Consolidation Vote Saturday

The issue of whether to consolidate Slaton and Southland school districts or keep them separate, with the Southland district facing a half-million-dollar bond issue if it keeps its present boundaries, will be resolved Saturday.

Voters in each of the two districts must give a simple majority to the consolidation proposal if it is to become fact. In Southland, ballots will be cast at the school, and in Slaton, at the school business office.

Slaton voters are expected to give approval to the proposal, which was initiated in the Southland district by a petition signed by 27 Southland voters. But in the Southland district itself, the outcome remains uncertain, with several factions holding the key to the final result. Opponents of consolidation and those in favor of it both have placed advertisements in this edition of the Slatonite, and their arguments on the issue may be found on pages 4 and 5.

Southland, faced with loss of accreditation unless changes are made, is expected to call

'To Be Ordinary Would Be Great,' Says Local Housewife, Mother

By MARGRET BARTLEY

There are several permanent wheelchair patients in Slaton, some with electric wheelchairs. Mrs. C. J. Moncrief, 31, of 506 W. Lubbock is one. She is secretary of the newly organized "Curb Eliminators" in Lubbock County that is working to make people realize how many places a person confined to a wheelchair CANNOT go.

Mrs. Moncrief, the former Cherry Dodson of Post, recently moved back to Slaton with her husband and son, Jay, 11, after ten years of Navy life. Dr. Glen Payne treated her here when she was 11 years old during the polio epidemic. She was sent to Plainview for treatment and was there in an iron lung-rocking bed for a long time. She suffered three kinds of polio at that time, and her family had little hopes for her recovery. When the disease finally completed the cycle, she was left paralyzed from the waist down.

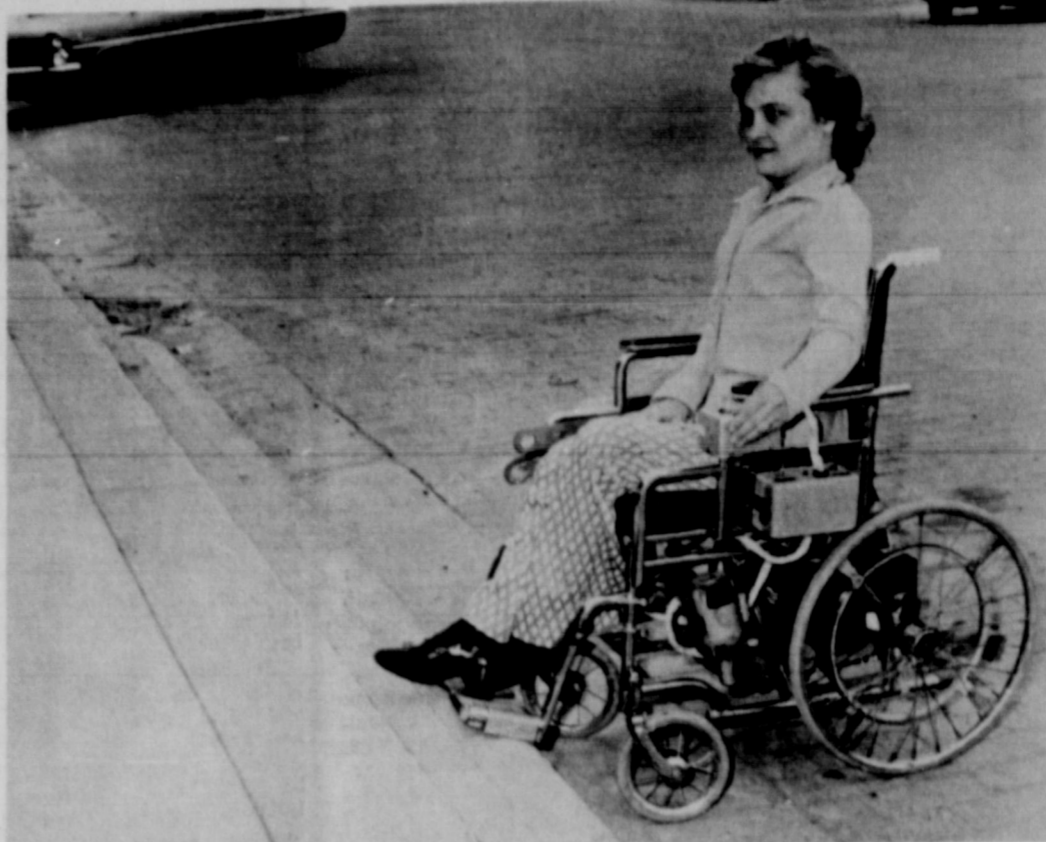

Nothing would make her happier than to never have to see a wheelchair again, but as it is, the wheelchair is her line to contact with the world inside and outside her home. She does her home chores as a housewife and mother of an active son.

She has shopping to do for her family that could not easily be left up to someone else. The Moncriefs found a home near the downtown area, and with the help of her electric wheelchair, Mrs. Moncrief goes about her daily duties. She has found so many obstacles on the way.

Have you ever considered how many places would be inaccessible to you, if you were not able to make a step up, or perhaps, down? Curbs, steps, porches, thresholds, even narrow doorways and isles loom up to stop her progress. And have you tried to push through a PUSH door from a wheelchair. Every store welcomes customers, but somewhere in the building planning, many of them have made it impossible for a customer on wheels to enter their establishment.

In Slaton alone two sides of the business district on the square are completely inaccessible for a wheelchair. There seems to be no area where the wheelchair can come from the street onto the sidewalk area. Some stores may be entered from a slanted driveway up the alley, followed by a small rise to the sidewalk. Some require the climbing of one to five steps up to the store level.

One project that is the club's

Plains Harvest Near 2 Million Bale Total

The South Plains Cotton harvest is approaching the two million bale mark according to W. K. Palmer, in charge of the Lubbock Cotton Classing Office of the USDA.

