

Engineers Show At Lubbock Today

LUBBOCK, Texas, April 14—Several special school groups including science classes in several South Plains high schools, in addition to contestants here for the district Intercholastic meet, are expected Friday and Saturday, April 15 and 16, for the fourth annual Engineers' Show at the Texas Technological College.

The free show is expected to attract more than 3,500 visitors.

Starting in with the civil engineers' division, seven engineering departments will be visited in a two hour inspection tour before the mechanical engineering department is visited.

Three building house the equipment and exhibits to be seen.

In the civil engineering department visitors will see the testing machine, its model of a plate girder bridge, and the model showing the clover leaf plan of grade separate for highways. A miniature of the Hoover dam will likewise be on exhibition.

In the architectural engineering department large paintings applied directly to the plaster-finished walls will be viewed. Drawing classes will show how blue prints are made.

The tesla coil in the electrical engineering department will likely attract much attention as it did last year. It has been improved this year and will force a spark to jump six feet into the air. Electrical cooking utensils will likewise be displayed.

The mechanical engineers will conduct a test of a steam turbine and boiler and a Chevrolet engine. A liberty-12 airplane motor will be disassembled for inspection. An ice plant will be in operation and a steam radiator covered with snow will be exhibited.

The chemical engineering department will have an interesting section of the show.

In the textile engineering building the process of cotton manufacturing from the bale to finished product will be shown. The process of carding, spinning, weaving and other operations will be demonstrated by students.

"Belcher," a huge steel dog, with a mysterious fiery disposition will guard the machine shops, the third building to be entered by the visitors. The dog attracted much attention last year. Metal and woodworking machines and aluminum casting made in the foundry will be displayed here.

A. J. Payne Shows Up Other Records

South Plains Chamber of Commerce secretaries must have plenty of opportunities for work. Two of them already have contested the purported record of a Geneseo, Ill., man who claimed 15 jobs.

A. J. Payne, Slaton CC secretary, is the second to make the bid. He lists 26 posts, not including active membership in 14 chamber committees. Previously J. E. Shelton of Brownfield offered 22 posts—28 if some of the sub-divisions were counted separately.

Mr. Payne's list follows:
Secretary of the board of city development, treasurer of the board of city development, secretary of the chamber of commerce, treasurer of the chamber of commerce, secretary of the Rotary club, treasurer of the Rotary club, editor of the Rotary weekly issues, a member of the three Rotary committees, secretary of a regional poultry show, treasurer of the show, manager of the show, vice president of the Panhandle-South Plains fair, president of United Charities, superintendent of a Methodist Sunday school, correspondent for four daily papers, columnist for The Slatonite, manager of United Charities food supply, director of the Rotary club, president of the Methodist choir, president of the board of education, president of a council.

Payne states:
"I hate to better my brother secretary, Shelton, as we work together on some of the committees, but I just want to show this man back north with 15 jobs, that we have men down here in West Texas that do work, and I, like brother Shelton, get but one salary, and that has been cut on account of the depression."

Scholarship Valued at 8,000 Francs Awarded

PORT WORTH, April 14—A scholarship valued at 8,000 francs has been awarded to Miss Bita Mae Hall of Fort Worth a year's study at the University of Toulouse, France.

Miss Hall is the daughter of Dean and Mrs. Colby D. Hall of T. C. U. and was graduated from that institution last June with highest honors, having been the first student ever to graduate with a scholastic record of all "A" grades for four years. She will sail for France early in the summer.

Fires Destroy Two Houses This Week

Fires this week destroyed two houses in Slaton, one belonging to C. C. Hoffman, on West Lubbock street, and the other the residence of Alf Keith, on West Dayton street.

The Keith house burned to the ground and was a total loss. The blaze occurred early Tuesday morning, when an oil lamp exploded, throwing flames over one room. Two or three telephone poles near by burned partially, and the barn belonging to the house occupied by the N. C. Dickson family was completely destroyed. The house caught fire, but this blaze was quickly extinguished. Several chickens that were roosting in the barn were burned, as well as household articles and furniture that was stored there.

The Hoffman house was thought to have caught from the hot water heater. Though it was not completely destroyed, the interior was ruined, and the house damaged beyond repair. Both losses were covered by insurance.

