SCHOOL AGAIN!

— Don McWhorter

The same agonizing cry comes from the children of our community at this time each year. They are ready to start but not quite ready for summer to end. The excitement of the new school year always brings to mind the sports, the new friends or the reunion with old friends you haven't seen in a while, and the books (Ugh.)

We all have to return to a certain routine whether we are in the class room or not. Mothers have to get back in the swing of the daily lunch details or the catching bus troubles. Dad has to get use to the shortage of bathroom space in the early morning while the kids get ready for school. And of course the kids have to get back in the daily classroom routine. The Friday night ball games and the meetings after them for the high school group are always a welcome relief from the week long book work.

Along with all of these routine activities, we must not forget the church activities. In case some of you have forgotten, we have five churches in Ropes. There is a Baptist, Methodist, Church of Christ and a Nazarene and also a Spanish Baptist Mission.

It seems as though some of our members and community dwellers have forgotten what those houses with the Cross on top of them are for. Maybe we can use this time of getting back into the routine of things to also regain or acquire the habit of weekly worship in the Church of your choice.

Just in case some of you have not heard there are three new pastors in Ropes since the end of school last year. The Methodist have Don McWhorter, the Baptist have Bill Curry and the Church of Christ have Travis Boyd, but of course you know that, you read it in the Plainsman. But, do you know which one is which when you see them on the street? Worship in the church of your choice with this newly acquired habit of yours and you will be able to see them in person, et to know them in the Love of God, and maybe you will get to like them and worship more often.

I've poked enough fun at those of you who have not attended church regularly this summer. There are many who have been very faithful to their churches and many who came except when they were on a much needed vacation. They have not broken their habit and they will be in church Sunday. Won't the rest of you join with them? It does make a difference in the way you live the rest of the week. See you in Church Sunday.

Student Registration Announced For School

BAND PRACTICE

Dear Band Students:

Eagle football players already have begun practicing for the kick off of the 1969 season. To prepare our traditional entertainment and support at games and pep rallies, band members will hold daily playing and marching sessions from 8:30 to 10:30 a.m., August 25-29.

Since we have much work to do before our first half-time show on September 12 at Hart, students who rent school-owned instruments are encouraged to come by the band hall and get an instrument before

Monday morning if possible. Instrumental rental fee is $7.50 per semester. I will be working in and around the band room all this week, but the doors will be open definitely from 2:00 to 4:00 p.m. each day for rental students.

If you own your own instrument, make sure it is in good playing condition before our rehearsals begin, complete with a good supply of reeds, valve and slide oil, lyers, etc. If you play football, come to the early band rehearsals anyway—it's not too soon to get those lips back into shape.

I look forward to meeting and working with you toward a successful year. And our first concern together is football season — so get out your old, comfortable marching shoes and clothes. See you early Monday morning!

Sincerely your,
Dianne Barbee
Band Director

We Agree

We note in the Idalou Beacon the school board has set up some pretty strict rules to be adopted this year for students attending that school. We were also informed that the Brownfield schools had done the same, except perhaps a little stronger.

We do not disagree with their policies, in fact we think they are pretty good medicine, but we expect some irate parents and students will do away with part of the school board members come next election.

T'was ever thus. And yet, to uphold decency, and try to retain a little moral character, we think it is necessary, and would not be upset to see the local schools do the same.

From some of the tales circulating last year, it would seem that sometimes even some of the teachers could do with a little reprimand on their dress.

The Beacon reported the new rules to be adopted as follows:

"In adopting the new rules for student behavior the board set strict standards for dress and grooming, barred the use of tobacco on campus and declared that students may be suspended for the use of alcohol or drugs.

"School men greeted the new policy on student dress and behavior with enthusiasm since the directives provide guidelines for both students and school officials.

"The best way to handle this...is when some old boy comes in to enroll wearing shaggy hair and sandals without socks, just tell him he can't enroll.

