Vichy Govt. Moves To Avoid 'Grievous Bloodshed'

VICHY, France, July 9 (AP)—The Vichy government announced tonight that it had asked Britain for an immediate armistice in the month-old war in Syria.

The United States consulate at Beirut was the intermediary in negotiations for a Vichy surrender which were started last night, a communique said.

Bus Hearing Is Concluded

Scene of hearings on All American Bus Lines' application for a permit to do intra-state business had moved to Midland Wednesday, after a day of testimony before Railroad Commissioner Examiner John L. Mathews in Big Spring.

The hearing here was concluded Tuesday afternoon with a long parade of witnesses appearing in behalf of Southwestern Greyhound, chief proponent against the All American application.

Greyhound attorneys introduced witnesses by the dozen, from nearly all towns between Big Spring and Midland, and the testimony of each was substantially the same—that Greyhound's existing service was satisfactory and the line's present five schedules a day each way were sufficient to meet travel needs.

It was a repetition of this theme, as Mark Magee, counsel for Greyhound, asked the same questions: "Do you find present bus service adequate, and do you find a need for more schedules?"

Curtis C. Hill, attorney for All American, used about the same questions in his cross examination of all witnesses, asking if they opposed addition of schedules as proposed under All American's application.

Mayor J. A. Sadler of Colorado City offered one different viewpoint when he asserted strongly that "as far as Mitchell county is concerned, I would oppose all lines except Greyhound."

Asked the reason for his view, he said "Greyhound pioneered this territory."

Another Coloradoan, County Judge W. W. Forter, said he believed there was not sufficient volume of business on the highway to justify granting a certificate to another line.

Other witnesses in behalf of Greyhound who appeared during the afternoon included Mrs. Frankie Rutherford of Big Spring; G. A. Elrod of Roscoe; Rev. G. W. Parks, Roscoe; Mrs. R. G. Demman of Roscoe; Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Copeland of Roscoe; J. W. Jenkins and Rosa C. Fryberry of Loreine; Mrs. M. H. McGinnis, J. W. Sheppard, C. C. Thompson, C. E. Fisher and Elvira Sorrells of Colorado City; Winnie Fay Gressett of Westbrook and Catherine McKinney of Iatan.

Hearings are being conducted along the line for the convenience of witnesses. Other hearings are scheduled, after that at Midland, at Pecos and El Paso.

SIX RED CROSS NURSES MISSING

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP)—The American Red Cross said today that a British vessel bearing 10 Red Cross nurses to England had been torpedoed and that six of the nurses were missing.

A Red Cross official said the vessel, identity of which was held secret, was torpedoed about two weeks ago. Four of the nurse contingent were rescued four days ago and are in good condition, he asserted.

The boat sailed from a gulf coast port June 5. The six missing nurses are: Miss Phyllis L. Evans, Everett, Mass.; Miss Dorothy C. Morse, Boston, Mass.; Nancie M. Pett, Detroit, Mich.; Miss Helen Jurewicz, South Amboy, N. J.; Margaret I. Somerville, Caticill, N. Y., and Dorothea L. Koehn, Oshkosh, Wis.

Germans Claim Advances; Reds Say They're Stopped

Contrasting Versions of Battle Are Issued

By The Associated Press

Adolf Hitler's invasion armies, pictured by the Russians as stalled along a 1,000-mile front, were reported by the German today to have slashed into the U. S. S. R. in three new sectors and driven almost 250 miles into Russian territory at undisclosed points.

These claims were in sharp contrast to the Moscow version of the struggle, which declared that soviet red armies won a smashing victory over the Germans in northern White Russia, wiped out two nazı motorized regiments, and put the invaders to flight.

"The enemy left hundreds killed on the field and retreated to the west," a soviet communique said. The Russians also reported that red warplanes "completely destroyed" all centers in Rumania, which feed Hitler's war machine, especially at Ploesti.

Russian bombs, it was said, had battered the Rumanian Black sea port of Constanta until it "has ceased to exist."

The Germans said new invasion spearheads had been driven into Sovietized Estonia, into Russia proper at Ostrov, and into U. S. S. R. territory won from Finland.

Beside the capture of Ostrov, the nazis claim their troops had occupied the fortified Finnish-Russian border town of Salla, near the vital Murmansk-Leningrad railway; broken through a fortified Russian height and captured an important road to Murmansk, ice-free soviet Arctic port; and seized two towns in southern Estonia.

A Moscow war bulletin said fierce Russian resistance was stalling German drives along a 1,000-mile front from the Baltic to the Black sea. Far from executing the blitzkrieg, the nazis said, the nazis were trying to entrench in northern White Russia, on the upper Dvina river.

Authoritative quarters in London said the nazis eastward push into the U. S. S. R. "appears halted" and that "unless there is a big break through in the next few days, a great pause is likely."

Huge masses of German troops were reported marching to the front, and nazis quarters in Berlin hinted broadly that a decisive phase of the 18-day-old struggle was at hand.

More Flying Schools Set Up In Texas

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP)—The war department announced today that it had signed contracts with 16 additional civil schools for elementary flying training of aviation cadets.

