National Farm Safety Week

Austin - The Texas Safety Association today urged Texas farm families to join in observing National Farm Safety Week, July 24-30.

J. O. Musick, TSA General Manager, also urged all persons and organizations allied with agriculture to unite in the nationwide effort to reduce the number of accidents among farm families.

Accidents kill some 8,300 farm residents each year, and an additional 760,000 or more are victims of disabling injuries.

"This is an alarming situation, not only because of the grief to loved ones, the expense and unnecessary suffering, but also because of the monetary loss to the nation," Musick said. "Farm families and rural leaders must make a joint effort to eliminate hazards—at work, in the home, at play and on-the-road."

The 1966 farm safety campaign will place special emphasis on the prevention of highway accidents involving slow-moving farm vehicles.

Farm residents are being urged to use the new SMV emblem on all slow-moving vehicles, such as farm tractors.

The motoring public is being urged to stay on the alert for the emblem.

"The average motorist does not realize how slowly the vehicle ahead of him is moving until it is too late to avoid a collision," Musick said.

"Under normal conditions, recognition of the emblem would provide ample time for the motorist to safely reduce his speed."

Watch for SMV

Austin - The Texas Safety Association warns motorists to be on the alert for slow-moving vehicles on rural highways. Many of these vehicles such as the farm tractor, are displaying the new SMV emblem to make it easier for motorists to recognize.

The emblem, a fluorescent yellow-orange colored triangle with a dark red reflective border about 14 inches high and 16 inches wide, is placed on the rear of a slow-moving vehicle so it can be easily seen by other drivers, day or night, from a distance of 500 feet or more.

IN HOSPITAL

Mrs. J. H. Roberson and Joe Bert returned home Saturday from Vernon where they had been attending the bedside of her mother, Mrs. B. P. Abston.

Mrs. Abston underwent major surgery there last week and is still in the hospital. She is reported doing fine.

NOW AT HOME

Mrs. W. T. Martin was returned to her home the first of this week from a Lubbock hospital, and is reported to be improved.

How About Your Trash?

How about your trash? Ours is scattered from here to yonder this week because it was not emptied last month.

For the past two years we have received complaints, as has City Hall, from one to seven a month, that people's trash cans around town have not been emptied, as they are supposed to be.

Each family in Ropes pays a compulsory fee every month for this service. Since it is automatically added on to the water bills each month, every trash can in town should receive the same service.

There have also been several complaints that trash barrels have been hauled off because they have holes in them, with the promise of bringing the family another barrel.

We feel sure no one would complain about this if the trash barrels were replaced, and also each one would be happy to pay for the new barrel.

But if another barrel is not available to replace the old one, it should not be picked up.

In our part of the country it is impossible to burn trash without a container because of the high winds.

We make no suggestions as how to straighten this situation out, but we do say that if the job is going to be done, and people are going to have to pay for it, then it should be done right.

We would like to say that the columns of the Plainsman are open to anyone who would care to air their views. The only stipulation is that the letters be signed, and your signature will be withheld upon request. We would welcome opinions, either pro or con, on this or any other matter which concerns the majority of our readers.

So, write your letter today and either bring it by, or drop it in the mail.

Mr. and Mrs. Sid Price

CARD OF THANKS

The All-Star team and their managers wish to thank the many people who went to Seagraves to help support them and cheer them on.

We thank the Ropes Lions Club for making it possible for boys to participate in Little League here at Ropes and hope it will continue.

ON SICK LIST

Randy Pierce, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Pierce, has been ill this past week with a sore throat.

The Freeman family celebrated their annual reunion this past Saturday and Sunday in the new Yakum County Park. There were between 150 and 160 present.

Out of the original thirteen children there are only six left. Of the six, there were four present. A sister of Salida, California was unable to attend, and another sister, Mrs. J. L. Grace of Denver City was in the hospital at that time.

The four present were M. A. Freeman of Denver City, S. L. Freeman of Santa Clara, California, Mrs. Bill Jeffcoat of Denver City, and Mrs. Emory Hobbs of Ropesville.

Also present were the Hobbs children, Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Hobbs and family of Seagraves, Mrs. Lillian Gryder and boys of Brownfield, and Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Hobbs and family of Ropes. Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Dorsett and family of Brownfield were on vacation in Colorado and were not present.