Samples from 1,947,000 bales had been received at area Cotton Classing Offices through Friday, March 23. Some cotton remains in fields but most of the remaining cotton to be ginned is stored in ricks.

Samples from 30,000 bales were tested and classed at the Lubbock office during the week ending Friday, March 23. This brought the total classed for the season to 1,918,000 bales.

Grades of cotton were about the same as the previous week. Low Middling Light Spotted (52) was the predominant grade, making up 24 percent of all cotton classed. Strict Low Middling Light Spotted (42) made up 16 percent, Strict Low Middling Spotted (43) 10 percent and Low Middling Spotted (53) 15 percent.

Micronaire readings continued low as the harvest neared completion. Only 10 percent of all cotton classed at Lubbock had micronaire readings in the premium range of 3.5 through 4.9.

The Agricultural Marketing Service of the USDA reported active trading on the Lubbock market. Prices were $2.50 to $5.00 per bale higher.

Average prices paid for the most predominant qualities in the 3.5 to 4.9 premium micronaire range were: Strict Low Middling Light Spotted (42) staple 30 - 28.30 cents per pound, Strict Low Middling Light Spotted (42) staple 31 - 28.70, Strict Low Middling Spotted (43) staple 30 - 23.00, Strict Low Middling Spotted (43) staple 31 - 23.30, Low Middling Spotted (53) staple 30 - 20.05 and Low Middling Spotted (53) staple 31 - 20.30.

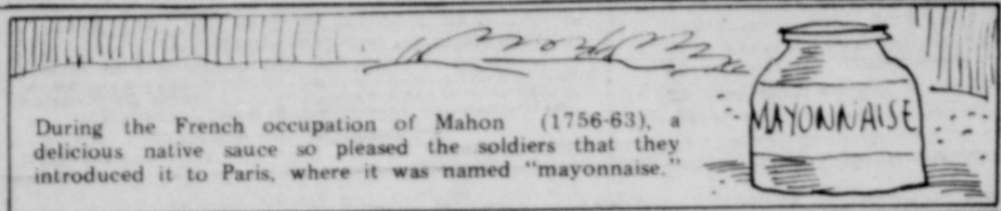

Cottonseed prices were steady and farmers received $45 to $56 per ton for their cottonseed at gins.

AUSTIN -- For all practical purposes, Saturday (March 31) will be the last day to register motor vehicles for 1973, Robert W. Townsley, director of the Motor Vehicle Division of the Texas Highway Department, said today.

Townsley noted that the law set the final registration date as April 1, which this year falls on Sunday when county tax offices are closed.

The 1973 license plates must be displayed on vehicles registered in Texas starting Monday, April 2. So they must be acquired not later than Townsley said many county tax officers had expressed concern that the pace of registration this year has slowed markedly. "It looks as if a great many vehicle owners are putting registration off to the last minute," he said.

Even though the easy, computerized registration system has speeded the registration process in the last few years, if too many owners wait until the last minute, long waits in long lines at county tax offices and substations seem inevitable.

PRaise THE Lord

By LENDA WOOD'S HUSBAND

The usual author of this column always has plenty of words of praise for the Lord; her problem is that she procrastinates. She drives a car until it is out of gas (did so recently, in fact), whips up a delicious meal 10 minutes before it's time to serve it, leaves 10 minutes late to go to most meetings, and writes her column just barely in time to get it into print each week.

But bless her heart, I love her, so when she waited until column-writing time this week to decide to go to a religious program, I told her I'd just write it for her, although I wasn't sure she was serious in suggesting I do so.

Actually her procrastination is a disease she caught from her husband; she wasn't always like that. But now we're both so bad about being punctual, we just pray that when the Lord appears in the air He'll gather up the saints in alphabetical order, so we'll make it.

On the subject of wives, Sister Maria Margarita Jimenez, in recent talks to Slaton Rotary and Lions clubs, told the men present that no matter how many material things they may provide for their wives, the main thing the wives want from their husbands is love. "Go home and tell her that after all these years, she's still your favorite girl, and you love her," she urged.

It is true that we men sometimes take our wives for granted, and that we often fail to appreciate the value of a good wife. I'm reminded of the old story of the elderly couple sitting and rocking in silence at their home until one day she finally, in desperation, asked him if he still loved her. He peered over his newspaper at her, and in mild disgust, grunted, "I reckon."

"Then how come you don't ever tell me you do?" she persisted. "Look," he said. "Back in '21, when we got married, I told you I loved you. If I ever change my mind, I'll let you know."

Some of us are like that. And you husbands may say, "Man, if I go home and tell my wife I love her, right out of the blue, she'll figure for sure I've done something wrong." That's possible, of course. But it's also possible such a statement could bring tears of happiness to her eyes.

Ephesians 5:25 tells us this: "And you husbands, show the same kind of love to your wives as Christ showed to the church when he died for her." That's a staggering challenge to any man trying to live a Christian life, but we can all be assured that we'll have a happier family life if we strive to meet the challenge.

And you wives who read this should know, too, that this need to be wanted, appreciated and loved works both ways. How long since you told your husband what a great guy you think he is? Maybe he is pretty much of a slob in some ways, compared to what you thought he was when you married him, but he still needs encouragement and affection, and you can give him a tremendous spiritual lift by offering a few kind words.

Love is God's most important product. You can only keep it in your heart by giving it away, and who better to give it to than the one you once gladly agreed to spend the rest of your life with? Praise the Lord!

Grants To Improve Law Enforcement

AUSTIN -- Gov. Dolph Briscoe today awarded three grants totaling $101,357 for improving law enforcement and crime prevention in the area served by South Plains Association of Governments, Lubbock. Recipients were Lubbock and Garza counties.

The money will come from the Criminal Justice Council, which administers the state's block grant from the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration under the Omnibus Crime Control Act.

Lubbock County's award, $66,887, goes to the juvenile probation project, funded previously by C.J.C. Funding will enable addition of one administrator and reorganizing the staff into intake, special services and supervision functions.

