ALL THREE of the high school nts living at our house recently had to e an English theme of 750 words or more, got interested in the project in spite of elves. We had to take note of what was ng on, because the youngsters were staying until all hours of the night working on their nes. Besides, they kept asking us stions like how many words are there on a how does this sound, how do you spell and did Noah take any dinosaurs on the rying (without much success) to help them ttle. I asked about what guidelines the ther had given so far as subject matter and are concerned. Then, as a gag, I thought just write something and have one of the ents turn it in, just to see what reaction it understand the teacher didn't think it was funny until she learned is wasn't written Lb. v some smart-alec student, but by a rt-alec parent. After that she took it in Lb. 1 humor. I wrote it from what I intended student viewpoint, based on observations ow my own youngsters approach such a and certainly intended no criticism of cher (especially since the rules she set her students are practically the same gave my own students when I was ning English at Wayland).

, all in fun, this is basically what I wrote:

750-1000 WORD THEME: An Analysis of An nent, With Some Suggestions As To How a Student ch the Problem

By Ima Smartie iting any kind of theme is a drag to a student who'd rather be listening to records, watching television or to friends on the telephone. Still, for the most part, n't mind writing a few one-page or two-page things o keep the teacher happy. But when the teacher tells have to write one which totals 750 to 1,000 words, vever, knowing that the reward for not doing what the er says to do is to get to repeat the course next year, of us groan inwardly (some groan outwardly, but this oo wise, since teacher takes note of such things) and with careful planning so that we won't miss any of worite TV shows, wait until 11 p.m. the night before per is due to sit down and figure out (1) what to bout, and (2) what restrictions are placed on the primary consideration is the length of the essay. The um 750 words seems like a lot, especially after you at like a dummy staring at a blank sheet of paper for utes. The task is even more discouraging when you ler that teacher has arbitrarily ruled out counting the

'a', "an', and "the. sounds a little unfair. Somewhere in this world of considerations for minority groups, there must be sociation to demand rights for such little words as to get full recognition as legitimate words in the sh language, with just as many privileges as eakers like "parapsychology." ertheless, teacher's word is law, so we won't count s, an's and the's. Since they don't count, they must thless, we reason, and immediately get to wondering st write the theme without them. To test this choose a sentence at random, first writing it ual way, then without those insignificant little words regards with such disdain:

day keeps the doctor away. y keeps doctor away.

I, that has possibilities ("Me Tarzan, you Jane"), but w it doesn't seem to lend itself to literary greatness. else we didn't like about the assignment was te topic was assigned. Of course, we realize can't be expected to come up with 75 different ts, one for each of her students, but finding a topic is ecially if you're one of those people not much of anything. Teacher implied that the didn't matter much, jsut so long as we write 750 kind of commandments do you suppose Moses ritten if God had told him that it didn't matter wrote about, provided he filled all 10 tablets?

atter what your subject, there are certain things ers like and things they don't like, so the ust keep these in mind while he is writing. First are not to use any current slang expressions, and nunicate without these aids is really weird, teacher likes each thought all wrapped up in package called a paragraph, with one topic which clearly states the main thought of the a, plus 47 other definitely related sentences all directions from the main one, like a dog off its back. And if you get more than one aragraph, or carry some thought over into the h, then you have committed a grevious at teachers like things called similes and we aren't too sure just what these are. A of a smile with an extra "i" in it, and so far thing is concerned, how about this: rushed downtown to meet my mom because ell her something special. But when he saw forgot what he metaphor.

the student has considered all the problems ting such a wordy paper, he may decide to ause by then he may be worn out, with no to do any writing, and besides, it's not rn up all your energy....

Youth Center Plans Move Ahead Here

Plans for a Slaton youth center with skating, ping pong, basketball and other activities moved ahead this week as work progressed on the interior of the building to be used, the agriculture show barn. And sponsors of the Community Recreation Assn., formed to promote the facility, offered a free pair of shoe skates for someone to come up with a good name for the center.

"We need a name for this center usually referred to as the hog barn," said Roger Evans, president of the CRA. "Anyone who has any suggestions should mail them to Box 775, Slaton, or bring them by the Slaton-

Evans and the other officers of the group also made another appeal for donations (tax deductible) to the association. It was noted that about $1,900 already has been committed for purchase of skates to be used by youngsters and for other items needed. Work is underway toward putting up rails in the building, and members of the FFA chapter will be working on construction of restrooms and storage space.

