

Slaton Girls Defeat Southland

The Tigresses of Slaton high school again proved themselves mistresses of the court Tues. night, defeating their ancient and worthy rivals from Southland 25 to 27 in one of the most thrilling nerve racking basketball games ever played by the two teams.

Southland drew first blood by ringing a goal early in the game, but Slaton came back and knotted the count. The first quarter was a very hectic and bitterly fought affair, ending in a 4-4 deadlock. Two crisp shots early in the second stanza gave the visitors a point lead that loomed big for a while, with the Southland guards going great guns! But the clever passing and neat scoring of the Tigress forward; could not be completely smothered, and finally Bengals rallied to again tie the count at 10 all in a whirlwind finish of the second period.

The third quarter opened with a rush, with Southland getting the better of the fray, but Captain Banks called time out, and the Jungaleers came back with fight that swept all before them. The comeback threw fright into the locals, however, for the spirited banks went out on personal fouls. Patterson, who substituted for her, realizing her responsibility, played the greatest game of her career, and so great was the Tiger rush, that before Southland saw how it was done, Slaton sextet was 4 point in the lead with seconds to go. Tiger fans went wild and fight was at fever heat. Scrapping desperately, Southland was able to sink only one more goal just as the game ended, giving the Slatonites a third well earned victory over the Garza county rivals.

The boys game was less spirited, as the Southland Fans had staked all on their female team, and having lost were content to idly watch their masculines pass and pitch their way to a 9 point victory. The Southland boys were tall and rangy and struck with a death dealing accuracy when near the goal. Slaton seemed to be the better passers, but were unable to get the ball on the rebound from the backboard. Working with this handicap, the Tigers fought hard and valiantly, but finally lost.

Sparkling Fun In "Private Lives"

Broadway's most sensational force hit supplied the story and intriguing title of "Private Lives," is showing Wednesday and Thursday at the Palace Theatre with Norma Shearer and Robert Montgomery co-starred by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer under direction of Sidney Franklin.

Break-neck Pace. It is high force at a break-neck pace and, is the most hilarious picture offered in many months. Both Miss Shearer and Montgomery seem perfectly at home in its happy—but scappy—environment and it is easy to imagine that they had quite as much fun making the picture as the audience do in laughing at its gay man and wife who marry again to wit and hysterical situations.

The story is about a divorced couple each other. By chance both couples are assigned to adjoining bridal suites in a French hotel on the first night of the honeymoon. They row with their respective spouses and discover each other's presence, finally eloping to a chalet in Switzerland where they later are found by their rightfully enraged—but chaste—bride and bridegroom.

Spontaneous Humor. It is a screaming affair from start to finish and hits a merry pace that makes it difficult to wonder just how it all came to be put together. It seems utterly spontaneous and so unexpected are the episodes that it all appears only too real.

Reginald Denny, Una Merkel, Jean Hersholt and George Davis do good work in the chief supporting roles.

Mrs. Rosser from Kress Texas, entered Mercy Hospital for treatment Sunday, but went to the home of Mrs. W. B. Montague Thursday to stay for a while. Mrs. Rosser will be remembered by many as she is a former resident of Slaton.

Mr. and Mrs. Dowell Announce New Arrival

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Dowell are rejoicing over the arrival of a nine and one-half pound baby girl named Donita Joyce, born Saturday afternoon, February 20, at 8:00 P. M.

Mrs. Dowell, who before her marriage was Jettie Melton, is a former graduate of Slaton High School and is an operator in the Vanity Fair Beauty Shop. Mr. Dowell is a former employee of the Santa Fe and is at present connected with the Cities Service Station No. 1.

Celebration Of Bi-Centennial

The celebration of the Two Hundredth birthday of George Washington the Father of our Country started off nicely as per schedule.

The picture of George Washington was transferred to a place of honor at the County Club House by the Rotary Club during their Friday luncheon, so that all may be reminded of this celebration when entering.

On Sunday fitting tribute was paid to the character of Washington in the several churches. Monday was observed by the schools, the Catholic schools having a "free day," following their celebration on Sunday, while the public schools had a special program in the High School Auditorium, in which splendid cooperation was shown by the different organizations of the city, by having representatives present to help.

