47,000 School Bus Accidents In Past Year

WASHINGTON -- A group of consumer organizations has petitioned the U.S. Department of Transportation to adopt new safety standards for school buses. It was reported there were 47,000 school bus accidents in 1971, taking 150 lives.

State Senator Max Sherman of Amarillo (District 31) was named Wednesday by Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby to head the Senate Natural Resources Committee.

Hobby named chairman for all nine of the Senate standing committees.

He said he feels the assignments provide equitable representation for all geographical areas of the state.

"These appointments recognize the expertise of individual senators regardless of seniority," Hobby said. "However, the continuity of experience is an obvious asset, which is reflected in my assignments of senior senators."

"With substantive committee appointments, freshmen senators also will have a chance to make real contributions to the many complex problems confronting this 63rd Legislature."

The newly adopted Senate rules call for the nine standing committees while during the last legislative sessions Senate standing committees numbered up to 27.

The College of Agricultural Sciences is one of six colleges and two schools at Texas Tech University, which will be observing its Fiftieth Anniversary 1973-75. The fall enrollment was more than 21,490.

Students recognized for their high academic achievement in the College of Agricultural Sciences are:

Entomologists Laying Plans For Boll Weevil 1973 Control Program

Top entomologists in the field of boll weevil control will gather February 20 and 21 at Texas A&M University, review the Texas High Plains Boll Weevil Control Program of 1972 and begin laying plans for control in 1973, according to Ed Dean, Field Service Director for Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock.

PCG is the 25-county High Plains cotton producers organization which organized the program in 1964 as a joint effort between PCG, the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the Texas Department of Agriculture. The bulk of the program is funded on a matching dollar-for-dollar basis by cotton producers and USDA, with a significant contribution in personnel and equipment from the TDA.

Dean reports that aggregate acreage treated in the weevil control zone of 1972 came to a little over 514,000, lying mostly along the eastern rim of the Plains. Fourteen aerial applicators spread almost 60,000 gallons of insecticide to prevent the westward spread of the destructive pest.

If left unmolested, entomologists agree the weevil would spread quickly into vast acreages of cotton in West Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and California -- areas where it does not now exist. These protected areas currently produce almost 30 percent of the nation's cotton.

Dean explains that early season applications of ultra-low volume, non-persistent malathion break the weevil's reproductive cycle, and these are followed by three to four additional applications in late fall to prevent weevils from going into diapause -- the condition in which they hibernate through the winter. Thus the number of weevils emerging each spring to prey on fruiting cotton plants is greatly reduced.

Early insecticide applications are made only on acreage where weevil populations have reached economically damaging levels," Dean said, "with a great deal of care taken to prevent killing beneficial insects except where absolutely necessary."

Beneficial insects on the Plains are the primary deterrent to the development of high bollworm populations. Trained "weevil scouts" are used to inspect every field in the control zone on a weekly basis, checking for both weevils and bollworms. In this way spraying is done on a when-and-where-needed basis, program officials point out.

The Texas A&M meeting will include such noted entomologists as Dr. J. R. Brazzel, Chief of Methods Development for USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service; Dr. P. L. Adkisson, Head of A&M's Entomology Department; Dr. E. F. Knipling of USDA's Agricultural Research Service and Dr. George Slater, Manager of Cotton Incorporated's Entomology Research Division.

Following the Texas A&M meeting, on February 22, the High Plains Boll Weevil Technical Advisory Committee will meet in Lubbock to further develop plans at the regional level, Don Anderson of Crosbyton, former PCG president, is chairman of the Boll Weevil Technical Advisory Committee.

Be sure to make it a point to listen to reason—and reason while listening.

Highest Boy Scout Award Presented To C. T. McCormick

C. T. McCormick

The South Plains Council of the Boy Scouts of America held their annual Awards Banquet on January 20, 1973 at the Red Raider Inn in Lubbock. The highlight of the banquet is the awarding of the Silver Beaver Award to leaders of the Boy Scouts and the Silver Fawn to an outstanding lady scouter. New Tax Law

The last revision of federal tax laws, in 1969, corrected a number of inequities but also left some loopholes for those able to utilize them.

