TIMELY SUGGESTION--Someone told Kay Stephens, 220-yard dash champion from Slaton, that she was supposed to run up the clock this weekend. Actually, everyone is supposed to run up the clock--one hour, before going to bed Saturday night--as the switch to daylight savings time is made. Kay, who's hamming it up for this picture, will be doing her running Friday and Saturday at Abilene with the rest of the girls on the district championship team. (SLATONITE PHOTOS AND PASTELUP)

Loyalty Day To Be Observed Here Monday

Paving Program Set For Summer

Resurfacing of some paved streets in the city is scheduled to get underway soon, city commissioners noted Tuesday night, observing that it probably will be June before actual work will be started.

Consulting engineers Parkhill, Smith and Cooper will determine priorities for paving, deciding which streets need it the most, Mayor Bland Tomlinson said. The amount of resurfacing which can be done will be limited by the amount previously budgeted for this work.

City commissioners met and elected OHS Neill as mayor pro tem, to substitute for the mayor whenever he is not available, Commissioner Eugene Mask was absent.

The group approved purchase of a new radio for one of the police cars. A petition from a resident to locate a mobile home on W. Floyd St. was denied, and the group heard a report on the status of the budget, comparing expenditures to date with amounts budgeted, and with income.

Deleted from the towing resolution was a section requiring a performance bond.

Criminal Justice Planning Committee To Meet In City

More citizen support of law enforcement agencies, and more involvement of citizens in related programs and activities are among the goals of the Criminal Justice Planning Committee which will meet in Slaton Friday.

The committee is an arm of the South Plains Association of Governments and meets monthly, with this month's meeting being hosted by Slaton. Representatives of law enforcement agencies and city and county governments from 15 area counties are expected to attend, according to Slaton Police Chief Glenn Farmer.

The meeting will begin at 11 a.m. Friday in conference room of Slaton Chamber of Commerce.

"We hope that all interested citizens and officials from the SPAG area, and especially the people of Slaton, will attend this meeting," Farmer said. He noted that portions of the meeting would be of special interest to Slaton as it involves a look at some of the future projects and developments which are of concern to the community.

Walter B. Head, former Slaton police chief and now criminal justice coordinator for SPAG, said:

"The Criminal Justice Council believes that the Regional Criminal Justice Plan should benefit the cities and counties within the planning area, bring together resources, gain citizen involvement and support, and assist in establishing priorities.

"In short, the plan should benefit the local citizens."

Those attending the meeting will take a break for lunch, then resume proceedings at the chamber in the afternoon. Any interested citizen is invited to attend any portion of the meeting, Farmer said.

Early-Day Motorists Had To Stop Every Mile, Send Up Rocket automobile and the longest and most serious love affairs ever, despite lover's spats about exhaust pollution, ever - increasing cost of gas, the high toll taken in an life on our highways and, of course, the current auto insurance controversy, there is reason to think that the affair will continue.

Since April has been designated as National Automobile Month, the Insurance Information Institute has decided now is an opportune time to look back and see how it all worked. For, like everything else about the automobile, insurance didn't come easy.

The turn of the century motorists were a hardy breed. Undaunted by risky machinery, bad roads and a fearful public, they pressed on in their intent to motorize the continent.

For a group of farmers in Pennsylvania, the new plague was too much. After trying to rid themselves of the pesky contraptions by shouting and gunfire, they figured the only way to save their livestock from the roaring menace was to draft a set of road laws. And what laws they were.

A motorist driving at night was required by the farmers to stop every mile, send up a rocket, wait ten minutes for the road to clear and then proceed, all the while blowing their horns and shooting off Roman candles. It makes you wonder what the vehicles alone sounded like.

If the unfortunate motorist encountered a horse-drawn wagon during the daylight hours, he had to pull off the road and hide his vehicle in the bushes. And if that didn't work and the horses still shied away, the driver had to disassemble his car and hide the pieces in the bushes. It is reported that the farmers were all too happy to assist reluctant travelers in meeting this last requirement.

As much as the farmers were having troubles, so too were the insurance companies. Since at the time, the word "automobile" was not recognized by any state statutes, the companies weren't sure what insurance forms should be used.

In the case of the first liability policy, issued to Dr. Truman J. Martin of Buffalo, N.Y. in 1898, the Hartford insurer used a "team form" which had been developed just ten years earlier to protect the owner of a horse-drawn conveyance from damages arising out of run-aways, kicking and biting.