These contracts, the department said, completed the air corps civil school program. Addition of the 16 schools gives the air corps 41 elementary schools operating under 60 contracts. All the new schools are to go into operation by early autumn to help attain the 30,000 pilot training goal.

Curtailed Budget Is Given Approval By City Comission

With only minor changes, the city commission Tuesday evening put its stamp of approval on the municipal budget for the fiscal year ending next March 31—a financial schedule which anticipates revenues of $222,785 and expenditures for all purposes of $297,762.50.

A reserve of around $4,000—exceptionally small in the light of past years of city operation—is provided for through cash on hand at the start of the fiscal year of more than $19,000.

That the city is "tightening its belt" is shown in a sharp reduction in both estimated revenues and in appropriations. General fund expenditures for last year totaled over $266,000, against $242,000 set up for the current year; and commissioners, in approving the fiscal schedule, let it be known that all items would be watched closely in an effort to keep expenditures at a minimum.

Attention will be centered, it was emphasized, on collection of outstanding paving accounts and delinquent taxes, in order that financial operations may be kept at par.

The city estimates total current tax collections of $260,000 and hopes to add $10,000 in delinquent collections. Income from water and sewer is placed at $120,000, considerably below last year's revenue of over $140,000, and scaled down because of a reduction this year in water rates.

Anticipated paving collections aggregate $13,000. Appropriations, by departments, as compared with actual expenditures last year, follow:

Table with 3 columns: Department, Expend, Approxd. Administration: 20,687.12 vs 20,577.00; Police: 25,820.43 vs 29,960.00; Fire: 16,157.12 vs 21,020.00; Health and Welfare: 20,773.82 vs 19,365.00; Streets: 66,440.02 vs 30,195.00; Water: 71,772.92 vs 56,570.00; Parks: 8,603.92 vs 8,645.00; Sewer: 8,252.91 vs 7,225.00; Building and Grounds: 4,085.12 vs 6,650.00; Airport: 21,322.89 vs 39,645.00; NXA Resident Center: 1,445.16 vs 2,368.00

Total: 266,180.43 vs 242,000.00. Only substantial change made from the original budget was a reduction of $900 in the park department, resulting from decision to delay land purchases. In this same department, a sum was added for maintenance of the museum at the park.

Volunteer Efforts Asked To Avert Crude Shortage

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP)—Governors of 18 eastern states were called upon today by Secretary of Interior Ickes to lead a "voluntary effort" having as its aim a reduction in the consumption of petroleum products by at least 20 percent.

Voluntary rationing is necessary, said Ickes, the defense petroleum coordinator, to avoid, or at least delay, compulsory rationing in the face of threatened petroleum shortage on the Atlantic seaboard.

Texan Would Limit Service To A Year

Rayburn Favors Permitting Men To Volunteer Thereafter

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP)—Speaker Rayburn said today he opposed suggestions that drafted men be kept in service longer than one year but favored an amendment to the selective service law to permit them to volunteer for a second year.

At the same time, Rayburn expressed the opinion that national guardmen and reserve officers "might be willing to stay in service another year."

Asked at a press conference for his opinion of suggestions by General George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, that the present limit of one year of service for draftees be removed, Rayburn said:

"I think we made a contract with those selectees that they stay in one year. "But I would like to see the law amended so that those who wanted to volunteer for another year can do it."

He said he also would "like to see" officers training schools established in the army.

"If we give those boys a hope that they would rise up in the army a good many of them would take another year," Rayburn said.

President Roosevelt and Rep. Wadsworth (R-NY), author of the selective service act, aided with the army general staff on the need for extending the military service of selectees and national guardmen beyond the present statutory one-year limit.

Wadsworth also endorsed the army recommendation that congress rescind the legal prohibition against the use of selectees or guardmen outside of the western hemisphere, except in United States territories and possessions.

Mr. Roosevelt, however, declined to commit himself specifically on the question of using such men outside the confines of the hemisphere.

GREECE BOMBED

CAIRO, Egypt, July 9 (AP)—The RAF has sent its bombers over Greece and Crete, now in German hands, and started fires in a series of raids, the RAF Middle East command announced today.

It said the attack on Greece was aimed at Euboea, on the southern coast, about 11 miles northwest of Athens, and was carried out without any losses.

The communique mentioned only "targets" on Crete without saying where they were.

Churchill Hails US-British Co-operation

LONDON, July 9 (AP)—The house of commons joyously heard Prime Minister Churchill suggest today that United States and British warships may profitably assist each other in guarding the "very dangerous waters" off Iceland.

Churchill made this statement in a speech welcoming American occupation of Iceland.

The prime minister informed the house that Britain proposed to retain some of her forces at present in Iceland.

Churchill declared that the arrival "of powerful United States forces will greatly reduce the danger to Iceland and that "it seems very likely" British and American forces "will cooperate effectively in resistance to any attempt by Hitler to gain a footing."

FD To Ask Billions More For Defense

Supplemental Appropriation Also Would Mean More Aid To Britain

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP)— President Roosevelt will ask congress this week for an additional appropriation for both defense and lend-lease operations.

Some administration sources said the figure would equal the original $7,000,000,000 lend-lease bill.

