SEZ WE

The new trend in religion will come as somewhat of a shock to a lot of folks.

Picking up a magazine of national circulation this past week we learned that young ministers—that is, the greater number of them—did not believe in the virgin birth of Christ; did not believe the story of the creation as told in Genesis. One young minister, yet in college, told the reporter, "There is no doubt but that Joseph was the father of Christ."

In times past we have time and again been a little shocked at what young ministers are bringing out of college—some eight or ten years ago we were in a college town with a college student and we met half a dozen young men who were grand and gloriously drunk. We inquired as to who they were, and he said, "Those are ministerial students. They graduate this week and they are taking one last fling before they go into the ministry."

We want to point out a few truths—when the time comes that you eliminate the virgin birth, when you eliminate the fact that Christ rose from the dead, you knock the foundation out from under the Christian religion—those two facts are what it rests on—those two facts were told hundreds of years in advance of the birth of the Christ—those prophecies were fulfilled to the letter—take divinity away from Christ and you have nothing left—question the miracles and you are putting nitroglycerine under the whole structure.

These new ministers do not question the existence of a god, but they evidently question his powers, for when he spoke when John baptized Jesus he said, "This is my son with whom I am well pleased."

It would seem that some doubt that God spoke.

One minister told us—he was an advocate of the revised edition of the Bible—"The King James version of the Bible is a Catholic version. In the revised edition we have a Protestant Bible." There has never been any doubt in our minds that Christ was born of a virgin; there has never been any doubt in our mind that He came out of the tomb on the third day—and there has never been any doubt in our mind but that He was the Christ.

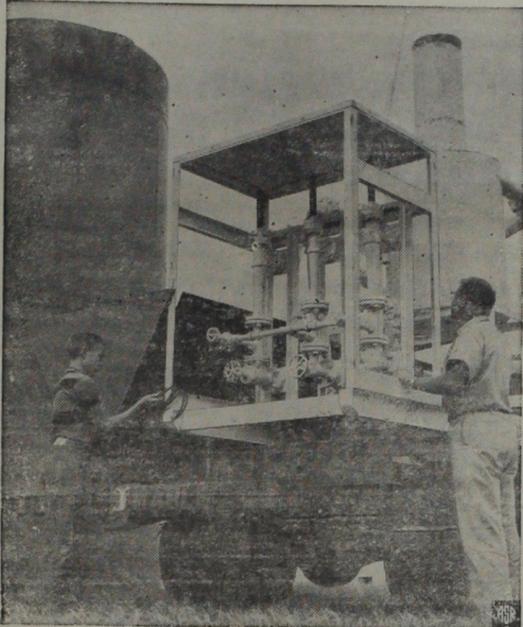

You can't replace religion with realism. We don't think even these young "educated" preachers can destroy it—though that seemingly is their aim.

Everything that comes to light confirms the Scriptures. In a vault unearthed some years ago containing documents, there was found an account of the crucifixion and the fact that Christ did rise from the dead—documentary evidence from a source that had no belief in Christ.

The Christian religion has suffered many assaults and survived. It will suffer this assault of "modern" education that takes no stock in the virgin birth, the creation

Newest Sight On Farm Scene: Fertilizer Plant On Wheels

The newest sight and sound on the farm scene is this portable liquid fertilizer plant which manufactures nitrogen-phosphate solution. Dubbed the "Thunderjug" because of its noisy, rumbling start-up, the pint-sized reactor is built onto a truck which permits fertilizer suppliers to move it about a wide area, servicing growers with liquid 8-24-0 material where and when they need it.

The Thunderjug was designed by Monsanto Chemical Company and manufactures fertilizer solution by continuous process at about double the rate possible through batch production—heretofore the only method available to dealers. Its simple construction eliminates the standard maze of plumbing, equipment and tanks, and the product is not merely mixed or blended but made through chemical reaction.

The starting materials, anhydrous ammonia and phosphoric acid, can be fed into the reactor directly from tank cars or trucks with the finished liquid nitrogen-phosphate pumped from the Thunderjug into storage tanks. (Storage cost of the product is one-third that for storing equivalent amounts of anhydrous ammonia and phosphoric acid as separate materials.)

The low-cost fertilizer solution is particularly suited for soils deficient in nitrogen and phosphate but containing ample potash. Thus, the 8-24-0 analysis is ideal for west Texas and regions of Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma, and North and South Dakota.

Spring Lake Crops Are Damaged by Hail Fri.

