Marva McSpadden Named Ropes Senior High '75 Betty Crocker Family Leader

Marva R. McSpadden has been named Ropes Senior High School's 1975 Betty Crocker Family Leader of Tomorrow. Miss McSpadden won the honor by scoring high in a written knowledge and attitude examination administered to high school seniors here and throughout the country Dec. 3rd. She will receive a specially designed award from General Mills, sponsor of the annual Betty Crocker Search for Leadership in Family Living and becomes eligible for state and national honors.

From the ranks of all school winners in the state, a State Family Leader of Tomorrow is selected through judging centered on test performance and receives a $1,500 college scholarship. The second-ranking student in the state will receive a $500 scholarship. Encyclopedia Britannica Educational Corporation will present "The Annals of America", a 20-vol. reference work, to the state winner's school.

Representing every state and the District of Columbia, the 51 Betty Crocker Family Leaders of Tomorrow, together with their faculty advisors, will gather in Washington, D.C., in April for an expense paid educational tour of the capital city and Williamsburg, VA. During the tour, personal observations and interviews are conducted to select the All-American Family Leader of Tomorrow, who receives a $5,000 college scholarship. Second, third and fourth place national winners receive scholarships increased to $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000 respectively.

The test, personal observations and interviews are all prepared and conducted by Science Research Associates of Chicago.

Ropes FFA Chapter Receives Superior

The Ropes Chapter of Future Farmers of America has been notified that the chapter rated superior for the year 1973 - 74. Mr. Walter Labay, Vocational Agriculture Supervisor for Area I, made the official notification to the Ropes Chapter.

The Ropes Chapter was first established in 1935. Mr. Herbert Davis was the first agriculture instructor for Ropes High School. Mr. Davis is still active as an agriculture teacher. He now teaches in Amarillo.

The Ropes Chapter has produced over seventy Lone Star Farmers and six American Farmers during its existence. Mr. C.T. McCormick, the present agriculture instructor, sponsored more than sixty of the Lone Star Farmers and four of the American Farmers. Mr. McCormick came to Ropesville after receiving a Master of Science degree in agriculture from Texas Tech. He has been teaching agriculture at Ropesville since 1948.

Wolfforth Fire Department Turns Down Offer of Emergency Number

The Wolfforth Fire Department met Monday evening at the local city hall. The members discussed and turned down the 911 emergency number (a national emergency number) due to the cost. The only way they might comply would be if the county comes through with their proposal.

Ambulance service and fire service are to be a combined service. Even so, an ambulance driver does not have to be a fire department worker, nor does a fire worker have to be an ambulance driver. It is stressed that the department needs more people.

At this time Wolfforth has four qualified state licensed Emergency Medical Technicians. These four people have had 120 hours of schooling, 40 hours of actual hospital training, and eight rides with Aide Ambulance. They are graduates of LCC. Four more members of the department are now attending school. All of the fire department people are volunteers.

The new officers for the fire department and club are: Jose Rosales, Chief; Junior Gallin, Asst. Chief; James Phillipps, President; and Hazel Henry, Secretary. The members are Ricky McWhorter, Danny Milligan, Billy Meeks, Johnny J. Rosales, Joe J. Rosales, Ronald Drake, Beva Wilson, Kenneth Bishop, and a visitor Gene Gipson.

Wolfforth will be receiving a brand new fire truck next week. At the next meeting on Monday, March 10, at 7:30 p.m., Reese AFB Firemen will come to demonstrate the uses of the new truck.

Another thought brought out at the last meeting was that tornado season is due. A committee of Wolfforth citizens is needed to be set up for the purpose of being responsible for the care of the mosaleum as a storm shelter. Anyone interested is asked to contact an officer of the fire club.

Dial - Cain Wedding Vows Read

Bette Alynn Dial and William David Cain pledged wedding vows Friday evening, February 14, 1975. The seven p.m. ceremony was held in the Hyde Park Chapel of Hyde Park Baptist Church in Austin, Texas.