"Students must come to school 'dressed properly and neat in appearance,' the board specified. 'If the administration feels the student is not properly dressed the student shall be sent home.'....

"Girls must wear hemlines no higher than four inches above the center of the knees, in some cases even this may be too short.

"Boys must wear socks and may not have long hair or sideburns longer than the middle of the ear. Shirts must be worn inside of waistline of pants except for shirts made to be worn outside.

"Pupils who are parties to the possession, the use or the sale of prohibited drugs or narcotics may be suspended by the principal. The principal will submit to the superintendent a written statement of the suspension with the reasons for the suspension. After outlining appeals channels to the superintendent and board the trustees added 'Pupils shall not use tobacco or alcoholic drinks on the school campus or at school activities.

It was stated that there had been no known use of drugs on the campus, but the explanation for adopting new behavior guidelines was as follows.

"The Texas attorney general advised school officials they should have written policy statements on student behavior, so the board decided to adopt these standards. We are going to enforce them.

"Principals received specific authority from the board 'to remove any person (including pupils) from any school premises for any interruption of school, for disturbance of classes or for any disobedience.'.... 'An immediate call to local police may be made to remove any loitering or disobedient party.

"....Every reasonable effort should be exerted to keep children in school as long as they can profit from school experiences....but authority for suspension of students was spelled out. Grounds for suspension included 'repeated failure to comply with school rules and regulations.

"The board also prohibited the organization of fraternities, sororities or secret societies on the campus."

Some are prone to do as the ostrich, and stick their head in the sand when something of this nature is brought up. The idea of any drugs being in our school system is one that doesn't agree a bit with our ulcer.

But only recently, it is alleged that a man from Ropes had marijuana in his possession. If this is not stopped it could very well lead to sales in school and be made available not only to the high school students, but also to the younger ones as well.

If the point is stressed, and upheld that our schools must retain a measure of dignity, things of this nature will be taken as a matter of course, and not something unusual to have a respected school.

Things have come to a mighty find standing when parents have to be forced to see to it that their children dress and act decently, in order to receive an education.

It is a little difficult to explain to a young girl why she must wear her dresses a decent length when adults, teachers, and even faithful church members are attired in short dresses; or to boys when they see men going about in an untidy manner.

HOW MUCH DO YOU SPEND?

Shop wisely by using your newspaper. Check food ads and see what's on 'special'. Plan around the specials, using favorite recipes, your imagination and courage to try new foods.

If your food costs seem high, then count up how much you've spent on non-food items. Add the cost of cleaning supplies, cigarettes, toys and kitchen gadgets.

Did you know that half of all the aspirin, hair spray and toothpaste sold is purchased at the supermarket? And your local supermarket sells more than 90 percent of all the dog and cat food sold in America.

THE IMPLIED CONSENT LAW

(Part 2 of 5 Parts)

Austin — Colonel Wilson E. Spier, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, said today that the State's new implied consent law which becomes effective September 1, 1969, gives law enforcement a much needed weapon to combat the drunk drivers.

"Depending on area, drinking drivers figure in 40 to 50 percent of the fatal rural traffic accidents in Texas," Spier said. "This is especially significant when you consider that traffic mishaps claimed 3,481 lives in the state last year."

Under terms of this law, a motorist is "deemed to have given consent" to a breath test if arrested for any alleged offense arising out of his actual operation or physical control of a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

If the suspect refuses the breath test, the officer certifies this fact in an affidavit, together with his probable cause for stopping the person, to the Department of Public Safety. This affidavit, when it reaches the DPS, forms the basis for a petition filed by the Department in the corporation or justice court of the county of residence of the person refusing the test to determine if the officer had probable cause for thinking the person was driving while intoxicated.

Should the judge find the officer had probable cause to arrest the person for driving while intoxicated the Department of Public Safety, acting on the court's finding and the officer's sworn statement that the subject refused the test, suspends the subject's driver license for the period set by the judge. The suspension, which may run for as much as one year, is subject to appeal to a higher court.