Starting in on Wednesday of last week, August 2, the weather has, for the most part, been hot and dry. Thursday followed the same pattern, with fluffy clouds floating across the vault of the heavens. In the afternoon the temperature jumped up around 94.

Friday brought a crystal clear morning, but as the temperature climbed to around 96 in the afternoon there were signs of thunder showers in the west and north. These showers completely missed the city of Ropes, but out at the Ben Stephens place there was more than an inch of rain, while around Lockettville it measured from four-tenths to a half inch. At the Kee-see place, some ten miles west, there was a sprinkling of hail, but no damage was reported.

However, the afternoon did provide a hail storm. It struck in the Springlake community. T. J. Redman brought in stalks of cotton measuring better than twenty-four inches on which nothing was left but the stalk—bolls, leaves, branches were gone. This brought a complete loss over a section of that community.

Saturday, August 5, brought temperature that ranged above 96, Sunday matched Saturday, and Monday was likewise in the same vicinity.

As this is written on Tuesday afternoon, clouds are trying to form in the west and the weather man gives us promise of thunderstorms in late afternoon.

this section is needing a good shower, and many farmers have already started their irrigation wells. James Adams, who lives in Lubbock but has farming interests here, stated Saturday that the cotton was wilting a little in the heat of the day, but that after the cool night, was pert again in the morning.

Vacation Bible School Closes

The Vacation Bible school of the church of Christ closed last Friday night with 158 present. The average attendance was 148 an evening. This was the largest Bible school in the history of the church. The members of the church are very grateful to the people of the community for helping them have such a successful Bible school and extend a cordial invitation to each and everyone to attend the services of the church of Christ at any time.

Thirteen Indicted By the Grand Jury

Otto Sims, Mrs. Arant Are In Auto Collision

In an automobile collision out and cars were lined on Sunday about noon Otto Sims received three broken ribs and Mrs. Sims was thoroughly shaken up. Mrs. Loyd Arant, driver of the other car, received a bruised knee and other injuries.

The accident occurred at the intersection just north of the Church of the Nazarene. Both the Sims and Mrs. Arant were returning from services at the First Baptist Church. Otto was traveling west on Elwood street and Mrs. Arant was traveling north on Timmons Avenue.

Services at the Church of the Nazarene had not turned both Timmons and Elwood, obstructing the view. Neither driver saw the other before the collision. The Arant car slid some twenty feet before the impact. The force of the collision carried the automobiles some twenty feet farther on Timmons.

Both cars were badly damaged, the front end of the Arant car was crumpled and the side of the Sims car was caved in.

Otto was carried to a Lubbock hospital, as was Mrs. Arant, and both were treated and released.

NEWS LETTER

by Representative Olen Petty

The first special session of the 57th Legislature will end at 12:00 p. m. Tuesday night.
The tax bill that the House passed has come back from the Senate and is now in a conference committee to equalize the difference between the House and the Senate. At the time this report is being prepared -Saturday afternoon --the conference is in session. However, it is generally agreed that nothing will be done until Monday or Tuesday. I certainly hope that an acceptable bill will be worked out to the satisfaction of the two Houses. I would hate very much to see the necessity of another special session. The House has worked hard and long this session and I hope it will pay off by doing away with the expense of additional sessions.

Measures concerning economy took part of the limelight this week. measures that were considered and passed the House concerned a proposal to place the Parks Board and the Game and Fish Commission, and H. B.
111 by raising revenue for the State of Texas by adoption of certain economy measures and the imposition of certain taxes and fees. An effort to place the Department of Public Safety under the State Highway Fund, which has a surplus fund, failed on third reading. Another bill, H. B. 112, promoted economy by requiring support from fathers of illegitimate children.

The House passed a form of escheat bill that might erase a special session. The Governor has continually asked for an escheat bill and now this has been done by the House.

A measure of extreme interest in our district was S.
B. 35, which prohibited the sale of certain items and articles on Sunday. After many efforts to amend the bill particularly an amendment to require local option elections were defeated. The bill was passed to third reading

Problems concerning lobby activities have received a lot of attention in recent months H. B. 21, a bill that is aimed at controlling lobbying passed this morning and is now passed to the Senate.

NEWS FROM GENERAL TELEPHONE CO. OF S. W.

State legislation which will effect telephones was called to the attention of Texans this week by General Telephone Company of the Southwest.

