NOTICE OF TAX HIKE SENT TO TAXPAYERS

School Tax Valuations Go Up 15 Percent

"Dear Tax Payer and Patron: Would you believe a 15 percent increase in taxes?" It didn't read exactly that way, and it's no joking matter, but the message was there when taxpayers of the Slaton Independent School District received their "greetings" this week.

The letter outlined three factors leading to the increase in taxes: (1) State salary increase for teachers, with the local district paying 20 percent; (2) Operational costs on the rise, and (3) Additional revenue to retire bonds on capital improvements.

The letter from the school district office also pointed out that Slaton schools have been operating "on the lowest per pupil cost of any school in its class on the South Plains" and, after the tax hike, "will continue to operate on one of the lowest per pupil cost on the South Plains."

Taxpayers were also notified that the board of equalization will meet on July 17 and 18 at the school tax office to hear any protests and to determine valuations. The meetings will start at 9 a.m. each day.

The notices also included valuations for tax purposes of the property for each taxpayer. The 15 percent increase will come on valuations--thus a property owner with property valued at $1,000 will find his property hiked to a value of $1,150.

After operating with inadequate facilities for several years, the school district asked for and received voter approval for a $500,000 improvements bond issue in February, 1966. Already added under the project have been a new high school gym, a new west side stadium at the football field, and a new cafeteria at West Ward. A new band hall at high school is scheduled for completion in the near future. A new elementary building in west Slaton is on the drawing board when the need arises.

The tax rate was hiked from $1.85 per $100 valuation to $2.14 per $100 after the bond issue was voted in 1966.

BRT Convention Big Success

Near 400 persons attended the Bi-State Association convention of Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen which closed Saturday in Lubbock, it was reported this week by A. L. Pechall, Slaton publicity chairman.

A. A. Traweck, president of Caprock Lodge 892 of Slaton, reported a very successful convention. The Slaton lodge, celebrating its 50th birthday, was a co-host for the convention.

Texas, Oklahoma and 14 other states were represented at the big convention. Fort Worth was selected as the site for next year's meeting, and Oklahoma City will be the site in 1969.

Police Chief signs Post

Police Chief Robert Breedlove has announced his resignation, effective July 15, 1967. His resignation letter was submitted to Mayor Jonas Buford Duff the evening of Monday, July 3.

Breedlove stated his letter of resignation is not to be effective until July 15, 1967. He has been with the City of Slaton for 1 1/2 years. Contacted Wednesday, Breedlove said his future plans are not definite.

Breedlove's resignation came on the heels of the resignation of the city manager at the first commission meeting, asking his employment be terminated effective Aug. 1.

Breedlove came to Slaton as a patrolman in 1962. He moved up to a sergeant's rank a year, became acting chief early in 1966 and was appointed as chief in June 1967. He was with the Amarillo Police Department before coming here and has some experience in the law enforcement field.

Breedlove is a member of Slaton Rotary Club and also holds memberships in the South Plains Youth Council, the Police Association, and the International Chiefs' Association. He and his wife have three children--Debra 13, and Bobby 11.

DEPOSITS AT RECORD HIGH

A band call at Citizens State Bank and a mid-year report from Slaton Savings & Loan this week showed record high deposits for both financial institutions in the city.

The bank call for the close of business June 30, showed CSB with deposits of $5,977,295.91 -- an all-time for this season of the year. Deposits at this time last year were $5,533,079.87. Loans and discounts totaled $4.6 million compared to $4.47 last year. Total resources were listed at $6,704,000.

Slaton S&L shows savings and investment accounts totaling $5,929,311.94 at the close of business June 30. This is also a record figure for the Savings & Loan Association.

House Burglary Reported Here

A house burglary netted thieves about $750 worth of items here Saturday night, and police are still investigating the theft.

George Piez, 955 S. 2nd St., reported a color television set, a portable stereo, a vacuum cleaner and other items missing from his home.

The Malone Warehouse was also broken into Saturday night, but only some junk wire valued at $10 was reported missing.

Three accidents were recorded the past week. A two-car mishap on S. 9th Street Tuesday afternoon involved vehicles driven by Darrell Bishop of Lubbock and Ronald Rose of Dalou. Damage was minor.

A pickup and car accident on W. Garza Saturday night resulted in about $750 damage. John Avila was driver of the car, and the pickup was parked.

The other accident occurred last Thursday night at the intersection of Dayton and 7th streets. Drivers of the cars involved were Gloria Sanchez and Al Schwartz. Damage was minor.

Fourth of July Holiday Quiet

The Fourth of July was a quiet day in Slaton. Marking the observance of our nation's birthday, the special day was noted in Slaton by the close of most businesses, the flying of flags, the sounding of the fire siren at 1 p.m., and the occasional sound of fireworks through the day.

It was one of the coolest Fourth of Julys in history as rain soaked the area early Tuesday morning, and the skies remained overcast until the afternoon. Baseball games were cancelled due to wet fields, leaving little activity planned here during the day.

