Full Kindergarten Program Will Be Offered by Shallowater Independent School District

The Board of Trustees of the Shallowater Independent School District has decided to offer all five year old children in the school district the opportunity to attend kindergarten.

In the past few years, only economically and educationally deprived children were given this opportunity.

Beginning August 20, 1973, all children who will be five years old by September 1, 1973, may attend classes from 8:30 a.m. until 2:30 p.m. Group activities and individual instruction will be offered by certified kindergarten teachers.

These programs are designed to prepare children for a quicker beginning in the learning program of the first grade.

Regular school bus transportation will be available to those students who live at least two miles from the school.

Any parent who has a five year old child is requested to call Don Morris, elementary principal, at the Shallowater Elementary School, 832-4531, after August 1, 1973, for more information and enrollment.

Insect Resistance to Many Insecticides Found to Be Widespread in Stored Grains

College Station—Preliminary surveys show that resistance to the insecticides malathion and lindane is now widespread in insects that attack stored grains.

Dr. Perry Adkisson of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, who heads the Texas A&M University Entomology Department, says the insects are even showing first signs of resistance to fumigants.

Fumigation, he pointed out, is the main alternative method of fighting insecticide resistance pests in grains.

Adkisson's announcement echoes an appeal to the world's pesticide manufacturing industry to develop new products for stored grain protection. The appeal was made by a panel of experts of the Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) of the United Nations. Adkisson has just returned from that meeting in Rome, Italy.

The panel based its case on early findings of a global survey of pesticide resistance in stored grain insects.

won the championship of Gaines County Partnership tournament last Sunday by firing a final round of 65 on the golf course. The duo finished with a two day total of 129, 15 under par.

Adkisson said that although the problem is not out of hand in Texas, survey results should be of primary concern because grain is one of that state's major exports. Gulf Coast ports handle a large percentage of all grain exported from the U.S.

The grain, he said, must be accompanied by a certificate declaring that it will be insect free when it reaches the importing country.

"So the problem of the hard-to-kill insects presents a serious threat to grain storage facilities in Texas as well as to shippers," the entomologist emphasized.

Because of long range consequences, the situation should be continuously monitored and new research started to develop preventive methods. Otherwise, the problem of stored grain pests could become more serious in Texas, Adkisson said.

House Passes 1973 Farm Bill

The House of Representatives passed its version of the 1973 farm bill with a final vote of 226-182. This concluded two weeks of stormy debate and what, at times, seemed almost impossible odds of passing the bill as recommended by the House Agricultural Committee.

The feed grain section of the bill was passed almost exactly as recommended by the Committee. Under this legislation, as passed by the house, the target price for grain sorghum will be $2.34 cwt. The loan rate will be increased to $2.02 cwt. from the present level of $1.79, if the House bill is allowed to become law.

Elbert Harp, GSPA executive director, has been in Washington two weeks working on the legislation. Harp stated that "Congress voted in favor of the farmers by allowing the 'Escalator Clause' to remain in the bill. This provision requires target prices to move up in 1975 and thereafter in relation to the increased cost of production. The major setback was in the rigid $20,000 limit per person that GSPA has fought for years." Harp continued, "We felt annual adjustments of target prices to cover increased production costs was essential to the bill. The Administration has opposed the Escalator provision and still threatens a veto if it is passed by Congress."

The bill now goes to the Conference Committee, where the Senate and House versions will be compromised. The compromised version will be brought back to each body of Congress for final passage. The bill, if it becomes law, will be effective for the 1974 crop. The House version is a four year bill.

The major differences for grain sorghum in the House and Senate versions are as follows:

Loan Rate—Senate Bill, $1.79,

Food Retailers Need Authorization in Order To Be Eligible for Food Stamp Program Here

Food retailers in counties entering the Food Stamp Program will have to be authorized by the U.S. Department of Agriculture before they will be eligible to accept food stamp coupons.

This word comes from Martin D. Garber, Dallas, administrator of the West-Central regional office of USDA's Food and Nutrition Service.

Under the Food Stamp Program, which is scheduled to be operating in all Texas counties by the end of the year, needy families are certified for the program by the State Department of Public Welfare.

Families then pay a certain amount of money, depending on income, resources and other teachers of vocational agriculture Monday and Tuesday (July 23 and 24) at Texas Tech University.