The project is designed to rehabilitate youth and reduce recidivism by rectifying problems that have caused the youth's delinquent behavior. An attempt is made to separate the emotionally disturbed youth from the willful offender.

The juvenile probation office recently reported 196 juveniles under supervision. Since Feb. 1, 1972, it has disposed of 708 referrals, of whom 201

CAST YOUR VOTE FOR THE YOUNGSTERS!

A vote to consolidate Slaton and Southland school districts is a vote for the students in both districts.

A NEW DISTRICT WOULD PROVIDE A COMPLETE EDUCATION FOR ALL THE STUDENTS -- WITH PROGRAMS WHICH CAN EXPAND WITHOUT TAX INCREASES, BECAUSE OF THE NATURAL INCREASE IN THE DISTRICT'S TAX BASE. A COMBINED DISTRICT OFFERS DEFINITE POSSIBILITIES OF MORE NEW PROGRAMS IN THE FUTURE.

Here are some of the advantages which all the students can have in a consolidated district (and which all may not have available in separate districts):

- Complete educational program, vocational and academic.
- Services such as counseling, nursing, remedial programs, comprehensive education.
- Complete program for boys and girls, including band, music, literary and athletics.
- Students in the Southland district who prefer to go to school in Wilson or Post, but who now may not, should be able to do so. At the present, Slaton schools look favorably upon student transfers to other districts. This policy will remain in effect subject to state regulations and federal court rulings.

Catholic School Week Observed At St. Joseph's School

BY SISTER ANGELITA

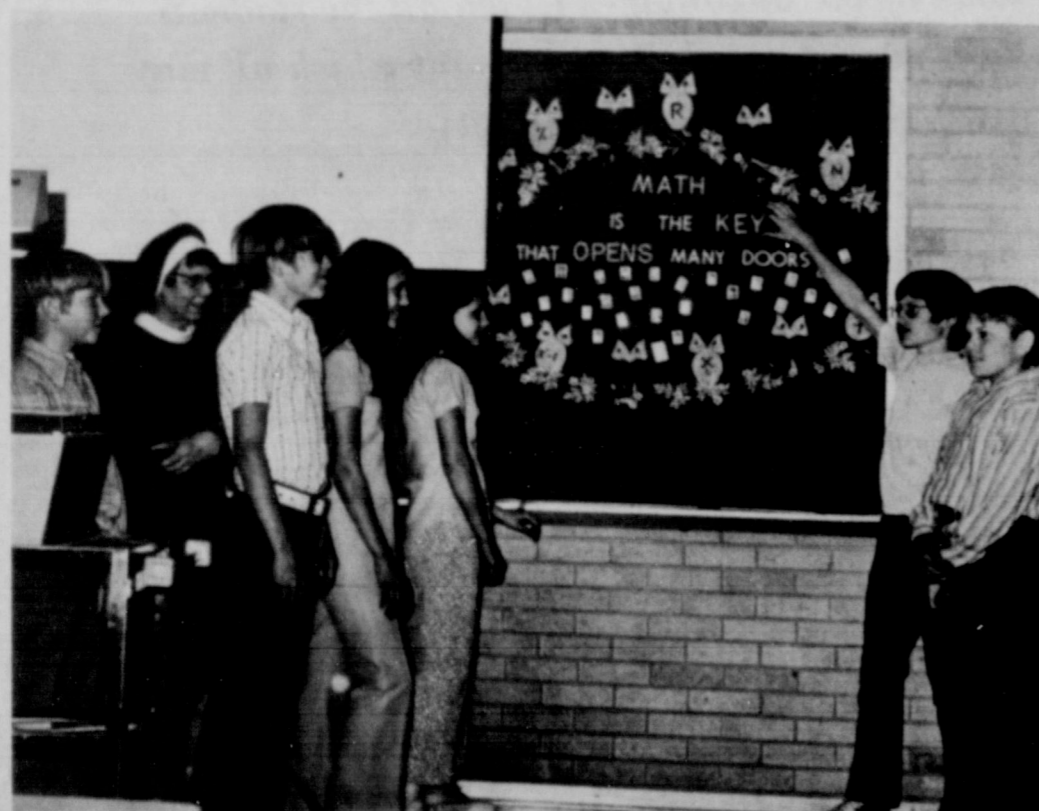

Catholic School Week is being celebrated this week, March 25-31. They are, or can be genuinely unique and irreplaceable. Vatican II's "Declaration in Education" listed as the first distinctive purpose of a Catholic School; "It aims to create for the school community an atmosphere enlivened by the gospel spirit of freedom and love".

CONTROLLED READER -- Mrs. Jim Conkling, language arts teacher, gives some extra help in reading to Marvin Pionka, Donna Wendel, Douglas Heinrich and Leonard Trevino with the aid of the Controlled Reader.

IN THE JAIL HOUSE NOW -- These third grade students, along with the teacher, Anna Nichols, used the "jail house" shown here when their class sponsored a bake sale for St. Patrick's Day. Students include Randall Mosser, Eric Heinrich, Russell Kitten, Edward Pionka, Roxanne Buchanan, Leonard Trevino, Douglas Heinrich, Michelle Schilling, Margie Mosser and Jo Ann Flores.

MATH IS THE KEY -- Sister Martina, fifth and sixth grade math teacher, and some of her sixth grade students, prepared this attractive display for Catholic School Week. Students include Timmy Nesbitt, Wayne Heinrich, Lois Wimmer, Darlene Heinrich, Chris Wimmer and Cliff Heinrich. Sister Martina has been teaching at St. Joseph School for three years.

GREGORY LEIBLING sounds out the word for Kelly Jo Hensler, as Robert Gutierrez and Martha Perales look on. With them is their teacher, Sister Michael, who has taught first grade at St. Joseph School for ten years.

Along with the spirit of freedom and love, the Catholic school is by its very nature primarily committed to creating a "gospel spirit" -- love, freedom, brotherhood in Christ, honesty, generosity, joy, self-sacrifice.