The first comprehensive policy for cars was issued in 1904 by a major English insurer. The rates were based on the size of the engine. Policy holders were charged one English pound for every unit of horsepower. At a rough rate of five American dollars per English pound, the cost would rule out all but golf carts today.

1904 was also a landmark year in the area of claims. The first major claim made on an ocean marine policy was paid to the vice president of an insurance company who was driving from Worcester to Boston. He was paid $9500 when his gasoline tank exploded.

Theft, an almost impossible task with early autos, was added to insurance coverage in 1905. By then, there were 78,000 cars on the road. The coverage was available with a $25 deductible or an exclusion for spare tires, tubes, rims and extra equipment.

After World War I, theft began to emerge as a serious problem. With six million vehicles on the road, thefts were averaging a "deplorable" 30 a month. In the fact of such a terrible crime wave, theft policies were updated. In 1970, cars were being stolen at the rate of 76,783 a month.

Auto insurance has become a burgeoning and frustrating business in the 75 years it has existed. Complaints and compliments were given by both drivers and insurers. What changes occur in the next 75 years are anybody's guess, commented the Insurance Information Institute.

Time must be made for . . .

Planning the wedding

Weddings take organization and forethought. The bride-to-be who ignores preliminary lists and timetables may find herself in a panic, searching about for the nearest Justice of the Peace. A sensible schedule, however, can make all her plans go smoothly.

Here are the major points to consider:

■ THE WEDDING BUDGET. The bride and her family must decide how much money to spend on the wedding. With that figure as their guide, they choose the type of wedding and reception they can afford. The ceremony itself may be simple or formal.

Receptions range from a buffet at home to a lavish sit-down dinner at a first class hotel or club.

Church and reception facilities should be reserved as soon as the wedding date has been set. Often, at peak wedding seasons, the date has to be reset to suit their availability.

■ THE WEDDING TRIP. If the couple is planning to visit a very popular spot with limited hotel space, reservations should be made as early as possible.

It's wise to consult a travel agent. His services can be invaluable, and they don't cost the bridegroom a penny.

■ BRIDE'S AND ATTENDANTS' GOWNS. Wedding gowns should be ordered early. They're practically custom-made and can take weeks for delivery. Then there are still several fittings before a gown can be taken home.

Attendants' dresses should be ordered at the same time as the bridal gown. While the bride selects these dresses, the bridesmaids pay for them, so their pocket-books as well as their figures should be kept in mind.

■ THE FIRST HOME. While other plans are in progress, the bride and bridegroom select a house or apartment and begin buying furniture for it.

Many engaged couples discover they haven't the foggiest notion what kind of home they would like. Reconciling tastes and figuring out a budget can take a great deal of time and thought.

A good place to start looking for a place to live is at a local real estate agent's office. He can show the new couple a listing of homes and their prices. He will also usually take a young couple to inspect houses. This is a good way for a new couple to determine the going value of homes.

■ THE GUEST LISTS. This can be a delicate area. Dealing with it involves time and tact. Since the bride's family pays for the reception, they set the number of guests and tell the bridegroom's family how many they may invite. Often a little give-and-take and frank discussion is needed.

Plans should be completed early to avoid pressure and strain.

Invitations to the ceremony seldom cause any friction. As many people can be invited as the church will hold.

It's the reception list that sometimes causes problems.

■ INVITATIONS AND ANNOUNCEMENTS. Order them early and ask for envelopes right away. They must be hand addressed, and this is a laborious job even if the bride can press family and friends into service. Invitations should be mailed three weeks before the wedding. Announcements may be sent shortly after the wedding.

■ BRIDAL GIFT REGISTRY. Many brides file a list of china and silver patterns and most-wanted household effects with the bridal gift consultant at a favorite store. The consultant then can advise the guests and head off duplicate gifts.

As soon as gifts start arriving, the bride should begin writing thank you notes. Often this is the only way that people who have sent gifts can know they have been received.

These notes are a very serious social responsibility and smart brides make time to acknowledge gifts as they arrive. Being too busy to say thank you is inexcusable.

■ FINAL ARRANGEMENTS. As the wedding day draws closer, the following details should be attended to: flowers for wedding and reception; music for the ceremony; formal and candid photography; and transportation to the ceremony and reception.

Bride and bridegroom must go together for a marriage license and arrange for medical tests. At this time, they should also select their personal gifts to their attendants.