More Rainfall Drenches Area

With one of the wettest Junes on record, Slaton and the area watched as July started with more beneficial rainfall covering the area and brightening crop prospects.

Farmers celebrated July 4th by watching a rainfall of various recordings fall over fields already soaked by moisture. Slaton recorded about .50 to .70 Tuesday morning, while reports around the area varied from a shower at Southland to .60 of an inch southwest of town.

A Saturday night rain left about half an inch of moisture in Slaton, and the rainfall was apparently fairly general. Almost an inch of rain was measured on farms south and southwest of the city.

Tuesday was the coolest Fourth of July on record in Lubbock, which recorded a low of 60 and a high of 80. In Slaton, the temperature readings were logged at 84 for the high and 58 for the low.

The entire South Plains overcame a winter drouth with repeated thunderstorms during June, and actually became the wettest area in the state. Of 20 weather bureau stations reporting, Lubbock showed an above-normal rainfall total of a whopping 7.95 inches in June. For the year, Lubbock's station totaled 14.58 inches. The annual average rainfall is just over 18 inches.

Hughes Heads New Rotary Club Officers

Dr. David Hughes took the gavel as Slaton Rotary Club president at the regular club meeting last Thursday, and other new club officials for the 1967-68 year were installed.

Claude Cravens is the new vice president; M. G. Davis, secretary; Bentley Page and O. G. Nieman, directors; Dee Bowman, song leader; Wayne Cooper, bulletin editor; Bob Breedlove, sergeant-at-arms. Holdover directors are Don Crow and Carroll McDonald, B. B. (Doc) Castleberry, outgoing president, and Bruce Pember, past district governor, had charge of the installation ceremonies. Castleberry presented Hughes with the president's pin, and made a brief talk thanking the members for a successful year.

He mentioned the club highlights of the year as being the Teacher Appreciation Banquet, hosting the District Rotary Assembly, and sponsoring a school traffic safety program.

Hughes moved up from the vice president's post to take the club reins. Charlie Barron was the retiring secretary.

BABSON BUSINESS & FINANCIAL FORECAST A MID-YEAR REVIEW

BABSON PARK, MASS. (July 6) - Here in the northeast corner of the U. S., we frequently warn that it is not wise to "review the bird." But then, we know that there is always an "antidote" for every aphorism. So we counter with: "Confession is good for the soul." And that is precisely what we plan to do today...at the midway mark of 1967. Hence, we turn back to our extensive forecast of things to come in 1967 published here on Dec. 29, 1966. Also, as we go along, we shall adopt a three fold policy aimed at (1) exulting a bit where we were 'on the nose,' (2) admitting our guilt, and (3) adjusting our course with an eye to the remaining months of the year.

FOREIGN DEVELOPMENTS As 1966 ended, we warned that "the greatest danger for the year ahead does not exist on the domestic front." Throughout the first half of 1967 the direst developments surely have been in the military and political areas abroad. As all eyes were firmly fixed on the increasingly bloody conflict in Vietnam, the Middle East burst into flame.

G. A. Nasser of Egypt, egged on by the trouble makers in Moscow and surfeited with Russian armament, screamed for a "holy war" to wipe out Israel. But his zeal soon cooled, as did Goliath's when David moved resolutely forth to meet the danger. As we review the events of recent weeks we recall our December statement: "Heavily armed with Soviet weapons, the Arabs of the Middle East - squared off against Israel - present a grave threat to world peace."

NO WORLD WAR YET Despite our forebodings of late last year, we then felt that the smoldering fires evident in the Middle East would not erupt into World War III. At the same time we flatly predicted that the issue in Vietnam would not be resolved in 1967. Today as we weigh more recent developments, we are still convinced that neither Russia nor the U. S. views a head-on collision as inevitable. As a nation we are hopeful that the Soviets will gradually give up their aim of world conquest, while the Poliburo is persuaded that Americans are drifting steadily leftward and that we will eventually capitulate to Communism without nuclear war.

To be sure, the danger is ever present when two strong men armed to the teeth confront each other. Should we overthrow North Vietnam, the provocation would be heightened. Had Egypt liquidated Israel, the West would have been pushed toward massive intervention. But apparently our State Department is thinking more of holding action in South Vietnam. And Israel's valor saved the U. S. for the time being in the Middle East. Consequently the day of great evil has been put forward... hopefully beyond the end of this year.