The implied consent law allows the person detained the right to have a test of his blood alcohol taken by his own physician, qualified technician, chemist or registered professional nurse, if taken within two hours after his arrest.

The law also places the responsibility with the Texas Department of Public Safety to certify breath testing equipment and persons authorized to administer breath tests. Consistent with its policy of assisting local authorities whenever possible, the DPS will offer at least three schools to train city and county officers in operation of the Breathalyzer. These schools, which will be conducted at the Law Enforcement Academy in Austin, will be limited in enrollment to key personnel from localities which now possess, or plan to obtain, breath testing instruments.

Currently, the DPS is utilizing breath testing equipment in a voluntary program. The Breathalyzer instruments are located at central points in some 90 counties, and are operated by DPS officers who have completed an intensive training course. The instruments are checked and serviced weekly by qualified DPS chemists.

"With the advent of the new law, we hope to obtain at least one breath testing instrument for each county, and plan to train additional personnel in their operation," Spier noted.

United Fund Drive Is Now Underway

The Hockley County United Fund Drive is under way, and it is the desire of the Board to start as soon as each community can, and be finished by Thanksgiving.

Again, I am acting as local chairman, but not able to do very much, so the County Drive Chairman, Mr. Don Hopkins, asked me to send him a list of names of people that he could contact and work with and help me out.

These names and their part to help raise Ropesville's amount, I feel sure will do the best job that can be done, and anything that Mr. Hopkins or I can do to help, feel free to call on us. All checks should be made to the 'Hockley County United Fund Drive', and they may be left at the Plainsman office in Ropes, or call me at 562-3455.

Chairmen for the Ropes School District include: Bill Willis, Co-Op Gin and farmers; Charles Shannon, elevators and farmers; Mansfield Thomas, service stations and butane companies; O. V. Fuller, schools; Ronnie McNabb, Busterville; Roy Carpenter and the 4 H Club, residential district of Ropes; Jimmy Sims, Business district; Bill Dodd, Santa Fe agent; and Mrs. Rowland and Horace Abston, Lockettville and Center Gin.

These committee members will be turned in to the County Chairman who will contact them with materials. Any further information may be obtained by calling Mrs. Rosser. Your donation is tax deductible, so your check is a good way to pay.

There are between 250 and 300 families living in the Ropes School District and there is nearly half of our quota; and some business that have headquarters in other towns give quite an amount — the gas company; telephone company; elevators; electricity; so maybe we can raise our quota.

Call me if you need more information and we hope to have all the materials soon.

Thank you for your past cooperation, and may you have success again.

Mrs. L. S. Rosser.

PAY TELEVISION OPPOSED BY TEXAS FARM BUREAU

Waco — The state's largest farm organization has asked Texas Congressmen to oppose efforts to institute a nationwide system of pay television.

Texas Farm Bureau President Sidney Dean of Victoria, in a letter to members of the Texas delegation to Congress, said, "We are greatly concerned about recent news which indicates that the Federal Communications Commission is going ahead with plans for taking applications from prospective pay television station operators with the intention of licensing such stations to begin pay television operations in the 'near future.'"

Dean asked the Congressmen to vote for proposed legislation which would amend the Communications Act of 1934 to provide that the FCC would not have the power to institute a nationwide system of pay television unless specifically authorized by Congress.

"Our Farm Bureau members in Texas have consistently been highly vocal in their objections to pay TV," Dean wrote. "Frankly, we didn't really believe that it would ever happen — or that Congress would let it happen."

Unless Congress intervenes, Dean said, the FCC's actions "may well mean the end of the kind of television programming our rural viewers now enjoy."

"There is no question in our mind that pay TV stations will outbid commercial stations for major sports shows, the best general entertainment programs, and movies which we now enjoy free of charge," the agricultural leader said. "This is the old foot-in-the-door approach with a very predictable and distasteful conclusion for most of us."