A wonderful opportunity is offered during this celebration to recall the founding of this great country by studying the life and character of our First President and the events leading up to its beginning, which will make us think more of keeping it true to the principals upon which it was founded and resent the efforts of those who would destroy it. This generation can well afford to reflect upon what our country really means to us, and see to it that the ideals of the fathers are thoroughly implanted in the minds and hearts of our children. In this connection it is planned to organize a study club that will bring out all of the facts of our early life and development and it is hoped that everyone will find time to attend.

A number of other programs are being arranged for the near future and the least that we can do as citizens; of this land of the free, is to lend our encouragement and show our interest by being present as often as possible.

The tree tag day was a fine success and as a result fourteen American Elms will be planted on the three school grounds as memorials to George Washington, and a number of the evergreens that have died can be replaced.

Pop Warner To Coach At Tech

By Lyle Holmes. LUBBOCK, Tex., Feb. 22.—With the singing of Pop Warner, Tiny Thornhill, and Jack Meagher this week, Texas Technological College is assured of having the most outstanding array of coaches ever to instruct at a coaching school, for the SECOND ANNUAL COACHING SCHOOL to be held here July 11-22.

Hunk Anderson, Manrey Schwartz, Phog Allen, and Clyde Littlefield are the other coaches who have been selected by Coach P. W. Cawthon to instruct at the coaching school here.

Anderson and Schwartz will give instructions about the Notre Dame system of play. Anderson took Rockne's place, making a good showing his first year by winning six times, tying Northwestern, and losing to the Army. Manrey Schwartz was a unanimous selection for quarterback on every All-American team.

Dr. Forrest Allen, Kansas university, is the leading basketball coach in the United States today. While playing today. While playing with Kansas City Athletic club, Allen was twice chosen All-American guard. Since that time he has coached at Baker university, Haskell institute, Missouri State Teachers college, and he is now coaching at Kansas university. During his eleven years with Kansas he has won several championships.

Coach Littlefield is completing his twelfth year as coach of Texas university track teams. He has won six champion ships in the Southwest conference. His teams have won national championships in the four-mile relays at Drake, the medley relays at Kansas university, and the mile relay and 440 football relay at Drake relays. Littlefield will give the fundamentals and demonstrations pertaining to track.

Jack Meagher, head coach at Rice institute, will devote his time to blocking, demonstrating all blocks and other details in that phase of football. Meagher played end for Notre Dame, and was selected on Walter Camp's All-American team. During the three years he has been at Rice he was beaten Texas university two out of three games.

Pop Warner, originator of double wing back formation, has been selected to demonstrate his famous system. It is without a doubt as popular, if not the most popular, offensive in football today. His system works because it has deceptive spinners, double spinners, reverses, and power all perfected where it can be used so as to be most effective. Warner recently signed a five-year contract to coach at Leland Stanford. He will advance his new double wing back formation with two men doing the spinner in the place of one. Tiny Thornhill will help Pop Warner with his line instructions. Thornhill has been with Warner since the Warner regime on the West coast.

Last year Tech had the largest coaching school in the United States.

George Washington Program Monday

Last Monday, February 22, a number of citizens of Slaton joined the students of high school and Junior high school in observing the commemoration of the 200th anniversary of the birth of George Washington.

A. R. Ellis, superintendent of the Slaton schools, was master of ceremonies in a very interesting and impressive program on which appeared several of Slaton's prominent men, including Briggs Robertson, E. R. Legg, W. H. Smith, C. A. Binner, Fred Schmidt, J. W. Hood, and others.

At 10:30 a tree was planted and dedicated to George Washington. The ceremony was made especially impressive by allowing a member of each club in the city to place a shovelful of dirt on the roots of the tree. When all clubs had taken part, and also the speakers, the high school faculty was then asked to take part by spading dirt on the tree.

The tree planting was finished just in time to tune in on the national broadcast of President Hoover's speech commemorating the occasion. The radio announcer described the setting of the program, broadcast from the auditorium of the House of Representatives at Washington, and announced each National and International man as he entered the building. Finally President Hoover appeared, and was greeted by a very rousing ovation lasting several minutes. Promptly at eleven o'clock, Mr. Hoover began his address, paying a beautiful tribute to the Father of our Country, emphasizing his ideals and the high standards of his life.