One way to remain in calm control of all this activity is to keep a running

School Is Important

By TOMMIE WILKE

In just a few weeks, schools will be turning out for the summer and the kids will be so glad that won't be any more classes and books and teachers for awhile, but most of these kids will be glad when school takes up again in the fall. There are a lot of kids around that are not taking full advantage of the fine education that is being offered to them. The parents don't make them go to school and they think this is just great -- but someday, when they are a little older, they will regret that they didn't get an education. I just read something that I think is very good and I would like to share it with you. "Education is a companion which no misfortune can decrease, no adversity destroy, no enemy alienate, no despotism enslave; at home a friend, abroad an introduction, in solitude a solace, in society an ornament. It chastens vice, guides virtue, and gives grace and government to genius. Education may cost financial sacrifice and mental pain, but in both money and life values it will repay every cost one hundred fold."

Nursing Home News

By Bobbie Hogue

The Ladies Aux. sponsored their monthly bingo; with 26 residents turning out for the fun. Daisy O'Conner was the big winner, receiving the bouquet of flowers. Eight of the ladies from the Aux. were present to help with this event. Mrs. Ollie Vermillion is feeling much better after her fall here at the home a few days ago. Joe Neiland is still in the Mercy Hospital and is doing good, as of this morning. We wish Joe a speedy recovery.

Bro. Randy Collins, from Lubbock will be joining us again in the weekly morning services. This fine young man is from Lubbock, and comes every Monday morning and brings a fine message. Also our residents were happy to have Bro. Klye Glenn, from Hurst Texas to come and bring a message last Thursday. Bro. Glenn was the Evangelist during the Revival at the E.M. Church here. Bro. Prentice led the singing. If you have never heard some of our residents sing, you have missed something. We certainly have some real "song birds" and we are proud that they enjoy taking part in the singing. Our "kraft Nook" is a little bare, due to the fact that we just about sold out. We appreciate ALL who buy from us, as this gives our residents something to do. We have just finished another Indian Book End Set. They are just beautiful! It takes almost 3 weeks to paint and finish them, but it is worth the time. Bobbie Greer took some of the craft items to a meeting in Lubbock the past week end, showing them and giving a talk on "Craft Activities in our Home." We were highly praised for what we are doing in our Home here in Slaton. We set a goal a few months back to have one of the finest Homes on the plains, and this I believe we do have!

Where was Moses when the lights went out? (In Slaton I think.) Everything went well, as of no electricity Sat. night. It sure is good to have electric lights, after using flash lights for forty minutes!

Our thanks go to Mrs. Horde, Mrs. Mildred Lokey, and Mrs. Roy Collins Jr. for sending jewelry to be used in our crafts. We have Wednesday morning and Friday mornings open for any Pastor who would like to fill in with a 15 minute devotional. Please call me here at the home.

A friend called the home and invited us to the South Plains Iris Show which will be May 6 in Lubbock. Due to the dry weather we are having here on the Plains, they are in need of some entries in this show. So if any one has some beautiful Iris they would like to show off, contact these two ladies by calling: 6446 or 3026.

The prospects of a new addition to our building is looking very good. We are always proud to see our little home town grow.

Until next week, I leave this little "thot" for your "little thinker" . . . "Pity the man who has to stay PUFFED UP, --in order for some one to think of him as a "SWELL GUY."

Impossible Dream?

A century-old dream of connecting Italy and Sicily may become reality within a decade. The Italian government is pushing a program to build the world's longest suspension bridge across the Strait of Messina. Expected to take five to eight years to complete, the bridge would be about 9,000 feet long. Plans call for suspending the bridge from four massive towers, each 100 to 650 feet taller than the 1,250-foot Empire State Building.

GALLOPING LAMB--Slaton's Brad Lamb was near the front of the pack on this second lap of the mile run last Friday at Odessa. Lamb finished fourth to qualify for finals Saturday, where he ran 4:42.2, his best time ever, to place fourth in the regional. He's third from the right in this photo. (SLATONITE PHOTO).

SPORTS

Girls Track Team Going To Regional

Coach Gay Benson will take 10 members of the Slaton Tigrettes championship track team to Abilene to compete in regional events Friday and Saturday. Scheduled to make the trip are Scharla Johnston, Jan Davis, Elnora Moore, Patie Melton, Doris Meurer, Loretta Dillon, Mildred Maxwell, Karla Kitten, Kay Stephens and Rosemary Scott.

The regional events will be at Abilene Christian College.