Primary emphasis of the center will be on junior high age youth, but all ages may participate, with all activities to be planned and sponsored by any interested group which wants to use the facility. It was stressed that emphasis would be put on Christian principles and it is hoped that church groups of all denominations will use it for special programs for their youth organizations.

Donations of any amount are welcome, Evans said, and noted that these may be handed to any officer or board member, or may be brought by the Slatonite or mailed to Box 775. Checks should be made out to the Community Recreation Assn.

Other officers are Don Conner, vice president, and Lenda Wood, secretary and treasurer. Board members are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hall Davis, Dalton Wood, Jim Bednarz, Mrs. Linda Stephens, Mrs. Fred Evans, Jim Sadler.

Athenians Head Mother's March

The Athenian Study Club met Tuesday evening in the Chamber of Commerce meeting room. Mrs. Barbara Aycock, president, led the business meeting.

The Mother's March of Dimes will be held Monday (Jan. 28) from 6:30 until 7:30 p.m. The Athenian Club will be heading the campaign with helpers from the Slaton community. The National Foundation of the March of Dimes began its work in 1938 as the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. Its goal at that time was to wipe out polio.

Today, the foundation has become involved in the battle to combat birth defects. According to March of Dimes figures, each year approximately 250,000 infants are born with birth defects. There are about 15 million living Americans whose daily lives are affected by birth defects, a good many more when you consider that entire families must carry the burden and communities must pay the cost of health care for many

We don't think it's enough to just sell Pontiacs. It takes more than the quality and prestige of a great car to be a success. Great deals are important. Great service, too. So you can see how our great new facilities fit into the overall picture.

To find out how you fit in, drop by for a visit. We'll be happy to give you a guided tour. And a chance to see all the '74 Pontiacs. We don't want anything to stand between you and us. Not even a few walls.

already been a busy place. You will see that we have a new manager for the Chamber of Commerce, Tom Roy. He is ready to work for Slaton, and I hope Slaton will help him

Bill Adams has opened his new facility on the 84 Bypass, and is having his grand opening, starting today. Progress for his business is progress for Slaton. And I think that is what we want. Slaton is "in" too much to remain a sleepy little town. Every day we see new businesses or improvements, new housing, new and improved recreational facilities being planned and built.

Maybe you've noticed some little items in The Slatonite lately. They tell you that one of the best ways to save gas and energy, is to Shop Slaton. That's a great idea, and every dollar you spend here goes back into Slaton in one way or another. We have to help ourselves before we can complain, or expect help from others.

The Mother's March of Dimes is scheduled for Slaton Monday evening. Members of the Athenian Study Club and other helpers will be calling on you between 6:30 and 7:30 to take donations for this worthy cause. Maybe you know someone with birth defects maybe you should give. .

I saw this note in a publication that expressed my sentiments exactly: "When are they going to invent a washing machine that always returns matched pairs of socks?" I could stuff a mattress with unmated socks. They never seem to come out even. Another note of interest I found was this: "Gossip runs down more people each year than automobiles.

PRAISE THE

Fiery Darts

By LENDA WOOD

The Bible tells us (in Ephesians 6) how we can equip ourselves with God's kind of armour in order to live victorious lives.

I especially want to lift out the statement concerning the fiery darts.

The devil uses all kinds of tricks to try to capture Christians. He flings these 'fiery darts'' into our hearts, minds and bodies. It's up to us to accept his tricks or reject them. The Bible says the only way to fight this kind of battle is to remember to wear our shield of faith (exercise faith not doubt -- every day, every hour), put on the helmet of salvation and use our sword, which is the Word of God.

Could It Be?

It could be that when you're angry with someone, that the devil actually uses your "angry thoughts" directed to a particular person to fling his fiery darts into

Wouldn't that be terrible to think that we (Christians!) could actually be a tool that the devil is using to inflict these fiery darts into someone?

The next time you become angry with someone, try, with God's help, to reject feelings of anger toward that person, and use God's weapons instead of human weapons, and instead of hateful thoughts, just ask God to send that person "love" thoughts.