Public and congressional sentiment has been building ever since—in favor of further revision. The expectation now is that a new reform tax bill will be enacted by this Congress.

There are several outstanding areas in which corrective legislation is needed and in most there is considerable controversy over the specifics of that reform. One general principle, however, seems beyond dispute. No citizen with a high income should be totally exempt from all income taxes.

To implement this principle, Congress can and should provide, in any new law, that tax exemptions and tax loopholes are to be utilized to a limited degree only.

Station Responsibility

Much of the broadcast industry is objecting to President Nixon's proposal to make individual stations responsible for their output, rather than the networks.

Despite charges that this is an effort to intimidate stations, the proposal has merit. It would give responsibility and local control to many American radio executives, all over the country, rather than leave that power in the hands of a few in New York.

Perceptive television viewers have long been revolted by the New York City atmosphere, bias, and perversion, which permeate network television programs. If the networks are forced to pay more attention to the wishes of the average station's ownership, that would be an improvement.

There is, of course, strength and safety in numbers. That is why the continuing trend toward larger newspaper chains is disturbing. A large number of independent editorial voices is preferable to concentrated editorial power in the hands of a few.

True Study Difficult

A proper understanding of the history of the world is necessary if citizens in a self-governing country are to pass intelligent judgment upon the issues that present themselves daily.

Such an understanding of history is not to be obtained through making a passing grade on a compulsory course on the subject. It takes personal interest and a desire to understand the past conduct of human beings and nations.

The average person, one may well admit, rarely has the time for extended research of the past. Most individuals depend largely upon their personal experiences to make up their minds and their conclusions are inevitably affected by the ignorance, prejudice and superstition that cloud their thinking.

The Sporadic War-Weapons Tested-McGovern's Debt-The SST-

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Israel and Syria are now fighting a sporadic war, as Egypt and Israel have waged in the past. The latest clashes show Israel's Phantom and Mirage jets can successfully engage the Arabs' MIG-21's.

They also reveal the superiority of Israeli pilots. They do not answer the question whether Israeli jet fighters could successfully engage the MIG-23, which the Russians withdrew from Egypt in 1972. Most air observers think the MIG-23 is a better air-to-air fighter.

In addition to the testing of their fighter forces, Israel and Syria are testing radar, tanks and other equipment in the clashes near the Syrian border. As yet, the Israelis, their military organization, the use of weapons, and their individual combat ability all remain superior.

Senator George McGovern's losing campaign cost over $32 million but the Senator did much better than Senator Hubert Humphrey in 1968 in paying his bills.

Humphrey, with help from others, ran up a debt in the millions in a desperate Democratic bid to hold the White House (and patronage). The party is still struggling to pay it off. The debt is one of the more formidable problems facing Joseph Cole, the party's new finance chairman.

McGovern's remaining debt is less than half a million dollars; his supporters are continuing to pay that off.

The President still feels this country must build a supersonic transport, and the visit of a British official in Washington recently, who sought operating permission for the new British-French Concorde, emphasized the President's conviction.

The White House is to ask a small appropriation from Congress to begin a new study of the SST's effect on the environment, as a result of the President's opinion.

Legislation to strengthen the open meeting law cleared the House State Affairs Committee promptly and landed as the first bill on the House calendar Monday. The measure by Rep. Carl Parker of Port Arthur would delete from present law an exemption for conferences among staff members of a governmental body. It would also remove authority for the governing body to hold closed discussions with its attorney unless ethical obligations of the lawyer are involved.

The bill, backed by Speaker Price Daniel Jr., would further increase the violation penalty to $100-to-$500 fine or imprisonment in county jail for a month to six months, or both. A measure to guarantee access to public records was detoured to sub-committee. GOVERNOR ANNOUNCES PROGRAM--New Gov. Dolph Briscoe swept into office last week laying down a wide-ranging program to the Legislature his second day on the job.

Briscoe emphasized the need for cooperation with legislators and other officials and said he intends to be "the most persistent lobbyist" lawmakers will see this year.

Tone of the Governor's inaugural address and initial legislative message (several supplements are promised to fill in specific details) appeared to impress legislators favorably.