COTTON TALKS

Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, is recommending eight specific changes in the Federal Crop Insurance program which the 25 county organization's directors believe will make the program more useful to High Plains cotton producers.

The recommendations were sent to the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation by PCG President L. D. (Don) Anderson of Crosbyton following a recent PCG Board meeting at which directors voted to "make all possible efforts to get improvements in the Federal Crop Insurance program."

Discussion at the meeting was to the effect that changes in the program are badly needed, with some directors stating it should be either improved or "done away with."

Similar action was taken earlier this year, though without specific recommendations, by the Producer Steering Committee of the National Cotton Council, indicating that dissatisfaction with Federal Crop Insurance is not confined to the High Plains.

Anderson's letter to the FCIC outlined the following suggestions:

- (1) Insurance coverage should be increased to cover the increased investment made necessary by rising costs.
- (2) The percentage of benefits available to growers on cotton lost during the "first or second stage" needs to be raised; (PCG contends the present schedule of benefits fail to reflect the high percentage of production cost that is incurred before the crop reaches a stand.)
- (3) Dryland cotton should be included in the FCIC program.
- (4) Personnel should be provided who can prevent costly delays in obtaining clearance to replant substitute crops and to otherwise adequately service policyholders.
- (5) Loss payment regulations should be rewritten more closely to fit available replant options.
- (6) Requirements for proving losses on cotton damaged by weather but not replanted should be made less complicated, as should the procedure for cancelling Federal Crop Insurance.
- (7) Producers and/or their commodity organizations should be consulted on program changes made or contemplated.
- (8) People actually engaged in the growing of crops should be included among the directors or at least the advisors of FCIC.

The current cotton program, with price support payments and acreage diversion payments made on "projected" as opposed to actual yield, has provided farmers with a certain amount of insurance. But Anderson points out that there is a strong possibility that this feature of the present program may soon be phased down or eliminated.

"And if that happens producers will sorely need an effective, workable program of crop insurance which will keep them going through years when disaster strikes," he said.

WHATSOEVER THINGS

—by Donald E. Wildmon

Let's legalize prostitution. Now before your temperature rises, let me present my case. For, judging from past experience, it has some valid arguments.

First of all, you can't stop people from engaging in it. We have tried and in many cases it has just made lawbreakers out of otherwise decent, law-abiding citizens. So if we legalize it, we could stop making criminals out of good, solid citizens.

Next, we could place a tax on it. And we need the money to educate our children. Our schools are hurting for money to provide good education for our children. People are going to do it and we cannot stop them from doing it. If they have to slip and hide to do it, they will. There is no possible way to stop it. So let's make it legal, put a tax on it, and educate our children. We are letting millions of tax dollars, much needed, go down the drain every year that we wait about making it legal. If we could successfully stop people from doing it, then we would be the first to say let's stop them. But it has been proven that we cannot stop them. All our present laws have proven ineffective. So let's let them do it, legally and get that much needed tax for our economy. Our children need those millions in our schools. We are letting them down!

Next, by making it legal we would stop our law officers from "selling out." For we all know that most of the law officers try hard for a while to stop it, but finally see that they cannot add up selling out to the illegal prostitution traffic. It is making criminals out of our law officers by refusing to adjust to the situation. Of course, where there is a breakdown in our law enforcement, our communities begin to decay. So we are destroying good, wholesome law-abiding communities because of our failure to legalize prostitution. If we legalized it, law officers would have more time to enforce the law because they would not have to be bothered with prostitution.

Then again, we could bring it out in the open and stop making hypocrites out of our good citizens. For it is common knowledge that a large percentage of people engage in the activity, and by our refusal to legalize it we only make hypocrites out of those who engage in it.

