POLITICIANS ON HOME STRETCH

County politicians are now on the home stretch, using the last days of the campaign to contact as many voters as possible.

Chester Borders, also seeking the office of County School Superintendent, allowed: "I'm working as fast as I can. I had to spend a part of this week getting an irrigation well started, and breaking in a new irrigation hand. But from here on I expect to see all the voters I can."

Mary Meek called at the Plainsman office on Tuesday. She was wearing one of those "peaked" straw hats with a strap under the chin. She declared: "I can not see all the voters bein the office but and so ing all I can. I hope the folks realize I cannot devote all my time to a full scale cam-

Jim Gotcher, Justice of the Peace, saying, "I have just about completed coverage of the territory, and have about finished up in Ropes."

AUTOS TO BE PUT ON COUNTY TAX ROLLS

Information given to the Plainsman this week states that automobiles in the county will be placed on the unrendered rolls, with a valuation of about 12 per cent of their value.

This is brought about by the squabble with the oil companies who are demanding an equalization of taxes.

The history of such procedure in other counties is the fact that while automobiles are often rendered for Sebe Ready was a very taxation they are never taxed. It is likely that will be the case in this county.