The radio part of the program was made possible by Charles Marriott of the Marriott Electric Shop, who loaned the school an 11 tube Philco radio for the occasion. The reception was excellent, one being able to hear the program from any part of the auditorium.

After President Hoover's address, Miss Mae Murfee, county superintendent of schools, concluded the program with a nice talk.

All's quiet on the Tech-Campbell front!

The depression still sticketh closer than a brother.

Losing all his property is not the only way a man can go broke.

We Democrats have a way of our own. We would rather agree with the Republicans than among ourselves.

The time is ripe for John Garner to garner the delegates while Al and Frank go gunning for each other.

Those loud and unaccustomed noises you hear these days should not cause alarm. They are just the echoes of the Garner boom.

Governor Alfalfa Bill has at last consented to run for President. You've no idea how much persuading was required!

The Sooner Governor says he stands in awe at the responsibility of being president, which is plainly a case of crossing bridges before one gets to them.

Ma Ferguson is once again in the race. Well, Ma may or may not get there, but in the meantime she will make lots of newspaper copy.

The man who squandered his dollars back in prosperous times is now heard to sing: "I need thee every hour!"

Some people justify themselves for having passed up golden opportunities with the excuse that the opportunities were not labeled.

There are those who say our assets froze because Prohibition took too much anti-freeze out of the country.

It is the man after all who pays and pays. He starts out paying compliments to a girl and winds up paying alimony.

Etiquette say that when a young man proposes he should fall on his knees before his adored unless his adored is sitting on them, then he is excused.

Inasmuch as this is Leap Year, we state for the benefit of the young gentlemen that good form requires when the young lady proposes that you should reply: "Go ask papa!"

This is really not a bad world at all. It is true the politician is left to choose whether he will be a candidate but to the people whether he will be elected.

The Chinese wish that Japan had pacific intentions, whereas the United States fears that Japan has Pacific intentions.

Isn't it a shame that with so many kind, generous and beautiful words in the English language most of us so overwork the few bad and ugly ones!

Japan seems to have regretted tossing bombs into the Shanghai American Settlement almost as much as the Americans in the Settlement did.

The fact is we Democrats are particularly anxious for success this year because we believe the depression won't last another four years and we shall get credit for having ended it.

As we go to press this week, the Reverend James Cannon, Jr., has not made up his mind to support Al Smith this year. Christian charity of course forbids it!

We hope the first use made of the big 200-inch telescope when it is completed will be to turn it toward the future to ascertain if prosperity has yet arrived on the horizon.

A news dispatch from Ireland says two men were killed over there while making talks. Probably they were the sort of talks that have often caused men to be killed over here.

A noted British naval officer says Manchuria is Japan's jumping-off place, whereas it looks to us like it is going to be China's getting-off place.

We are about to decide that we were wrong after all about it. We had thought this was merely a depression, but it looks more and more like it is the bottomless pit.

You have, of course, noted the sad plight of the gentleman who is made the goat of the B. O. ads. Do not be alarmed and do not be misled. All that gentleman needs to overcome his handicap is a good hot soapy bath.

The chiefest of all diplomats this world has ever known is the gentleman who can lend you money at ten percent interest, paid in advance, plus a bonus, and make you feel that he has done you a favor.

The Lockwood Muffler has been invented, claiming to be able to arrest seventy percent of the noise of the motor. Wouldn't that be a fine contraption to attach also to the back seat driver, and to knockers, muckrakers, gossipers, et cetera!

The banner of Economy has been hoisted above the Capitol dome in Washington, and now it remains to be seen whether economy will be practiced beneath the dome.

It is a poor time to go on a cash basis after you have squandered all your cash for things you could have done as well without.

Blessed is the man who spends his wages faster than he gets them, for, praise the Lord, no derved bank failure will then rob him of his savings.

William G. McAdoo says that if the party is united the election of Hon. John N. Garner is certain. It that is the condition of John landing in the White House, he will get there just as quickly if he turns and goes in the opposite direction.