Most criticism centered on Briscoe's get-tough law enforcement program which includes restoring the death penalty for murder of policemen or firemen, legalization of wiretapping as permitted under federal law and admission of oral confessions in criminal trials.

Briscoe's assertion that lowering of first offense marijuana possession penalties to misdemeanor status should await general revision of drug laws also brought some complaints. He planned to present his narcotics law revision to the Legislature this week.

Among the Governor's priority proposals:

Strengthening the lobby registration act and adoption of a new code of ethics, early creation of a constitutional revision commission, penal code revision, laws to curb "fenses" of stolen property and give courts power to deny bail to dangerous offenders, requiring convicts to serve more of their sentences before becoming eligible for parole, more emphasis on vocational education and a requirement that spending bills be accompanied with long-range cost estimates. SENATE RULES ADOPTED--Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby easily won his first big test of authority in the Senate when rules he favored were adopted 24-6.

One of the most significant rules for Hobby restored his power to appoint all Senate committees. A change adopted last September fixed appointments on the basis of seniority, leaving the lieutenant governor authority only to fill vacancies.

Another alteration in which newspaper executive Hobby had a strong interest will require Senators to vote in open meeting on confirmation of appointments by the governor. They will still debate qualifications and character of appointees in closed sessions unless two-thirds of Senators vote otherwise.

Still another change in the rulebook will make it more difficult to resurrect bills on "minority reports" which have been "killed" in committee earlier. Two-thirds of the Senate must vote to permit substitution of minority reports for majority reports of committees. Hobby broke a 15-15 tie in favor of the two-thirds rule.

The Senate rejected amendments to permit shutting off filibusters after 24 hours, to permit Senators to elect their own committees and to throw debate on appointments wide open. They also turned down by a close margin an amendment to retain executive sessions for voting on appointments.

COMMITTEES NAMED--Hobby named veteran Senators to head Senate committees, but he gave vice-chairmanships and sub-committee chairmanship to freshmen.

Chairmanship assignments are: Administration -- Sen. Jack Hightower of Vernon; Economic Development -- Sen. Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells; Intergovernmental Relations -- Sen. Jim Wallace of Houston; Education -- Sen. Oscar Mauzy of Dallas; Finance -- Sen. A. M. Aikin of Paris; Jurisprudence -- Sen. Charles Herring of Austin; Human Resources -- Sen. Chet Brooks of Pasadena; State Affairs -- Sen. Bill Moore of Bryan; and Natural Resources -- Sen. Max Sherman of Amarillo.

APPOINTMENTS--Governor Briscoe named Mark W. White Jr., 33, a Houston lawyer, as his Secretary of State, ending wide speculation.

Prohibition

Prohibition became effective in the United States on January 16th, 1920—fifty three years ago. It was a noble and idealistic experiment, and a hopeless one, for it sought to legislate morals and personal behavior.

Younger citizens find it hard to believe Congress ever voted a ban on alcoholic beverages, and that thirty six states (three fourths of the forty-eight), quickly ratified the amendment. (Only Rhode Island and Connecticut never ratified it.) But that's what happened under emotional pressure of the day from dries.

As many had warned, the experiment was a failure. Bootleggers and gangs then sneaked booze illegally into "speakeasies" and the results were gang wars, bad booze, corruption and a widespread breakdown in law enforcement. The 21st amendment of 1933 repealed the 18th, effective with the ratification of thirty six states, again, on December 5th, 1933.

On Marriage

The trend in recent years, rightly so, has been to allow couples trapped in impossible marriages to gain a divorce, a chance to start a new life.

This doesn't mean, and youngsters shouldn't interpret the trend to mean, that marriage should be taken lightly, or that a genuine effort, of many years, is not necessary to determine the retrievability or irretrievability of a marriage.

One judge recently put it clearly: "The mere absence of Roman candles or champagne and strawberries for breakfast in the twilight years of a marriage is not proof that the marriage should be dissolved," he said. Which may make some think twice and give others new ideas—about breakfast.

S. Miller of Galveston; H. H. Reynolds of Beaumont; Cap. William F. Fredeman of Port Arthur and P. Burgess Griesenbeck of Austin.