Without announcing the exact sum, Stephen T. Early, White House press secretary, told reporters that the supplemental estimates would be for the army, navy, and maritime commission in connection with increased domestic defense and an increase in the lend-lease program.

Budget Director Harold D. Smith brought the new estimates to the White House today for a final check with the president.

Informed persons had predicted the request earlier. They said that all of the first fund would be allocated by the end of August and that a new appropriation of approximately the same size would be needed almost immediately to plan further arms production.

The first $7,000,000,000, they added, already has been expended by administrative action to approximately $3,000,000,000. They explained that the lend-lease appropriation included $1,500,000,000 of other appropriations for British aid purposes, but left to the president's discretion whether this supplementary money should be repaid from the lend-lease appropriation. In practice, it was said, little of this "other money" is being reimbursed, so actually it serves to swell the original $7,000,000,000 fund.

Great Britain has been getting nearly all the lend-lease material, although some has gone to China and there is now a possibility that shipments eventually may go to Russia.

Officials said, however, that the destination of the war material was immaterial as far as the new appropriation was concerned, because the objective was to make it large enough to keep all arms factories busy at top speed, both with lend-lease and army-navy or other defense.

Most officials said they expected the new request to "about double" the original $7,000,000,000 program. One looked for a $6,000,000,000 request, a second said any figure between $5,000,000,000 and $10,000,000,000 was likely, a third hinted at "a larger figure" than $8,000,000,000.

The first $7,000,000,000 appropriation became law on March 27, and about $5,250,000,000 of it has been allocated for specific purposes—tanks, planes, food, etc. About 60 per cent of this money already allocated has been actually spent or obligated through contracts with manufacturers.

AAA Group Meets Here Thursday

Members of AAA staffs in 13 counties in district No. 6-north will convene here Thursday for an instructional meeting on cotton order stamp issuance.

Jack B. Hall, supervisor for the area, will be in charge of the session. Regulations surrounding the issuance of stamps which may be exchanged by holders for domestically produced and processed cotton goods will be explained. The stamps are earned by additional, voluntary reduction of cotton acreage beyond allotments of last year's planting.

To date Howard county has on hand more than $4,000 in the stamps and issuance is due to start on July 20, it was reported. Possibly more than 50 will be here for the meeting Thursday, which will be held in room No. 4 at the Settles starting at 10 a. m.

Elmer Boatler III In Raton Hospital

A more encouraging report came Wednesday on the condition of Elmer Boatler, assistant postmaster who is ill in a Raton, N. M., hospital.

Boatler reportedly suffered an attack of bronchial pneumonia Saturday, as he and Mrs. Boatler, with Mrs. Petty and baby, were en route to Colorado for a vacation. Stop was made at Raton and the post-office official entered the Minor hospital there.

Many Injured In Rioting At Coal Mine

POTTSVILLE, Pa., July 9 (AP)—Twelve miners were injured, nine of them wounded superficially by shotgun fire, and eight private detectives were beaten today in a clash over coal stripping operations at Donaldson, 16 miles west of Pottsville.

The injured were treated at Pottsville hospital. All were discharged.

The detectives were bruised and battered by the surging crowd of miners as they left the scene where the shots were fired.

Deputy Sheriff L. M. Brobst said it had been estimated that about 2,000 "boobies" miners gathered this morning at Donaldson, 16 miles west of Pottsville, where the Corralle Construction Company began stripping operations yesterday.

The shots were fired as the miners moved up the mountainside toward two steam shovels, guarded by 22 private detectives hired by the company.

Auto Certificate Delay Is Blamed On Defense

AUSTIN, July 9 (AP)—Automobile owners who have not yet received state certificates of title will just have to suffer along a while yet with the highway department and Uncle Sam's defense program, department officials said today.

The certificates are intended to protect car-owners from theft. Asked why the furnishing of title certificates was delayed, John Green, department director of the title division, acknowledged receipt of complaints from unhappy car owners, explained:

"On May 2, when Governor W. Lee O'Daniel signed the bill transferring title issuance from the state police to the highway department, we ordered essential photographic equipment for the work.

"The Rochester firm promised delivery of the equipment as soon as possible but stated demands from the federal government, in speeding up defense activities, might occasion a delay.

"Since that time we have been in almost constant touch with the equipment manufacturer who has asserted again and again the material would be supplied despite heavy federal orders. Yesterday we were informed it was in transit and should arrive next week."

Green said that despite the delay in delivery, the highway department had issued more than 200,000 titles for which applications had accumulated at state police headquarters before the legislature transferred work to his department.

MOSCOW, July 9 (AP)—S. A. —TERRY PREDICTS—12... MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 9. (AP)—Those not-so-daffy Brooklyn Dodgers will win the National league race, Manager Bill Terry of the New York Giants predicts. Here for a three-day vacation as a result of yesterday's all-star game, "Memphis Bill" declared yesterday: "If that strong-arm trio of mound ace, Whitlow Wyatt, Kirby Higbee and Hugh Casey, continue at top form, it appears the Dodgers will march in easily."