Ayers, known as the old pro of crops team competition, has coached crops judging teams to 33 first place prizes in his last 40 national and international competitions. The Texas vocational agriculture teachers will come to Texas Tech to study under Ayers in preparation for better coaching of their crops judging teams.

The teachers will study seed identification, seed analysis and commercial grain grading, all parts of Texas crops judging competition. They also will review rules and regulations of competition and will work with the forms used in local, area and Texas Tech contests, according to Ayers.

"Participation in the short course will improve teaching in the classroom by renewing the teachers' skills and giving them direct guidance in judging and analysis," said Ayers. "The short course will also lead to improved competition in contests throughout Texas."

Some 400 teachers from throughout the state have been invited to participate in the short course. There will be no registration fee for the two-day program. Meals and lodging will be arranged by individual participants.

House bill $2.02, USDA Goal $1.79.

Target Price—Senate Bill $2.59; House Bill $2.34; USDA Goal $2.14.

Total Payment per person — Senate Bill $20,000; House Bill $20,000; Term of Legislation, Senate Bill, 5 years and House Bill, 4 years.

Harp said, "We are optimistic that a workable farm program will be passed by Congress and signed into law by the President. A veto of this bill can only be construed as anti-farmer."

*The Senate version provides that the portion of payments, which the Secretary declares for resource adjustment (set aside), will not count against the $20,000 limit per person.

factors, for food stamps, which they then use to purchase eligible foods at local stores authorized by USDA.

"Most grocers in a food stamp county apply for authorization," Garber stated, "since the program usually means a noticeable increase in business."

USDA will conduct meetings in advance of the start of the program in each county to acquaint grocers with the food stamp operation, Garber added. Although regulations are relatively simple, certain items cannot be bought with food stamps. These include all non-food items sold in the store, as well as most imported foods.

Grocers redeem the coupons through local banks and the Federal Reserve System.

Slanted Reporting

Slanted reporting on the Watergate scandal continues with little credit due that segment of the American news media participating in a push to get rid of President Nixon, forcing his resignation or impeachment, by any means.

Without minimizing the scandal or its importance, ample investigation and prosecution are now underway. The President has accepted responsibility, admitted poor judgement and mistakes. A host of misguided individuals are "coming clean" or are being prosecuted in the courts.

The nation is almost certain to emerge from the scandal better assured such improper and illegal activities never again become a major part of White House operations. Some have gone to jail; others will be sentenced. The whole affair will handicap Republicans, blot the record of the Nixon Administration and enhance the chance of the Democratic Party to regain power.

But this smell of blood, of having found—at last—something to swat the President with, to vilify and abuse him, has led much of the press, which has never liked Mr. Nixon, to excesses. The President is assumed totally guilty by many news reports which contain too much slanting. Senate hearing reporting repeatedly favors and features Democratic critics, who, it is often noted, get "prolonged" applause from the hearing audience, etc.

Democratic Senators, the London Times, editors and jurists have commented adversely on the witch-hunting, McCarthy like, atmosphere and reporting.

The nation's news media, especially the press, should at this time when public opinion is already somewhat hostile, carefully guard its own image and exhibit balanced reporting and good judgement, fairness, and at times, restraint, in its own and the nation's best interest.

Voluntary Services Fail

Though it comes as no surprise to many, the much-heralded system of an all volunteer military establishment is obviously a failure. Billions of dollars have been wasted in this effort, which President Nixon hoped would succeed and which he championed at a time when the climate in the nation was so soured by the Vietnam war it was a political plus.

The trouble with an all-volunteer force is that it is wrong in concept from the beginning. The nation can't afford to lavish high pay on its military forces and has a right to expect—as other nations do—some limited service from its young men—and women. It is, in fact, good for the young, that they contribute something to their country.

In addition, the all-volunteer system attracts, with its pay incentives, etc., the shiftless, poor and ignorant. One should not be critical of these volunteers; their plight is sometimes not of their doing. Nevertheless, it is not sound policy to place the security of the nation in their hands. It does not translate into the most effective military force attainable.

Enlistments are currently running very short, costs of defense have soared because of inflated pay scales (more than half the defense budget now goes to military pay, not hardware). More and more military leaders are now urging abandonment of the system and many in Congress are ready to admit the all-volunteer force was pie-in-the-sky idealism, to appeal to a nation tired of Vietnam and therefore soured on a draft which sent men to Vietnam.