And by legalizing prostitution we could put government controls on it. We could require those who engage in it to follow under strict controls. Our laws could be rigidly enforced. We could rid our society of those who "bootleg" the product. We could stop the diseases that arise from prostitution by imposing strictly enforced health regulations. This would save our country millions in health expenses arising from illegal prostitution.

So our choice is between legal prostitution or illegal. Let's make it legal.

Well, that's my argument. Silly and absurd, you say. It can't be all that silly or absurd for we have felt —hook, line, and sinker— for the exact same line from the liquor and gambling industry. And legalized prostitution will follow the same line. It could be nearer than we think.

THE COLLINS WEEKLY

-James M. Collins, Representative, Third District Although Congress has completed the wrap-up for the summer recess, I am still confronted by a series of important issues. This reces provides an excellent time to review the legislation introduced and passed in the last few months as well as an opportunity to look ahead to the future.

One problem still foremost in my mind is that of drug addiction which seriously threatens to engulf our society. During the next few weeks my Education and Labor Subcommittee will hold a series of hearings across the Nation in Los Angeles and Seattle. The information we obtain from these hearings will be most useful when the subcommittee reconvenes in Washington on September 8th. We will make extensive studies into these areas of drug abuse and I hope we will have positive results in the near future.

Furthermore I intend to introduce legislation to heighten my attack on this drug problem. At present there is no federal law which prohibits the transportation of narcotics across state lines. In addition, there is no federal law which makes it illegal for an adult to involve a juvenile in an illegal drug transaction.

The proposed legislation will correct this blatant omission in our legal system. Our bill will provide a minimum of ten years and a maximum of a life sentence in a federal prison for those who transport drugs across state lines. Similar penalties would be incorporated in the bill for adults employing juveniles in illegal drug actions. This bill is an important positive step towards correction of the serious drug problem.

Another issue with which I have great interest is the President's new domestic welfare proposal. One of my main questions concerns 'suitable' employment. Whose responsibility is it to determine just what is suitable employment? Anyone can decide that a certain job for which he is qualified is not suitable to his tastes. We need people to hold down permanent jobs, not more people on welfare rolls.

If the purpose of this program is to require recipients of welfare to actively seek employment, then I strongly support the Administration's proposals. However, the Administration needs to clarify just what it means by 'suitable' employment. The public is entitled to a precise definition of this most nebulous term. As I have stated on numerous occasions, I believe in permanent opportunity rather than permanent relief. My main objective is to see a reduction not an increase, on the already overladen welfare rolls.

MRS. CARPENTER ATTENDS CONFERENCE

Austin — Mrs. Genelle Carpenter, of Ropesville and president of the Hockley County Association, was among some 300 local, district, and state leaders of the Texas State Teachers Association who held their 1969 Local and District Association Presidents Conference here August 11-12 at the Terrace Motor Hotel.

Participants in the conference included TSTA state officers, committeemen and staff members, presidents from many of the 20 district units and 400 local associations of TSTA, presidents and executive directors of affiliate organizations, and invited guests from the Texas Education Agency and Teacher Retirement System of Texas.

Chief order of business was planning for the 1969-70 organization, activities, and objectives of the 123,000-member association of teachers particularly as related to local associations.

Heading up the conference planning and direction were the TSTA state officers; Claude A. Hearn, Jr., of San Antonio, president; Jewell Harris of Abilene, president elect; and L. P. Sturgeon of Austin, executive secretary-treasurer.

BEER AND LIQUOR TAXES

Beer and liquor taxes would have to be more than doubled just to pay for the cost of alcohol related crime according to a report by Texas Alcohol Narcotics Education (TANE). The report on "Alcohol-caused costs, compared with taxes paid in by beer and liquor," says that 76 per cent of crime in Texas is alcohol-related. Crime costs, police, courts, prisons, etc., cost the State $150 million a year. Alcoholic beverages' share of that, 76 per cent, would be $114 million. The industry pays in approximately $51 million in taxes, less than half that figure, according to the TANE report.