SCHOOLBOYS VIE FOR NAT'L TENNIS TITLE

PHILADELPHIA, July 9. (AP)—Top seeded Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, who drew a bye in the first round, is scheduled to attempt his first match in the national interscholastic tennis tourney at the Merion Cricket Club today. Rain the last two days has turned the clay courts into a soggy mess but officials hoped they would dry out. Seixas is pitted against Carl Maddox, of Atlanta. A few first round matches were run off indoors yesterday. Dick Shipp, of Lamoyne, Pa., defeated the national boys' champion, Bob Falkenberg of Los Angeles, 6-3, 6-4, in the outstanding match. Falkenberg played with a broken left arm but forced Shipp to the utmost.

Loboes Clout Sox, 6 To 2

LAMESA, July 9 — The Lamesa Loboes clouted the Amarillo Gold Sox, 6 to 2, last night at Lamesa and climbed into number four place in the league by so doing. Amarillo not only gave up the contest to the Loboes but also gave up its place in the circuit. Buck Tinsley let the Sox down with five scattered hits. Dutch Prather ruined a shutout victory for Buck with a double and home run to account for all the Amarillo tallies.

Summer Busy Time For Band Members

It may be vacation for most school children, but it's a busy season for high school band members and prospect members. Dan Conley, Director, is working with approximately 100 boys and girls during the summer months so that when football season rolls around and fans expect some snappy music and drills the band will be ready to function. On Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday he meets with 25 beginners—the children down in grade school who are learning the rudiments of instrumental music. On the same days at 10:15 p. m. he meets with the 40 of the high school band and goes over musical scores, and then with 40 of the junior band—the material for his high school unit in future years at 11 a. m. on the same days. High school band rehearsal is on Thursday evening.

Nation-Wide Network Links CAA Stations

The C. A. A. communications unit at the municipal airport is on a nationwide printing telegraph network which links 175 major airports through the United States in bonds of instant and simultaneous communication.

This new unit, utilizing facilities provided by Western Union and costing millions of dollars, covers a 30,000 mile network. A minimum of 112 stations will be placed in operation on July 9 and the entire network by Sept. 5. The local station already has been given its test.

In defense or other emergencies, and in daily operation, the entire network will be thrown together for direct transmission from Washington, D. C., and other control stations. Normally the system will handle weather information used in preparing weather maps, forecasts and other data necessary for safe air transport operation.

In addition to the CAA stations, the network will include offices of the army, navy and weather bureau, airlines and other industries. Some of these will have receiving only extensions. Main relay stations for six circuits will be at Denver and Louisville, and secondary relay station for this particular circuit will be Fort Worth. Inauguration of the service by Western Union comes in its 71st year of cooperation with the weather bureau, which it helped in its early days in 1870 by telegraphic reports.

They Call Her Sue—

Encampment Members Find Name Difficult

By MARY WEALEY

Her name is Iruko Saito — but by now the folks at the Baptist missionary encampment at the city park are calling her Sue. Her real name was just too hard.

Miss Saito, or Sue, a Japanese, is a native of Wahiawa, Oahu, Hawaii, located about a mile from Schofield Barracks, a United States army post. She is a missionary student who will return in August to her home in Hawaii to continue her mission work. Right now she is enjoying making talks and teaching courses at the Baptist young people's encampment that has been going all week.

Growing up on her father's pineapple plantation, Miss Saito had no particular ambitions until she heard Dr. M. E. Dodd, pastor of the First Baptist church of Shreveport, La., who stopped in her town of Wahiawa on a world tour, he was making. Through his influence and that of a business man in Honolulu who did mission work in his spare time, Miss Saito became a Christian.

She attended Dodd Junior college in Shreveport on a scholarship and then later attended Baylor University. She has just completed her work at Southwestern Seminary in Fort Worth where she received a masters degree in religious education.

On August 20th she expects to sail back to Hawaii to work in the Baptist mission there and she's anxious to return. She hasn't been home since 1938 and there are four brothers, three sisters and her parents.

Folks At Forsan Have Visitors, Go Vacationing

By MARY WEALEY

Miss Saito likes America. She was impressed with its vastness, the snow and different seasons which contrast to Hawaii's even, year 'round temperature, the friendly people and the freedom of the young folks.

But she doesn't expect any difficulty in fitting into the old life and Japanese customs again. "Before, when I went back, I was worried about it," Miss Saito explained. "But I began talking Japanese with my family, eating Japanese food, and soon it was just like I'd never been away."

As for the war—well, Miss Saito is an American citizen. Her parents left Japan some 30 years ago for Hawaii because they wanted the freedom to express their own thoughts just like other Americans do. Her earnest thought is that others help her pray that the Japanese people will see the light.

WATERTOWN, Conn., July 9 (AP)—Rifle gunstocks, traditionally made of fine woods since the days of the blunderbuss, will soon appear in plastic.

Joseph R. Neill, president of the Watertown Manufacturing company and a pioneer in plastic manufacture, disclosed today that his firm was tooling to turn them out for a nationally known gun maker.

Whether plastic stocked rifles would be used by American soldiers was something Neill said he could only answer by saying that his buyer was engaged in general defense work. He declined to reveal the concern's identity but declared the order was a substantial one and production would start in August.