A fair national service law requiring boys and girls to give their country a limited period of service, in some form, is the only democratic solution to the economic and security needs of the country, and always has been. Congress, though this sort of equitable-service-for-all-legislation has traditionally prompted complaints from some mamas and papas, should enact the needed legislation without delay.

Americus, Ga., Times-Recorder:

"One of (the) innovations of the new Postal Service, no longer under congressional control, is the elimination of localities from postmarks. Instead, the receiver finds only 'U.S. Postal Service' printed on the outside of his letter. The Postal Service offers several reasons why this represents progress, why this is necessary, etc. Whatever the justifications, however, they are outweighed by the very obvious fact that this system hides from the addressee the point of mailing and the exact time, the traditional means by which he can trace postal service. More progress like this and the Postal Service will have unintentionally furthered the proposition to return postal service to congressional control to a considerable degree."

Lennox, S.D., Independent: "A system that penalizes the workers with taxes and rewards the non-workers with hand-outs cannot work, because the work needed to support such a system won't get done."

Lake Park, Iowa, News: "The next time you go grocery shopping use two carts. In the first buy just what you will be able to eat—in the other put all the paper products, drug items, cigarettes, panty hose, etc. and perhaps you'll be satisfied that food isn't as high as you might be led to believe."

Burlington, Wis., Standard Press: "It is important that people read newspapers with understanding, think for themselves, and take responsible action when they believed it is necessary. One of the best ways to take responsible action is to write a letter to the editor. This time-honored way of presenting different viewpoints and ideas is an important part of our free society and free press, but all letters cannot be printed. Oftentimes space is lacking; sometimes the words or ideas may be spiteful, abusive or even libelous. But, most readers and writers have the opportunity to say what they think. In this way, free speech and a free press will continue to guarantee a free and open society."

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin, Texas—Federal Environmental Protection Agency proposals to cut auto pollution smog in Texas ran into opposition in public hearings last week.

EPA proposes to put the smog control plans into effect August 15 unless convinced it should alter or delay them.

Here's what the controls would mean, with variations from area to area:

- Special traffic lanes for buses and car pools on freeways.
- Installation of anti-pollution devices on pre-1968 cars.
- Elimination of downtown parking in major cities like Houston and San Antonio.
- Gasoline quotas.
- Reducing gasoline fumes in some areas (like Austin-Waco) by improved storage tanks and tighter gasoline delivery trucks.

A Texas Good Roads Association spokesman assailed the idea of special traffic lanes as potential contributors to all-time record traffic pile-ups.

A Texas Air Control Board representative also challenged constitutionality of EPA recommendations to require owners of seven-year-old (and older) cars to install anti-smog equipment.

The latter requirement, said the Board spokesman, places an undue and discriminatory burden on the poor and raises questions under due process and equal guarantees of the fifth and 14th amendments.

Air Control Board spokesmen have contended emission control devices would cost owners of old cars $300 million and would affect one per cent of the total pollution problem.

Price Increases Continued—The Texas Department of Agriculture reports dramatic increases in prices in eggs, pork and other commodities throughout the state.

TDA estimated the egg price increase at 10 cents per dozen this week on the retail level, and said grade A large eggs could sell for 85 cents a dozen.

Potatoes are expected to increase from $1.00 to $2.00 per hundredweight.

Pork prices are up 10 cents a pound, and lamb prices are also soaring. The Agriculture Department said some smaller packers are contemplating discontinuing cattle slaughter. Distributors were said to be seeking additional supplies of vegetables since they are permitted to raise prices.

A major problem is shortage of truck to move grain. Reimbursement For Cities—Cities which constructed sewage treatment plants between July 1, 1966 and July 1, 1972, without benefit of full federal construction grants can get reimbursements.

Texas Water Quality Board Executive Director Hugh C. Yantis, Jr. said applications for the reimbursements should be made to the Environmental Protection Agency by October 17. Yantis also suggested cities which constructed plants as far back as July 1, 1956, without full federal grants should make applications for reimbursement in case regulations are changed to qualify them.

Briscoe Wealth Estimated—Major Texas daily newspapers came up with estimates that Gov. Dolph Briscoe owns more than 300,000 acres of land in South Texas and has assets of over $40 million.

The Governor paid $113,309 in taxes on his land in 1972. "What we assess him, he pays," said Dimmit County Tax Assessor-Collector Mrs. Jeanne John.