The Catholic School is a radical affirmation that the gospel spirit transcends even the greatest human competence, that moon landings and super-sonic transports and computers are not enough, that education of man is drastically incomplete without attention to the spirit of man.

The students do many exciting things in their classes. Just to mention a few, the seventh grade issues a newspaper about every two weeks; the eighth grade has published a magazine containing their favorite creative poems, themes and compositions; they go to see movies, such as "Fiddler on the Roof"; study reading books, laboratories and controlled readers. The school also provides an athletic program, including girls and boys basketball.

Four Sisters of Mercy teach at the school, including Sister Angelita, principal, Sister Martina, fifth and sixth grade math teacher, Sister Michael, first grade teacher, and Sister Xavier, fourth and fifth grade Spanish teacher.

Lay-teachers include Mrs. Pat Walsh, second grade; Mrs. Jim Conkling, language arts teacher; Anna Nichols, third grade teacher; Mrs. Jerry Boehm, social studies; John Amiststead and Mike Roberts, athletic directors.

St. Joseph's School has a full time cafeteria staff, including Mrs. Dorothy Mitchell manager, Mrs. Delta Meurer and Mrs. Hernandez. They serve a "type A" hot lunch each day to students, and participate in the "free and reduced lunch" program for eligible students. One hundred and thirty students are enrolled in the school this year in the eight grades, an increase of 10 over the last year.

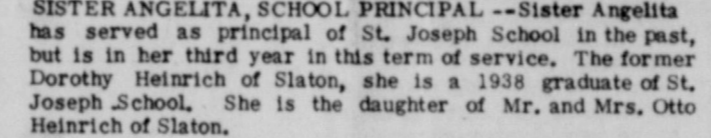

The Home and School Association of parents sending their children to St. Joseph School, support the school in all aspects and activities. Officers in the Home and School Association are Roy Lee Heinrich, president; Joe D. Heinrich, vice president; Mrs. Eugene Sokora, secretary; Mrs. Oscar Heinrich, treasurer; Mrs. Charles Jeter, parliamentarian.

New officers for the coming year will include: Curtis Bruedigam, president; Joe D. Heinrich, vice president; Mrs. Roger Kitten, secretary; Mrs. Oscar Heinrich, treasurer; Mrs. Charles Jeter, parliamentarian.

Members of the school board include Monsignor Peter Morsch, president; Sister Angelita, principal; Roy Lee Heinrich, president of Home and School Assn.; and four elected members, Walter Bednarz, Johnny Melcher, Eugene Sokora, and Ronnie Schilling.

Two new elected members to be in place next year are Milton Pionka and John Ellis, to replace Walter Bednarz and Johnny Melcher, whose terms have expired.

The school has its accreditation from the Texas Education Agency in Austin and is a full-fledged school that completely covers the education of children in the State of Texas.

SISTER ANGELITA, SCHOOL PRINCIPAL -- Sister Angelita has served as principal of St. Joseph School in the past, but is in her third year in this term of service. The former Dorothy Heinrich of Slaton, she is a 1938 graduate of St. Joseph School. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Heinrich of Slaton.

Purpose Of The Catholic School

In a Christian school, the primary goal is to teach spiritual values, gospel values. The whole atmosphere in a school of this kind is different, God is near and is included in projects, classes, and activities. If the school and home stress spiritual values, then the child will have a better chance of learning and adopting them in his or her life. One of the greatest joys

School History Is Given

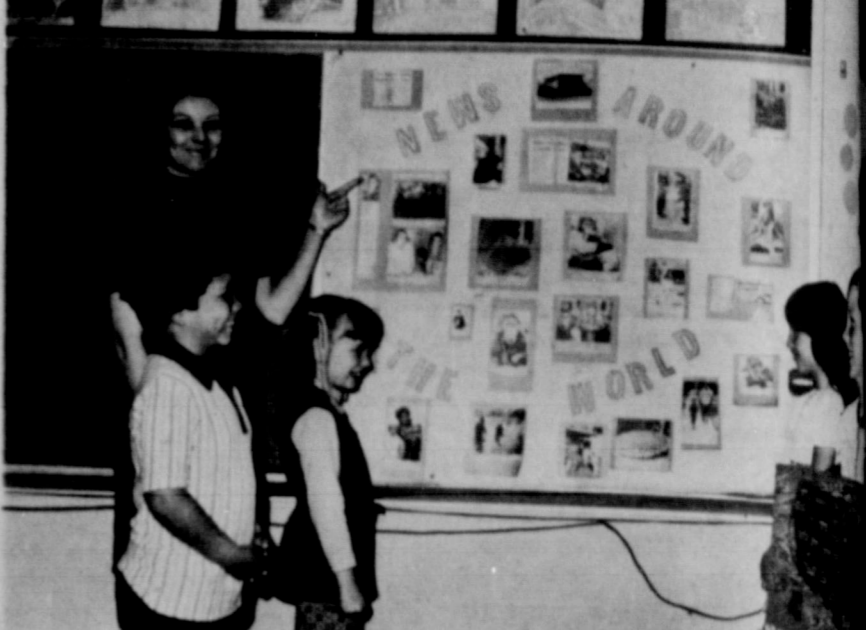

St. Joseph School first opened its doors for Christian education in 1918 staffed by two Sisters of Mercy. They withdrew in 1925 and the parish started constructing a stucco frame building for a school. In 1927, classes resumed, taught by Franciscan Sisters from Indiana. In 1933, they withdrew and the Sisters of Mercy returned. The present brick building was erected in 1956.

"Will David slay Goliath? ... Don't miss next week's exciting episode ... Same time, same place, next Sunday!"

PREPARE FOR CONFIRMATION -- These eighth grade students at St. Joseph's School are preparing for the Sacrament of Confirmation include Robert Pionka, Michael Dana Wendel, Diana Wimmer, Mary Denzer, Vickie Kuback, Russell Bednarz, Deanna Wimmer and Clarice Schwertner. They will receive the Sacrament April 1.

