Primary Runoff Election Slated

Slaton voters in the Democratic primary runoff election this weekend will ballot at the American Legion Hall, instead of the clubhouse, it was reported this week. All other precincts in the area are expected to be voting at the same places as in the first primary. Main interest locally, as well as statewide, centers on the race for the Democratic nom-

Wind, Rain Again Hit Slaton Area

Wind and rain returned to the Slaton area Saturday during a period of storms throughout the South Plains region. Only .50 of an inch of rain was listed, but winds were strong and caused some minor damage, including toppling a fence at a trailer park here.

The .50 of an inch of rain brought the year's total to 7.75 inches. Highest temperatures recorded by Pioneer Natural Gas. Co. in Slaton during the last week were 94 on Thursday and Friday, with Wednesday morning's 54 the lowest of the ination for governor, with Mrs. Frances Farenthold and Dolph Briscoe in the runoff. Also getting much attention is the race between Bill Hobby and Wayne Connally for the lieutenant governor nomination, and the contest between Ralph Yarborough and Barefoot Sanders for the Democratic nomination for U.S. Senator, with the winner to face Sen. John Tower, incumbent Republican, in the general election in November.

In the first Democratic primary, Slaton voters went for Briscoe, totaling 454 votes for him to 307 for Mrs. Farenthold. However, Precinct 38, Stephen F. Austin School, went to Mrs. Farenthold that time. In the U.S. Senate race, Sla-ton's three boxes gave Yarborough 654 votes to 402 for Sanders.

Republicans also will be casting ballots in a runoff Saturday, with Albert C. Fay of Houston seeking the gubernatorial nomination in a contest with Henry C. Grover, also of Houston. Grover led the statewide ballot in the first primary.

Republicans will vote at West Ward School, west door.

at 7:30 p.m. today at Slaton Junior High School Auditorium. Herbert M. Kurtz, assistant area director for the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA), will preside at the meeting and answer questions from those attending. The meeting is arranged by the Educational Committee of Slaton Chamber of Commerce, J. C. McClesky, chairman, Kurtz, who lives in Lubbock, attended schools at Winters and received a bachelor of science degree in agricultural engineering at Texas A&M. He joined the U. S. Department of Labor in August, 1971, as safe-ty engineer with OSHA.

Prior to joining the Labor Department, Kurtz was with the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers headquarters in Fort Worth as hydraulic engineer. He attended biological and chemical warfare school in Fort McClellan, Ala.; fallout monitoring school at A&M, worked for the Soil Conservation Service at Stephenville; has worked in oil fields and on construction jobs.

Slaton businessmen who already have come into contact with the new safety regulations view the coming step-up in enforcement of the rules with apprehension, noting that costs of complying with many of them are prohibitive to small business operators.

One local operator of a firm which uses mechanical equipment estimated that it would cost him $11,000 to comply with the regulations in his business. Chamber of Commerce officials here urged that all businessmen and farmers attend the meeting tonight, if possible, because of the effect that the new safety rules will have on all operations.

Did you ever wonder WHO they measure to get pattern sizes? If you sew, I bet you have come up against some problems at one time or another. The new sizes are supposed to make it easier to find your size, but you have to try six different sizes to get the right one! Then I end up by putting parts of three patterns together to get the right sizes in the right places. I made a pair of slacks by the size I'm SUPPOSED to take, and ended up with flair legs with the flair starting right above the ankle. I made a blouse using the correct bust size, and had a fourteen inch hem with shoulder seams about halfway between the shoulder and elbow.

If you sew with the same size pattern that you buy in ready-made, it looks like the whole family will fit inside. if you get a size smaller, it might fit your eight-year-old

"The Creator made them from the beginning male and female. . . For this reason a man shall leave his father and mother, and be made one with his wife. (Matthew 19:4-5, NEB) There are some films which reach the heart. One that I saw protrayed a young minister doing an unusual thing. He called on all married couples present at church one morning to stand and hold hands. Some obeyed instantly. Others seemed Then he asked them to repeat after him the age-old marriage yows. . . "for better, for worse, for richer for poorer, in sickness and health. . ." Again they hesitated; but, with urging from the preacher, they repeated the beautiful, solemn words -vows that have carried thousands of couple through all the trials of married life, until death claimed one or the other. His sermon which followed was along the lines of the necessity of love, pity, sympathy, and gratitude.

We should begin every day with the realization that we need to recognize our blessings, to thank God for them, and to show our gratitude in a practical way. Only then can we really claim to be a Christian parent or family.