The Rev. Don Crossland, brother-in-law of the groom, and pastor of Highland Baptist Church, Waco, Texas, conducted the double ring ceremony using the New Testament which belonged to the groom as a child. The candle lighted altar featured a candelabra with a unity candle, flanked by lighted tapers, representing the bride and groom. The large stained glass window was lighted at the base by votive candles. On either side of the altar were candelabras also displaying votive candles. Greenery was used to complete the nuptial setting.

A bud vase of shaded rosebuds and lily of the valley accented the registrar's table where Mrs. Dan Stivers registered guests as they entered the chapel.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. James E. Jones of Springlake, Texas and Mr. and Mrs. W.M. Cain of Ropesville, Texas.

Mrs. Randy Washington of Austin, at the piano, presented selections including, "Hawaiian Wedding Song", "More", "Wedding Processional" from "The Sound of Music" and "Joy".

The bride approached the altar dressed in a formal length gown of pink double knit with tiny white dots, featuring a bodice made of coordinate pink double knit floral design. The neckline was fashioned with a mandarin collar, the long full length sleeves were gathered into buttoned cubbs. Dainty white lace trimmed the collar, cuffs and bodice. The bridal gown was a creation of Mrs. N.O. Hagler of Belton, Texas, the brides maternal grandmother.

The bride carried a pom-pom bouquet of red and pink rosebuds with long pink velvet streamers atop the New Testament she used as a child. For the traditional "something old" she carried her aforementioned Bible. She wore her great grandmother's gold wedding band as "something borrowed" and a garter was "something blue". She wore pennies in her shoes minted in years of David's and her births.

Mrs. Kenneth E. Jones of Ozark, Arkansas served her sister-in-law as matron of honor. She wore a formal length, long sleeved dress of pink double knit with tiny white dots. It featured a set-in empire waistline with long tie belt in the back. Delicate white lace trimmed the collar. She carried a pom-pom bouquet of pink Anemone Mums and baby's breath, which included a lighted votive candle and pink and red streamers.

Candles were lighted by Misses Dyan Jones of Springlake, sister of the bride and Tamra Crossland of Waco, niece of the groom. Their dresses were styled similar to that of the matron-of-honor.

Bob Jeffcoat served as best man. Ushers were Kenneth E. Jones, Ozark, Arkansas, brother of the bride and Ronnie Browning, Lubbock, brother-in-law of the groom.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlor. The table was laid with a floor length cloth of white lace over white satin and centered with the traditional three tiered wedding cake, decorated with pink anemone mums.

Frosted pink punch, nuts, mints and coffee were served from silver appointments. Presiding at the table were Mrs. Ronnie Browning, Lubbock and Mrs. Don Crossland, Waco, sisters of the groom and Mrs. Marion Hagler, Lubbock, aunt of the bride.

Other members of the wedding party were Mrs. Brownlee Hunter, Mrs. Mike Monnig, Miss Connie Saathoff, Mrs. Charles Schnable and Mrs. Gary Shawn.

Among the out of town guests were: Mrs. Dick Gregg, the groom's maternal grandmother, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Liles, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Liles all of Meadown, Texas, Mrs. Ellen Cain and Karon of Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. N.O. Hagler, maternal grandparents of the bride, of Belton, Texas, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Hagler, Greg, Sharla and Shanna of Lubbock, Hon. and Mrs. Bill Clayton of Springlake, Hon. and Mrs. Pete Laney of Hale Center, and Rev. and Mrs. Don L. Holmes of Longview, Texas.

For a wedding trip to New Orleans the bride chose a blue-green plaid long skirt and jacket ensemble of double knit complemented by beige accessories.

The bride is a graduate of Springlake-Earth High School and has a secretarial degree from West Texas State University, Canyon. She is itenary secretary for Bill Clayton, Speaker of the Texas House of Representatives.

Cain is a graduate of Ropes High School and has obtained a BBA degree in accounting from Texas Tech University, Lubbock. He is now employed by the State Comptroller as a State Auditor.

The couple are at home at 10404 Leaning Willow, Austin, Texas.

yet it can be machine washed and dried, or can be dry cleaned by regular methods.

It doesn't stretch, shrink, pull, fray, crack or wrinkle.

Homemakers in the Ropes workshop are constructing fashions at home from this suede-like fabric. These consumers, as well as all others, should follow a few simple guides.