NEWS AROUND THE WORLD -- Mrs. Pat Walsh, shown with second grade students, is pointing to the bulletin board of "News Around the World", one of the room displays for Catholic School Week. Bradley Lewis displays a map of the United States made for their studies.

TIME LINE -- Mrs. Jerry Boehm, Social Studies teacher at St. Joseph's School, shown with students Angeli Flores, Andrew Leibling, Darryl Heinrich, Gail and Jay Moncrief. The students add pictures of events to the "time line" to complete their study of the event. They have used the line all during the school year and can look back and see the sequence of events they have been learning about.

ST. JOSEPH'S GIRLS BASKETBALL TEAM -- Coach John Armitstead, in his first year of coaching at St. Joseph's, is shown with his 6-7- and 8th grade girls basketball team. They include: Diana Wimmer, Phyllis Heinrich, Dana Wendel, Lois Wimmer, Clarice Schwertner, Debbie Bednarz, Dwana Mosser, Linda Lewis, Debbie Bednarz, Mary Denzer, Mary Melcher and Deanna Wimmer.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

Troop 418, with Mrs. Ellis Schmid leader, was assigned the country of Japan when they participated in the Annual Girl Scout Fair held recently at the South Plains Mall in Lubbock. Assistants are Kay Feather and Laura Kimmons.

Irene Diaz and Eva Gonzales were awarded tickets to the Circus by their leader for being the best dressed for the program. They wore long kimonos, still used in Japanese festivals. The booth featured antique objects depicting Japanese folk tales, the Kamakura Buddha, Madam Butterfly and literature about the country. Other groups visiting the booth were given American flags for the performance of the Flag ritual.

Participating were Sabrina Allison, Judy Young, Margo Feather, Eva Quijada, Cheryl Carlton, Laura Kimmons, Gina Kimmons, and Kay Feather. The troop is sponsored by Unit 438 American Legion Auxiliary, Ellis Schmid, Post member, accompanied the troop.

Because most hearing losses appear gradually, the victims frequently are not aware of their problem until it has become acute, according to the Beltone Crusade for Hearing Conservation. This unawareness can even continue until the individual is no longer able to function adequately on-the-job or is encountering serious problems in social situations.

CITIZEN OF MONTH -- Donnie Clary, former Wilson student, was chosen seventh grade Citizen of the Month for February at Brownfield Middle School. Donnie was chosen from a group of approximately 275 students. He is very active in Boy Scouts, church activities, and plays trombone in the junior high band. He is the son of

Legion To Celebrate Birthday

Luther Powers Post of the American Legion will celebrate their 54th birthday Friday evening with a supper in the Post Home, according to Commander Delmar Tucker. The supper will begin at 7 p.m.

Bud Englund, program chairman, has arranged for the "Tempo Aires" to present a program of singing after the supper, and he stresses that no speakers will be planned for the evening.

All members are urged to attend.

THE REASON hearing loss victims often are considered irritable and difficult to get along with is because communicating with a person suffering from an unrelieved hearing impairment can put both parties under a strain, points out the Beltone Crusade for Hearing Conservation.

Breast Cancer Program April 3

The Lubbock-Crosby-Garza County Medical Society President, Doctor James R. Matthews, has announced that a program on Detection on Breast Cancer will be presented at the April 3, 1973 meeting. It will be held in the St. Mary's Hospital Staff Room, 4000 - 24th Street, Lubbock, at 7:15 p.m.

Physicians know that earlier detection could save more lives, that the stage at which breast cancer is detected is crucial to the outcome of treatment. With an estimated 74,000 new cases and 33,000 deaths in 1973, breast cancer is the foremost site of cancer incidence and death in women. Seven out of every 100 women will develop the disease. The percentage of those with localized tumors increased from 38% in the 1940s to 46% in the early 1960s, while survival rates increased slowly but steadily among patients with regional spread. Between 65 and 80% of breast biopsies are benign.

This program with emphasis on Early Detection of Breast Cancer will be led and moderated by J. Harold Cheek, M. D., Attending Surgeon, Baylor University Medical Center and Clinical Associate Professor of Surgery, University of Texas Southwestern Medical School, Dallas, and H. Richard Pascoe, M. D., Associate Pathologist, Baylor University Medical Center, Dallas. Topics included on this program will include: "The Continuing Problem of Carcinoma of the Breast", "Radiologic Techniques in the Diagnosis of Breast Cancer", "Pathologic Considerations in the Early Diagnosis of Breast Cancer" and "Surgical Treatment of Early Breast Cancer".

In an unique format developed by the American Cancer Society, Texas Division, the Traveling Speaker Teams consist of leading physicians from Texas medical schools and hospitals. This is the ninth year that the American Cancer Society has sponsored teams to visit meetings of county medical societies. Subjects discussed by earlier panel members were Oral Cancer, Colon-Rectum Cancer, Female Genital Tract Cancer, Breast Cancer, Skin

Cancer, Lung Cancer, and Gynecology. In addition to the panel discussion, a total of 7,000 physicians will receive continuing education for the session through lectures and meetings. In addition to the panel discussion, a total of 7,000 physicians will receive continuing education for the session through lectures and meetings. COTTON TALKS

Bysynosis, the lung ailment being blamed on "cotton dust" in cotton processing plants, is now one of the more serious threats facing cotton consumption, according to Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock.

Johnson made this statement in an address to the Western Cotton Production Conference held recently in Lubbock. He cited a recent meeting of textile mill owners and managers at which there was general agreement that in the immediate future bysynosis will have a greater impact on consumption of cotton by the American textile industry than any other single factor.

He pointed out that, although based on what the cotton industry considers incomplete and inconclusive evidence, "The Occupational Safety and Health Act has laid down a 'Threshold Limit Value' of one milligram per cubic meter as the maximum cotton dust that can be in the air to which workers are exposed, whether in a textile mill, a gin, mattress factory or a cotton waste processing plant."