Smith also named V. F. (Doc) Neuhaus of Mission to the North Texas University Board of Regents and Thomas F. Jenkins of Winnie and Dr. Frank L. Jennings (reappointment) to the Gulf Coast Waste Disposal Authority.

WELFARE LAW COST TOLD--New federal legislation may cost Texas another $66 million in fiscal 1975, a special study committee reported.

"Findings indicate consequences for Texas are of far greater magnitude than those which might be supposed from federal estimates thus far," the committee said.

The federal government will pay cost of adult welfare recipients, but relaxed eligibility for medical care more than offsets state savings.

The committee estimated adult caseloads will more than double under the federal program.

NEW PLANTS INCREASE--New plant locations in Texas rose last year to a near record total of 355, Texas Industrial Commission reported.

The total was 56 short of the 1969 record and was the second best in history.

Industrial expansions last year came to 316, up from 225 in 1971, but still short of the 1969

TV COMMENTARY

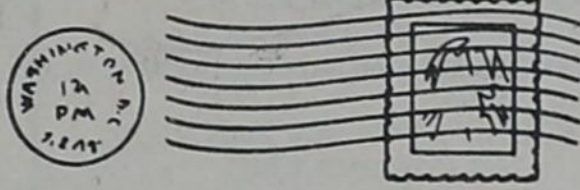

MARLENE DIETRICH'S recent American television debut was quite delightful. In the beginning we yanks may have been a bit taken aback by the simple but chick format, being used to action, movement, high-keyed entertainment. Old World style filtered through over the minutes and a pleasant hour was the result.
CBS will present a tribute to Duke Ellington on February 11th. Among the instrumentalists who'll play in that special are Ray Brown, Louis Bellson, Eubie Blake, Harry Carney, Willie Smith and Cootie Williams.
A WHOPPING BATCH of pilots are now being scanned by network programmers. One concludes that there may be a bigger shake-up than usual in the new season next September. However, when one looks at the prospective show titles, casts and formats, one concludes that there's not much to cheer the seeker of something different.

BBC HAS DONE ITSELF proud again in producing the five-part classic for the whole family "Tom Brown's Schooldays." ETV's "Masterpiece Theatre" continues to woo viewers by presenting shows of this fine quality.
WHILE the Super Bowl was hypnotizing the American male, some stations featured and advertised a Super Movie for the ladies who haven't come to love football. Woe to those couples having only one set.
THERE IS EMERGING a large group of sports spectators who never see a contest in the flesh, but use TV to witness their favorite teams in action.

ABOUT YOUR HOME

Modern silverplate is a great improvement over the silverplate of Grandmother's day. It is just the thing for young couples starting out on their own. It is not expensive and, when made by one of the many reliable companies, it is just as lovely to look at as the most expensive sterling silver.

It is wise to know the difference between silverplate and sterling silver. Silverplate is made by coating a base metal with a layer of pure silver. Most manufacturers use eighteen per cent nickel silver as base metal.

Sterling silver articles are made from an alloy containing pure silver and a small percent of a second metal, usually copper, added for strength.

The main difference between inferior and fine silverplate is the thickness and hardness of the silver used in the plating. Detailed workmanship and reinforcement at the points of most wear are very important. The best quality silverplate should last indefinitely if given the proper care.

The best way to be sure you are getting quality silverplate is to go by the reputation of the maker. A well-established name means that the company will stand behind its silver. It also means that you will be able to get additional pieces to match your chosen pattern for a long time to come.

Other guides for recognizing quality silverplate are; clean, sharply cut designs, good balance and feel, smooth, evenly-shaped edges and a flawlessly finished surface.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

"Dating" a Disease

If you need an operation but have no hospital insurance, you might get the following bright idea: take out insurance first, then have the operation.

Obviously, the insurance companies would not like this sort of thing. To prevent it, health insurance policies often say you are not covered for a "pre-existing" illness—that is, an illness you already had when you bought the insurance.

But when does a disease really begin? Fixing a specific date is not always easy. In one sense, in terms of latent susceptibility, a disease may be traced all the way back to birth. As a poetic judge once put it:

"The seeds of death are sown when the first breath of life is drawn."