Through leases, in addition to his holdings, Briscoe is said to control a million acres of land.

Short Snorts—Hunting fees ranging up to $10.00 a day for deer will be charged for public hunts at Parks and Wildlife Department game management areas.

Ronald Earle won a July 17 special election to fill an Austin House of Representatives vacancy. Republican Maurice Angly and Democratic Lloyd Doggett went into a runoff for the Austin District 14 state senate vacancy.

Former Rep. Hudson Moyer of Amarillo got a 10-year probated sentence on charges he stole $5,000 worth of postage stamps.

Legislative lobbyists reported spending more than $107,373 this year to directly influence outcome of legislation.

by Joe Kelly

This is being written too early for results of the All-Star game to be known, but in reading over the lineups, I was struck by the fact that the two clubs may be closer in strength than any time in recent years.

Both managers had a lot of power in their lineups, from top to bottom. Both had better than average defensive strength. And both, as usual, had good pitching to call on, plus relievers.

I was lucky enough to attend one of the All Star games, in Washington in 1956. Truthfully, I don't remember too much about the game itself. I was too wrapped up in the stars who were on hand.

Burt Hawkins, the Washington Star's baseball writer and, later, press secretary for the Senators, got me a ticket. Brashly, I went down on the field with other writers before the game. I stood by the batting cage and watched the players take their practice cuts.

Of all the stars on hand, I'd have to say that Ted Kluzewski was the most impressive. The Cincinnati first baseman was an awesome sight as he dug in and swung.

It was said of Klu that even his muscles had muscles, and who would argue? The big guy put ball after ball in the seats, then hung around to watch Willie Mays swing. I'd say it was a mutual admiration meeting.

It was a thrill just being there, but to have a chance to talk with such people as Klu, Mays, Yogi Berra, Stan Musial, Freddie Hutchinson, Walter Alton and others was something else.

The All Star game is not just another ball game, no matter what anybody says. Regardless of who wins or loses, even the stars are caught up in the excitement. They talk and kid, but underneath it all is respect and admiration for the other stars.

Anyway, to get back to 1973, if I had to guess, I'd guess that the Nationals won the game. In the past few years, the Senior circuit has been a little stronger.

The power that used to mark the American League has gone over to the other side. And, while pitching still is the key to any short series, or one game, it only takes one swing of the bat to even things up. But I'd guess it was a good game.

Speaking of All Stars, Lubbock fans won't want to miss the Old Timers game Saturday night. This is the second one in four years and it gives old West Texas-New Mexico League fans a chance to see some of their former heroes once more.

A little of the zing has gone out of the legs. The arms aren't as buggywhip-like anymore. There's more paunch showing. And a little winter has crept into hair that is thinning.

But, when all is said and done, who gives a damn about age? These are the same guys who used to thrill thousands in this vast area of West Texas and New Mexico.

Jackie Sullivan, the former Hubber manager, has contacted between 40 and 60 former players. They're coming here from Oklahoma, Houston, Albuquerque, Dallas, Tyler, all over. They'll have a private get together Friday night and you can bet the lies will pile up!

The list is too long to run, but such former Hubbers from the 40s and 50s who will be here are Wiley and Don Moore, Rooster Mills, Mike Dooley, Bob Clodfelter, Frank McAlexander, Virgil Richardson, Frank Benites, Jackie Wilcos, Ted Clawitter.

The list goes on and on. They're older now. Most of them have families, with boys growing up and no WT-NM League to play in. They want to come back here. They look forward to it. They want to see each other. They want to see the fans who cheered and booed them.

There's a real air of nostalgia in this reunion of old friends and former foes. If you could only turn the clock back twenty years! Still, memories fade and the stories will be better this time than four years ago. Age always improves deeds!

West Texas baseball fans can look forward to this Saturday night appearance with anticipation. This could be the last time these stars assemble, so come on out and cheer them like you used to do.

The Roundup: When we got to Windsor, Ont., Canada, I looked across the street from Customs and saw a big billboard that said: Norm Cash. . . Every Monday night. . . 7:30 p.m. . . on CKLW-TV. The former Post and Detroit Tiger star has made it big. We saw three big U.S. Mail trucks in Canada, leading my wife to say huh, no wonder our mail delivery is slow! . . . Next week I am headed for Colorado, hope to have a report on the trout fishing there the following week. Peace!

TIPS FOR OUTDOORSMEN

by Vern Sanford

Tired of not catching fish?