Three Scholarships Awarded 4-H Girls

College Station, Texas, April 14—Three scholarships given annually by the Texas State Fair Association and the Texas Home Demonstration Association to outstanding third and fourth year 4-H Club girls have been awarded for 1931 to Hilda Ohlenbusch, Mitchell County; Leila O'Neal, Wheeler County; Mary King, El Paso County, according to a recent announcement by Miss Mildred Horton, state home demonstration agent. Each of the scholarships is valued at $300.

Contestants for the scholarships carried on programs of food conservation and preparation, gardening, poultry, sewing and home improvement. They were required to keep careful records of the cost and values of their products. Miss Ohlenbusch's poultry work netted her a profit of $221 and her garden fruit and vegetable conservation program brought her $216. She completed 110 pieces of sewing, including dresses, undergarments and household linens. In addition to helping her family improve other rooms in the house, she improved her own room by refinishing the woodwork and floor, reequipping her clothes closet and making a combined desk and bookcase.

"I think that the 4-H Club stands for the betterment of community, home and church," Miss O'Neal said, "and its training has enabled me to help my friends and neighbors when the opportunity arises. Her record book for the past three years revealed that she has created financial values amounting to $1,242.50 in this time.

Miss King's specialty was a garden and food conservation program which won her a trip to the State Fair at Dallas. Besides keeping her family supplied with fresh vegetables and conserving enough other vegetables for family use, she has prepared more than 1,500 containers of fruits, vegetables and meats which she plans to sell at a roadside market made over from an abandoned root beer stand.

Dr. and Mrs. Foster, Mesdames Weaver, Bounds, and Bowen attended an associational study book course at Lubbock Tuesday. Mrs. Foster being one of the teachers, went on to Tulsa for another meeting Wednesday.

Odie Hood of this City made the honor roll for the spring term at Texas Technological College with an average grade of B on 17 term hours of work, according to the report of the registrar's office.

Mrs. Lillian Butler To Broadcast From Amarillo Sunday

Mrs. Lillian Butler, who has been teaching voice and piano here for several years, has been asked to broadcast over KGRS at Amarillo Sunday afternoon, it was learned this week. Friends of Mrs. Butler in Amarillo arranged for the date.

Mrs. Butler said she did not know yet what she would sing, as she had only been notified that she was to sing at one-thirty Sunday afternoon. She will probably sing several numbers, and her part on the program will last half an hour, or perhaps less. She will not know how much time she is to have until she reaches Amarillo. Miss Frances Gillies is planning to go along as accompanist. The party will probably leave for Amarillo today.

Tech President Dies Wednesday

Dr. Paul Whitfield Horn, first and only president of Texas Technological College, died suddenly Wednesday of a heart attack, after he had been discharged from the Lubbock sanitarium, and had seemed to be rapidly regaining his health, which had been falling since January.

Dr. Horn had been an active educator ever since he began teaching school in Missouri at the age of fourteen. He had been teacher and superintendent of schools in many parts of the United States had taught classes in many colleges, and had been president of the American School in Mexico City, Mexico. In 1922, he was named president of the Southwestern University at Georgetown, where he served until he was elected first president of the Texas Technological College, in 1924. His work there has probably done more than anything else to build up Tech College to its present position as third largest college in the state.

Dr. Horn is survived by his wife, a daughter, Ruth, and a brother, E. G. Horn, of Terrell. Interment was made in the Lubbock cemetery, Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock. Funeral services were held by Rev. Joe Haymes, Pastor of the First Methodist Church.

Bruce Gentry Jr. and Little Margaret Nann Gentry, of Lubbock spent Tuesday afternoon with their grandmother, Mrs. Ella Gentry.

Miss Merle Miller of Star City, Arkansas is visiting in the home of her brother, J. E. Miller, and contemplates spending the summer here.

If we stand this depression much longer we won't be able to stand.

Once a man gets on your toes it doesn't take him long to get on your nerves.

Observation and experience tell us that one can start a little depression all his own by spending dollars he hasn't got.

And when a hundred million people do that very thing year after year our economic ailment is going to become of the confluent variety. In fact it's that way now.

For Congressman Wright Patman's benefit we would suggest that standing pat doesn't necessarily make one right.

A man of ordinary sense, when he finds expense out of proportion to income, applies the ax, but Congress in like emergency applies the tax.

An English physician asks why children mis-behave. For the same reason, we suppose, that adults when in Rome do as Rome does.

The Literary Digest having been the first to discover that the nation is wet will probably have to prove it wasn't to blame.