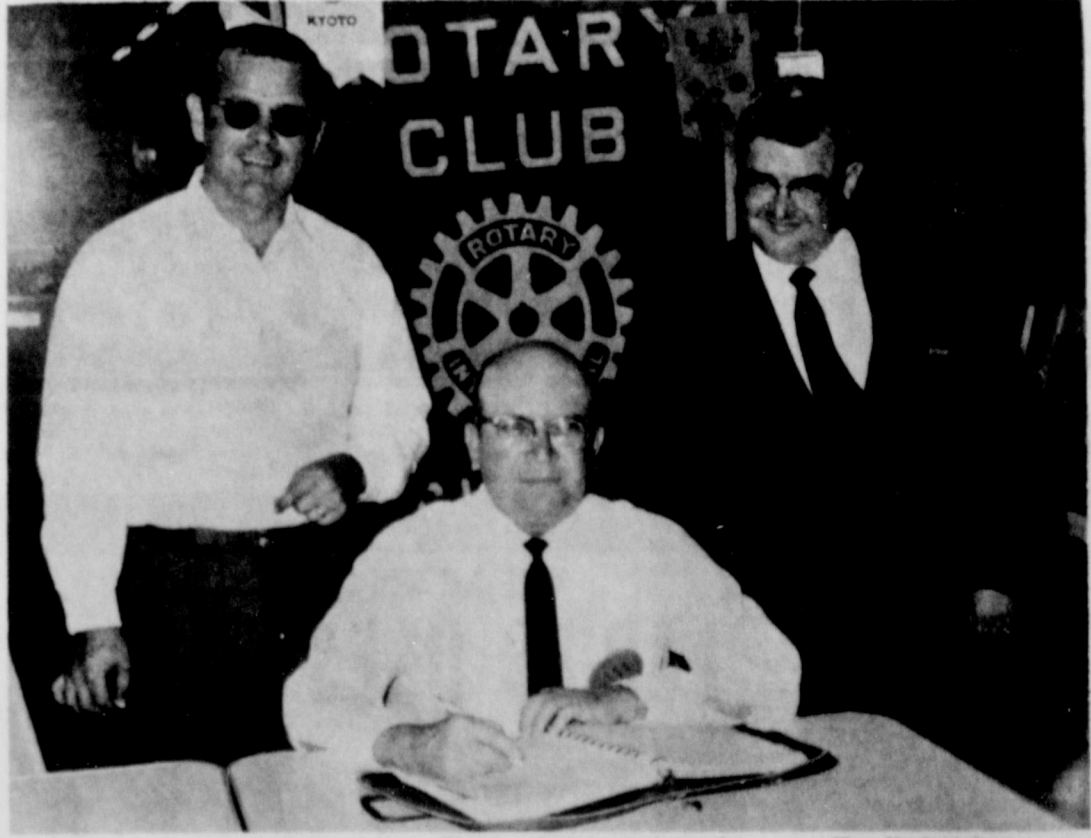

TURNING TO BUSINESS There was much more on possible foreign developments in our Forecast for 1967. A rereading would be highly exciting in view of unfolding events. But we devoted even more space to trends and probable happenings in business and finance. We foresaw that military spending would be raised in 1967, softening "the impact of any easing in the private sector of the economy." Flatly we forecast a "definite deceleration in business activity." We correctly outlined the threat to profits arising from "increased productive capacity" and "the inflation in labor and other operating costs." Most important, we predicted "an abrupt switch in 1967 from a policy of inventory accumulation to one of inventory liquidation."

On credit, we expected enough easing to "permit more orderly monetary conditions." On housing we thought it would be "mid-year or after before this important part of our economy can contribute much strength to over-all business." We viewed labor as standing "at the crossroads" with "more likelihood in 1967 of restrictive labor legislation than at any time since Taft-Hartley was put on the books." We correctly pegged the sales lag in autos and other durable goods. The hike in living costs, and the "lethargy" in retail trade. But we missed the bad slump in farmers' net income and the difficulties that farm implement manufacturers have been encountering.

STOCKS AND POLITICS At the end of last year we were somewhat more cautious as to the prospects for com-

'Kids Next Door' To Appear At Fair With Eddy Arnold

LUBBOCK--The Kids Next Door, who thrilled fairgoers here last year as the Young American Singers, will return to the Panhandle South Plains Fair this fall as part of the featured Eddy Arnold all-star show.

The 18-member singing group will be appearing on stage in Fair Park Coliseum with Arnold and Jimmy Nelson throughout the weeklong engagement, slated Sept. 25-30. Nelson also will bring his dummy pals -- Danny O'Day, Humphrey Higsby, Farfel and Ftataeta -- to the golden anniversary edition.

The Young American Singers were students first, entertainers second. It was only logical, then, that the Kids Next Door should be born. As graduates of the Young Americans, these girls and boys have completed their schooling and are now free to perform on a year-around basis.

Unlike the Young Americans, The Kids Next Door are professionals. Their national television debut on Perry Como's Thanksgiving Special last November generated such excitement in the entertainment world they already have been committed to concert dates deep into 1968.

They will be seen in numerous mid-Western colleges, and in concert halls across the country with such stars as Johnny Carson, The Tijuana Brass, Tennessee Ernie Ford, Petula Clark, Arnold, Bob Newhart and a repeat tour with Perry Como.

Ford and the Young Americans played to nearly 40,000 persons at the fair here last year, when overall attendance soared beyond the quarter-million mark for the first time. In addition, fair officials welcomed their five millionth visitor in the 49-year history of one of the Southwest's oldest and most successful expositions.

The 50th annual renewal will salute A. B. Davis, longtime general manager.

The unique quality of The Kids Next Door lies in the fact that each individual performer has a talent all his own. Each is able to perform in his own distinctive and original manner whether playing a banjo, guitar, bass or harmonica, singing an aria, wailing a folk tune, or performing a dance routine.