One-Run Wins Oilers Hand Feature 3 Texas Tilts

By The Associated Press
Three Texas league games were lost by the slim margin of one run last night.
The Houston Buffs eked out a 1-0 win over the Missions in a 12-inning affair at San Antonio, the Tulsa Oilers triumphed over the Cats at Fort Worth by the same score, and the Oklahoma City Indians beat the Rebels 6-5 at Dallas. In the only one-sided contest of the night the Exporters took an 8-3 decision from the Sports at Shreveport.

HERE'S ONE MAN WHO BEAT THE PONIES

LOS ANGELES, July 9 (AP)—Someone beat the pari-mutuels of $10,000 at Hollywood park yesterday, but the clerk didn't get his name. C. J. Lowery of San Francisco, cashier at a $100 window at the race track, said someone reached and stole $10,000 in new, large denomination bills while his back was turned.
Loss to the track is covered by insurance.

Oilers Hand Wardmen A 12-0 Pasting

Montgomery Ward softballers fell victim to no-hit, no-run ball as delivered by L. D. Cunningham and Miller last night as the City's Service Oilers added up another victory, 12 to 0.
Cunningham hurled perfect ball for four innings, then gave up the mound to Miller.

Closest the Wardmen came to adding up a count came in the fourth when Red Womack up on a fielder's choice, edged around to third base. There the threat stopped as Cunningham struckout Bigony and E. Cunningham to retire the side.
Last night, although he did not receive credit for an official no-hit victory, Cunningham pitched the second game in the no-hit classification.

All-Star Tilt Voting To End In One Week

Only seven days remain between now and midnight July 16, the deadline on which all voters for All-Star Southern players are to be in the mails. No votes will be accepted by the West Texas-New Mexico league fathers after that date.

In other words, if a fan fails to get his All-Star team selection in before that time, he will lose out so far as having a hand in picking the circuit's dream team.
Carried daily in the HERALD is the official ballot as prescribed by Milton Price, president of the loop. This ballot is to be filled out according to the fan's leanings and left at Roberts Field or the HERALD office. No more than four excluding the bench manager may be chosen from one team.

Followers of the baseball efforts of Big Spring, Lamesa, Lubbock and Wichita Falls can here find possible candidates for All-Star booking, listed as to their positions, teams, and batting average for the first half.

Lookin 'em Over

WITH JACK DOUGLAS

Perhaps one of the hottest contests in the All-Star West Texas-New Mexico voting will be centered in the shortstop position. The lad who will hold down the short job on the Southern team in the circuit classic at Lubbock, July 22 will have to have something on the ball because the league's shortstop situation is a wee bit of alright, to say the least.

Four men will likely be leading candidates for the position, although five might enter the chase. Of course, there is Hayden "Chubby" Greer, Big Spring Bomber and prime stayer-off of opposition scoring threats. Then, Lamesa's Lang, a classy performer who has been seen at third base but has spent more time at the short slot, is to be considered among the tops. Wichita Falls' Vicko, although he is on a losing club, is not to be left out of the reckoning, and Lubbock's Mahan is a bang-up craftsman in his own right.

Eddie Guynes of Lamesa is another possibility for the job, although Eddie has really spent more time at the second base assignment than he has at short.

It's a sad day for any of these lads when they fail to sack up their usual quota of about four to six assists plus two, three, and more putouts. In the hitting department the similarity goes off at something of a tangent. Greer leads the pack and his club with a .311 batting average over the first half of the season, while Lang comes up with .259, Hall with .256, and Mahan .219. All four of these boys are right 'pert' so far as fielding averages are concerned. According to rough figures the count stands at between .920 and .945 for all four—last returns have yet to be definitely checked.

Therefore when it comes to the job of picking the shortstop for the Southern team when it vies with offerings from the Borger, Pampa, Amarillo and Clovis clubs, the fan is going to have to vary reasons for his vote. Hitting and fielding will both play large parts in the final decision, with emphasis being placed largely on what department one lad might lead the others.

Speaking of All-Star affairs—a great deal has been said about the merit of Bomber Manager Jodie Tate, but Charlie Engle of Lubbock, Neal Rabe of Wichita Falls and Sam Sealing of Lamesa are also in the running.

Due to a misprint of a plain case of not knowing the fundamentals of subtraction, an album sketch of Bob Kohout that appeared June 26 presented a rather confusing picture so far as his age is concerned.

Although we gave his birth date as August, 1921, we then turned around and said he was 21 years old. Well, the date is right—the age wrong. Bob will be 20 in August.

Vaughn Does His Bit But Juniors Rap Senior Loop

DETROIT, July 9 (AP)—Of all the National leaguers whose wives and relations should keep them out of tall buildings for the next few days, the one with the most legitimate complaint about the way yesterday's All-Star game turned out is Arky Vaughn, Pittsburgh's veteran shortstop.

Arky, not anywhere near famous as a distant hitter, rose to the heights in the cause of the National league and hit two shattering home runs in successive innings, each time with a man on base. It was tremendous and should have been enough to place Vaughn in the all-star hall of fame with something to spare.

But what happens? A tall California boy named Ted Williams, employed by the Boston Red Sox, comes up with two out and two on in the ninth inning and slams a homer to give the American leaguers a 7 to 5 victory and relegate Vaughn's two preceding clouts to the ash can.