And in view of the 1932 flood discovered by the Digest should not Uncle Sam call on the Democrats and Republicans for competitive blue-prints and bids for an ark?

Maybe after all the Digest's pot is merely proof that Americans who have always drank wet and voted dry have quit doing the latter.

Barnum said that a sucker is born every minute, and if it wasn't so how could cigarette and tooth paste advertisements pay their way?

Back in 1898 Spain didn't at all like Uncle Sam's way of thinking about Cuba, and Japan has not yet given him any applause on his way of thinking about China.

The budget could be nicely balanced if we should put a moderate tax on campaign promises to reduce taxes.

Depending upon the politicians to bring the country back when it is in trouble is like depending upon the wolf to bring back the lost sheep.

What the purchasing power of a dollar is today depends entirely on the dollar. The tax dollar buys only about six bits' worth, whereas other dollars are worth around $1.65 each, compared with two years ago.

The country has gone to the bad when a man can't borrow, and the man often goes to the bad if he does.

When the rank and file were hitting hard at over-purchasing little did they then know that over-purchasing was going to hit them hard in turn, but Newton warned us, did he not, that every action has an equal and contrary reaction?

The lawyer should be the last to grumble at others engaging in the unauthorized practice of law, because if the citizen who chooses to risk his legal affairs with the incompetent practitioner thinks he needs no lawyer, he is pretty sure afterwards to find himself in need of several of them.

And the person who has a book telling him what to do before the doctor arrives, and actually does it, will likely have need of a real doctor for sometime to undo it.

If one, a million years from now, should return to this world and visit the United States we think he would readily recognize the old homeland by the abundance of pussyfooters in it.

The editor of the Dallas News seems recently to have a profound aversion to lawyers. We wonder what that distinguished gentleman has been doing recently that his lawyer could not get him out of?

If your memory is failing maybe it has been taxed to death.

An ancient writer warned us that things are not what they seem. How we wish that would hold good for this depression!

If things exist only in one's mind and not in reality, then when this depression hit us our mind must have been in our pocketbook.

A writer says new spirit is needed, but the Literary Digest poll says the people say the same thing in the plural number.

What is worrying us just now is that it looks like winter is going to outlast our winter weights.

A certain local citizen says he had a dream the other night he had purchased a baby bond and when he awoke he was walking the floor in his sleep with junior in his arms.

A report says that Corsicana had an earthquake the other day, hence is a fair inference that the folks over there are now wide awake.

That was a pretty gesture Uncle Sam made in shipping a fine Mellon to England, and on April Fool's Day, too.

Asked one, 'What would you think of a youth who fired several shots at a fleeing burglar?' Replied the other, 'He should proceice up on his shootin a'fore the' next 'un comes around.'

LINDBERGH "DOUBLECROSSED"

The press last Sunday carried the story that Colonel Lindbergh after paying the kidnapers of his child $50,000.00 for the baby's return did not get Charles, Jr., back. He was "doublecrossed."

Someone once upon a time remarked that every thief is also a liar, for the reason that anyone who is low down enough to commit theft will lie to cover up his crime. And, of course, anyone who was low down enough to kidnap a baby for ransom would likely be sufficiently devoid of principle, common honesty and fair dealing to doublecross the parents of his victim, as the kidnapers in this case seem to have done.

We think several factors have contributed to the delay in recovering the child. The prominence of the parents is one; the enormous publicity given the case and of every movement of the father, his agents, and the police, is another. The inability on the part of the kidnapers to return the child and get the money without almost certain detection has been another big factor. Probably it is still a dominating factor. The kidnapers naturally do not desire to be caught; they will go to any lengths to avoid it. Looking at it solely from the standpoint of Mr. and Mrs. Lindbergh, and if we were placed as they are, we would strive to eliminate all efforts to detect and capture the kidnapers until we had the child safely in our arms.

Of course, before this reaches the reader, the baby may be safely restored to its distracted parents. We most earnestly hope so. But back of it all lurks that awful possibility that when the kidnapers accepted the money they had no child to deliver. It is a direful and depressing thought, and an awful possibility, that the kidnapers, hard pressed, long ago made away with the child—maybe tossed him into the ocean—kept the fact secret, reported the child safe, in order to get the money. It was money they wanted, and the safety, welfare or even the life of the child, and humane considerations for its parents, would not likely stand in the way of their all consuming determinations to get money.