The three bills which have been passed are Senate Bill 309, which has to do with fraudulent use of telephones,

Senate Bill 366, which deals with obstructing the use of a party line during an emergency; and House Bill 921, which deals with destruction or obstruction of telephone, telegraph or electrical transmission equipment.

"Some pathetic things have happened here in Texas when persons would not give up the line for an emergency call and telephone companies and individuals are being cheated out of thousands of dollars through fraudulent use of the telephone, according to the telephone company district manager. The theft of transmission wires also have reached serious proportions. The current legislation is an effort to curb such situations he said.

According to SB309, which became law June 16, it is a misdemeanor to obtain telecommunication service with the intent to defraud any individual or company through the use of fictitious telephone numbers or false credit cards.

Defrauding or misrepresenting through the use of a code or any prearranged trick or scheme where the telephone is involved is also covered in the bill.

Charging calls to false, nonexistent or discontinued telephone numbers is classified as a misdemeanor by the legislation and carries up to a $1,000 fine and-or up to one year in jail for violation of the law.

Senate Bill 366, which becomes effective August 27, states that it is a misdemeanor or to maliciously obstruct emergency telephone calls or to secure the use of the telephone line by falsely claiming that an emergency exists.

Any person refusing to relinquish immediately a party line when such line is needed for an emergency call to a fire department, police department, medical or ambulance service after having been informed that an emergency exists, will be guilty of a violation of this law.

Fines of $25 to $500 and-or up to one month in jail are the penalties levied on a person guilty of violation of this law.

Publication of the party line law must be inserted in telephone directories and also stuffed into the subscriber's statements at least once a year, according to the law.

House Bill 921, which became effective June 17, states that any person intentionally breaking, cutting, pulling or tearing down or in any manner injuring any telegraph, telephone or electrical transmission lines or willfully obstructing or interfering with the transmission of messages or electricity shall be confined in the penitentiary not less than two years nor more than five or be fined not less than $100 nor more than $2,000.

FOR THAT "UNSINKABLE" FEELING!

When it comes to seasickness, this fetching, nautical miss is literally unsinkable unlike some would-be sailors of the past such as Emperor Napoleon I, the famous landlubber.

But, Napoleon and other heroic historical figures couldn't rely on anti-motion sickness drugs to make their outings go swimmingly as can Miss Lynn Gay Lorino (above) of the cast of the hit Broadway play, "The Unsinkable Molly Brown."

The emergence of these drugs is a comparatively recent medical development. Leading men of history did not have such protection against nausea and other discomfort and thus met their Waterloo on the high seas. Napoleon, a mighty general on terra firma, failed to conquer "mal de mer." Because of his sensitivity to motion, he proved to be an abominable sailor and spent most of his voyage time abed. Seasickness was the scourge of the Spanish conquistadores and laid low many of the Portuguese global navigators.

Recognition of the malady dates far back into history and is recorded in ancient literature. The famous Roman statesman, Cicero, wrote he would "rather be killed than again suffer the tortures of nausea maris." And possibly the most famous seasickness case in literature is Ulysses of the Homeric epic.

But, today, the American boating public, which numbers six million owners of pleasure crafts and countless others who charter for fishing and excursions, can travel comfortably in even turbulent waterways thanks to such drugs as Bonadettes, for instance, affords up to 24-hour protection against seasickness and other forms of motion sickness.

The rhyme of the modern mariner is to have protection at hand for clear sailing and that "unsinkable" feeling.

Brothers In Flight Experience

Airline pilots around the globe make up a brotherhood dedicated to service, precision, and technical advance. Two brothers of a flying French family are a classic example. Captain Louis Fulachier (left) of Air France and his brother, Captain Henri Fulachier of T.A.I. (Transports Aériens Intercontinentaux) often meet in Los Angeles on their around the world flying for these two airlines.

Captains Louis and Henri Fulachier are experienced pilots whose careers together total 40,694 hours of flight over the North Pole, across the Equator, and to faraway places such as Tahiti and Tananarive, Madagascar.

The career of Captain Louis Fulachier which has spanned 29 years, is summed up by 10 medals awarded him by 7 countries. He also has the distinction of being one of Air France's first pilots to begin Boeing 707 training. He started jet training in October 1959, and today has logged more than 1,400 hours of flying time on 707s.

Henri received his pilot's license in the United States in February 1945. He was with Air France for 5 years, then joined T.A.I. in 1951. Later he became a pilot instructor, and in January 1961 was made Chief of T.A.I.'s Technical Crew Training Service. He also made the first jetliner flight to Tahiti.