Brad Lamb had the best showing of Slaton athletes at the regional track meet and tennis meet at Odessa last weekend. Lamb ran the best time of his career in the finals Saturday, 4:42.2, to place fourth among all runners in mile. On Friday he ran 4:42.3 to qualify for Saturday's finals.

Slaton's mile relay team ran Friday, but did not qualify for the finals.

In tennis, Slaton senior Terry Wood, district boys singles champion, won his first round match, but lost in the semi-finals after leading his opponent for most of the match. Only the winner in each tennis bracket goes to state.

Wood beat Monte Maple of El Paso Parkland Friday, 6-2, 7-5. On Saturday he lost to K. Newton of Burnet after winning the first set 6-1. Newton came back strong in the second set, holding service and then breaking Wood's serve in the last game to win that set 6-4. In the third and deciding set, Wood took a 3-1 lead and appeared on his way to win, but started committing errors, and lost set and the match 6-3.

Joyce Heinrich of Slaton represented the district in girls singles after the singles champion, Cynthia Akin, was unable to go to regional. Miss Heinrich lost the first set to K. Coan of Rotan 6-4, came back strong to win the second set 6-3, but lost 6-2 in the clincher.

The district boys doubles champions, Ricky Hart and Danny Leonard of Idalou, lost in the first round to Spearman, 6-0, 6-4.

Boys who have not previously played in the league should bring their birth certificates, Holt said. Signup fee is $5 to cover cap and insurance.

Coaches still are needed for one team, he added.

For an attractive and easy platter garnish for a spring ham, drain canned pineapple, peaches or pears, arrange on a baking sheet and heat in the oven while the ham is waiting to be carved. several weeks, the two Tech students in the agricultural department. These students are to do some teaching for the area. The two are Danny Beck, who grew up on the Boys Ranch, and Clay Casey, who had the nomination to State president for area I. At the State Convention he received his degree and was elected State FFA President of Texas. He withdrew from college and began traveling for the FFA. After his reign of President he got married and returned to Clarendon Junior College. He attended West Texas State for one year before coming to Tech. He is now a senior there and will return to Boy's Ranch later in May for a position he has been offered.

Danny Beck grew up on a farm near Vera, Texas. He attended school at Vera and was a member of Knox County 4-H Club. Later the Vera school was dissolved so he had to attend school at Seymour. He then became a member of the Baylor County 4-H. He took vocational ag. all three years it was offered in high school and participated on various judging and leadership teams. He served two years as treasurer in his chapter. In the fall of '68 he entered Texas Tech and has been in several organizations there including FFA. After graduation he hopes to teach vocational agriculture or work with young people through the extension service.

In the ag. department these two students act not only as teachers but as friends. Cooper is happy to have these two students teachers.

AROUND THE FIRE HOUSE

By BOB KERN

After several weeks absence for the column and several more fire calls to answer and report for this period, attention should be directed to a quick lesson in Fire Prevention. To date the number of calls is approaching the year's total for 1971. The majority of the fires were caused by sheer neglect and carelessness. . . a cigarette thrown from a car window, illegal burning of trash and such. Fire reported through April 23 are as follows:

- March 22 - Fisher & Dawson Sts., grass and barn.
- March 25 - 960 S. Collins, house.
- March 27 - Slaton Laundry, boiler heating.
- March 27 - Southland, grass.
- March 27 - 650 S. 17th, car.
- March 28 - 1000 S. 5th, grass.
- March 28 - Fisher & Dawson Sts., grass.
- March 29 - 100 W. Garza, car.
- March 31 - Posey, barn.
- April 3 - 900 W. Powers, grass.
- April 3 - 925 S. 12th, fence.
- April 7 - So. of Town, garage.
- April 7 - Railroad ROW, grass.
- April 10 - 1100 S. 5th, trash.
- April 10 - 650 S. 17th, bath heater.
- April 11 - 700 S. 20th, mattresses.
- April 14 - 200 S. 9th, car.
- April 17 - 8th. & Geneva, car.
- April 21 - 910 S. 13th, St., truck.
- April 23 - 1220 S. 9th, False Alarm.

The list indicates the type of fire calls made by Slaton Fire Department. Our job is to answer these calls, extinguish the blaze, protect exposed property and render aid wherever possible. It is also our job to encourage fire safety in the community. Although the loss to property in most of these fire reports was nominal, some were substantial. Certainly the loss of a life could be a tragic happening, so play it safe with fire.

HEADED FOR STATE---Joe Alspaugh, Ricky Becker and C. V. Siler, first three in line here, are members of the poultry judging team in state competition at Texas A&M Saturday. The FFA meat judging team here includes Ricky Denzer, Clay Mitchell, Glenn Heinrich and Bill Jones.

