JEST SOME THOUGHTS —

Our thoughts today are turned to the weather (as usual) and the swift passage of time.

On Wednesday, the clouds, or rather the sky, looks forboding, and we understand there are warnings out for a 20-county area. There is just no such thing as a nice, peaceful shower any more. You can about count on it, if we are to receive any moisture, we must accept the turbulence with it.

If it rains, it hails, the wind blows, and at least every other person is casting a worried eye heavenward.

The tornadoes that have hit our section for the past couple of years have made believers out of men like nothing else could.

We have long been a believer in the 'fraid hole, but we find there are many others going below the surface this year.

And as to time, "it waits for no man" is so true. We find this out more every day that passes — especially since April is gone and we are still living in March. Not March of 1971 but way back in '69.

Time does lots of things for people — like heals wounds inflicted in this old life — but one thing for sure, it passes. It also ages.

The secret to having 25 hours in a day is to not reset one clock to daylight savings time, and get up by one clock and go to bed by another.

We don't think if there were 30 hours in every day that we could accomplish all that needs to be done in a day's period.

It's just about three weeks now and school will be out — the kids will be on the loose again, and the teachers can lay off their tranquilizers for a couple of months. They could pass their prescriptions on to the parents.

We watch our young grandson hop and jump about and wonder where on earth all our energy has gone — just drained out through the years, we guess.

Anyway, we thought he looked a little pale, so we purchased him some vitamin tablets, but have a sneaking suspicion his mother is taking them trying to keep up with the busy little boy.

One funny thing about this old world, some people never realize they have grown up — that they are the older generation now, and should be setting good examples instead of acting like youngsters.

They say you are only as old as you feel, and we know some 40 and 50 year old people that never did age past 16.

Well, we better get the ball to rolling in case it decides to blow up a gale tonight, and make us extremely late putting this issue to bed.

Rites Conducted For Tyree Martin Tuesday

Last rites were conducted at 2 p.m. Tuesday from the First United Methodist Church in Ropesville for Tyree Martin, Sr., 53, of Brownfield. The Rev. Ted Dotts officiated, assisted by the Rev. Carrol Jones and the Rev. Ollie Apple.

Interment was in the Ropes Cemetery under the direction of Rix Funeral Home of Lubbock.

Tyree passed away at his home in Brownfield Saturday morning following an apparent heart attack.

Living in Hockley County most of his life, Tyree entered school here in the first grade, and lived here continuously from 1944 until last year when he moved to Brownfield. He opened an insurance agency in Ropes in 1956, and operated it until he suffered a severe heart attack over a year ago.

While in Ropes, he served on the Board of Stewards of the First Methodist Church, was a member of the Volunteer Fire Department, and a member of the City Council.

Survivors include his wife, Dorothy; one daughter Doris Bradley of Lubbock three sons, Tyree Jr. of Lubbock, and Jimmy and Johnny, of the home; one sister, Mrs. Tommy Littlefield of Ropes-ville; three brothers, Arzie of Ropesville, Butler of Whittier, Calif., and Andrew of Seagraves; and one grandson.

Nephews served as pallbearers.

The Plainsman family, along with the community, extend deepest sympathy to the family in their time of sorrow.

Pre-School and Kindergarten

Friday, April 30, will be "pre-school" day at Ropes Elementary School. All children in the school district who will be entering the first grade for the first time next school year should be present to register. This will include children who are presently enrolled in kindergarten.

The children should be in the cafeteria, with a parent, if possible by 8:30 a.m. Any child who does not have a copy of his birth certificate on file at the school should have his certificate with him.

The children will be assigned to their teacher and their room, after which the parent should leave the child with the teacher until 2:30, at which time the child may be called for.

This year there will also be a PRE-KINDERGARTEN day on the same day that the pre-school children register. The pre-kindergarten children will be registered in the kindergarten room. They must be five years old on or before September 1 and come from families that can be considered low-income or educationally deprived, or children who have an English language handicap.

COTTON TALKS

Original regulations of the 1971 cottoning program decreed that farmers who lost cotton crops after the normal cotton planting season would lose a third of their cotton payments if the same land was replanted to another crop for harvest or if they chose to use the "failed acreage" as set-aside.

Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. and other producer spokesmen objected to this provision on the grounds that producers should not be penalized for hailstorms, sandstorms and drought or other phenomena over which they have no control. And the ruling is now being softened by new regulations which permit the payment reduction to be waived in certain cases.

Generally, the new rules say payments are not to be reduced if a farmer can convince the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service Committee and a representative of the State ASCS Committee that he has made an honest, conscientious effort to plant and produce a cotton crop and has been prevented from doing so by the elements.

County ASCS offices have now been instructed that "A reduction of the price support payment will not be required if (a) the crop is not planted because of adverse weather conditions in an area designated by the Secretary as a disaster area, or (b) a standing crop is entirely lost due to a sudden, violent natural disaster such as a hurricane, tornado, hailstorm, sandstorm or flood."

Other conditions which must be met under the new directive to prevent payment loss are (1) the disaster must continue through or occur after the end of the "normal planting season," (2) the producer must request "prevented planting or failed acreage" credit in sufficient time for a representative of the County office to visit the farm to confirm evidence of the natural disaster, and this must be done before crop remains, if any, are disturbed, and (3) the request must be approved by the County ASCS Committee and a representative of the State Committee.

The "normal planting season" varies from area to area, and specific dates beyond which producers will be required to replant failed acreage to cotton have been assigned for each of the cotton growing counties in the State. In Hockley County the end of the normal planting season for purposes of administering these regulations will be June 1.

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Willis were dinner guests in the home of their daughter Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Noel Dean Flowers and boys, and helped Betty celebrate her birthday.

IMPORTANCE OF MINERALS

Animal, Vegetable, Mineral. Everyone knows that meat and vegetables provide vitamins the body needs for good health. But few people understand the value of minerals, or "trace elements", in nutrition. Scientists haven't yet discovered all the facts, but they agree that, like vitamins, minerals play an important role in life and health. A pamphlet published by the J. B. Roerig & Company Division of Chas. Pfizer & Co., Inc. points out that because vitamins and minerals are closely inter-reacting, diet supplements often are formulated with these vital nutrients. The cobalt in a tablet or capsule of vitamin-mineral supplement, for instance, is related to vitamin B-12 in the formation of red blood corpuscles, while the copper is needed for utilization of iron in the body and for proper use of oxygen by the body cells. Other minerals that work with the vitamins in the formula are: CALCIUM needed for building bones and teeth; necessary in clotting of blood; helps regulate nerve and muscle action. IODINE, essential for the production of thyroid hormone. IRON, needed to carry oxygen from lungs to all parts of the body; needed in cells to help provide energy. MANGANESE, needed as part of many enzyme systems of the body. MAGNESIUM, balance between calcium and magnesium needed for muscle contraction and nerve function; helps formation of bone and tissue. MOLYBDENUM, helps in the action of certain enzyme systems in the body. PHOSPHORUS, needed for building bones and teeth and to utilize proteins, fats and carbohydrates in the body. POTASSIUM, helps regulate water balance in body; needed for heart action, transmission of nerve impulse, muscle contraction; believed to be related to carbohydrate utilization in the body. ZINC, necessary element for the function of a body substance needed for respiration.