The National Democratic Party has but one real opponent and but one real enemy. That opponent is of course the G. O. P., and that one real enemy is none other than its own self. Democrats, you know, are incorrigible. Isolate a Democrat from all others and he will quarrel with his own shadow, whereas a Republican in the same state of isolation will conjure up a love feast, complacently smoke his fifty-cent cigar, and kid himself that the country is enjoying The Full Dinner Pail.

If we understand Representative Blanton's position correctly, it is this: Speaker Garner is dry enough to suit the Wets, and wet enough to suit the Drys, hence he will have the support of Pros and Antis. Now that it is all settled, what's the use of going to all that expense to hold an election?

We should not have been surprised had the Literary Digest's prohibition poll indicated that this country is a little damp, but we were wholly unprepared for a Noah's flood. The conclusion seems to be that folks are actually getting thirsty, after a dozen years of noble experimenting.

It would seem that Thomas Fortune Ryan lived true to his middle name. He died leaving an estate of $135,164.110 and probably some odd cents. Living was financially profitable to him, but dying was very expensive for his heirs, since his estate and inheritance taxes amounted to more than twenty-five millions of dollars. He left to his son his shirt studs. They were valued at only $14,150.00. At the same rate, wouldn't you have been happy to be the recipient of one of the gentleman's cast off shoe strings!

A SENSE OF HUMOR

Here is a little story with a moral. A young man, employe of a big corporation, approached the boss one day to ask for a raise in salary. The boss listened attentively, and then explained to the young man that he liked him very much and found him very efficient, but he could not grant the request for a raise in salary for the reason that the young man possessed one very serious fault. "You constantly violate Rule Six," the boss said. The young man was bewildered. What was Rule Six? He had heard of no rules at all. He ventured to ask. "Don't take yourself too darned seriously!" the boss replied. The young man scratched his head and pondered. "And what are some of the others?" he wanted to know. "If you observe Rule Six," the boss informed him, "you won't need any other rules."

And now that young man is doing his utmost to develop a sense of humor, without which no one can see men, things and even's in their proper proportion and relations. The boss says that when the young man develops a sense of humor and learns to quit taking himself too seriously he will give him a nice big fat increase in salary.

It doesn't pay to gain the notion that you are the only pebble on the beach. It doesn't pay to get into the habit of thinking you are right in your views and opinions to the exclusion of all others. It does not pay for you to get the idea that you have the right to ram your pet notion down other people's throats. It does not pay to be self-conscious with the thought that all others are greatly concerned about you. It doesn't pay to go on the assumption that you are doing nothing worth while unless you are making a speech or doing something spectacular. It doesn't pay to get the notion that obstinacy is a substitute for character and intelligence. It doesn't pay to lord it over people and animals that are beneath you or less fortunately situated than you are. It does not pay to try to make folks think you are something and somebody you know you are not. It does not pay to try to gain social position by living beyond your means.

It does pay, big, to be at all times just your own natural self, free of frills, minding your own business, letting everybody else do the same, performing faithfully the duty that lies closest at hand, no matter how humble it may be, and striving to the utmost to be honest and give every creature a square deal.

THE WORLD DOES MOVE

The other day we read where a certain gentleman over at Dallas had suddenly awakened to the fact that "the world does move." Indeed it moves, but in what direction is it going? Is it moving forward or backward? Is it progressing or retrograding? What is the ultimate goal of all these activities, cross purposes, wars, ideas, and conflicting motives?

The great Galileo once upon a time asserted the proposition that the world moves, and for his pains he was accused of being an atheist, thrown in the dungeon, and narrowly escaped the death of martyr at the stake. All the while, however, the old world just kept right on moving, not only in its course around the sun, which was the movement Galileo had detected, and which was thought to have a tendency to upset religion, but it kept right on moving intellectually. It keeps on moving, around the sun and intellectually, and no manner of opposition can prevent it doing both of those things.

Recent events up Tech way have caused us to view the situation with alarm, and frankly we are not at all in sympathy with any movement, force or propaganda that has for its object in the slightest degree curbing or circumscribing the open, free and frank discussion of every fact, theory, hypothesis, circumstance, probability, possibility, speculation, dream, wonder, hope, aspiration, or what not, that goes to help make up that big indefinable thing called human thought. Once you admit that it is right for the line to be drawn somewhere—a proposition we combat—then there will be as many different lines drawn as there are intolerant individuals, and that would not only drive every independent and self-respecting professor from the college, but would leave only the shell of an institution wholly unworthy the name of college.