Looking around, Vaughn can lay such a tough break as that to a couple of things. In the first place, why wasn't Williams, leading hitter of the American league, given a walk so that the fading Claude Passeau could get at Dominic DIMaggio.
Yet, last night, Manager Del Baker of the victorious Americans said it would have been poor strategy to pass Williams, for that would have put the winning run on second base.

Cripples Set Pace In PGA Tournament

DENVER, July 9 (AP)—The boys with bandage-and-arms back-grounds are doing all right in this 24th P. G. A. tournament at water-trapped Cherry Hills.

Defending Champion Byron Nelson of Toledo and Medalist Samuel Jackson Sneed of Hot Springs, Va., who led the way into today's opening match play bracket of 23 man-to-man battles over 18 holes, both have enlisted medical aid lately.

Nelson has a torn nail on a finger mashed in an automobile door but insists it doesn't bother his grip—"just feels dead."

Sneed, who scorched Cherry Hills in two qualifying rounds of 68-69-70, four under par, to win the diamond-studded Alex Smith memorial medal, has been plagued so much by an aching back that he had about decided only recently not to enter the tournament, which he never has won.

Four players, including little Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., a hot favorite, were clustered at 140.
The razor-sharp greens were watered before the second 18 was played and as a result 18 players smashed par compared with only five the opening day.

The 'Who' And 'What' Of A Texas Senatorial Election Investigation

There is a fog still hovering over this state's political affairs. It is the fog of uncertainty—and some disquiet—resulting from the curious outcome of the senatorial election on June 28. As is well known, W. Lee O'Daniel finally was declared unofficially to have been the winner, with a scant 1,067 votes over Lyndon Johnson. The latter had led in returns through Saturday night and Sunday morning, but the tide turned in the final hours and eliminated by an amazing trend in trickling, late returns.

men will move in for an inquiry. The department of justice could function, this observer says, under a new ruling of the United States supreme court which permits the government to pass upon primary elections. There are charges and counter-charges, some being broadcast to the effect that state leaders and certain liquor and brewery interests—both of which are getting O'Daniel out of Texas—had something unexplained to do with the late election returns. There is no way, yet, of establishing the truth or falsity of these charges. Contested elections or charges of fraud seldom have been aired to a satisfactory conclusion. Sometimes, investigations can be whitewashed affairs. Not that a G-man probe would be whitewashing for anybody, but the idea of a Hoover's men coming in to count Texas ballots seems right now to be a bit far-fetched. It's all a bit premature, until we see what the certifying board does, on the basis of official returns—and until we see who does the investigating and what they investigate.

Man About Manhattan—He Likes Her Songs, So Cop Is Escort For Jane Frohman

By GEORGE TUCKER NEW YORK—The headlights of a long black car cut smoothly through the Storm King highway. It was getting pretty late. Not too late to get there, but much too late to take the side of the road. So the foot went down on the accelerator and the needle in the dial began to climb. . . . It climbed pretty high. Not too high, but pretty high anyway. Then a beam of light from the rear cut through the night and there was a splutter and a roar as the cop came up. He said, "Over here on the side of the road. . . . His climbed off his motorcycle, stood it on its stand, dusted off his gloves. . . . 'What's your name?' he wanted to know. Jane Frohman, who was at the wheel, told him. She told him who she was, and where she was going. She was going to the Paramount, in New York. . . . She's on the stage there. It's her ninth engagement there in seven years. When a new show is organized for the Paramount, it breaks in at Newburgh. . . . She was coming down from Newburgh, hurrying to get to New York. 'But,' asked Jane, 'was I speeding?' 'Who said anything about speeding?' demanded the cop, who then confessed that he enjoyed nothing so much as listening to Miss Frohman warble songs. 'You say you're late?' he wanted to know. 'I'm afraid I will be,' said Miss Frohman. 'Come on,' called the cop—and for 47 miles Miss Jane Frohman had a police escort into New York. Perhaps it was this that explains her wind-blown appearance as she hurried through the Paramount stage door—just in time.