The basic personality of The Kids Next Door has always been friendliness, and this feeling is captured in their own associations with one another. All ages, many nationalities and religions are joined together to promote feelings of good will and understanding -- for one another, and the rest of the world.

In a recent issue of Variety, Arnold -- this year's fair entertainment host -- was acknowledged as "the Frank Sinatra of the pop country field." This refers to only part of the appeal of the Tennessee-bred singer who has been in the forefront of American popular music -- not just country music -- for over two decades.

Since signing with RCA Victor Records in 1944, he has sold more than 40 million albums and singles, according to figures released by the company. This puts him in the list of the 10 biggest-selling popular recording artists of all time. During most of 1966, he had three albums consistently on the Billboard magazine list of the 150 biggest-selling albums. The year was the highlight in Arnold's long and enduring career.

Ventriloquist Nelson is the third star in the fair's 1967 triple-header, believed to be the exposition's top drawing card in history.

Tickets for the all-star show are priced at $2, $2.50, $3 and $3.50 for evening performances. Matinee prices are $1.50, $2, $2.50 and $3, with children 12 and under being admitted afternoons for one-half price. In addition, tickets purchased prior to the fair will be accompanied by free admission passes to the fairgrounds.

The show will be presented in-the-round.

JOYCE KITTEN

(7) INTRODUCING: A CHILD'S WORLD

How Do You Interpret Death To Your Children?

The most difficult tasks in parenthood are that of helping children meet different experiences in life in ways that will help them mature and grow stronger. But perhaps the most difficult task of all is that of interpreting death to children.

Many parents avoid the subject in hopes that the child may never be faced with a death in his immediate family. But children face death everyday! They hear it in the news, see it on television, a neighbor down the street may die, or a playmate.

A child's pet dies, or his plant produces no fruit, or his grandparent or close friend meets death. And your child will want to know why. In order for him to develop into a healthy personality, parents must furnish him the correct answers.

There are no foolproof formulas that can be applied to such situations. Because children and parents differ, no one rule can be followed in every case. But there are two significant topics which can assist a parent to help his child cope with death: first, what are children's ideas about death, and second, what interpretations should NOT be used.

After an extensive study, Maria Nagy revealed that children tend to pass through three different phases in his ideas about death.

First, the younger child from three to five denies death as a natural and final process. To this child, death is like sleep; you are dead, then you are alive again. Just as on a journey, you are gone and then you come back again. Consequently, children of this age may seem to be callous when they are told of the death of a member of the family. They will usually express an immediate sorrow, but soon forget about it.

In the second stage, roughly from the ages of five to nine, youngsters appear to be able to accept the idea that a particular person has died, but don't accept it as something that eventually happens to everyone, and particularly not to themselves.

Usually by the age of ten, children begin to recognize death as inevitable for all persons and as something that can come to them. A parent's realization of his child's concept of death will influence greatly his approach to the matter. And understanding these stages a parent will begin to see why the following interpretations of death are not acceptable.

Parents, because of their own reluctance to look at death realistically, fall into the trap of confusing and disturbing the child by attempting to soften the blow, says Ernest Osborn, writer for the Public Affairs Pamphlet.

For example, never tell a child that the deceased person has "gone to sleep". Children immediately sense that there is something unusual and disturbing about this "sleep". And more often than not children will begin to fight sleep, because they also fear that they might go off into this strange sleepiness. In understanding that a younger child views death as a sleepiness, then a parent can reason why such an explanation of this kind is unjust.

Another unacceptable method is telling a child that his loved one has gone on a journey or on a long visit. Children show anxiety and resentment that the dead person would have gone away without taking him or at least saying good-bye. Children find it easier to cope with death than with the thought of desertion.

A third kind of interpretation attributes death to God through such statements as "God took him" or "Jesus wanted him". Sherill, in his article, "Interpreting Death to Children", points out that such an explanation runs the risk of building in the child fear, resentment, or even hatred toward the God who, in the child's mind, can be the enemy who may strike down without warning. The words used, the tone of voice, and PAST religious teachings will determine whether or not a negative reaction develops.

So what can a parent do? Osborn says "it is better to explain the immediate causes rather than to try to give philosophical interpretations, which the child rarely understands."

Thus, in talking about a death caused by an accident, emphasize the need for good judgment and care in protecting ourselves against mistakes. Or in discussing sickness as the cause of death, the lack of scientific knowledge or the need for better preventive measures can be emphasized. And when old age is the cause of death, the parent should stress the fact that everyone's body eventually grows old and tired, and that there comes a time when the heart can no longer do its work.

"As for as the physical body is concerned, we should make it very clear that life has stopped, and that the person cannot return, and that the body has been buried in a specific place. Anything short of this is apt to result in some kind of confusions and misinterpretations," say Osborn, in his article "When You Lose a Loved One".

Parents must realize that children react differently to death than do adults. A young child can handle things by action better than through talking and thinking. Parents can be grateful for this; immediate expression of grief is always much more healthy and satisfying than locking feelings up inside oneself.