PRAYER: Eternal Father, we are grateful for our loved ones, and for what we call the common blessings of life. Help us to be thankful by showing more kindness to all around us. A men. THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Now is the time to express love.

SUNDAY'S A SERMON

Everyone today hears the slo-gan "Law and Order!" Everyone is in favor of stopping crime. Pol-iticans have latched onto the public's concern for safe city streets and country lanes. But where do we begin? How do we stop the weekly increases in our crime rate?
We should begin by examining ourselves. Are we helping to make the climate ripe for crime

Crime has always existed in every society. It florishes in societies where there is a break-down in individual honesty and integrity. When citizens do not care about their own personal honesty, they make it easy for crime to spread.

a weekly message relating the world of today to the lessons of Faith and Church . . .

For here we have no continuing city, but we seek one to come. -Hebrews, XIII, 14

Main Street, U.S.A., wherever it is, in your town or mine, is the center of daily community life. The home town, the house we live in, the "main drag," where memories are made in the days of our youth. As we grow older, we become more aware of the fact that the face of the community, and its citizens, changes gradually with the passage of time. With advancing years, we know that change is certain and we observe with increasing interest. If we are lucky, we realize that the most permanent thing in life is faith - and within faith is the promise of the continuing city.

Power Mower Maintenance

For The Guy Who Doesn't Know Or Want To

If you're the kind of guy who takes his power mower to a servicing dealer to have the height adjustment levers moved from 11/2" to 2", then you're beyond hope.

If you're one step above that, this article is for you. If you're an ex-GI you're in even better shape. First, just apply the first rule of "police call". For those that don't know what "police call" is, it is cleaning up any given ground area by hand. Translated into mower maintenance, do the same with the area you're about to mow. You'd be surprised at how many damaged rotary blades, broken crankshafts and jammed reels this can eliminate. The result? Less costly maintenance.

The second rule of "police call" is "if it moves, pick it up". If you can't pick it up paint it. In mower maintenance, this translates into

That's right. Get yourself a can of household oil and starting at the mower control levers, give a squirt to every metal part that moves against every other metal part. This includes every screw, nut and bolt on the mower . every place where the control wires attach to the engine . . where the grass bag hooks onto the mower deck . . where the wheels rotate on the axle and where the axle attaches to the

Get a cloth and wipe off ail excess oil because that excess catches dirt and grass clippings. It's the oil you can't see after you put it on that's working for you. And that oil will keep those parts operating smoothly against each other and lessen the chance of serbus troubles occurring be-use of jamming. Lubricating te screws, nuts and bolts pro-tets them against rusting and janning, when and if they hae to be removed or tightend. They're certain to lower the ab at your servicing dealer becase of the time he saves ismantling the mower, when and if it is called for.

If bu know how to use a screwiriver, you'll be wise to start very season by tighten-ing every screw on the mower you car reach. With a wrench do the ame to bolts and nuts.

This will keep your mower in line and limit the stress on it. It will also eliminate excessive vibration from loose parts. Vibration means more than noise. It means screw and bolt-holes are being widened by bouncing against the loose screws and bolts. This can lead to serious trouble and major service charges. The engine maintenance should be left to a qualified servicing dealer. In fact, a good idea is to have your mower looked over by a servicing dealer either just before or just after the end of the mowing season.

You can end carburetor ad-justments by such advances

as the AutoMagic (TM) carburetor which is preadjusted at the Tecumseh Engine adjusted again. It's programmed forever for fast sure first pull starts. In short, with nothing to adjust, it's an unhandy man's dream.

Tecumseh engines also have KLEENAIRE (TM) filters which have a snorkel intake that rises above dust and grass clippings to take in clean cen-trifugally cleaned air from under the blower housing. Here centrifugal action whirls left-over dirt to the outside while the new pre-filtered air passes thru a double-thick oil saturated poly filter element.

deral Government and several businesses g to the aid of consumers who want to ingredients in various cosmetics and toiletse of allergies or sensitive skin.

With rare exception, consumers up until now have had no way of knowing what is in a cosmetic or toiletry before purchasing it. Thus, they have had no way of avoiding ingredients that might cause allergic reactions. Now many companies are taking steps to provide consumers with point-of-purchase information about cosmetic and toiletry ingredients.

The Food and Drug Administration is calling for voluntary registration of cosmetic companies and for the voluntary filing with FDA of product ingredients and formulations needed to evaluate the safety of cosmetics and toiletries.