That's a common complaint at certain "slack" seasons of the year—especially days when the temperatures are high.

Naturally the easy answer to the problem is to fish at night. Temperature changes the big bass move up from the depths and into shallow water where again it's comfortable and there's new food to be found.

Anglers who like to hear the explosion of a lunker bass in the still of the night as it smacks a top water lure with all of its dynamic power—use a chuggar, or a popper or a stick with spinners fore and aft.

Let this happen alongside the boat, as it sometimes does and you'll not only get a thrill but the sensation of a cold chill running up and down your spine . . . despite the warm night.

One who seeks the bass in the hot daytime weather, needs a different approach. He has to fish deep—real deep. Big bass seek not only the shade to escape the hot rays of the sun, but also the cooler water (around 68°) which may be 30 to 60 feet deep if the weather has been very warm for some time.

First of all one needs a worm, and a bait, casted in or stronger, as, if he wants to land a lunker.

This time the lure needs to be a plastic worm, preferably the small seven-inch size in strawberry red, brown, blue or black.

Fish off of a point from boat to bank, shallow water to deep, using a slip sinker heavy enough to keep the worm crawling slowly along the bottom . . . deeper, deeper and deeper, until you feel that longed-for "telltale tap" that means a strike.

If at first you don't succeed, change worms until you find a color or combination of colors, to his liking. A white-tailed worm is great!

If still no luck, try longer worms! Failing there, tie on a jig and eel and bounce 'em off the bottom in the deepest hole you can find. Here, a depth finder comes in mighty handy.

Don't give up — they gotta eat sometime!

Several decisions were made and much thought was provoked. Only time will show the true effects of the conference in the lives of all who attended.

Is someone taking you for a ride?

Without realizing it, the position of many anti-highway groups is anti-safety. Unwittingly, they sacrifice lives by blocking the upgrading of obsolete roads and highways in the name of "conservation". (They're overlooking all the trees, shrubs and grass planted as part of road upgrading in recent years.)

As for safety, it makes little difference where you live. If you use roads and highways, they need to be engineered to modern safety standards. Cost? About 30 cents per motorist per day. Less than a pack of cigarettes ... for planning, safety design, construction and modernization.

Your highways. You've got a lot riding on them.

In Texas, there are 48,139 miles of substandard highways.

America's roads and highways are still substandard. Built as far back as the 1930's and earlier, they're inadequate for today's faster, heavier traffic. For safety's sake, the immediate straightening of sharp curves, widening of narrow lanes and reduction of steep grades is a must.

Remember: America's roads and highways are a vital part of the total transportation system serving you. To help them serve you better, tell your local and state officials how you feel.

Food Nutrients

This is the second in a series concerning food nutrients, its importance in the diet and its contribution to the diet. Last week we discussed Fats and we will give a breakdown this week on Protein:

- Builds and repairs all tissues.
- Helps form antibodies to fight infection.
- Supplies food energy.
- Helps to make hemoglobin, the blood protein that carries oxygen to the cells and carries carbon dioxide away from the cells.

To have daily meals rank well in protein quality, a part of the protein must come from animal sources. Combining cereal and vegetable foods with a little meat or with another source of animal protein will improve the protein value of the meal. Examples of nourishing combinations are cereal with milk, rice with fish, spaghetti with meat sauce, and vegetable stew with meat. You could simply have milk as a beverage along with foods of plant origin. It is a good idea to have some food from animal sources at each meal.

You need protein all through life for the maintenance and repair of body tissues. Children urgently need protein for normal growth.

Important amounts of protein are found in meat, poultry, fish, milk, cheese, eggs, dry beans, dry peas, and nuts.

Bread, cereals, vegetables, and fruits contain relatively smaller amounts of protein. However, the quantity of bread, and perhaps of cereal, eaten daily may be large enough to make these foods important protein sources.

Recipe of the week:

- Individual Tuna Casseroles
- 1 tablespoon chopped green onion
 - 1/4 cup chopped celery
 - 2 tablespoon butter or margarine
 - One 10 1/2 oz. can condensed cream of mushroom soup
 - 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
 - One 7 oz. can tuna, drained and flaked
 - 3/4 cup Quaker Life cereal, coarsely crushed
 - 2 tablespoons cashews, coarsely chopped
 - 1/4 cup milk

Saute onion and celery in butter in medium sized saucepan. Add soup, milk and Worcestershire sauce, blending well. Stir in tuna; heat thoroughly. Pour into 2 individual 12 oz. casseroles. Sprinkle each with half of Life and a tablespoon cashews. Bake in preheated moderate oven (350 degree F.) about 15 minutes. Makes 2 servings.