There are ways of preparing children for deaths. For example, many parents rush too quickly to replace a pet that has died, never giving the child the opportunity to experience a loss of any kind. Telling a child that a pet has "run away" is a very poor explanation that a dog or cat has really died. Many psychologists suggest that children be given the chance to play funeral when a pet has died, increasing their understanding, adding to their security, and preparing them for experiences ahead.

Secondly, is the effort of too many parents to over-protect their children from funerals. It is true that in cases where there may be hysterical displays of grief, it may be better to spare a child of possible ill effects of such expressions. But in most cases it is always better to include a child in the funeral participation.

Experts have discovered that the mysterious goings on bring, the shock of being separated from the family, and the feeling that they are shut out of something that means a great deal, may be far more disturbing than the experience of being a part of the sad and upsetting ceremonies.

So in summary, when interpreting death to children, a parent should always keep these points in mind. First, remember that they are children, and to think how they perceive death. Second, always be honest with your children; tell the truth, but try to make it a learning experience (as in the case of an accident causing death, emphasize the need for good judgment). Third, prepare a child for unexpected deaths by never over-protecting him from death altogether.

And lastly, LOVE THEM. A home founded on love, respect, and equality is always the best environment for any child, but during the times of stress children need the special reassurance and security that can be found nowhere else except in the arms of a loving father and mother.

The quality of a paintbrush is determined by its fullness, different length bristles, and whether or not it has tapered, tipped and flagged bristles. A good brush has bristles that are different lengths so that the paint is distributed evenly throughout the brush, not just at the tip.

Museum Slates Palo Duro Bus Tour for July 14

The second annual bus excursion to Palo Duro Canyon from the West Texas Museum has been set for Friday, July 14. Buses will load at the Museum parking lot on the Texas Tech campus at 4:40 p.m. for the journey to Palo Duro Amphitheater for Paul Green's musical drama, "Texas".

The first 36 individuals who make reservations for the trip will attend, on a "first come, first served" basis. Others will be put on a waiting list in case of cancellations. Last year, response was so great that a second bus was filled to accommodate the overflow.

Reservations may be made at the Museum at a cost of $7.50 per person, which includes round-trip transportation on an air-conditioned bus, a tour of Palo Duro Canyon, ice cold soft drinks and a reserved seat at the musical.

Members of the tour are asked to pack a box lunch to take on the trip.

The spectacular summer show, in its second season, is staged in the amphitheater with the 600-foot canyon wall for a backdrop.

A drama of American history intertwined with native folk-songs and dances dating back to the 1880's, the production uses stereophonic sound and dramatic lighting to achieve a breathtaking effect under a star-studded sky. The two-and-a-half hour show, scripted by the Pulitzer Prize-winning playwright, played to full houses nearly every night of its debut season.

Palo Duro Canyon itself has been inhabited by dinosaurs, mammoths, buffaloes, Indians, comancheros, smugglers and pioneers. The bus trip includes a scenic tour of the canyon. Reservations by mail will be acknowledged. Checks for the trip should be made payable to: West Texas Museum Association.

Superintendent Explains Factors Bringing About Tax Increase

The factors leading to a tax increase for Slaton Independent School District patrons were explained this week by Dr. Lee Vardy, superintendent of schools.

Following is a release from the superintendent's office:

"The Slaton School is faced with the responsibility of providing the necessary educational opportunities that its student need. As the demands upon people increase, it is imperative that educational advantages be improved. Also as the world grows smaller in the sense of distance, it is imperative that children of today be as well as educated as tomorrow's conditions will warrant.

"Several factors are involved in the operation of the public schools of today. Some of these are higher cost of operation, more pupils, additional facilities, broader programs, and a more diversified curriculum. "Recently the State Legislature increased the minimum pay of teachers. This increase is paid by the state and the local district. The state will pay 80% of the increase and the local district must pay the other 20%. Similar increases in salaries have been authorized since 1949.

"The Slaton School has attempted to absorb such increases without an increase in taxes. There are no funds available to pay the local district part of the increase at this time. However, with the increase in salaries as authorized by the legislature, the average salary in Texas is lower than the average salary in the United States.

"The Slaton School has operated with inadequate facilities for several years. Some of the most needed facilities were added the past year. Additional revenue will be needed to retire the bonded indebtedness created to pay for these facilities. It is felt that the construction cost of these facilities were as low as could be expected. The general operation cost of all schools as well as the Slaton Schools has increased steadily for the past several years.

"The Slaton School has attempted to operate on a very economical base. In fact the operation of the Slaton School is the lowest in its class on the South Plains and, after the increase it will be among the lowest in its class in this area. This operation cost is based upon the cost of educating one child, hence this becomes a true comparison. These figures are based upon data released by the Texas Education Agency.

"After a study that covered some four months, the board of education requested that the valuation for tax purposes be raised 15% above the present level.