IN HOSPITAL

Aubrey Mayfield of Smyer is in Highland Hospital in Lubbock suffering from a blood clot in his leg.

Aubrey and Ann and children are former residents of Ropes, and their many friends wish for him a speedy recovery.

ON SICK LIST

Flora Martin, local post master, has been ill with a virus this past week.

4-H Projects Day Sat.

There will be a Projects 4-H Day at the Women's Building in Levelland this Saturday, July 30, beginning at 9 a.m.

The program will explain the many different projects a 4-H member can carry.

Each member is urged to attend, and take a sack lunch and pencil and paper. If you want to go and need transportation, call Mrs. Roy Carpenter, 562-4966 Ropes, or

Mrs. John Ream, 2576, Smyer. Here are some dates that Ropes 4-H members will want to remember:

August 1 - County Records to be judged.
August 9 - 4-H Records due in District Office.
August 11 - 4-H Records to be judged.

Reporter, Pam Ream

PASSING BY

Homer Henderson

From my study window, I watch the busy highway. The cars go by too fast to see the passengers inside. Seldom do they ever stop in our town though sometimes they slow a little to obey the law. I get so used to the regular hum of the tires that I hardly notice the traffic and know that they pass without really seeing me or my house or my town. If a patrolman stops them on the other side of speeding, I suppose they will truthfully say to him, "We were listening to the radio and didn't realize we were going through...." Between important places of departure and destination, they pass us by unheeding on their way with warm memories of places left behind and expectant hopes of future destinations.

From my study window, I watch the afternoon train with my little boy and hope the evening train's whistle won't wake him up. "Train, Daddy, train!" Sometimes the engineer waves if we're in the yard. Then cars with far off names appear. Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Missouri. "Caboose, Daddy, caboose!" So from terminal to terminal the commerce of the nation goes clicking by with an air of power and schedule and purpose.

From my study window, I watch the farmers on the way to the field, fighting weeds, changing water, harvesting, plowing, planting again. Two in a pickup, then one on a tractor. I watch them home in the evening to warm welcomes and home-grown meals and company of friends. I watch them between hot fields of hard work and warm homes of reward for their labors.

From my study window, I watch a youthful evening of teenage cars on their way to dates and excitement. A muffler rumbles, a heart beats with the rhythm of a freedom only youth can know, a freedom blessed with the security of parents who care and provide, a freedom made possible by a home left behind now but waiting when the evening is ended.

From my study window, I watch a dog passing by with a bird still fluttering its wings in his mouth. I wonder if the dog will eat it on the steps or bury it in the backyard for some future banquet of triumph. No doubt his master who loves him will give him a pan of cool water to go with it, a pat on the head, a safe place to sleep, a familiar place to guard with a bark by night.

From my study window, I watch these passers by, these symbols of belonging, of leaving behind and going somewhere. Leaving behind that which is meaningful, going to that which is fulfilling. Then I see a little boy of dark skin and ragged clothes. He does not hurry. He walks with an air of not going anywhere in particular, bumping a stick along the ground. The stride of purpose is not in his step. What of his memories? What of his hopes? What of his today and all the tomorrows like it when he will just pass by? I see in him the words of Robert Frost, "Nothing to

Carolyn Faye Bethany, Troyce Sosebee Marry

Miss Carolyn Faye Bethany became the bride of Troyce Wylie Sosebee Friday evening, July 22 at 7:00 in the home of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Martin.

The bride is the daughter of Ray Bethany of Wolforth. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Sosebee of Ropesville.

Before a floral arrangement of white gladiolas and greenery, the couple repeated double ring wedding vows with Garnie Atkisson of Lubbock, former Church of Christ pastor at Ropes, officiating.

The bride was attired in a floor-length gown of white, featuring a full-length train decorated with sequins and seed pearls. Her tiara was covered with sequins and had a veil. Her gown had a heart-shaped neckline, and long sleeves that came to a point over her hands. The ensemble was trimmed with lace. She carried a white Bible topped with a bouquet of white carnations. She was given in marriage by her grandfather, Jim Martin.

Sue Sosebee, sister of the groom, was maid of honor. She wore a blue dress with white accessories, and carried a white rose.