Johnson went on to say that "cotton dust" is a nebulous term and that cotton dust per se may or may not have anything to do with bysynosis. It is much more likely, he said, that the disease is caused by some specific substance in cotton dust -- a substance which probably can be removed or deactivated once it has been positively identified and once it is known just what part of cotton trash or cotton dust is the carrier.

Adequate methods for detecting and measuring bysynosis or for distinguishing it from chronic bronchitis, emphysema and other pulmonary disorders have not been developed, nor has the specific chemical compound or compounds that cause bysynosis been positively identified.

"Nevertheless, as of now the Federal Standards apply to all cotton dust," Johnson cautioned, "and complying with the 1 milligram per cubic meter standard for the textile industry and for other plants is at best an economic impracticality and for many will prove to be impossible."

Unfavorable publicity and increasing harassment from public, state and federal agencies already has caused some plants to shift from cotton to other fibers. Others reportedly are considering a change unless the problem is alleviated in the near future, he stated.

"Therefore it is imperative that we -- those of us in the cotton industry itself -- seek and find another solution," Johnson continued. "We especially need more short-term research aimed at solutions that can be applied quickly. And we need research to positively identify the causative agent or agents involved with bysynosis."

A significant amount of solution - seeking activity already is underway. The National Cotton Council is addressing the legislative and regulatory aspects of the problem through a Bysynosis Committee, of which Johnson is a member. Cotton Incorporated, the producer-funded dollar-a-bale program, is allocating $88,000 per year to various bysynosis research projects, one of which involves steaming cotton in the ginning process and is being done at the

New jumbo covered hopper cars are being rushed into service to move record shipments of grain for export as fast as they come from the assembly line. Santa Fe Railway alone is investing $37 million during a 12-month period for 2,000 new jumbos, 1,000 of which are already on hand with the balance due to be delivered beginning in June. This will bring that railroad's fleet of covered hoppers to about 16,000, nearly 12,000 of which will be of the 100-ton jumbo variety. John S. Reed, Santa Fe president, described the latest order as "... further evidence of our commitment to do everything we can to serve the grain industry, fertilizer industry, and others who require covered hoppers."

Let's Go Metric

New liquid measuring cup includes metric units.

Within 10 years it is expected that the United States will be converted to the International Metric System. Authorities agree that the first step toward switching to metric is to start thinking metric.

ITEM: Getting ready for the big move? A good rule of thumb is to wash, scrub, dust, polish or otherwise clean before packing. There is enough to do in a new house without bringing along some of the dust and dirt from a previous address.

One way for the homemaker is with Foley's new liquid measuring cup. It includes the customary cup and ounce measurements up to 2 cups (16 liquid ounces) plus metric measurements to 500 milliliters -- a cook's introduction to the metric system.

There are six basic units in the International Metric system. The unit of length is meter, mass is gram, volume is liter, time is second, electric current is ampere, and temperature is celsius (formerly called centigrade). All other units of measurements are expansions of these six base units. The entire system is based on ten and multiples or submultiples of ten. A milliliter, the measurement used for the new Foley measuring cup, for example, is one thousandths of a liter. A liter is a unit slightly larger than a quart. Five hundred milliliters measure a little more than 2 cups, or a little more than a pint. The new metric measuring cup is made in clear plastic with a convenient long handle and two pouring spouts. It is available with and without a juicer that snugly fits the top.

SLATON FFA NEWS REPORT

The 1973 version of the Lubbock County Stock show was the best so far in the short history of this show. The bidding of premium dollars was about the same as last year, but the quality of animals was greatly increased, creating tough competition in the various classes.

Memo From Mac

By REP. R. B. McALISTER

There is no necessary connection between the excellent prospects for passage of his one-term speaker bill. He talked about this and other things at two different meetings with the West Texas Delegation this week. Said he wanted to give everyone a chance for a fair run on his particular legislation. He also expressed a desire to keep the Texas Tech Medical School moving in high gear along with other educational institutions in West Texas.

STRONG sentiment sweeping the state to get more young people in the mainstream of government. I've introduced a bill that if passed, would require each Board of Regents to have at least one person under 32 on the Board at the time of his appointment. In my opinion, there's no substitute for the brainpower of a young person who's thinking in terms of the year 2000 as well as the 1970's.

WHEN IT HITS the fan House Bill 900 is going to be the most explosive legislation of the year. What it does, among other things, is provide that the County Tax-Assessor-Collector to serve as the Assessor and Collector for ALL taxing authorities. And the real dynamic provision says that the actual true market value of all property shall be used with no assessment ratios. The bill's author, Dan Kubiak, is going to be in for some rough sledding on this legislation. And our Intergovernmental Affairs Committee will get a real workout in considering the dozens of amendments that will come up.

ITEM: The House, as of March 21, has passed 77 bills; the Senate has passed 71, and 11 have been signed into law. THAT'S ALL FOLKS. . . .

Pioneer Weekend Set at Wayland

PLAINVIEW -- The Student Foundation at Wayland Baptist College will sponsor the second annual Pioneer Weekend, an open house for high school students, April 6-8 on the campus. The weekend is jam packed with activities to entertain and inform the high school student about college life. Students need not be interested in Wayland to attend. A small charge is made which includes housing, meals and all activities. Activities get underway with registration of guests on Thursday evening and again on Friday morning. Registration will be held in the foyer of Gates Hall. Students will be housed in college dormitories.

Friday's activities allow students to view all college activities with classes open to all visitors. Campus tours will be held in the afternoon and a general session between visitors and members of the Foundation will provide answers for the visitors.

Highlighting Friday's activities will be "A Beautiful Evening," a variety revue featuring some of the most beautiful and talented people in the state of Texas. Headlining the show will be the reigning Miss Texas, Miss Mae Beth Cormany. The show will have a celebrity mistress of ceremonies, Miss Belind Myrick, Miss Texas of 1971.