THE AUTOMOBILE TAKES ITS TOLL

Peace hath her tragedies no less tragic than those of war. Among the prolific causes of these peacetime tragedies is the automobile. Dallas during the first 100 days of 1932 has piled up a record of seventeen deaths due to automobile accidents. Every other city and section of the country has a gruesome and regrettable record, varying perhaps only in degree from that made by Dallas. A few days ago two boys were killed in an automobile accident up near Abernathy, in this county.

Investigation of most automobile accidents discloses that they were avoidable. That is undoubtedly true of all sorts of accidents. But the obvious fact remains that recklessness and irresponsibility ride rampant and with little or no restraint up and down our highways. We shudder at the ghastly toll taken in human life and limb by the automobile, steered by the reckless, inefficient, don't-care, irresponsible driver, but when we stop to consider that anybody and everybody are permitted to take the steering wheel of a powerful and sensitive engine capable of developing almost instantly from 30 to 100 horse power, and go helter-skelter through our streets and up and down the public highways, our wonder is not that the casualty list is so great but that it is not even greater.

Your own carefulness will, of course, help materially to reduce accidents, but no matter how careful you may be, you cannot control the other fellow. As it is, the instant you climb into an automobile and go upon the highway, you are taking your life in your hands.

Man's ingenuity has never been able thus far to make anything fool-proof. The automobile and the fall make a poor combination—an exceedingly dangerous combination.

Fools and incompetents should not be entrusted with the exercise or control of any sort of power, nevertheless little or no restraint is placed upon entrusting the operation and control of so powerful an instrument as the automobile into the hands of fools and incompetents. Drastic regulation and control is coming, and must come. Some states have already recognized the necessity, and have acted accordingly. The time is coming, and should be here a long time ago, when no person will be permitted to operate an automobile on a public highway until he has procured a license and successfully passed physical and psychological tests to establish his ability to handle an automobile and know what to do in emergencies.

Then, too, the time is coming when no automobile or truck whatsoever can be operated upon a public highway until the owner and driver have posted adequate bonds to pay for the damage they do or suffer to be done by reason of the careless and negligent operation of the car. Most reckless and don't-care car drivers are not only mentally and morally irresponsible, but financially irresponsible as well, and when they cause damage the victim has no remedy at all. That is not as it should be. This is an automobile age; we already know the dangers; when shall we be wise enough to provide protection and afford adequate redress for wrongs inflicted and damage done?

Marian Nixon 3-Time Star

Plays Opposite Farrell In "After Tomorrow," Fox Drama

To accomplish film fame once is a herculean task; to rise to the heights twice is phenomenal and to enter the portals of stardom three times, well—in the knowledge of this scribe the only actress to accomplish that feat is the diminutive, brown-haired, brown-eyed favorite, Marian Nixon, who plays the leading feminine role, opposite Charles Farrell, in Frank Borzage's Fox production, "After Tomorrow," which playing Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Palace Theatre.

Mrs. Nixon played her first role, a 'bit part,' with Mary Pickford, in the silent picture, "Rosita," but her real debut was made opposite Dustin Farnum in "Kentucky Days." Her performance was so realistic and vivid that Tom Mix prevailed upon the Fox Film Corporation to sign her as his leading lady.

With the advent of talking pictures, Miss Nixon, like many other silent stars, retired from the screen, and after spending several months training her voice to meet the talking screen requirements she returned and repeated her silent success in "General Crack," "Show Of Shows" and "Young Nowheres."

But at that time she met a young man named Edward Hillman, who led her to the altar and back to retirement. But the lure of the screen was too strong for the young actress to resist, and when her old producing company, Fox Film Corporation, offered her a prominent role in "Charlie Chan's Chance" she grabbed it and her present role too when it was offered to her upon the completion of the Chinese detective film. She has since signed to make three more pictures for that company.

"After Tomorrow," is based upon the Broadway stage success of John Golden and Hugh Stange. It was adapted for the screen by Sonya Levien, and tells the heart touching

EXPLANATION - PUBLIC SPEAKING

It is claimed the statement in my "taxation" article saying eight precinct employees drew $21,000 1930 and $22,000 in 1931 is erroneous, as there were more than eight that drew it.