Johnny Epperson served as best man, and Richard Burns, brother-in-law of the groom, was candle lighter and usher.

Kathy Allen presided at the photograph, which furnished music for the wedding.

Following the wedding, a reception was held in the Martin home. The bride's chosen colors of blue and white were carried out. The table was covered with a white lace tablecloth underlaid with blue. The centerpiece was an arrangement of white gladiolas. Serving at the reception were the groom's sisters, Mrs. Kay Nell Wylie, Mrs. Linda Burns and Mrs. Patsy Smith.

After a wedding trip to Clovis, New Mexico, the couple will reside in Lubbock.

look backward to with pride, and nothing to look forward to with hope." He must be the least of all these who have passed by my window. "Is it nothing to you, all you who pass by? Look and see if there is any sorrow like my sorrow." (Lamentations 1:12)

Myrl stated that they are in the process of grading the ditches to rid us of a few weeds.

JEST SOME THOUGHTS

We have probably made a lot of people unhappy this week with our editorial about the trash haul—but we feel we stated the opinion of the majority of the people, which is what we're here for.

How a most beautiful sight this past week. North of Tahoka on the Lubbock road is one most attractive roadside park we have ever seen.

It's beautiful red cannas and bright green grass and trees catch the eye for some distance down the road.

Then on through Tahoka at the Highway Department Headquarters, the yard is also filled with colorful flowers.

We don't know what member of the Department is responsible for this, but he certainly should be commended.

We haven't seen a yard that can compare with this roadside park.

Here is the work of a man who takes pride in his job, and likes what he is doing.

Right now the crops are in such need of rain that people rejoice in hearing a clap of thunder—even though it's far off.

Who knows, maybe tomorrow we'll be blessed with a little sky juice.

That's one thing about human nature—the constant thoughts that give us hope.

If we couldn't hope, we would give up—quick.

Different people hope for different things, and it might be amazing to find out the hopes of some persons.

We are reminded of the old adage, that everyone's closet contains a skeleton.

Some of them just have larger bones than others and rattle louder.

A small town is the place where everyone's closet is aired at one time or another.

That brings on another adage, if people would clean up their own backyards first, they would never get around to their neighbor's.

Guess that better bring us around to about the end of this column for another week. We hope to have another next week.

Nola Knows

By Nola White

Dear Nola - I've fallen for a girl from a poor family. My Dad's wealthy and she knows I stand to inherit a lot of money. She says she loves me, but I don't believe her. I think she's after all that dough. Is there any kind of test I can put her through to find out if she really loves me?
Loaded and Scared

Dear L and S - You can tell her you just got disinherited and act the part by selling your car, getting yourself a job and going to her house every night for supper and TV. If she tolerates that and comes up smiling, it's love, Buddy.

Dear Nola - Parents won't let teen-age girls do anything. Will being so strict now do any good? When I get out of school I intend to go to business college in the city and make up for all I missed.
Roaring Sixteen

Dear Roaring - At sixteen you haven't missed a thing. Parents are sometimes too strict, but you sound like the kind that needs a tight rein. My advice is to work as hard at your school work as you do at rebelling against your parents and you'll be a first class student and a fairly likeable daughter.

Dear Nola - I love my wife and our children, but I'm about ready to throw in the towel. I'm a quiet man and love my home, but my wife is always on the go. She's never home nights—always some kind of club. The maid is rearing the children and we are lonesome. I'm sick of the whole mess. What should I do?

Ready To Go For Good

Dear Ready - You promised the preacher "for better or for worse" and it sounds like you got "worse". If you assert yourself, perhaps your wife will stay home, but you owe it to your children to stick it out.

Dear Nola - I'm having trouble with my Daddy and he says he'll abide by your decision. I have to work until 9 o'clock every night and Daddy says I have to be home from my date by 12. That doesn't give us time to see a movie hardly. Do you think 1 o'clock is too late for me to stay out?

Time Limited

Dear T. L. - One o'clock certainly sounds reasonable for a gal who works until nine. Try it that way for a couple of weeks and if the loss of sleep doesn't interfere with your work, maybe your Dad will relent.

Dear Nola - My Dad is a career Army officer and I've been lots of places in the world. The girls don't seem to think I like them because I've known so many foreign girls. I can't get any of them interested in me. This is a real problem. What can I do?