The report further states that alcoholic drinks cause 62 per cent of admissions to State mental institutions; 38 per cent of financial loss due to auto accidents; 93 per cent of the cost of picking up throwaway drink containers littering Texas highways; and that on-the-job alcoholism costs Texas industry $350 million a year.

Using the figures furnished by TANE, some 150 "Committees for Fair Taxation," located across Texas, are asking that beer and liquor taxes be increased, and that they be put under the Sales Tax. Texas beer taxes of $4.30 a barrel have not been increased in 14 years. Liquor taxes of $1.68 a gallon, have not been increased in 10 years. Both are exempt from the Sales Tax.

TANE is a non-profit organization, supported financially by Texas churches and by individual contributions. Results of its research in to alcohol and drug problems are made available to the public. The organization's programs include publishing books for students and teachers, production of film strips, a free motion picture lending library, public school lectures and demonstrations, a 100-man speakers bureau, legislative information, research, and an annual seminar on alcohol and narcotics for teachers and church leaders held at Baylor University in Waco.

Although it is a Texas organization, TANE's books and audio visual aids are in use nationally and throughout the English-speaking world. Some have been translated into Japanese, Korean, and Spanish.

NINE ACCIDENTS ON H.C. RURAL HIGHWAYS

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated nine accidents on rural highways in Hockley County during the month of July, according to Sergeant Hal Pirtle, Highway Patrol supervisor of this area.

These crashes resulted in five persons injured and an estimated property damage of $5,580.00.

The rural traffic accident summary for this county during the first seven months of 1969 shows a total of 81 accidents resulting in eight persons killed, 65 persons injured, and an estimated property damage of $113,030.00.

The 1969 Texas Legislature has provided for a year-round Motor Vehicle Inspection program. Beginning September 1, 1969, the present 1969 inspection stickers will have a numeral insert corresponding to the month of issuance that will be inserted on the face of the sticker corresponding to the month of issuance. The sticker will be placed in the lower left-hand corner of the windshield.

All 1969 stickers bearing a numeral insert will expire at the end of the month a year from now, 1970. All 1969 stickers bearing no numeral insert will expire on April 15, 1970.

Beginning January 1, 1970, the inspection stickers will have an orange background and bear an insert numeral corresponding with the 1970 month of issuance and will expire at the end of the month one year from the issuance in 1971. The inspection sticker design will change in January of every year to a new base design.

The Legislature added two items to be inspected — the exhaust system and the exhaust emission system. The new inspection fee will be $2.00.

ACCENT ON HEALTH

Sooner or later everyone will find the need for a family health record, and if you don't have one, now is the time to start keeping it, advises the Texas State Department of Health.

If you have a youngster about ready for school, you'll realize the necessity of having accurate and current records. The health record can be of permanent value for the children's school records, for insurance data, and for your family doctor's use.

An individual personal health record can be had free of charge from the Texas State Department of Health in Austin.

Too, you can start jotting down the basic information you already have at hand concerning the injury. Start it off with a brief listing of and illness history of each member of your family.

Enter the date and place of birth of each person, and the place and date and cause of death of any deceased. Also enter pertinent information and the medical facts about each family member, such as the presence of chronic illness or physical handicap.

Next, start a section for dates of immunizations, being sure to provide space for each member of the family. Allow room for entering dates of immunizations against whooping cough, polio, smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus, measles and typhoid fever. Don't forget to include the dates of booster shots.

In a section of general information, list such things as the type of blood each member of the family has, and the drug sensitivities or special allergies of each. If the RH factor is known to be present in anyone, be sure to record it prominently.

The health record ought to include a check list of who in the family has had the more common disease of childhood — chicken pox, measles, mumps, whooping cough, scarlet fever, diphtheria. Most of these are disease of childhood, but sometimes an adult is exposed. German measles is a serious threat to expectant mothers, and mumps is a dangerous disease in any adult.