If so, I was innocently led into the error by the plain words of the auditor's reports which showed that the 'Engineer' and the 'Graderman' of each of the four precincts drew amounts totalling $21,132 for 1930 and $22,842 for 1931, and I am glad to make the correction.

However the number was not material to the main purpose of the discussion which was to show that in spite of our decreased ability to pay, our unavoidable taxes for interests and sinking funds will jump from $20,000 to over $105,000 on account of debts made since 1930, and yet our officials are not meeting this crisis with real economy in reduction of running expenses, but rather the reverse.

To make every thing plainer than I can afford in paid adds I wish to speak orally to the people and will arrange for it at the City Hall or band stand next Saturday night. There will also be music and singing for entertainment by the Gentry Musicians.

Any opponent wishing to take the negative of my propositions may have the chance.

Every body, especially all voters please come.

W. P. Florence.

The contest was conducted on a national scale, with a winner selected each week according to the merit of his cigar-band essay, and he was given a optional choice of the three cars, delivered to him fully equipped.

Chevrolet scored 57 per cent of the total, Plymouth 37 per cent and Ford 6 per cent.

Lost 20 Lbs. of Fat In Just 4 Weeks

Mrs. Mae West of St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I'm only 28 yrs. old and weighed 170 lbs. until taking one box of your Kruschen Salts just 4 weeks ago. I now weigh 150 lbs. I also have more energy and furthermore I've never had a hungry moment."

Fat folks should take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast—it's the SAFE, harmless way to reduce as tens of thousands of men and women know.

For your health's sake ask for and get Kruschen at any drug store—the cost for a bottle that lasts 4 weeks is but a trifle and if after the first bottle you are not joyfully satisfied with results—money back.

KEEPING THE RECORD STRAIGHT

We, the undersigned, members of the Board of City Development of Slaton, desire hereby officially to correct an erroneous report that has come to us.

We understand that the statement has been made and circulated in Slaton, from what source we do not know, to the effect that the city governing body is required to pay to the Board of City Development two mills on the assessed valuation of taxable property in Slaton whether or not the tax is collected.

This is not true. The people of Slaton, when they adopted their present Charter, put therein Section No. 27, creating the B. C. D. It is provided in that section that "the City Commission shall appropriate annually from the General Fund of said city two mills on each one dollar of the assessed value of all taxable property in the city of Slaton, said fund to be used for the support of the work of the Board and to be handled and expended as such Board may see fit."

The appropriation provided for means no more than the right of the B. C. D., as ordered and directed by the people themselves, to receive two mills on the dollar out of 15 mills on the dollar levied and assessed by the City Commission. In the event a tax is not paid, the city of course does not receive 13 mills portion and the Board does not receive its two mills portion, but when the tax is actually collected, the Board is entitled to two mills on the dollar collected and the city is entitled to 13 mills. It is not true that the Commission is required to turn over to the Board its two mills whether or not the tax is paid; it has never done so, the Board has never asked it to do so, and neither has ever put any such interpretation on the Charter provision above quoted.

The further fact is that when the depression came, the Board resolved, as proper and wise business policy, to retrench all it possibly could, consistent with keeping the Board and our town alive. We have cut expenses to the very minimum, and have left the difference in the City Treasury for use by the city. The fact is that during the past year, and thus far in 1932, the City has paid the Board less than one mill, but all that the Board has asked for. We have striven on this small sum to achieve a maximum of benefits, and the accomplishments of the Board, both before and during the depression, will speak for themselves. It is only fair that the people of Slaton should know the truth of this matter and get it from an official source.

EAST WARD NOTES

Spring is here and everyone realizes that school is nearly out. Oh, how hard it is to sit still and study! But study we must because we want to go on to that next grade. Of course we like the one we are in but we can't be left behind.

The choral club girls are planning to go to Amarillo to sing in the Tri-State Music Festival. They will sing Saturday, April 16, at 1:30 O'clock. The girls won at Lubbock and are working hard to win at Amarillo. They have been invited to broadcast from the station at Amarillo on Sunday but will not be able to stay over for it. We wish the girls the best of luck and hope they bring home another banner.

JUNIOR HIGH NOTES

Six weeks tests are over and we are now on the last mile of the race. The teachers and most of the pupils are putting forth extra effort to make this last six weeks the best of the year.

Parents, if your boy or girl is falling down in some subject, as you will see by the report card, now is the time to get concerned, rather than the end of the school year. A little extra "backing" at home works wonders sometimes.