BABSON---

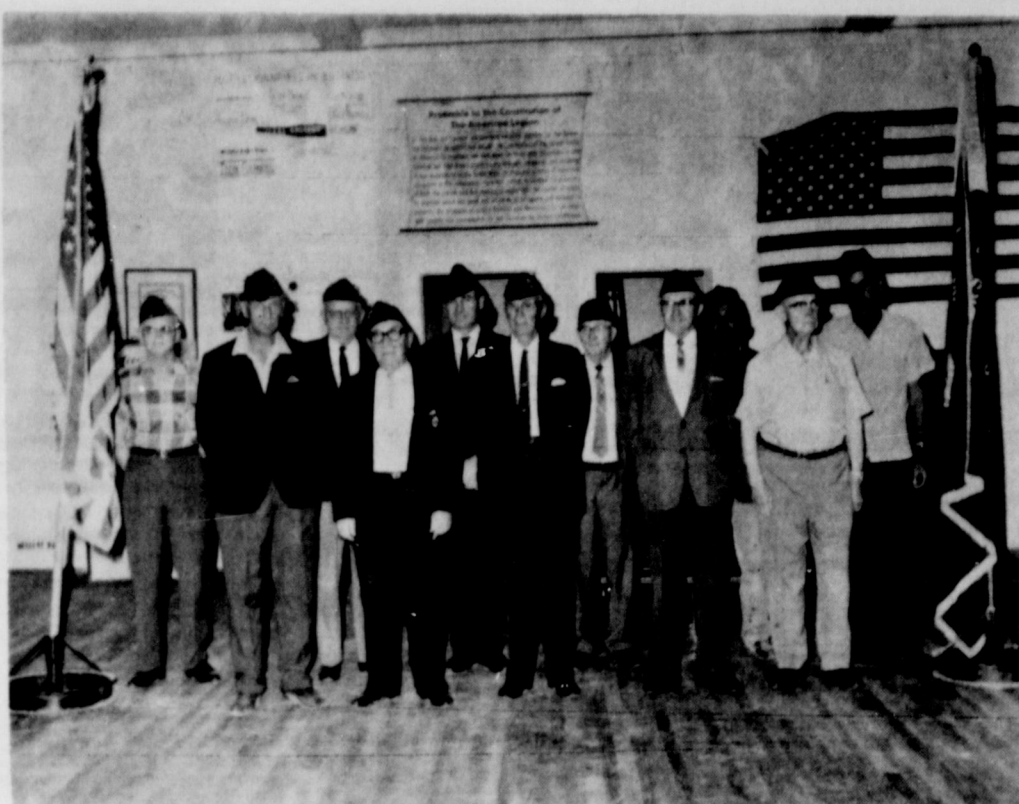

(Continued From Page 1) mon stocks than developments since have warranted. However, we were up the right alley in forecasting "the end aristocracy of the blue chips based on past performance" would be "replaced" by a new aristocracy of super-management based upon hopes of good future performance. This has been borne out by the way the "performance" issues have soared while the blue chips wallowed.

It now looks as if we were overoptimistic on the will and capacity of Congress to curb boondoggle spending. We suggested that Congress would become "more critical of the looting going on under cover of the Administration's War on Poverty." However, even with the rising pressures of war and rumors of more war, our legislators have largely followed a program of "pork barrel" as usual. We are still hopeful for an awakening on this score during the remainder of this year.

THE FINAL HALF

Foremost, we still feel that income taxes will be hiked before autumn is over... as a last-ditch stand against rising inflationary pressures. This should make the current historically high yields on tax-exempt bonds look more attractive than ever. But it certainly is no "bull argument" in favor of buying common stocks for income.

The practical certainty of further price advances in most consumer items - red meat particularly - will water down

It's amazing what some grown men will do, however, to help a worthy cause!

A number of editors were happy to see the State Legislature pass an "Open Meetings Bill" in the recent session. This means that sessions of public bodies financed by public funds shall be open to the press at all times with several exceptions.

Although the city commission and school board have been most cooperative in Slaton, there are towns where meetings are sometimes held behind closed doors. The exceptions in the bill are reasonable and generally agreeable to the press.

So-called "executive sessions" can exclude the press if: (1) The subject under discussion has to do with the hiring or firing of an individual; (2) When deliberations relate to planned purchases of real estate, publicity about which would cause landvalues to hike; (3) deliberations of matters affecting security; and (4) meetings of investigating committees of the Legislature.

Water, Inc. Names Temporary Manager

Water, Inc., which is to be headquartered in Lubbock, includes all of West Texas, along with Eastern New Mexico and the Oklahoma Panhandle.

Twenty-three districts are in the final structure of the organization, including two in Eastern New Mexico, one in the Oklahoma Panhandle and five in Texas outside the High Plains area.

The High Plains, covering the Panhandle - South Plains region has 15 districts. In addition, the High Plains has 10 at-large representatives on the 33-member board of directors.

Directors authorized Kendrick to attend the Southern Water Resources Conference, July 11-14, at Biloxi, Miss. Several directors indicated they also plan to attend the conference as representatives of other groups.

The 2 1/2-hour board meeting featured reports on activities of the organization to date and heard several directors report pledges of enthusiastic support from their areas.