Death Of Harrison Leaves FDR Without Liaison Man In Senate

WASHINGTON—The president has hung out a new sign. It reads: "Help Wanted—A liaison man in the senate." The death of kindly, soft-spoken and well-beloved Sen. Pat Harrison, president pro tem of the senate, has so further thinned the ranks of loyal senators that the administration reportedly is getting a little frantic about what to do for leadership in the upper chamber. It isn't that there aren't some men remaining who can be counted on to line up on the right side of the aisle when the chips are being counted. The administration still has a substantial majority as long as the fight is just a skirmish between democrats and republicans. But when it develops into a knock-down-and-drag-out, who's going to give the signals, call the plays, and keep the boys from getting off-side? Sen. James F. Byrnes—the greatest contact man the president ever has had on the hill—has moved up to the supreme court. Pat Harrison is gone to an even higher tribunal. I've combed the cloak rooms and listened to the rumors. There's hardly any one you could point to and say he's the next president's man. George Already Busy Sen. Walter F. George, of Georgia, might be the next president pro tem, but Senator George, as chairman of the foreign relations committee, already has his hands full. "President pro tem" never was meant to be anything more than an honorary job anyway and it is only when some senator not otherwise in a key position can be given that post that it means anything. As for a real "liaison man" (really an anonymous job, because neither legally nor politically is there any such official title), the men most prominently mentioned are Sen. Tom Connally, of Texas; Sen. Scott W. Lucas, of Illinois; and Sen. Lister Hill, of Alabama. Measured by the political stature of "Jimmy" Byrnes, all of these men could be counted on to take a tough assignment and hammer it through heart and soul as Byrnes did. Senators Lucas and Hill haven't the adroitness, the political skill, nor the popularity needed to hit in such pinches. Senator Connally isn't lacking in political sleight-of-hand, but the veteran Texan has tossed so many rough punches and gougings into his opponents, that it's hard to expect any consideration if he should approach them now with padded gloves. He hasn't been a consistent president's man, and being a senator of strong convictions, he probably couldn't be counted on to carry the torch for every White House-sponsored issue. There are others who might be mentioned—but at this writing, not seriously. Some enterprising senator may come forward and make his place in the sun, but he'll have to start from scratch and not hold up his record at testimony that he deserves the place. The best guess now is that the president will struggle along without any liaison in the upper house, counting on Sen. Alben Barkley, majority leader, and perhaps Vice President Henry A. Wallace to pass along his off-the-record convictions. What About Wallace? Just the mention of Vice President Wallace brings up an important point. From the moment he took the chair as president of the senate, the vice president has shucked a lot of corn in making himself the ace of good fellows with the men who look to him for recognition on the floor. Already, he is just about kingpin of the gymnast gang. He's a popular who knows a bit from deuce. And his luncheons, both formal and informal, daily include from one to a score of the men with whom he works. Just how much this means isn't clear yet, but some observer are saying now that it's possible, with Mr. Wallace in the senate chair, the president won't need any other liaison man. As for a real "liaison man" (really an anonymous job, because neither legally nor politically is there any such official title), the men most prominently mentioned are Sen. Tom Connally, of Texas; Sen. Scott W. Lucas, of Illinois; and Sen. Lister Hill, of Alabama. THE SACRED DAGGER

Chapter 26 The Drums Diana. "You must have the jitters." She gave Oliver an angry look. "Goodnight," she said, and disappeared in the direction of her tent. Oliver drew Anne back into the hut. "That drumbest must be in your ears, Anne," he was still shaking slightly, his face lined and ravaged with passion. Anne followed him reluctantly. He took one of Anne's hands and gazed into her eyes. "Little Anne, I've been in such a muddle lately I guess I've hardly been aware that you are here—the girl who came to marry me." He drew her to him and put an arm around her. "Please, Philip," she said, but he would not release her. She fancied something half insane about his violence and struggled in terror, turning and twisting and beating him with her fists. Suddenly the door opened and Sherwood stepped inside, his face white, his hands clenched as he stood holding himself under control. For Phillip had released Anne instantly, a dazed look in his eyes. "What's the matter with me?" he groaned, putting a hand to his head. With a muttered word of apology he started for the door. Sherwood let him pass. "He was quarrelling with Diana," said Anne. "Then where do you come in?" asked Sherwood in a cold voice. "I just came," she stated simply. "I saw a light and came in." He gazed at her a moment longer before bringing her a glass of water from the pitcher on the table. "You're looking white, drink this. Or shall I get you something stronger?" She took the water. "This will do. You're looking a little pale yourself." He sat down on the wide arm of a wicker chair opposite her, gripping the wood as if to chain himself to the spot. "The impulse to murder is apt to make a man turn pale," he answered through set teeth. "What's the matter with Oliver? Who does he think he is? Mackey ran across him and Diana in the grove a little while ago and they weren't quarrelling. Diana, I suppose, is up to her old tricks." "You ought to know," retorted Anne. "I hear — I understand — she stumbled. "That Diana jilted me for Martaine," he said, looking slowly coming back into his face. "Well, I'm afraid it's so. "That isn't the way I heard it." He gave her a sharp look, his ears reddening. "Now you're condemning me," he said. "Diana happens to be an exhibitionist. She's incapable of anything but self-love. That's all right with Martaine. He has certain ambitions of his own. Mine are different." He rose and turned off the gasoline light. "Come out with me, Anne, and listen to the drums." "Then there are drums," she cried, springing to her feet. "Phillip and Diana couldn't hear them. They thought I was crazy. "You know my opinion — we're all a little touched," he grinned, opening the door for her. They went to the corner of the porch where they could look up into the hills. Niagara Drums "But this is more than fancy," he assured her. "I never heard such drums and I've heard drums in all parts of the world." His voice lowered almost to inaudibility and she found herself pressing close to hear. Anne shivered. "I can't hear it." She clasped her hands together distractedly. "Make them stop. Can't you make them stop?" "Listen to them," he commanded. "Give yourself up to them, then it's all right. Stop fighting." Instead she began pacing back and forth across the narrow porch. He cornered her in the bend of the railing. His hands slid around her and drew her against the hard reality of his body, crushing the trembling of her nerves with the strength of his arms. Waiting a moment until she relaxed, he swept