—Choose a simple pattern that will show off the beauty of the fabric. Avoid darts when possible, and styles which require easing in seams.

—Fusibles work well with synthetic suede and fusible interfacings give a professional look. Use fusibles to "fuse" seam allowances and hems. It won't show and it's quick.

—Although the synthetic suede need not be preshrunk, all other fabrics used in the construction process should be preshrunk. Preshrink fusible interfacings by placing in warm water a few minutes and allowing to dry.

—Even though this fabric has no grain, it's best to cut all pattern pieces in the same direction, up for a darker, richer look and down for a lighter, shinier look. Small pieces such as cuffs may be cut on the crosswise, or slanted, without any noticeable difference.

—Use 100 per cent polyester core thread and a 9-10 or 11-12 machine needle. Conventional seams may be used, but lapped seams reduce bulk.

A clever trick for collars and cuffs is to trim away the 5/8 inch seam allowance and sew wrong sides together. No raveling will occur. Stitch at 1/4 to 3/8 inch from the cut edge and again near the cut edge for a beautifully tailored look.

—This synthetic suede can be steam pressed. Use a discarded toothbrush to restore nap.

Accent on Health

One of the most heartening success stories in public health is being written in Texas—the dramatic, almost unbelievable decline of immunizable diseases.

In 1974, a combined total of only 641 cases were reported to the State Health Department for diphtheria, tetanus, pertussis, (whooping cough), measles and rubella. And for the second straight year there was no polio reported in the state—another milestone in itself.

While all preventable diseases may never be wiped out, the Texas State Department of Health, along with private physicians, is working toward that goal.

Last year, reports State Health Commissioner Dr. James E. Peavy, was the best year in history in preventing the immunizable diseases. Provisional Health Department reports show no cases of polio, nine cases of diphtheria, four cases of tetanus, 99 cases of pertussis, 212 cases of measles and 317 cases of rubella.

Compare these 1974 figures with those of bad years. Contrast the zero level of polio with 1950 when 2,778 cases and 210 deaths occurred.

Place the nine cases of diphtheria alongside the 5,756 cases reported in 1958.

The 99 cases of pertussis in 1974 is small indeed when you consider the 16,590 cases occurring in 1943. The four cases of tetanus reported last year is just a fraction of the 157 cases recorded in 1942.

Remember when rubella, or German measles, was so widespread? Highest total for this disease was in 1970 when 8,409 cases were reported, as opposed to 317 last year.

As immunizations have increased in Texas, the disease levels have moved steadily downward.

When the Texas Legislature in 1971 passed a compulsory immunization law, it contributed greatly to reduction of diseases in the school-age group. Because of the success of the compulsory school immunization program, more attention is directed now toward the pre-schoolers in State Health Department activities. Statistics have shown that outbreaks have repeatedly taken the heaviest toll among children from one to four years.

With almost a quarter-million babies born in Texas each year, it would take only a few years for a giant disease reservoir to be built up if these children went unprotected.

The State Health Department is making sure this doesn't happen, and its immunization program is primarily aimed toward the pre-schoolers, that large group of youngsters who could be the target for disease.

Among the pre-school group, special emphasis is given the newborns. Federal and state funds have authorized the hiring of a group of Community Service Aides who are stressing the need for early immunization.

When a baby is born in Texas, the Immunization Division gets a computer printout showing the baby's name, parents' names and home address. The Bureau of Vital Statistics of the State Health Department provides this information.

Parents of newborns receive a card informing them of immunization schedules and recommending vaccination times. They are asked to return the card and indicate which immunizations have been started.

That's where the Community Service Aides come in. They take referrals from the Immunization Division and attempt to track down those who don't respond. Last year an average of 75 Community Service Aides were employed and assigned to regional and field offices to promote immunizations in the pre-school group.

They received 135,773 new referrals during the year, about 1,800 per aide.

The aides show a high degree of self reliance. Often they don't wait for the computer printouts of new births but get them from local registrars, speeding their contacts with new mothers.

It has taken the combined efforts of health oriented individuals and groups in both the public and private sector to produce the immunization results which produced such low disease levels in 1974. The State Health Department is hoping for similar results in 1975.