If college professors must be circumscribed and fettered in their researches, thinking and teaching, who shall do it? Will you do it, or shall I? You an I cannot see all questions alike. I will not therefore consent for you to tell college professor: what they shall not teach, talk about and discuss, and for the same reason you will not consent for me to do that.

On some things you and I are agreed. Shall college training conform strictly to those things only about which you and I agree? That, of course, would never do, because the rights of others would be ignored. If college professors must conform, to which one of the million odd shades of opinion and belief must it be? Yours or mine? Let us be honor bright about it. You can kill ideas and theories and opinions only when you have annihilated mankind. Only a non-existent world can be orthodox. A progressive, active, sincere mind cannot and will not conform, any more than it can or will remain orthodox. If all of us were agreed, if we saw all questions alike, if we were all orthodox, stagnation would instantly result and progress would cease.

If we mistake not, we do not have, and we do not want, a bunch of "Yes-men" as college professors. If any considerable number of college professors were such, it would render the college a sorry place to send our boys and girls for preparation in fighting the battles of life. A college is less than nothing, educationally speaking, unless it is an unfettered clearing house for ideas, theories, opinions and beliefs. Merely to rehearse discovered fact is not enough. The bigger job is to speculate upon, explore and conquer that bigger realm of the unknown. From the intellectually unfettered college will come big men and women—big in outlook, in mind, in understanding, in sympathy, tolerance and ability. If big men and women come from the other sort of college, as admittedly they do sometimes, it will be in spite of their environment and not because of it.

STUDYING THE STATE GOVERNMENT

A Committee appointed by the 42nd Legislature is starting a study of all the departments of the state government, with the object of collecting data and statistics upon which to base legislation to achieve greater efficiency and economy. The Committee will have at its command experts in various lines, it will hold hearings, and probably create a few volumes of figures and information.

But what will it all come to? The Legislature periodically authorizes these investigations, high sounding in their aims, expensive to the taxpayers, and negative in results. By the time the Committee completes its labor another Legislature will have been elected. Not one in ten of the members will make an exhaustive study of the reports and the accompanying data. Not one in ten will even look at it. At any rate that has been the fate of similar reports in the past.

Further, it is a safe hazard that nine-tenths of the information that will be put into the report is already known. There are already ample data and statistics at hand upon which to base legislation to achieve greater efficiency and economy. Where the trouble lies is in having a body of lawmakers incompetent to analyze, arrange and make effective use of the facts already possessed.

In lieu of these periodical, futile and expensive legislative investigations, we favor calling a constitutional convention to frame a new organic law. Provision should be made for not more than two or three delegates from each of the State's senatorial districts, and their compensation fixed large enough to attract the ablest citizens of the State to meet in Austin, with ample time and resources to commandeer the best brains of Texas in framing a new Constitution that will serve the present needs of Texas. If it does that it will likely serve the needs of Texas for another half century. The present Constitution is now more than half a century old, but it has been patched up and battered until it is in large part an obsolete and outgrown document.

Under a new, up-to-date and progressive Constitution the Legislature can, with the data at hand and that assembled by the Constitutional Convention, accomplish all that is humanly possible to accomplish at this time in efficiency and economy. We have no hope that the present legislative committee will accomplish any good work. It will at most only sew new cloth on an old garment; put new wine into old wine skins; and we are warned, and know by experience, that such combinations are futile.

THE MARTIAL LAW DECISION

In times of panic or depression, or emergency, in fact whenever there is any substantial departure from the normal course of things, there is an irresistible tendency for the mass mind to become hysterical, like one who, ignorant of the woods, suddenly find himself lost in a great forest.

And just as he who is lost does the most unreasonable things, and steadily makes his plight worse, so does the mass mind, in times of stress, search for and adopt expedients, panaceas and nostrums for the ills that beset them, or which they imagine beset them, that are more dangerous than the ills themselves.