Labor Official To Be In City Regularly

J. C. Skipper, Lubbock, deputy labor commissioner, announced here Tuesday he would be in Big Spring regularly the second Tuesday of the month to hear complaints involving state labor law irregularities. He will be at the office of the justice of peace on those days, he said, but complaints may be left with Justice Walter Grice at any time for check by the deputy commissioner. Skipper said his work dealt with investigating and conciliating differences arising out of issues involving health, moral and safety conditions for laborers, unpaid wage claims and alleged irregularities of the "9-54-hour law" for women. The latter provision, which deals exclusively with women and is the state's sole labor hour law, restricts women employes from working more than nine hours in any one day and more than 54 hours a week. The commissioner said that his work was as much in the nature of conciliation as investigation and called attention of his presence here as an offer of service.

Hollywood—Preacher Finds A Sermon In Cinema Land

By ROBBIN COONS HOLLYWOOD—The movie director, Irving Rapper, was diving a time with those ducks, and a mild-mannered, pink-faced gentleman on the sidelines made a note. There is a connection. The congregation of New York's Marble Collegiate church (Fifth Avenue at 29th) will hear all about it. "Hollywood," says the Rev. Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, "is full of sermons. The patience of the director, who wanted a certain effect from those ducks to symbolize a gossiping woman, amazed me. He spent two hours on them, and I'm sure that he would have spent all day if necessary. He wasn't satisfied with just any result — he wanted perfection. And there's a sermon." The Marble Collegiate, founded by the Dutch settlers in 1633 is the oldest church in New York and the oldest in the country with a record of continuous ministry—services every Sunday for the past 313 years. The present structure was built in 1934, and Dr. Peale, with an Ohio small-town background, has been pastor there the past nine years. He was selected by a group of Protestant clergymen to serve as technical adviser on the filming of "One Foot in Heaven," Hazell Spence's story of his own preacher-father. Hollywood, if Dr. Peale didn't know it, was a little in awe of his arrival. Many churchmen, from the screen's beginnings, have found the movies a ripe subject for sermons. Churchmen, back in 1934, did more than preach about the movies. They organized, and Hollywood had to still keep a watchful eye on the movies and their censorship. Dr. Peale had hesitated to come for this picture, he says, but a member of his congregation urged it upon him as a "call to service," and his board was equally enthusiastic. "We're conscious of the screen's importance as a tremendous social force," he says, "and this picture can do a world of good." Dr. Peale had seen many movies, but he'd never met a movie star until his arrival. "I had expected to find people here ultra-sophisticated, blasé, a little cynical," he says. "But they're good people, hard-working, interested in good things. Martha Scott is more interested in her farm and husband than in anything else, and I'd like to talk to Fredric March by the hour. His father is a Presbyterian elder back in Wisconsin." He used to be a newspaperman himself—reporter on the old Detroit Journal, where a city editor "You're a professor up there, and a common man-in-the-street down here," was the advice. "Write for the common man and the professor will understand what you're saying." "I've never forgotten that," says the minister. "I'd recommend newspaper work to all my students if I were head of a theological seminary. There's no better way to learn life and to learn to make yourself understood. A minister must do both."

at them in his stolid manner. Anne stepped back. Suddenly her white teeth flashed in silent laughter. She felt inexplicably as if she had won some kind of a victory.

"Good night," she whispered and turned and sped across to her own quarters. The door opened and Beth came out.

"Oh, here you are," she cried, at the same time they heard voices behind them. Larry Huff and Mackey had appeared from Sherman's tent. Beth waved her flashlight and the three came over.

"Blaze says they're Nagara drums," Larry informed the girls. "Whatever can they mean?" demanded Beth.

"Dirty work at the cross roads," hissed her husband.

"Doddap might know," suggested Anne, looking over at his still form.

"I wouldn't disturb him," advised Sherman. "If he knew and were willing to tell he'd be sitting up now and talking."

"What'll he do if a storm breaks?" asked Beth. "Try to crawl into Anne's tent?"

"No, indeed not. He'll draw his robe around him, crouch down on his knees, back to the storm, creak on his folded arms and sleep the night out like an ostrich with his head in the sand."

Larry looked at him curiously. "What? Is this fellow an old pal of yours?"

"Mackey laughed. "Old? Say, they're supposed to be pals from a former incarnation. Besides, Doddap saved Blaze from death about a year ago and so naturally according to local ethics, he's under obligation to look after Blaze the rest of his life."

Allotment Action Expected By REA

Action on an anticipated allotment for the Caprock Electric Co-operative for a "B" section is expected within about a week. O. B. Bryan, supervisor, said Wednesday.

National allotments have been included in the nation's new fiscal budget, and whether the Howard-Martin-Midland county project will get funds for its main extension will be known when Texas allocations are announced.

Meanwhile, approval has been given on all materials for the 25-mile extension in Midland county. Lines have been staked and it is possible that the contractor will start hole excavations in a short time. The work is to be done by hand. Another hitch in this program, Bryan said, is apt to develop over shipment of copper weld wire. The date has been moved back again on receipt of this material to Sept. 15.