But the law generally dates a disease from the time when "discoverable symptoms" first appear. Take the case of a woman who had a gall bladder operation. The insurance company refused to pay her expenses, because she had had occasional stomach pains before taking out the policy.

"Those pains," argued the company in a court hearing, "mean she must have already had gall bladder trouble at that time. Therefore, it was 'pre-existing'."

But the court disagreed and upheld the woman's claim. The judge said mere pain was not a clear enough signal of what she had.

Suppose the disease is already known and simply gets worse. That usually is not covered.

One man had cataracts when he bought a disability insurance policy. His sight gradually faded, and he finally became blind. Was this a pre-existing condition, excluded from his insurance coverage?

A court said it was indeed, because the blindness was a natural, foreseeable development of an ailment he already knew he had.

But in another case, a woman did collect for surgery on a bunion, made suddenly worse when she bumped into a door. The court said the change in her condition was so unexpected and so drastic that it could fairly be called a brand new affliction.

Spice CABINET

- PINEAPPLE SOUR CREAM MUFFINS
- 1 cup dairy sour cream
 - 1 egg
 - 2 tablespoons sugar
 - 1 tablespoon soft butter
 - 1 1/2 cups sifted flour
 - 1 teaspoon baking powder
 - 1/2 teaspoon soda
 - 3/4 teaspoon salt
 - 1 (8 3/4-ounce) can pineapple tidbits

Blend together sour cream, beaten egg, sugar and butter. Resift flour with baking powder, soda and salt. Add to first mixture, stirring just until blended. Stir in well-drained pineapple tidbits. Spoon into greased medium-sized muffin pan. Bake at 400 degrees about 25 minutes. Makes 1 dozen medium muffins.

Sometimes the less you have to do with certain people the less you are worse off.

Handy Helps For Parents

My wife and I finally figured out a solution to the problem of taking a child's temperature. When our daughter refuses to put the thermometer in her mouth, we dip the end in sugar water. There is no effect on the mercury, and she takes the thermometer immediately.—John W. Gates, Novato, Calif.

The parents of a young baby that insists on waking up early should string some bells, rattles, or any other noisemakers across the two crib sides. This will amuse the child for quite some time.—Mrs. Patti Cadorette, Tilton, N. H.

When traveling with small children, take along a covered cake pan. It is ideal for holding crayons, pencils, paper, and small treasures. With the lid on you have a nice drawing board.—Mrs. Verna Finch, Wood River, Ill.

Apply Polish With Puff

Save old powder puffs, wash and dry and give to the children to use to apply paste shoe polish. Store in polish box.

Today's Health News

"Sudden infant death syndrome" (SIDS) is the name given to an elusive killer that claims between 10,000 and 20,000 babies a year in this country alone. Few people have heard of the condition because very little is known about why these infants die. They seem quite well on being put to bed, and are found dead without any signs of struggle or of having suffered any pain.

Even coroners and physicians, ignorant of current knowledge on SIDS, have at times gone along with the idea that the parents were guilty. More than one mother has been indicted for manslaughter when her child was in reality a victim of this insidious and puzzling disease.

SIDS occurs all over the world. Its victims range in age from no more than a few days to as old as nine months, though most are from four to six months old. The victims sometimes are relatively undernourished, but this is by no means the rule. Also, SIDS tends to strike poorer families more often than rich families, though again this is only a trend.

The latest evidence suggests it may be related to a low-grade respiratory infection. It occurs more often during colder weather, and occasionally the infant had a snuffle or signs of a minor cold in the days preceding his death. It is definitely not caused by milk allergy or some of the other real or imaginary conditions such deaths have been attributed to in the past.

In addition to the tragedy of losing these youngsters, SIDS can be far more devastating for parents than losing a child from a better known disease. Because the child had been so healthy, they can't get it out of their minds that they are somehow to blame. If they heard the child cry in the night, but didn't go to him, they are torn by remorse.

Other relatives and friends may hesitate to accept a diagnosis they have never heard of, and so create a network of suspicion around the bereaved parents by implying that their carelessness, rather than sickness, was at fault.

To make ends meet today everyone will have to do more—more doing without.