Today, the Fulachier brothers circle the globe on French wings of experience.

THIS WEEK IN AUSTIN

By Senator Preston Smith

Being Governor of Texas August 4 was one of the most exciting times the Preston Smith family has ever enjoyed.

By all estimates, there must have been 400 to 500 South Plains people in Austin last Friday, for the Governor-for-a-day festivities.

During the reception in the Governor's office, 3 hours in the morning and from 2 P.M. to 4 P.M., Ima, Mickey, Jan and I met and talked to hundreds of visitors, and dozens of newsmen from throughout the state.

To all those who made this event possible, and to those who came to Austin or were among the thousands who sent telegrams and messages of congratulations, the Smith family thanks all of you very sincerely. You helped to make August 4 truly one of the biggest events in our lives.

High point of the day was the banquet that night, at which more than 900 persons jammed the main ballroom of the Austin Hotel. Speakers were J. Ed. McLaughlin, Ralls; David C. Casey, Mayor of Lubbock; Joe Anderson, Seminole; State Sen. Martin Dies, Jr., Lufkin; Wilmer Smith, New Home; and Waggoner Carr, Lubbock.

Movie Star Chill Wills was master of ceremony.

The gifts presented to us were wonderful. Ima was presented a sterling silver tea and coffee service and a punch bowl set. Mickey received a very nice 35 mm. camera, Jan a wrist watch, and I received a very-much desired set of Ben Hogan golf clubs in a beautiful red and black bag, and a wrist watch. Among all the other very nice gifts of the day were the good wishes of friends, the warm smiles and friendly handshakes and the good will exhibited toward us. For all those things we thank you very sincerely.

REUNION HELD AT AUSTIN

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Bradshaw, Janas and David, accompanied by William Bradshaw and family of Lovington, New Mexico, attended the Wallace family reunion at Austin, Texas, July 15 and 16. All enjoyed it very much. Mr. and Mrs. Bradshaw, with Janas and David, went from Austin to San Antonio, spending several days there sightseeing. All visited the Brackenridge Park and zoo, the Alamo, Chinese Tea Garden, Sunken Gardens, the Buckhorn Hall of Horns, and the old missions. They also went fishing one day, and caught the fish biting good. They drove down to Odem, Texas, a couple of days, and while there visited Padre Island, Rockport, the ferry boat, fishing docks, and the city of Corpus Christi.

Leaving there, they came back to Waco and McGregor, Texas, and visited a couple of days before returning home.

They all had a nice trip and enjoyed every minute, but were glad to get home again.

Freedom in Truth

"Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free" Jno. 8:32

The apostle to the Gentiles, the apostle Paul, wrote, "For the husband is the head of the wife, even as Christ is the head of the church: and he is the saviour of the body." Eph. 5:23. We find three important thoughts in this verse: First, "the husband is the head of the wife." This devine principle began in the Garden of Eden, when God said to Eve, "thy desire shall be to thy husband, and he shall rule over thee." Gen. 3:16. Paul wrote again, "the head of the woman is as head of the church; Christ is the saviour of all them that obey him, Heb. 5:8-9. There are not according to God's will. The wife has taken authority God never intended for her to have. The second thought is, "Christ is the head of the church." Christ is the saviour of the body, and none other is the head of the church. God "gave on these things."

LAST TRIBUTE TO A FRIEND

Saturday we were both shocked and stunned when a telephone message told us, "Mr. Honeycutt passed away today."

Many of you, perhaps, do know Mr. Honeycutt. He lived in Levelland. At one time he operated a radiator repair shop there. But, before that, a good many years before, we met him and his daughter--they were publishing a small newspaper in Levelland, run off a memograph machine. From the first time we met we became firm friends and that friendship has remained through the years.

On numerous occasions he has visited us in Ropes, coming to our office and on each occasion we appreciated his visit.

Mr. Honeycutt was a member of the Church of God and a firm believer in prayer taking with him the Lord in all his daily undertaking and firmly believing--knowing--that when that time came when the spirit would be freed of its overcoat of clay, that he would be wafted into the presence of the Great Godhead to spend all eternity. Even as we write this we feel--we know--he is resting in the Fields of Paradise in the presence of one whose bright and shining face does all space occupy, all motions guide; unchanged through time's all devastating flight, the only and true God of the universe.