Mrs. Suzanne Weaver of Lubbock was introduced as the organization's new secretary. Water, Inc. is being provided temporary office space by the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. at the PGC headquarters at 1720 Ave. M in Lubbock.

Officials reported that an initial mailing of membership forms to some 27,000 individuals, businesses and agencies probably will begin late this week.

Each of the directors also received a supply of membership forms for distribution to banks, chambers of commerce and others throughout their home districts.

A tentative goal of 200,000 to be raised through voluntary subscriptions, has been set for the first year of operation. Minimum dues were fixed at $25 per year.

Commercial dues will be 50 cents per $1,000 in capitalization and surplus. Farmers and ranchers will be asked to contribute 10 cents per acre on irrigated land, 4 cents on dry land and 2 cents on rangeland.

Directors agreed that meetings of the board will be shifted among different locations within the area served by Water, Inc. The board had lunch with members of the Farm and Ranch Council of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce.

K. B. Watson of Amarillo, first vice president of Water, Inc., explained at the Luncheon that to work for the importation of both in-state and out-of-state multi-purpose water for the High Plains and adjacent areas is the purpose of the organization.

Members of the advisory group named earlier include Donald A. Johnson, Lubbock; Michael Garrett, Clovis; Marvin Nichols, Fort Worth; Melvin Semrad, Amarillo; Berwin Tilson, Plainview; Marvin Shurbet, Petersburg; and Steve Reynolds, New Mexico state water engineer, Santa Fe.

Officers, in addition to Kendrick and Watson, are Gaston Wells, Dumas, second vice president; J. M. Collins, Plainview, secretary; and Jim Ed Waller, Lubbock, treasurer.

FM Road Project Listed in County

The Texas Highway Commission today approved development of 9.0 miles of Farm to Market Roads in Lubbock County as part of the 1967 Texas Farm to Market Program.

District Engineer Oscar L. Crain of the Texas Highway Department District Five Office in Lubbock said estimated cost of the work is $211,800. The Lubbock project includes six miles of construction from FM-597, 2.7 miles west of Abernathy, south to FM-1729 3 miles west of New Deal; also, a 3-mile program from FM-1729, 2 miles west of New Deal, south to FM-1294.

The work authorized for this county is part of 949.3 miles of Texas Farm and Ranch to Market Roads earmarked for development in the new program.

The program lists 228 projects in 166 counties. Estimated cost is $24.6 million. New mileage included in the program totals 623 miles. Other mileage was previously designated or is being constructed in stages.

The additional mileage brings designated Farm and Ranch to Market Roads in Texas to 38,7 thousand miles. This is greater than the entire State - maintained highway mileage of many other States.

Plans call for an eventual FM-RM system of 50 thousand miles. Originally conceived to move agricultural products to market, the FM system has contributed both to the social and economic well-being of rural areas.

For example, 69 per cent of the new mileage included in the program is on school bus routes. Sixty-three per cent of the new mileage is along rural mail delivery routes.

According to the Texas Education Agency, 7,800 school buses travel almost 450 thousand miles daily to transport 473 thousand students to school and back home. Many of these students make all or part of their daily trips to school over FM roads.

It is estimated that rural mail carriers travel almost 50 thousand miles a day over FM roads. Many new reservoirs and other recreational areas are located along the FM-RM system, bringing a new role for the network. The roads afford the recreational traveler an opportunity to get off the beaten track, while continuing to use a modern highway facility.

Cost of construction of FM roads has almost doubled in the last 15 years due to increased traffic and the necessity for designing facilities to accommodate heavier vehicles. Average maintenance costs have climbed more than 80 per cent in the same period.

ITEM: Paint the proper way. On vertical siding, paint the grooves between the boards first and then do the faces. On horizontal siding, paint the bottom of each board first, then do the face.

ITEM: If your budget won't permit you to build a much-needed bathroom, see if you can't find some waste space in an old closet, pantry, under a stairwell or at the end of a hall for a compact powder room that will ease the strain on existing bathroom facilities. You can install a powder room in a space as little as 4 x 5 feet. Lavatories and water closets that can be installed in corners are available for rooms with unusual shapes.

ITEM: Iron-on tape may loosen when garments are washed, but you can press the tape back in place. Whether to use tape instead of a hem depends on several things. Among them are: Can you make the hem stable without making it rigid; will the tape show through the fabric; can you press the fabric at the temperature needed to obtain a strong bond with the tape.

TAX MAN SAM SEZ:

If you were a June Bride--or a December Bride--during the tax year (it makes no difference what time of the year you get married) you may need to check on the type of income tax return that you file with your new husband.

If your Father provided principal support for you during the year that you get married and would be entitled to claim you as a dependent, you can help dear old Dad on his taxes. However, you must file a separate return from your husband. You can split the community income, but if you file a joint return your Dad can't claim you.

Love

"Make love your aim, and earnestly desire the spiritual gifts, especially that you may prophesy."