The price of cotton goes to unprecedented low levels, we become alarmed, and in desperation toss overboard valued, time tested and true principles of government and economics, as we did when Texas and some other states enacted the cotton planting limitation law. The price of crude oil drops, in harmony with the law of supply and demand, came and effect; a great industry is threatened with disaster; we at once become hysterical, and resort to follies which we know to be unwise, and we permit expediency to be substituted for principle. Not only that, but sometimes we pretend one thing in the hope of accomplishing another; we become just a little consciously hypocritical.

Some months ago, under the guise of maintaining law and order, but for the actual purpose, as all intelligent persons well know, of forcing up the price of crude oil by purely artificial means, the Texas Governor declared martial law in the East Texas oil fields. Incidentally, no doubt, many acts of lawlessness were prevented, but purposely, beyond question, the price of oil was measurably forced up. In doing it private rights of property were trampled upon, and certain individuals brought suit in the Federal Courts to test the validity of martial law, offering to prove, and it seems actually proving, that martial law existed based upon a subterfuge; and to restrain unconstitutional invasion of their rights of property.

A three-judge Federal Court the other day held that the Governor exceeded his powers in declaring and maintaining martial law, notwithstanding that the excuse given therefor was a constitutional one. The trouble was that the excuse was not supported by the facts, and the court went beneath the surface of things and brought forth the subterfuge. It was naturally a delicate situation, almost amounting to the age old issue of Federal versus State Sovereignty. The case will probably reach the Supreme Court of the United States. A governor has, it seems by the decision, unquestioned and unquestionable right to declare and maintain martial law within his state, but with a reservation. Facts justifying it must be real ones and not imaginary. Constitutional rights of property may not be trampled under foot even by a state in promotion, indirectly, of a commercial enterprise.

Undoubtedly the depression, and consequent panic and hysteria, was responsible for martial law. Be it said to the everlasting credit of our great judicial system that it has many times in American history, in times of stress, storm, panic and hysteria, proved a balance wheel, to guard, protect and maintain the constitutional and inalienable rights of citizens; to keep the old ship of state on even keel, and to preserve principle against the clamor, attacks and assaults of expediency and temporary fanaticism.

Posey Paragraphs

BY ONE SPOKE

General George Washingtons Bicentennial birthday was celebrated with all the splendor becoming the man who has honored as the father of his country, and is considered the greatest general by all the children. The program was opened with the formal raising of "Old Glory," supervised by Prof. Singleton. The major part of the morning session was devoted to George Washington in all his activities, as a soldier and a citizen.

The program proper followed in the afternoon session in the auditorium of the school. The program was presided over by Prof. J. T. Singleton, Supt. of the school, and the following program was put on for the benefit of the pupils and the patrons: Song of "America" by the audience. Invocation by Rev. H. C. Ziehe, of the Lutheran church; Reading; Our First Citizen, by Lela Schutte; play, The First Flag; by the pupils of the second grade; dialogue, The Cherry tree; by the pupils of the first grade; Reading; The Flag; by Miriam Meading; Song, America the Beautiful, by audience; Address, "Washington, what he was and what he did" by Rev. Ziehe; Address, "Washington the Soldier and General" by Miss Mae Murfee, Supt. of County schools; Mrs. C. Z. Fine, vice president of the Idle-wile Club, spoke on the planting of memorial trees on this date, and the dedication of them to memories of useful citizens of the community. The first tree was dedicated to the memory of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney A. Johnson, now deceased, who were considered the two outstanding citizens of the community. The balance of the trees were also dedicated to men and women who were considered excellent citizens.

It is planned to have these programs from time to time throughout the period as prescribed by the George Washington Bi-centennial Commission. The advance notice will be given whenever possible so that all may avail them of the opportunity to come out and hear what we are doing.

Don't forget that on this Sunday, (February 28th) is regular 4th Sunday singing of the intercommunity singing association. Remember that singing conventions can be had only here, and more especially when all the other communities send their best singer and all the visitors who can possibly come. So every body get ready, crank up the old fliver and come on out and help us sing, and if you can't or won't sing than come and listen. The more we have to listen the better we can sing, and the more you will enjoy it.

Mr. J. M. Morrison and son, L. C. are on the sick list this week. They are confined to their beds with a severe case of the flu.