NO TEST LIKE THE NOSE TEST---Students at Texas Tech University are helping with an odor test, a starting place for a study to help minimize smell historically associated with livestock waste. Among those on an odor judging panel are, left to right: Jerry Smith, of Hart; Wayne Kahlich, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Kahlich of Slaton; and Thomas Gerik of Whitney.

Feedlot Odor Problem Attacked

LUBBOCK -- Some of the nation's largest cities share a historic problem with their country cousins -- the smell of the livestock pens which go hand-in-hand with a steady demand for meat.

Texas Tech University animal scientists, responding to feedlot operators' demands as well as the hopes of the general public, are setting about solving the problem of odors related to commercial livestock production.

Sophisticated test tube studies are a part of the long-range research plan, but the first step is pretty basic, according to Animal Science Prof. Robert C. Albin, one of three directing the study.

"It begins with the nose," he said, explaining that 36 students, three faculty members, and one research associate are contributing their senses of smell to the program. Wayne Kahlich of Slaton is one of the students participating.

Albin pointed out that the problem is old. Historically, as populations become concentrated so did livestock production in order to supply meat, milk and livestock by-products.

"It isn't a case of people not wanting penned livestock," he said. "The feedlots supply the American appetite for a big meat supply and are heavy contributors to the agricultural economy."

"It is time, however, to give up the assumption that offensive odor necessarily is a part of the operation. It can be reduced and perhaps eventually almost eliminated."

Currently in the Texas Tech study 75 swine are separated into five groups, each of which is fed a special diet. Four diets have additives which should reduce the smell emanating from their feedlots.

Manure is collected, cataloged and put in sealed jars, and then students and faculty submit to "sniffing bees," rating each sample as to the degree of its offensiveness.

"There's really no other place to start," Dr. Albin said. "It is the olfactory sense which is disturbed, and so it is this sense which must eventually be satisfied with the solution."

Long range study plans, he said, include studies to determine quantitatively what chemicals in the most successful additives are the critical ones.

Among the 40 participants in the basic study there is great variation in smell reaction.

"Some are much more sensitive to odor than others," Albin said, "but in choosing the most distasteful of the odors there very often is close agreement."

He said that the study already has shown that certain additives do change the odor of the manure. When the research is more advanced, he said, it is hoped that animal scientists will be able to advise feedlot operators which additives would most likely reduce the odors.

Later studies this semester will deal with cattle waste, he said.

Stamp Exhibition Set In Lubbock

Fifteen states from coast to coast, from Florida to Alaska, will be represented in a major, regional stamp exhibit to be held in Lubbock this coming weekend, April 28-30.

Soplex-Hiplex '72 is one of only 14 stamp shows in the United States to be accredited by the American Philatelic Society. The Grand Award Winner of this exhibit will be eligible to enter the "Champion of Champions" competition in New Haven, Conn. this fall. There will be a U.S. post office at the exhibit and also a post office from the United Nations in operation.

The show is sponsored by the South Plains Stamp Club of Lubbock and the High Plains Regional Philatelic Association. It will be at the National Guard Armory, 2901 4th St. There is no admission charge.

Show hours are 5 p.m. to 10 p.m. Friday, 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. Saturday and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday.

CONSUMERS' CORNER

Auto excise tax refunds

Last December 10, Congress responded to a request by President Nixon and repealed the 7 percent automobile excise tax (10 percent on pickup and van-type trucks), thereby saving consumers about $200 on new car purchases. Congress made the tax repeal retroactive to the beginning of the President's wage and price freeze on August 15. Therefore, anyone who bought a new car between August 15 and December 11, 1971, paid the excise tax and is eligible for a refund. Anyone buying a new car after December 11 has not had to pay the excise tax.

"You can be sure," said Albin, "the feedlot operators who are in contact with the odor no matter which way the windblows are as eager as anyone to solve this problem."

Working with Albin in directing the study are Animal Science Profs. A. Max Lennon and Leland F. Tribble. Their research associate is a bacteriologist, Mrs. Lucy Porter.

Students involved are from an interdisciplinary class involving most departments in the College of Agricultural Sciences and the Department of Food and Nutrition in the College of Home Economics.

"You are like salt for all mankind." -- Matthew 5:13

Salt functions in a unique way. When it is applied to another substance, it literally enters into the new substance and loses itself. The salt, when added to food, brings out the true flavor.