Special Consumer's Report on Beef Purchasing

College Station—Beef hungry consumers can follow seven guidelines to keep meat on the table in spite of the "shrinking buck," a livestock marketing specialist said this week.

Dr. Edward Uvacek Jr. with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, cited careful spending of meat dollars as the key.

—Compare meat cuts on a cost-per-serving basis, rather than price per pound.

"For example, you can get about four servings from a pound of ground beef, but only two and a half servings from a sirloin steak. For them to be equal on a cost-per-serving basis, when sirloin brings $1.49 per pound, ground beef could sell for as much as $2.38 per pound," the specialist explained.

"A brisket at $1.19 a pound will cost as much per serving as a boneless chuck at 99 cents a pound, or shortribs at 79 cents a pound. Boneless chuck costs at 99 cents a pound and shortribs at 88 cents a pound have exactly the same cost per serving, but a T-bone steak at $1.59 a pound costs twice as much per serving as liver at the same price."

Uvacek also advised homemakers, when substituting other meats such as broiler chickens for beef, to remember that most of them have very low servings per pound.

"For example, a ready to cook broiler at 59 cents a pound is slightly more expensive per serving than brisket or rolled rump at $1.29 a pound."

—Don't pay extra for minor conveniences.

"Thousands of complaints about poor mail service — all delivered promptly."

Vocational Agriculture Teachers Hold Annual Conference this Week

Austin—Twelve school administrators from throughout Texas will be honored by the Vocational Agriculture Teachers Association of Texas of Austin at the organization's annual conference to be held in San Antonio, July 31-August 3, 1973. The administrators will be cited for outstanding service to their school, community and support of the Vocational Agriculture Education Program.

"Pre-formed ground beef patties are pretty but expensive. The amount of work in making a hamburger patty is pretty negligible.

"Similar types of conveniences, at a cost, are built into such items as tenderized or former steaks, cubed stewing beef, breaded chicken-fried steaks and precooked cuts. Do the work yourself, and save a bundle," he added.

—Carefully compare prices for beef cuts in different stores.

"All retailers don't charge the same price for individual cuts. In fact, it's not unusual to have very substantial variations in retail prices between stores, even in a small town.

"Shop around. Don't always buy your beef in the same old store, simply because that's where the watermelons are cheaper."

—Get your money's worth in quality.

"Unless you're an expert, the easiest way to insure consistent acceptability and quality is to buy only USDA Choice beef.

"It's either labeled as such, or has a purple shield with the word 'Choice' inside of it, stamped on the outside of the meat cut.

"Look for this before you buy. You could buy U.S. Good beef, but it's not as safe a bet in terms of quality."

—Don't be ashamed to return an unsatisfactory piece of meat.

"Most retailers, particularly large chains, flaunt a money-back completely satisfied, return it. Don't assume your cooking was bad.

"In some cases, cooking can

Lubbock Ranks High in Livestock Production

Austin—"The Panhandle contributed more than 70% of the Texas cattle and calf production in 1972," Agricultural Commissioner John C. White reports.

Texas has more than twice as many cattle and calves and three times more beef cows than the second place state.

The cattle and calf population for Texas as of Jan. 1 this year totaled 15,350 head. "Our human population and the cattle and calf population for Texas in years past has pretty well been about equal. But this past year, our cattle population showed a huge increase, about 2,500,000 over 1972," White said.

Beef cows numbered 6,320,000 in Texas contrasted to 2,283,000 head of second-place Oklahoma.

Texas is also first in the nation in cattle on feed. Last year, about 4,300,000 head of cattle were fed out in Texas; this year, it's expected the figure will top 4,500,000 head.

The state ranks ninth in the nation in milk cow numbers with a total of 360,000 head.

The only area of livestock production in which Texas is not in the top 10 is in swine. Texas is 14th in total numbers of swine, the same spot it held in 1972. "But I believe we are going to see Texas soon in

The past two years, Lubbock County has been in the top 10 counties in hog production in Texas this season.

However, Lubbock decreased from its 71 production total of 35,000 hogs to 30,800 in 1972.