On last Sunday afternoon the Rev. O. A. Graydon of Lubbock preached to a good sized audience. The attendance in Sunday school was also very satisfactory.

Regular Sunday evening singing was held at the school house. Many came and joined in the singing.

Good Vision of Auto Drivers is "Safety First"

A great percent of accidents would be prevented if every one would read and obey the warning signs, but 60 miles an hour in a ford is to fast--- makes it difficult to read them with even normal eye sight.

The use and enjoyment of millions of dollars worth of improvements forfeited through fear of accidents, caused by some one who can't see the black or anything else, "And it is always the other fellow."

Cautious pleasure drivers and tourists driven from the road by that old excuse, "I didn't see you in time." Just another form of, "I didn't know it was loaded." We all help pay for these roads, so give us a chance to use them safely.

Sometimes you will find the road blocked with two cars or more, you will pass by while the argument is going on, you will hear somebody say, "What is the matter with you? Can't you see where you are going?" Then you think probably the glare of the sun, cigarette ashes, or a bug hit him in the eye just before the crash or his vision may be faulty and he don't know it, and he is not all together to blame, but all of which could be prevented.

If normal vision was absolutely necessary to drive a car, there would be very few drivers, for statistics show there only 20 percent normal vision, and the degree of abnormal vision ranges from almost normal to almost total blindness. Several of the States require all drivers to have their eyes tested normal vision and preception. Mrs. George Lemon, of Lubbock, and Miss Virginia McKirahan, of Amarillo, are here visiting in the home of H. G. Sanders.

UNION CLUB MEETS

The Union Club met last Wednesday, Feb. 17, at the home of the club President, Mrs. C. S. Davis. No special program was followed but plans were talked about for the entire year.

The first question, which is a popular question at this time, was that of raising of funds for the club. A program is to be given at a later date to take care of expenses.

Those brave enough to venture out into the weather and attend the meeting were Mesdames E. R. Slater, C. S. Davis, S. V. Johnson, Earl Johnson, Nelson, E. G. Henderson, and Misses Cora Sedgwick, Christene Well, and Lillian Eklund.

Despite the present conditions, the club members are very optimistic in their views of the work, and they are going to be live-wires.

A contest closed and plans were made for the defeat groups to entertain the winners soon. Captains of the losing groups are Mesdames W. H. Dawson and W. L. Davis. CHRISTAIN SCIENCE CHURCHES

The lesson-sermon subject was "MIND" in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, February 21.

"God hath not given us the spirit of fear; but of power, and of love, and of a sound mind," was the golden text from 11 Timothy 1:7.

Included in the service were the following passages from the Scriptures: "Thou shalt have no other gods before me"—Exodus 20:3. "Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus"—Philippians 2:5.

Citations read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, embraced the following from page 467:

"It should be thoroughly understood that all men have on Mind, one God and Father, one Life, Truth, and Love. . . Having no other gods, turning to no other but the one perfect Mind to guide him, man is the likeness of God, pure and eternal, having that Mind which also is in Christ."

EAST WARD PARENT TEACHER'S

The East Ward Parent-Teacher's Association met in regular session Tuesday afternoon February 23, 1932. Mrs. Briggs Roberston gave a very interesting and helpful talk on "The Requirements of a Good Citizen."

During the business session plans were discussed for financing and promoting the District meeting of the Parent-Teacher's Association. This meeting will be held April 5 and 6. All parents are asked to co-operate in putting over the program for getting the finance. Mothers who can and will help in any way please let the P. T. A. president know.

JUNIOR HIGH NEWS

Many of our students have recovered from their Flu siege and are back in school again.

All are busy reviewing and making up for lost time—getting ready for the six week's tests which are to be given this week.

Everyone enjoyed the Washington program at High School Monday morning.

Mr. Jenkins was away several days last week on account of a death in the family. We are all glad to have him back. However things moved along very smoothly while he was gone, with Miss Martin teaching his class, and Mrs. Sanders acting as "Chief Boss."

All of the clubs held their regular meetings on Tuesday from 1-1:30. Several visitors were present.

The Volley Ball girls are working every day, and are growing eager for some competition. What about a game with the 7th Grade from High School? We might at least make it interesting for them.

We are very sorry to learn that Lloyd Henry is quite ill with Pneumonia. He is one of our "shining lights" in class work, and he is greatly missed.