Army Brat

Dear Army Brat - Be more Army and less Brat. The guys don't like you because you brag and brag about where you've been and wh, you've known. I'm sure it impresses them—negatively. Come on down to earth and be a regular fellow and you won't have this trouble.

Dear Nola - My problem is our son, six. Or rather, it's his father, thirty-six. Dad never corrects the boy, give him everything he wants, never makes him obey and criticizes me when I do. What do you think of this?
Annie

Dear Annie - I think you've certainly pinpointed the problem. Take Don out to the woodshed and give him a long talk about the sure way to rear a delinquent. If he doesn't heed your advice, don't feel guilty when he has to go down to the station house about ten years and bail the boy out.

Dear Nola - How much money should a man be making before he considers marriage?
Two Poor For Two

Dear Too - He can consider it at any wage, but he'd better not try it until he can not only support two, but maybe three or four.

Dear Nola - My husband loves me almost as much as he loves a golf ball. He plays every day after work until it's too dark to see, then he comes home too tired to talk. Except for this he's a good husband. What should I do?
Golf-Widow

Dear Golf-Widow - In the card room of the same club where he plays golf I'm sure there are three women looking for a fourth. Take up bridge and ignore him. When he's too old to play golf, he'll be writing me to find out how to make YOU stay home.

Send your letters to Nola Knows, Box 411, Temple, Texas. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

ON SICK LIST

Mrs. Merlin Hobbs was reported on the sick list the first part of the week.

ILL OVER WEEKEND

Richard Parchman was reported ill over the weekend.

Panla Elaine Cole, Duane P. Riegel Wed

The marriage of Miss Paula Elaine Cole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Cole of 1022 Practilliano Drive, Santa Fe, New Mexico to Mr. Duane Paul Riegel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Riegel of 1020 Maple Street, Clovis, New Mexico, was solemnized at 7:30 p.m. Friday evening, July 1st, at the Calvary Baptist Church in Santa Fe. The Reverend John J. Cole, father of the bride, performed the double-ring ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Carl H. Cole, of Albuquerque, New Mexico. She wore an empire gown of peau de sole with a bodice of alencon lace which also trimmed the elbow-length bell sleeves and the detachable court length train. The crown held an elbow-length illusion veil. The bridal bouquet was a cascade of white carnations.

For her daughter's wedding the bride's mother chose a mint green sheath of bonded lace with bone-colored accessories. The groom's mother wore a sheath and lace coat of rose pink with pink accessories. Both mothers wore white corsages.

Mrs. Don Ford, of Lubbock, served as the matron of honor, and bridesmaids were Mrs. Tom McCone, of Abilene, and Mrs. Claude Bernson, and aunt of the bride, from Fort Worth. The flower girl was Miss Lorna Thomason, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Thomason of Santa Fe, New Mexico. The bridesmaids wore pale yellow empire floor length dresses of linen. Their floor-length trains were of yellow chiffon. They wore white accessories and carried cascades of yellow carnations. The flower girl also wore a pale yellow empire floor-length dress, and carried a basket of yellow chiffon and green ribbons. All of the bride's attendants wore matching yellow chiffon headpieces crowned with a circle of net.

Mr. Bobby Stice, of Clovis, New Mexico, served as best man. Ushers were Ronnie Riegel, brother of the groom, of Clovis, and Jim Cole, brother of the bride, of Santa Fe. Mr. Mark Lackey, the bride's cousin of Fort Worth, was the ring-bearer. He carried a white heart-shaped pillow edged with lace matching the bride's gown.

Soloists for the wedding were Mrs. Emmett Davis and Mrs. Charles Schmidt, of Santa Fe. Mrs. Schmidt also made the bride's wedding gown. Organist was Mrs. Robert M. Vanderford of Santa Fe.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception for all the guests was held in the fellowship hall of the church. Mrs. Ray Hise and Mrs. Don Williams, of Santa Fe, were hostesses. Mrs. Carl Cole and Miss JoAnna Thomason, both of Albuquerque, helped serve. Mrs. Glenn Young of Albuquerque presided at the Bride's Book.

The couple is making their home at 1720 Hickory Street, Abilene, where the groom will complete his studies at Hardin Simmons University.