Miss Wayland of 1973, Miss Babs Tatum, will also be one of the featured performers of the show along with several other beauties who will compete for the title of Miss Texas this summer in Fort Worth. Saturday will be playday at the school. An Alumni breakfast is slated for 8 a.m. and a golf tournament at Plainview Country Club is scheduled for 8:30.

Organizations and offices on campus get into action on Saturday afternoon with the demolition derby at Plainview Speedway. Students provide the drivers for the cars which have been donated by area businessmen.

A double-feature movie will top off the weekend on Saturday evening.

All proceeds from the weekend go to the Student Foundation Scholarship which is given to two students exhibiting campus leadership.

Further information may be obtained through the Student Foundation Office, Wayland Baptist College, Plainview, Tex., 79072.

Mr. Wood,

In reference to your Woodwork column of March 8, apparently we failed to mention that the stolen chemicals are then bootlegged in bulk containers through "fences" -- the watered cans are sold individually to whomever is looking for "a bargain".

I appreciate the space given to the story. We're trying to keep a good supply of information out on what's going on in Texas agriculture.

The Slatonite occupies a special warm spot for me since it provided "coke and candy" money for me back in the '40's as a high school student casting mats in the back shop. I ruined a lot of good shoes and pants then.

As a native of Slaton, I was 16 years old before I discovered the whole world wasn't flat and the sand didn't blow everywhere.

Thanks again for the story.

Best regards,
R. T. (Bob) Williams
Director of Programs
Texas Dept. of Agriculture

Workers who protect themselves from excessive on-the-job noise levels through the use of ear plugs or protective earmuffs, frequently do not realize they can encounter equally hazardous sound levels within their own homes, warns the Beltone Crusade for Hearing Conservation. Crusade officials point out that kitchen appliances can generate as much sound as a power lawn mower can match the noise output of a printing press.

Organized Crime In Texas

(Editor's note: This is the first in a series of five stories dealing with the rise of organized crime in Texas and the steps being taken to combat it. Education of the public to the dangers of organized criminal activities is one of the prime goals of the Texas Organized Crime Prevention Council. Statistics used in these stories were made available through the Council in conjunction with the Texas Department of Public Safety. This first story deals with a broad view of the problem. Subsequent stories will deal in specific types of criminal activity. Atty. Gen. John Hill and Col. Wilson E. Speir serve as Co-chairmen for the Texas Organized Crime Prevention Council. This series is a part of a public education program developed by the Texas Organized Crime Prevention Council with assistance from the Texas Criminal Justice Council, the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, the Texas Department of Public Safety, the Office of the Attorney General of Texas and local law enforcement agencies.)

Organized crime has become a billion-dollar-a-year business in the State of Texas. Gov. Dolph Briscoe, in his first address to the Legislature, said "... it is correct to say Texas is in the frontier stage of organized crime, but we still have time to react and do something about it." Atty. Gen. John Hill and Col. Wilson E. Speir, Director of the Department of Public Safety, are acutely aware of the problem and both have it high on their priority list.

"We are not about to sit back and let Texans be victimized by mobsters," Hill said recently. Speir commented, "We have all aspects of the problem under close surveillance and already are making many arrests. It may be however, that new laws will be needed to assist us in cracking down hard on certain elements of organized crime."

Hill and Speir are co-chairmen of the Texas Organized Crime Prevention Council which consists of the state's top law enforcement personnel.

The Council has compiled some startling information. Gang killings, used effectively to gain promotion up through the ranks, are still occurring in and around the major metropolitan areas.

The majority of the gangland murders are believed tied to narcotics trafficking and underworld power struggles.

Bookmaking is perhaps the largest money maker for organized crime in the state.

Bookies realized a gross profit of $98 million from both college and professional football games during the 1971 season alone. Bets totaled some $815 million which means about 12 per cent "off the top" went into the pockets of organized crime.

"Bookmaking is the most intricately organized field in all of crime," Col. Speir commented, "and our investigations have just touched the surface but we are making progress."

Prostitution is prevalent in many areas, especially those with sizeable populations.

Available information places the average gross weekly income per prostitute in Texas at $1,400 for those working in the more sophisticated operations.

This is usually split on a 60/40 basis with the "House" or the procurer.

Prostitutes, in many instances, are lured into that "profession" to obtain money to support a costly narcotics habit.

At least 18 separate narcotic smuggling rings are known to be operating in Texas cities. There are several hundred major traffickers who have been located and identified by various law enforcement agencies.

Vigorous prosecution at all levels of law enforcement has been stepped up on drug pushers. Arrests are increasing statewide.

The "take" in Texas on illicit drug traffic is almost impossible to reduce to dollars and cents, partially because of strong indications that in addition to supplying users in the state, the pushers also supply the markets in at least nine other states.

Not only are cars stolen to be stripped of their valuable parts but also resold after changing the true identification. Texas law enforcement officials state flatly that stolen vehicles figure heavily as transportation for crooks involved in armed robbery, kidnapping and other offenses.

The thieves don't limit themselves to automobiles by any means.

Campers, motorcycles, mobile homes, heavy equipment boats and motors -- just about anything and everything on two or four wheels is fair game.

In the theft area, the problem of the "fence" is a major one. Many of them recruit newcomers, especially youths for a car heist, with the thieves thus launched on criminal careers. Narcotics, car theft rings, the "fence" (purchaser of stolen goods), and bookmaking are areas in which law enforcement officials feel stronger laws are needed.

Specifically, they refer to the political hot potato of electronic surveillance.

Federal court ordered electronic surveillance, which includes but is not limited to wire tapping, is legal under the Federal Omnibus Crime Control Act, but the Texas Legislature has yet to authorize it in this state by statute.

"While not in favor of just opening it up entirely, we badly need such a law. But we must see that proper controls such as a court order based on probable cause, proper supervision and discretion are used," said Speir.