We are indeed glad to have Bill Hackett back in school after a Pneumonia siege.

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS: It appears that the Highway Commission of Texas contemplates the construction of a cut off on the Bankhead Highway from Ranger to Weatherford, thereby leaving Mineral Wells and Strawn off of this main artery, after voting bonds to build a part of said Bankhead Highway for the benefit of present and future generations, and, WHEREAS: It is proposed to build said cut off wholly out of Highway funds, with out the heretofore required local aid, and at an enormous cost, with out serving a single town or community, with the possible exception of Thurbur, while six towns would be served if said cut off followed the Texas and Pacific Railroad, and, WHEREAS: The Counties of Lubbock and Hale, on the South Plains have voted and built hard surfaced highways at a cost of nearly $2,000,000, which are unconnected with the Bankhead Highway, or any other main highway, with many miles of dirt road to travel to reach other paved highways, therefore, BE IT RESOLVED: That the Slaton Chamber of Commerce most emphatically protest against the spending of any highway funds for the purpose of building parallel highways or cutoffs, where there is an adequate hard surfaced highway to serve the purpose, and particularly the above mentioned cut off, and, BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED: That we protest against the policy the State Highway Commission in routing highways with out regard to the communities served by such highway, as is Garza County, and the above mentioned proposed in the case of Southland, ed cut off, as the Highway System of

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS: The failure of two banks in Slaton has brought to our attention, the fact that it is possible for Stockholders of Banks to own and control stock for which they have not paid, or on which they have borrowed money, and who are unable to pay an assessment when called upon, thereby depriving the depositors of proper protection, therefore, BE IT RESOLVED: That the Slaton Chamber of Commerce petition the Banking department of Texas, to take the necessary steps to have rules promulgated, or laws passed, that will require that all stockholders of Banks be required to own stock without incumbrance, and furnish a bond for an equal amount, or monthly financial statement to show ability to pay a full assessment if called upon, and, BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED: That a copy of these resolutions be mailed to the Commissioner of Banking, the Governor, and each candidate in the next primary, for Governor, and the Legislature in our District.

In some towns where there are empty buildings on the main business streets, the merchants next door to same, fill the windows with goods which shows the building as being occupied, and looks to the passer by in auto's that the town is full of business and the stores are all occupied.

Why would not this be a good idea on 9th. street on the Highway coming in to town to have these store buildings windows decorated.

Abe Kessel has done this very thing on Texas Ave., and although he has not decorated all the windows with his goods, he has fixed the rest of them so they look better than the bare windows. Let's try and fix up, who will be next.

WHY WINTER COOKING REQUIRES MORE GAS

Consumers who use gas for both cooking and heating realize why their bills are higher in winter than summer. They know that it takes much more gas to keep them warm during severe months than in periods of mild weather.

In cases, however, where gas is used only for cooking, consumers sometime wonder why their bills are higher than in summer.

There are several reasons, one of which is that more hot food is eaten in winter than in summer.

Water coming from the faucet in summer frequently averages around 70 degrees in temperature while in winter it may average as low as 45 degrees, or a temperature lower than that of the ice water you drink in summer.

Thus, in winter, the temperature of the water may have to be raised 167 degrees to reach the boiling point, while in summer it may be necessary to raise it only 142 degrees—or even less.

This same situation applies in more or less degree to all branches of cookery. The articles of food go into the oven or on the stove at a lower temperature than in summer, the utensils are colder and the air in and around the stove is colder—so more gas is required for cooking in winter than in summer even if the same menus are used.

The West Texas Gas Company organization works diligently throughout the year to the end that you may enjoy A REALLY GOOD GAS SERVICE, whether it be on the Fourth of July or during the bitterest wave of winter cold.

BILIOUS

"I have used Black-Draught . . . and have not found anything that could take its place. I take Black-Draught for biliousness. When I get bilious, I have a nervous headache and a nervous, trembling feeling that unfits me for my work. After I take a few doses of Black-Draught, I get all right. When I begin to get bilious, I feel tired and run-down, and then the headache and trembling. But Black-Draught relieves all this."—H. O. Hendrix, Homerville, Ga.
