training.

The owners won't open the camps, which are essential for the players. They say that without a written agreement, there won't be any spring training. You went to the courts to get the reserve clause removed. Okay, now come up with a workable alternative.

The general public, which doesn't give a tinker's dam about reserve clauses, contracts, agreements or anything else, is fed up. Let's get on with the action, it said.

The breakthrough has come, however. No longer are football, basketball, golf, baseball or any other sport purely sports. They are big business, dependent on the public, sponsors, owners. Something is going to have to snap. When it does, the public may well be the big loser.

Shallowater Study Club Meets

The Shallowater Study Club met Tuesday, March 2 at 1:30 p.m. and answered roll call to "Our landscaping problem is."

Twenty members enjoyed a program on current landscaping ideas and many questions were answered pertaining to specific problems we've had in our lawns and gardens.

The program was given by Tom Coons in the Sculpture Terrace of Holland Gardens.

Members were served refreshments of ribbon sandwiches, decorated mints and strawberry punch, in the Dutch Mill.

The next meeting will be March 16th in the home of Mrs. H.V. Newman, Jr., where we will see children's fashions.

From The Lions Den

Members of the Shallowater Lions Club met in regular session Thursday night, February 26, at the Shallowater Restaurant with their wives as special guests. Each lady was presented with a lovely corsage, compliments of the Lions Club.

A very enjoyable bi-centennial program was presented by Tim and Tad Sinclair, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Burt Sinclair. They played the banjo and mandolin and a trio composed of Melissa Cox, Lisa Gates and Kim Hickox sang several numbers for the group.

The Shallowater Lions Club will be selling light bulbs, door to door, through today (Thursday) and participating in "White Cane Day." All proceeds and donations will go to the District 2T2 eye bank.

Frenship Student Wins Scholarship

by Ronda Newsome

Joe Johnny Rosales, a Frenship High School student, was awarded a $250 Myrtle Tanner Scholarship during the Pan American Student Forum Convention in San Antonio, Texas.

Rosales was awarded the scholarship on the basis of his intent to study Spanish in college, his grades, leadership abilities, and his participation in PASF activities.

Joe Johnny has been active in the Frenship PASF Chapter for two years, and currently serves as second vice president for the Lubbock District of PASF. He is president of the Frenship High School student council, and last fall was co-captain of the Tiger football team.

Outside of school, Rosales is a member of the Wolfforth Volunteer Fire Department.

He will use the scholarship to attend Texas Tech University in the fall.

Joe Johnny Rosales and fourteen members of the high school Spanish Club attended the PASF Convention last Friday and Saturday in San Antonio.

Teacher Spotlight

by Ronda Newsome

The teacher spotlight this week focuses on Mrs. Guajardo, a Frenship High School graduate. Mrs. Guajardo graduated from Texas Tech with a bachelors degree in education. She majored in English and minored in Journalism. She has also earned her masters degree in education.

Mrs. Guajardo taught ninth grade English at John McAdams Jr. High in Albuquerque, New Mexico, for one year and taught reading improvement and language arts at Lubbock High School. She spent 2 years teaching in Slaton, Texas, and has taught English at Lubbock Christian High School.

Currently at Frenship, Mrs. Guajardo teaches ninth and tenth grade English.

Born in Lubbock, she married Tony Guajardo. They have one son, Michael, who is a sophomore at Monterey High School.

Mrs. Guajardo's hobbies are playing golf, working in her yard, and writing poetry.

Spanish Club News

by Ronda Newsome

Fifteen members of the Frenship Spanish Club El Grupo Amistoso, attended the Pan American Student Forum (PASF) convention in San Antonio February 26-28. Keynote speakers at the event were Senator Lloyd Bentsen and Cactus Pryor.

Approximately four thousand students from across the state attended the activities which included workshops, Spanish entertainment, and the general sessions.

During the convention, Joe Johnny Rosales of Wolfforth was awarded a Myrtle Tanner Scholarship by the state PASF.

Members attending were Anne Lindsey, Rosie Lara, James Stahl, Shirley Russell, Lisa Pierson, Cathy Orndorff, Ray Martinez, Dessie Bilbrey, Deborah Smith, Carla Yates, Sylvia Rodriguez, Terri Fausett, Terri Walker, Joe Johnny Rosales, and Tony Garza.

Mrs. Nelda Dunn, Frenship High School's Spanish teacher sponsored the group.

Sheridan's Ride

by Jack Sheridan

Good heavens to Betsy, what a week this has been! Consider: In the past six days I have reviewed no less than three plays, two movies, made a half hour radio broadcast and continued work on a current book. All this despite the continuous annoyance of audible interference from my next door neighbor from Hereford, who has a fix on local radio programming that has disrupted much of the personal work being conducted in my home. Funny, you can, as the old saying goes, take the girl from the farm but you can't take the farm from the girl.