Under the new plan, if FDA learns that a cosmetic ingredient, such as hexachlorophene, might have possible harmful side effects, it will know from the listings of companies and ingredients which cosmetics contained the suspicious ingredient. While taking appropriate action on the product, FDA also can inform doctors of the possible side effects and how to treat

On the business side of the effort to give consumers more information, there are several actions worth noting:

1. Avon Products Inc. already is providing cosmetic and toiletry ingredient information for its products upon request by consumers with allergy concerns.

2. Companies that are members of the Mass Retailing Institute (which represents 10,000 discount department stores and discount sections within regular stores) and the National Association of Chain Drug Stores are asking their suppliers to provide cosmetic and toiletry ingredient information to consumers.

3. Subsidiaries of Jewel Companies Inc. (Osco Drug, Turn*Style, Jewel Food Stores, Eisner Food Stores, Star Markets, Buttreys and White Hen Pantries) aré requesting ingredient information from their suppliers for in-store reference by con-sumers. In addition, Turn* Style and Osco are recommending that their suppliers of cosmetics and toiletries label each product's ingredients. The two also are planning to provide ingredient information on all of their own brands of cosmetics and toiletries.

4. Giant Food Inc. will soon be listing the amount of each active ingredient on labels of some of its own brand of over-the-counter drugs and health and beauty aids.

I think the actions of FDA, Avon and these retailers are significant. The importance of this action by businesses will be magnified as their direct competitors and other stores across the nation undertake similar programs.

Organic, Natural or Health Food? Most consumers would be hard pressed to say what the differences are between the various specialty foods now on the mark-et. Or, for that matter, how specialty foods differ from regular or conventional foods.

From Mrs. Jean Schmidt, Siren, Wis.: I remember when my father bought his first car - a shiny, black Model T Ford. It was 1917 and Dad had never driven an automobile before in his life. When he was notified that it had arrived at the car dealer's, excitement reigned at our house. Neighbors took him to town by horse and buggy, where he proceeded to learn how to drive the "critter" home. It took him several hours to learn to shift from low to second with his foot, while at the same time con trolling the spark, the gas, and the steering wheel with his

Medicare Premium Rate Will Increase 20 Cents

Medicare will go up from $5.60 to $5.80 a month beginning July 1, according to social security officials here.

The medical insurance part of Medicare belps pay for the doctor bills and a variety of other medical expenses for people 65 and wes. The program is funded by individual premiums matched by the Federal Government.

"The 20-cent increase in the premium in July compares to a 30-cent increase in 1971 and a $1.30 increase in 1970," a social security spokesman said.

"The low increase this year reflects savings in the administration of Medicare as well as lower anticipated medical costs because of the Price Commission guidelines limiting physicians' fee increases to an average 21/2 percent a year," he said.

The Medicare law requires an annual review of the cost of the medical insurance program. The premium zete is adjusted to cover the control medical expenses of Medicare patients during the 12 months beginning July 1.

"The cost of the program was $35 million under estimates made hast year," the spokesman said. "Yet without the Price Commission limit on physicians' fees, it would have been necessary to increase the premium to at least $6 a month."

The medical insurance part of Medicare paid $2 billion in benefits on behalf of 9½ million people in scal 1971. Almost everyone 65 and over is enrolled-about 20 million people, according to the spokesman.

ITEM: United States honey production was down last year. At 206,326,000 lbs., it was 11 percent below the 1970 output. The U.S.D.A. points to a decline in the number of bee colonies, plus a lower yield of honey per colony, as the factors contributing to lower production.

Dad's day comes earlier in June

A quirk in the calendar cuts two days from the time left between now and Father's Day this year, to complete plans for honoring Dad on his special day, the third Sunday in June.

Last year Father's Day fell on Sunday, June 20th. This year, Father's Day falls on June 18th because the third Sunday of the month arrives two days earlier than last year.

Advice to all mothers and sons and daughters and also to all loving sisters, aunts, uncles, cousins and brothers, is to "get on the ball now" with plans to honor your favorite, Dad.

Last year the President of the United States issued a proclamation in response to a joint resolution of Congress, calling upon the nation to observe the occasion with fitting individual and community ceremonies.

This year there is currently pending in Congress a joint resolution seeking to designate the third Sunday of June — in perpetuity — as a National Holiday to honor Dad.

Favorable action is hoped for by the National Father's Day Council prior to June historic sign tional Father — the organizens that for y