Dates of physical examinations, with a line or two for notes of special advice or instructions that followed the check-up should be noted in the health record. So also should illnesses requiring hospitalization, listing the nature of illness or injury, name of physician and hospital, dates of entry and discharge, length of illness, and type of surgery, if any.

Finally, list the family's health and accident insurance information for quick and easy reference when needed.

14 AND 15 YEAR OLD STUDENTS OF VOCATIONAL AGRICULTURE MAY NOW BE HIRED AS TRACTOR AND FARM MACHINERY OPERATORS

Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz has modified the child labor regulations for hazardous agricultural employment to allow 14 and 15 year old students of vocational agriculture to be hired as tractor and farm machinery operators.

The change, effective on June 27, 1969, applies only to youth who hold certificates verifying that they have successfully completed vocational agriculture training programs in safe tractor operation or safe farm machinery operation approved by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare. Successful completion of such programs includes passing both a written and a practical test.

Certificates of course completion must be signed by the vocational agriculture teacher who conducted the program.

Persons employing 14 and 15 year olds as tractor or machinery operators must:

—Keep on file a copy of the certificate verifying that the youth has been trained.

—Instruct the youth on the safe and proper operation of the specific equipment he operates.

—Check on the welfare of the youth at least three times a day, at mid-morning, noon, and mid-afternoon, to insure that he is following required safety procedures.

—This amendment was published in the Federal Register on July 4, 1969.

The program will be operated through the U. S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare's Division of Vocational and Technical Education.

JEST SOME THOUGHTS —

We really think it is too hot to do much thinking. Our brain is now scorched, parched, and dried out.

We think if it doesn't rain pretty soon this may have to be declared a disaster area.

There's always a brighter side. At least we aren't having high winds. If we were, everything would be blown away by now.

Talk about teasing — we've seen it lighten two nights in the west and prepared for a gully washer. But ole Mother Nature just teases on.

A high wind right now would bring those sifting, shifting sands to cover our area to where you wouldn't be able to tell the place was ever occupied.

They say its hot in south and east Texas, but we sure don't believe it could be much hotter than it is here.

It's so dry one of our friends drove off in a lake a few weeks ago, and got stuck in the sand.

Did you know meat and potatoes is still basically the Army diet? Boy, we think we'll join, we sure can't afford them any other way.

We may be a little prejudice in our opinion since we smoke, but don't drink — but we can't understand just why the cigarette industry is receiving all the bad breaks. Not only will they not be allowed to advertise, but the tax on their product is being raised — again. Meanwhile the beer and liquor industry can advertise all it wants to, and has not had a raise in taxes in ten years, and is not even under the sales tax.

You never heard of anyone causing an automobile accident from too many cigarettes. They do not cause broken homes, and in the long run, they are cheaper than liquor, we think.

No one has been arrested for the use of too many cigarettes, nor has anyone killed or injured another person by hitting them over the head with a cigarette package, as is often reported with beer bottles.

We have never heard of anyone being admitted to a mental hospital over cigarettes. We have also never heard of anyone going on welfare due to smokes (although we may have to in the near future.) They do not put the tax burden on the people of extra law enforcement or litter.

We are not for smoking, but we sure aren't for drinking, and we wonder why this industry receives such special treatment where the taxes are concerned.

We agree smoking is a dirty, stinking and expensive bad habit, and we would be the first to caution anyone against it, but we still believe drinking is worse.

Smoking is harmful to the body—so is overeating, over exertion; too much cold or heat; we have even found worrying to be harmful — it causes ulcers.

Then we are faced with the fact that truth hurts people who do not like to face facts. Oh well.

Did you know that little town (or big town for that matter) society boils down to money in most cases. After all, people who don't have money are too busy trying to make it to worry about society.

Also, a grownup is someone is able to keep from talking — so we will stop before we regress to the age of a juvenile.