Each of the items above needs almost a column in itself but space limitations are going to discipline the comments to brevity, which is too bad. For every one of the three plays I am going to mention and the film that is most important deserves much, much more. I am going to treat these things in chronological order: that is, I'll start with a week ago Tuesday and come down through the week to this time of writing, which is again a 6 a.m. Tuesday (again thanks to my feminine alarm clock next door!)

After a near disaster last month, the Hayloft Dinner Theater has healthily redeemed itself with a sparkling and funny charade about a bank heist and its effect on a number of kookie people called "Three for the Money." This comedy is a winner and Les Craver and staff can beam all the way through March. It's a slight play but under the astute and knowing direction of Texas Tech drama man, Larry Randolph, the piece has pace, flair and style. I'll not summarize the plot but I will name the case; they deserve it. The show stealer is Toni Cobb of Lubbock, a small and very, very funny girl. Every moment she is on stage is a laughing moment and surrounding her is a happy group consisting of Rebecca Galloway, Bart Williams, Steve Berin, Tom Salvo and Barbara Bennett.

"Three for the Money" at the Hayloft is a delight and lots of fun. You can't go wrong on fare such as this to brighten an evening.

Next on the list came the Lubbock Theatre Centre's third play in its Bicentennial season, Arthur Miller's searing and meaningful "The Crucible." This is really a conversation piece and a lengthy one set in Salem, Mass., in 1692. This was the time of the infamous witchhunts and mass executions and guilt by inference. If you are old enough to remember the devastating career assassination hearings conducted by Sen. Joe McCarthy in our own time on communism, then the message of "The Crucible" is all too clear.

No ordinary community theater group would be brave enough to tackle such a demanding play but in the hands of Lubbock Christian College's drama head, June Bearden, it has been tackled and tackled with high distinction. The stark setting by Rick Houston, the canny, just right costumes by Roger Titus and a cast too numerous to mention (and they deserve it) is just right. I must mention Gary Brown as John Proctor, Frances Beall Whiteside as Elizabeth, David Yirak as Rev. Hale, Vivian Thomas as Tituba and Don Donohue as Giles Corey as outstanding. Bravo, LTC, you scored!

Now, a word about the Texas Tech University Theater's production of Tennessee Williams' "The Rose Tattoo," so handsomely set by Forrest Newlin and directed with sharp perception and intelligence by Ronald Schulz. The play is a comedy but it is not an easy one to stage. It was staged beautifully, spearheaded by a sensitive Rosemary Parks as the pivotal role of the widow, Serafina Delle Rose. She was quite wonderful. Again, there is a lengthy cast and Miss Parks is ably supported by Bradley Leland Williams as the truck driver with dependents, Alvaro Magnicavallo, and the whole ensemble. "The Rose Tattoo" was another solid triumph for the Tech drama group and again put a gilt edge on the Bicentennial theme of works by native American authors.

The movie mentioned is, of course, the nine-nomination Academy Award contender, "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest," currently at the Winchester Theater.

Among those nominations are best actor, Jack Nicholson; best actress, Louise Fletcher; best picture; and best supporting actor, Brad Dourif. They all deserve any award that comes their way.

The film traces the havoc wrought in Nurse Fletcher's zombie-run mental ward when Nicholson (either an illness faker or a free spirit) displays the kind of leadership that neither Fletcher or the system can cope with.

This is a long film, two hours and 13 minutes, and rated R. It is a veritable portrait gallery with stunning and just-right casting. Produced by Saul Zaentz and Michael Douglas (Streets of San Francisco) this Fantasy Films picture is funny, tragic, violent and colored with continuous shocking and raw language that, in this case, fits just right. However, if today's permissiveness in language is offensive to you, please be warned; this picture has all the words.

The final 20 minutes or so of this picture are mutely shocking. But it all is just right under Milos Forman's brilliant direction.

Jack Nicholson is up for his fourth oscar nomination (he has never gotten one, yet) and if he doesn't swipe it this time, then there is no justice. His is a fascinating portrait and cores the entire film. Louise Fletcher with all her autocracy is chilling and understandable. The best supporting actor nomination is for Brad Dourif, an unknown young man playing the disturbed Billy Bibbit. He is simply marvelous and, if he were not competing against the veteran George Burns (Sunshine Boys) in this category, he would have his statuette. His is a singularly touching, matchless performance.

William Redfield as the brainy Harding, Scatman Crothers as Orderly Turkle, Danny De Vito as Martini, and, especially, the huge Will Sampson as Chief are as right as any casting could be. Sampson is stunning as the deaf and dumb mute and his later scenes are tremendously affecting.

Last Sunday I was, for the third time, a half-hour guest on station KTEZ-FM's Sunday conversation program. Manager Art Christensen is the astute host-questioner and time spent with him is time happily spent. Incidentally, I may have been the last interview guest in the station's tiny installation way out on University Avenue. KTEZ-FM moves into new studios in the Tower of the Plains Building on 50th Street within days. I'm proud to be one of their guests and I congratulate them on their steady, solid growth in the community.

Next week, comments on "1776", Lubbock Community Concerts Association's final event of the season; "The Sunshine Boys" and more.
