Funeral services were held for Duke Biggs from the Ropes First Baptist Church at 2:00 p.m. Wednesday with Rev. Wayne Perry giving the oration.

Mr. Biggs had been ill for some time with leukemia, and had been going to Dallas for treatment. At times it was thought he was better, but only recently he took a turn for the worse, and was rushed back to Baylor Hospital in Dallas where all that is known to medical science was of no avail, and he passed away on Monday of this week.

Mr. Biggs was married to Johnny Atchley, at Childress, on December 24, 1932. To this union were born two children, Sharla John of the home, and Mrs. Doyle Darby, also of Ropes community.

He was a member of the First Baptist Church.

Burial was in the Resthaven Memorial Park in Lubbock.

He had lived at Slide, Lakeview and Ropesville, and along with his father founded the community of Old Meadow, some three or four miles east of the present town. Mahon sends Message to Folks of Congressional Dist.

LUBBOCK - Representative George Mahon reports that he is closing his Lubbock office and preparing to return to Washington for the new session of Congress. He visited extensively over the District, but expressed regret that he was unable to cover all the counties.

Mahon stated that he was much encouraged over the upsurge of interest in government which was evident on every hand. "A strong country does not go to the dogs when the people are concerned and alert," he said. He advocated an attitude of cautious optimism toward the future.

Mahon made the following comments on subjects which appeared to him to be uppermost in the minds of the people:

WAR - A war between the United States and Russia would be an Atomic war. In over-all strength the U.S. is stronger than Russia. Soviet leaders know they could not win. Their country would be set back by decades.

In order to lessen the likelihood of war by miscalculation on the part of Russia, the U. S. has more firmly defined its position and is increasing its nuclear and conventional war capability. The prospects of avoiding war are excellent. A continuation of disturbing developments in many areas of the world seems inevitable.

FALLOUT SHELTERS - If the Cold War continues, we must have a shelter program in which the Federal, State and local governments and individuals participate. Requirements are not yet sufficiently well defined and people should not rush into a program of shelter construction. Russia does not have a large stockpile of operational intercontinental ballistic missiles as yet, and this is not the time of greatest danger. There is time for deliberate planning as the greater danger period approaches. Much better information will be available in the near future.

FARM LABOR - A crisis in farm labor is upon us as a result of the new bracero law which restricts tractor driving by braceros. In the House we were able to pass a simple extension of the law, but crippling amendments added in the Senate and which could not be wholly eliminated have made the new law intolerable. A further threat is posed by the unsympathetic administration of the law by officials of the Labor Department.

The prospect of inadequate farm help poses a serious threat not only to individual farmers, but to the economy of many farm areas. I shall continue to work aggressively with organizations and farmers in an effort to prevent disaster to farmers who have been forced to rely on braceros for tractor drivers.

SPENDING - Non-defense spending continues too high. To discourage spending and inflationary trends, and for other reasons, I voted in the last session against the depressed areas bill, the big housing bill, backdoor spending proposals, Federal aid to education, minimum wage legislation.

The authoritative Congressional Quarterly rates me as having voted with the Administration 59 per cent of the time in the recent Congress. I am a loyal Democrat, but the National Interest requires that Democrats and Republicans put the welfare of the country above party consideration. This is in the long range best interest of our country and our two-party system.

CONSERVATIVES vs. LIBERALS - The trend among the people toward conservatism in government continues. I am encouraged by this trend. Both political parties, in my judgment, lean too far to the left. This is reflected in national platforms adopted last year which are significantly similar. There are large blocs of conservatives and liberals in both the Democratic and Republican parties.

Citizens can best serve by working actively within the party of their choice for the goals in which they believe. They have the responsibility and duty of trying to influence the party to follow a course which they regard as best for the country.

substitute legislation will be high on the list of legislation to be considered by the next Congress. I have always supported the reciprocal trade program despite the fact that some industries are adversely affected. This area has a big part in the exportation of about five million bales of cotton per year and much is at stake.

American industrial and farm commodities are being priced out of world markets. Unless labor and industry and government can do more than is now being done to make this country more competitive we are in deep trouble. My vote against the minimum wage increase was based in part upon my concern about this basic problem.

OIL IMPORTS - Excessive oil imports continue to contribute to the slump in the domestic oil industry. Admittedly, trade is a two way street, but I favor an aggressive program - not to eliminate all oil imports, but to bring the import program within the bounds of reason and prevent stagnation in the domestic oil industry.

SUGAR BEETS - Present sugar laws will expire during the next Congress and a new sugar law will be passed. I shall continue to be an active and vocal participant in the crusade to get a sufficient sugar beet quota to warrant at least one sugar mill in the Plains-Panhandle area. I expect some progress to be made which would enable us to share in the national growth factor. However, it is mandatory that U. S. growers of beets and cane be authorized to produce a larger percentage of American consumption. U. S. growers now produce 55 per cent of American consumption. An additional allocation of only 5 percent would be a great boon to domestic growers.

FARM LEGISLATION - Trends in farm legislation are unpredictable. However, I do not anticipate any drastic change in farm laws during the next session of Congress.

TAXES - I expect the next Congress to pass legislation tightening up revenue laws in some fields, but a significant increase or decrease in taxes generally is not likely.

DEFENSE - I estimate that the next Congress will, appropriate $50 million to continue the defense program. We are the world's most powerful nation and we will remain so. We need not take a back seat to anybody and we can win the Cold War if we have sufficient strength of purpose and if we think we can. I think we can and will. Communism has its basic weaknesses; Freedom has its basic strengths. Democracy and freedom will prevail in the long run.

Freedom In Truth

"Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free" Jno. 8:32

Many people say there is nothing in a name. They say one name is as good as another. What is in a name? The term, "Mohammedan" suggests one who is a follower of Mohammed. Likewise, "Christian" suggests that the person is a follower of Christ. One should be a Christian only, nothing more, nothing less, because of the blessing in the name of Christ. One should be a Christian, wear the name of Christ, for the reasons set forth in the following scriptures:

- 1.-Salvation is in the name of Christ, Acts 4:12, "And in none other is there salvation: for neither is there any other name under heaven, that is given among men, wherein we must be saved."
2. The name of Christ is an exalted one. "Wherefore also God highly exalted him, and gave unto him