— Corinthians 14:1

Make love your aim and there will be no room in your heart for hate or envy. Begin with a love of God. Make God the center of your world. Love your family and your friends. Look for the good that is in every man and be not impatient with imperfections. If you can put more love into your approach to everyday life, you will find a continually greater peace of mind.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford

AUSTIN, Tex. --- Air pollution is the prime topic of conversation in the Capitol at the moment.

After taking a look at the air pollution law just put on the books this year, members of the Texas Air Control Board say the Texas law permits 80 times as much air pollution as do similar laws in some of the other states.

Elbert Hooper of Austin, the Board's attorney, told the directors that an exemption from control supposed to apply only to cotton gins (limiting air emissions to a maximum of eight per cent of the process weight of an agricultural product) may exempt many industries.

He named the following as possibilities: lumber mills, rice mills, grain elevators, paper mills, cotton oil mills, produce plants, food processing plants, citrus processing plants, cotton seed delinting plants, flour mills, soybean oil mills, corn syrup plants, slaughter houses, wool scouring plants, nut processing plants and, possibly, rendering plants.

"We might as well fold up and go home," said Board Member Henry LeBlanc of Port Arthur. "Maybe it would be easier for you to tell us what's left that we can control," he told Hooper.

Some members observed that cotton gins would have to produce 50,000 to 60,000 micrograms of particulate matter to get to eight per cent concentration -- and gins at best are not likely to exceed 40,000 to 50,000 micrograms.

Rep. Don Cavness of Austin and Sen. Criss Cole of Houston, co-authors of the 1967 Clean Air Act, say that the legislative intent was to exclude only cotton gins from State control. However, it may be necessary to amend the Clean Air Act in the 1968 special session to make this fact clear to industries which might want to be exempt.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES -- Any applicant for a law well driller's license in Texas must have resided in the state for 90 consecutive days prior to his application. Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin has held.

In other opinions, Martin determined that:

- * Department of Corrections may require return of a parole violator from New Jersey to serve the remainder of his sentence.
- * New law didn't change requirements relating to specific affidavits on certain sworn accounts regarding claims, and the state comptroller can continue to issue warrants for properly submitted claims when such claims are submitted under affidavit.

* Terms of two former aeronautics commissioners expired last December 31. Terms of two more end next December 31. One is deceased, and a sixth will serve through 1970.

SS FOR MENTALLY RETARDED -- Deputy Commissioner Charles D. Barnett says the Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation has been allocated $18,400,000 in federal funds for the mental retardation program with another $1,000,000 likely to be allocated.

Funds include grants -- in aid for care programs and grants for construction of new facilities.

THE COURT SPEAKS -- Socony Mobil Oil Co., Inc. of Midland will have to bear the burden of a $167,789 judgment for damages to equipment owned by two New Mexico firms because the State Supreme Court has affirmed an appeals court decision. Damages resulted from an oil field fire which started while a Mobil well near Seminole, in Gaines County, was being acidized.

High court also ruled that an applicant who is denied a beer license may appeal in district court, but someone who protested granting of the license has no right to appeal.

A motorist's failure to appear in court when convictions for traffic violations are rendered against him does not protect ect him from Department of Public Safety suspension of his driver's license. Supreme Court ruled in a Midland County case.

A divorced mother temporarily committed to a mental hospital does not necessarily lose custody of her minor children, to the father, on her release. So says the high court in an Austin case.

Latter two verdicts both reversed lower court findings. AMENDMENTS DRAWN -- On November 11, Texans will vote on six proposed constitutional amendments placed on the ballot in this order:

No. 1 -- Allowing counties to put all tax money in a single general fund.

No. 2 -- Permitting cities and other governmental units within hospital districts to levy taxes for participation in mental health and mental retardation community centers.

No. 3 -- Reviving the veterans' land program and authorizing $400,000,000 in bonds.

No. 4 -- Authorizing counties to pay medical, doctor and hospital bills for law enforcement officers injured in line of duty.

No. 5 -- Providing for a $75,000,000 state parks revenue bond issue.

No. 6 -- Allowing state officers and employees to hold non-elective positions where there is no conflict of interest or where the state might benefit.

SHORT SNORTS
Fear of scabies infections has resulted in massive visual inspection of cattle in the Panhandle and clearance of herds by the Texas Animal Health Commission and the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Armed with a $225,000 Federal grant, the State Health Department is promoting a statewide immunization program -- primarily directed at preschoolers -- against polio, measles, diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus.

A second conference to assist local officials on the Gulf Coast in their hurricane preparedness planning has been scheduled by the Department of Public Safety for July 13 in Galveston.

A public hearing on rules changes in the state's grants-in-aid-program relative to Mental Health - Mental Retardation is set for 9 a.m., July 18, in the House of Representatives.

Texas' total retail sales of $1,553,000,000 in May were 10 per cent above the total for April and seven per cent above the May total a year ago, Reports UT's Bureau of Business Research.

Texas Highway Commission has approved the 10 mile, $6,000,000, Interstate 10 project in Kimble County. Col. Morris S. Schwartz, State Selections will be called July 10, 1967, an increase in the July quota.