When we as followers of Christ are like salt for the earth, we then function as salt does. We relate to others in such a way that we literally lose ourselves in the process of helping them become their real selves.

Though the lesson is simple, it is difficult to put into practice -- to bring it off for someone for whom I feel some responsibility. Think of serving as salt for the people who have chosen you as their leader in your community, your profession, your business, your church.

The only way I know to overcome my self-pride so that I can serve as salt is to seek completeness in Christ.

PRAYER: Thank You, Father, for the great truths You have given us. Help us to understand them and to live accordingly. We need Your help in a special way when we begin to think we know all the answers for others. Help us be like salt. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

To be like salt for my brother, I have to play a supporting part in his process of being himself.

Day unto day uttereth speech, and night unto night showeth knowledge.

—Psalms XIX, 1

Living is a process of learning. As children, learning is a matter of training and experience. We accumulate little lessons of life from simple games. We learn early to compete, to challenge, to contest. Sometimes the emphasis too much is upon winning. If we are fortunate, the knowledge that comes with maturity leads us to the truth that winning is important, but no more so than the manner in which we play the game.

School Board Elects Officers

In an organizational meeting April 11, the Wilson School Board met and canvassed the ballots from the April 1 school board election, and Roy L. Kahllich and Alvin E. Kitten signed the oath of office for the new three year terms.

The board re-elected Roy L. Kahllich as president of the board, James Savell was elected vice president, and Loyd R. McCormick, Jr. was elected secretary.

The board met in regular session April 18. Items of business included approval of the following programs for the '72-'73 school year:

Media services and contracted services with the Education Service Center, U.S.D.A. commodities for the lunchroom, and student accident insurance with Southwestern States General Agency of Dallas. In other action the board approved the purchase of a new 48 passenger bus and heard financial reports from all funds. Approval was also given to purchase a new pickup for the Vocational Agriculture Department and to accept a bid from Lydick Roofing to repair skylights on the Homemaking building. The cost of replacing the gym floor was discussed. Several contractors have been asked to bid on replacing the floor.

Members present for this meeting were Roy L. Kahllich, James L. Savell, Loyd R. McCormick, Jr., Tommy Bednarz, Curtis Wilke, Billy Weaver, Alvin E. Kitten, and Superintendent Glen H. Mitchell.

Family SHOPPING BAG

ITEM: The male supermarket shopper, though in the minority, more often than not is the primary shopper for his household, according to a recent survey. On the average, he is a 43 year old high school graduate with a family income of $11,285 per year, and he spends an average $10.46 on each of 2.3 shopping trips a week for his family of 3.2 persons.

Sports Banquet Set Friday Night Wilson Band Wins Two Firsts

The All-Sports banquet for Wilson High School is set for Friday night at 7 p.m. in the new Elementary gymnasium. Head football coach, Jim Carlen of Texas Tech, will be the speaker for the evening. Jerry Coleman, of KLLL Radio will preside as master of ceremonies.

Tickets for the event, to be catered by Underwood's Cafeteria, may be purchased in advance from any boy or girl athlete for $2.50. Tickets will not be available at the door.

Wilson High School's band was awarded special plaudits Wednesday after receiving two ratings of one in the South Zone Region 16 Band Contest for Class B high school bands at Seagraves.

Sweepstakes awards were withheld from the school because of slightly lower rating in marching.

Other schools receiving ratings at the contest at Seagraves High School were Ropesville, concert rating of 2 and sight reading rating of 2; Sundown High School, concert rating of 3 and sight reading rating of 2; and Loop High School, concert rating of 3 and sight reading rating of 4.

Director of the contest was Bill Woods, band director and Seagraves High School.

Judges were Ralph Zamarrilla of Van Horn, Johnny Whitacre of Wink, James Wickersham of Wichita Falls and Bob Lane of Hobbs.

Executive secretary for the region is R. C. "Chief" Davidson of Plainview.

ITEM: Beef skirt steaks are made from the "skirt" which is the inner diaphragm muscle of the beef animal. This muscle is rolled up and cut in slices 3/4 to 1 inch thick to form pinwheels 3 to 4 inches in diameter. Steaks are skewered or tied. They are prepared by braising or by broiling.

CLOSE FRIENDS . . . It would seem as if this German shepherd has a lot to worry about. After all, pythons are not usually the types to hold "wrap" sessions with. But there's really no pressure. The dog's owner is director of a West German traveling reptile show and python and dog are very close friends.