He was a man who lived what he believed, carrying his religion into his business and his dealings with his fellow man. To know him was to love him. Even now, as we write this, we can visualize him coming through the door, smiling, genial and pleasant--he was happy and he made you happy by talking to him. He lived with God and God lived with him.

In this day of skin deep religion there are few like him and likely few of his calibre will come after him. He was not rich in worldly goods, but he was rich in faith--living with a faith of the hereafter and faith that God would take care of him as long as life remained. There was no evil thought in him--he spoke no evil and he heard no evil.

As the roses fade, so he faded. But, even though he will no longer walk among men, his influence will live after him--no man can live as he lived without leaving his mark on those associated with him.

ABUNDANT LIFE

by ORAL ROBERTS

ARE YOU IMMOVABLE?

I once heard an old Arabian proverb that said, "All men are divided into three classes:

1. Those who are immovable.
2. Those who are movable.
3. Those who move.

Many people are immovable. They have a certain idea or belief and stand as solid as a mountain. Whether they are right or wrong, no one can change their minds. Thinking they know more about everything than anyone else, the immovable ones are stubborn people.

The second class is the movable group. It is probably the largest. These people change their ideas and beliefs every time someone expresses a different viewpoint. They have no backbone and believe whatever the other fellow believes. The movable ones never express their own convictions because they do not have any. Not wanting to be different from the other person, they are always agreeable. They are not stable but wander from one idea to another. The movable people never lead but always follow.

The third group has found the secret of success. They are the ones who move. Whenever there is a job to be done, they do it. They support definite beliefs and ideas. If their idea is proved wrong, they accept the fact and make an intelligent change in belief. Those who move are leaders and influence others. They are not easily swayed by changing public opinion but stand up for their convictions.

I read an article recently about an editor and publisher of an old and influential newspaper in another country.

When Communism first came to power, the editor supported it by printing what he believed to be the truth. Within a week, however, he began to realize that Communism was bringing hatred to his country instead of the freedom it had promised.

Even though he knew he would lose his paper and possibly his life, he began writing editorials about the things he thought incorrect in the communistic regime. He moved by writing the truth.

Forced out of his own country by the threat of death, he is now living in a neighboring country. He is publishing his newspaper once again. Moving against injustice, he is taking a strong stand for his beliefs.

Christ is the supreme example of a man who moved. He moved not only by His teaching and miracles but also by His daily life. His kindness, forgiving spirit and helping hand stirred men's hearts more than the most powerful words.

By letting Christ become the master of your life you can become one who moves. He will give you the strength and power you need. He will give you abundant life.

FISHING LINES

By DICK WOLFF

Columnist Dick Wolff is "out fishin'" today. In his absence, guest columnist Ed Moore, Fishing Editor of The New York Journal American, reviews Wolff's new book "Fishing Tackle And Techniques", published by E. P. Dutton & Co.

When we learned more than a year ago that Dick Wolff was writing a book on fishing tackle we were most anxious to see the completed work. Dick, whom we have had the privilege of knowing for a good many years, is a thorough man who has always come up with answers that not only are replies to the questions, but which are in a form that can be understood by the questioner. His approach to fishing tackle should be, we thought, most interesting.

Well, it was. Not only is his book, "Fishing Tackle And Techniques" interesting, it's enthralling. We've been in the "fishing editor" category for a good many years and we've never before come upon a book on fishing tackle that does the job as this one does -- which is the way it should be done.

If we can put our conclusions up here we would say that this is, without any reservations, the best book on fishing tackle that has ever been printed.

You see, Dick Wolff thoroughly understands every single thing he has written about in this book. That's the first requisite of coming up with an authoritative work.

Then he wrote it so that you and I and every reader can understand it. There's no point in writing something that can't be understood for that accomplishes nothing.

Bait casting, fly casting, spin casting, spinning, reels, rods and line are all taken up, discussed thoroughly and understandably, and all well illustrated and diagrammed.

The selection of tackle, balancing, and the technique of its use is fully discussed with, most important, the reasons for each decision. Nothing is glossed over. There's no bias for or against any type of tackle. It's all based on plain fact.

Following each chapter (and the chapters are devoted to one subject only) is a series of questions which cover the most common queries on that phase of tackle selection and use. If these questions don't happen to include your specific query, you will find that the answer is contained in the chapter itself.

"Fishing Tackle And Techniques" by Dick Wolff is the equal of and probably superior to, any half dozen books on fishing tackle ever printed in its value to the angler, novice or expert. It's the best investment you can make toward your own understanding of your tackle and enjoyment of its use.