"Uses of electronic surveillance must be carefully limited and the penalties for abuse of this power must be high. No bill will ever have my support which does not protect law-abiding citizens from the invasion of their privacy," Gov. Briscoe told the Legislature.

But organized crime in Texas is not limited to gambling, prostitution, narcotics or auto theft. There is evidence the policy rackets have moved into the Gulf Coast area.

"The Numbers" long has been a key part of mob business throughout the United States, but apparently it isn't that big a threat in Texas yet.

Poor people are the major customers for numbers racket operators.

Loan sharking has not found too fertile a field in which to operate in Texas, although there is some evidence it exists.

Organized crime also has quietly moved in legitimate businesses in Texas in recent years.

Symptoms of criminal schemes to take over legitimate business operations surfaced in Texas during 1972. A major Texas newspaper reported one "text book" example in a coastal city.

The owner of a small company was lured into joining a "mob - controlled conglomerate" by fantastic offers of credit, stability and dizzy promises of rapid financial success.

In the end, the firm's assets were raided (transferred and left bankrupt).

Lawsuits pending in Texas courts list charges of "fraudulent advertising of assets resulting in an increase in stock prices," "conspiring to gain control," and "attempting to dissipate the assets of both the company and the holding company."

One federal crime fighter recently noted "more and more racketeers are going into securities transactions."

In recent months several Texas banks were defrauded in an illicit securities scheme that began in San Francisco and had ramifications in New Jersey.

"Cities hit in this scheme included Houston, El Paso and Lubbock," investigators said. One of the oldest tools of organized crime is the application of pressure to coerce potential victims.

Operators within criminal ranks will resort even to murder if the purpose suit their bosses.

Even office holders are not immune from being the object of criminal conspiracies. For example, one office holder found himself the target of an alleged plot which resulted in indictment of three South Texas men at the conclusion of a two-month investigation.

"The conspiracy involved the attempt to hire someone to commit murder," said a court spokesman.

Although it may not sound like it from the above facts, Texas organized crime really isn't rampant at this point.

There's no Murder, Inc. as such, and there are no gang lords with overtones of "God-fathers."

Organized crime is not necessarily synonymous with the Mafia.

"In general," said Speir, "it consists of unlawful activities of the members of a highly organized, disciplined and sophisticated association engaged in supplying illegal goods and services."

The colonel added, "Home-grown criminal organization frequently employ the same tactics used by those in the more classic organized criminal operations."

Hill puts it another way. "We know the problem exists, and all segments of the criminal justice system are working on it. Texans deserve nothing but the best efforts of us all - they have been and will continue to get nothing less to make sure their lives and property are protected."

This series of articles will continue with specifics in each of the major crime fields and will continue to be explored as we explore causes and effects. Citizen support against organized crime is a story deals with

National FHA Week Set April 1-7

The Texas Association of Future Homemakers of America will observe National FHA Week, April 1 through 7. Focusing on the theme "Explore Roles -- Extend Goals," they join half-a-million other members throughout the country in exploring the multiple roles individuals play in family, community and career life.

The results of their efforts are active involvement in home, civic and school projects, growth in individual leadership, team work experience and vocational orientation.

For more than a quarter of a century, the organization through its FHA and HERO-FHA chapters has provided worthwhile experiences which have helped young men and women prepare for the important responsibilities of their future as parents and adult citizens. Paula Julian, President of the Texas FHA State Association explained why there is a national FHA Week. "We observe National FHA Week," she said, "because we are proud of our organization and wish to develop a public consciousness of some of the values we gain from membership."

"During this week we have an opportunity to express our appreciation to our advisors, parents, school, and community for helping the organization move forward. Because the organization is integrated into the home economics classroom work, it makes learning mean something tangible and affords us many opportunities to make a direct contribution to society. It plays an effective role in the educational system by keeping us involved in activities that benefit us not only as individuals but as family and community members. In other words, the organization of Future Homemakers of America serves as a bridge between the classroom, the home and the community and is the key for developing the potential of each individual member for a productive life in our society."

Future Homemakers of America was founded June 11, 1945, as an incorporated, non-profit organization supported by membership dues. Nationwide in membership and effort, it is cosponsored by the U. S. Office of Education through the Division of Vocational and Technical Education and the American Home Economics Association. High School home economics teachers, members of the state home economics education staff and leading home economists serve as advisors to chapter, state, and national youth officers, giving guidance and counseling to the program. National headquarters are located in Washington, D.C.

The annual state meeting of the Texas Association will be May 3-5, 1973 in the Convention Center, San Antonio. More than 5,000 members and advisors are expected to attend.

The theme of the meeting is "Up, Up, and Away with FHA". Programs are planned to help members have a feeling of accomplishment through FHA activities. FHA is an upward looking, forward moving organization.

Highlights of the meeting include talks by Marilyn Van Derbur, former Miss America and popular youth speaker and Bunny Martin, Belton, Yo-Yo champion and humorist with an inspiring message for young people. Frederick McClure, State Future Farmers of America President, San Augustine, has written and will present an original Ceremony of Allegiance. Members recognized for outstanding achievement will be honored at a reception on Friday evening.

Man looketh on the outward appearance, but the Lord looketh on the heart. (I Samuel 16:7)

You cannot judge a book by its cover--if all nod in agreement with such a platitude around and ignore it. I know--I work in a library, percent of the books I process every day are rejected, simply because of the quality of their sign.

We are all guilty of making snap judgments as well as books. Too often our first impression of a human being is a wrong impression, and a great understanding results simply because we fail to see the outward appearance.

How many times have we had to revise our opinion after learning about the stress behind it? Or how many times has our own behavior been revealed only if we would try to understand rather than judge based on a snap judgment, many mistakes avoided; and we would have a better appreciation of the person.

PRAYER: Dear Lord, teach us to show Thy mercy around us. Just as sometimes we are seen in the light, so are others. Help us to rely only upon Thy judgment--to look upon the heart. Amen.