You know, when we became Christians, we made the decision of: 'Choose you this day whom you will serve." We chose to take Jesus Christ as our Saviour. But there are other choices to make every day after that -- the choice of whether to wear God's armour and use His weapons or not.

When we have been wronged by someone, we make the choice as to what weapon we want to use to fight back. We can choose to return resentment for resentment, or we can choose God's weapons and

It is by his grace you are saved, through trusting him; it is not your own doing. (Eph. 2:8)

Many Christians are burdened through a misconception of the faith. They equate faith with earning their relationship with God by good deeds. Such a faith will not bring a life of freedom and joy because His redeeming presence and love are not earned but are gifts to be

By His Example and in His teaching, Jesus gave us many illustrations depicting the kind of trust and faith which lays claim upon the saving grace of God for our lives. Jesus said that we need the trust of a little child to be a member of His kingdom; not childish or foolish faith. He made it plain that the Father would respond to this kind of trusting faith.

In the Garden, Jesus' deeper prayer was for His Father's will and way, even if this meant death. The resurrection is testimony to His faith and to the Father's faithfulness.

Praise God! We do not have to earn His love and grace. Childlike trust and commitment will insure His grace and Prayer: Father, give each of us the trusting faith of a

March of Dimes Poster Child Shares Family Fun and Chores

By DAN GILLMOR

"Scotty was a month old when we brought him home from the hospital." Monta Hafen recalls, "and it was really hard not to overprotect him.

That was five years ago, and Scott, who is Monta and Gary Hafen's fifth child, was just leaving to go down the block from their modest ranch house in North Las Vegas, Nev. That may not sound unusual, unless you are aware that Scott was born with crippling birth defects, hydrocephalus (water on the brain), and spina bifida (open spine).

The first defect has been corrected by surgery. The second is painfully evident. Scott is paralyzed from the waist down and has to use braces and crutches to get around.

"It was hard at first," his mother says, "but we finally got hold of ourselves. Life had to go on. We made ourselves be less protective.

'We don't treat him as an invalid in any way. We expect things from him, and he does them. If he makes a mess with his toys, he has to pick them up and put them away in his toy box.

'Of course, with four older brothers and sisters, he gets a bit spoiled, no matter what Gary and I do. But we figure that's not so bad. After all, they only do what they want to do. We don't expect them to take care of Scotty to any greater extent than they would naturally take care of the littlest one in the family.'

Scott's next older brother, Bret, has done a lot of that. He is only a year older than Scott, but Mrs. Hafen has encouraged the brotherly relationship without interfering with it.

'Bret puts him in his wagon and hauls him all over the neighborhood," she says, laughing fondly. "With just a little bit of watching along the way,

that's how things have gone along.

Travel Plans

Bret won't be able to go along next month when, as 1974 National Poster Child for the March of Dimes, Scott will tour the country. He will represent the 250,-000 or so American children born every year with birth

Contributions to the March of Dimes are allocated to research, medical service programs, and educational efforts in the fight to prevent birth defects and to improve the quality of life at birth.

Mrs. Hafen is looking forward to taking Scott on the trips, even though they will be quite strenuous. "I feel that my children are responsible enough to carry on just as always. We have everything well under con-

'And Scott just loves to travel! I look forward to the feeling of success that he will get out of it. I've already seen a change in him since he started going around the state as Nevada Poster Child. He just seems to be more on top of the situation. He feels more like an equal of other children.

'You know how it is: he has something to talk about now. Something that he did that they haven't done. His friends get to run and jump and play, and Scotty can't. But now he gets to fly all over and meet famous

Even though there may be a bit of a "sitter" problem, Mrs. Hafen is not worried. Scott's father, a Las Vegas school principal, will be home, except for one or two trips when he will accompany his wife and son. Mrs. Hafen is confident that Diane, 9, Sondra, 10, and Brad, 13, can handle things.

It's clear that blue-eyed Sondra will cover the kitchen. She is a self-proclaimed tacos cook of dis-

Presto! Tacos! It's simple, isn't it?

Asked how to make tortillas, Sondra explained: "Oh, you don't make them. You just buy them frozen and then you fry them.'

You see. It really is very simple to make tacos.

Winter Poses Special Hearing Loss Problems

"Severe head colds and earaches, which are likely to flourish during winter's low temperatures and damp conditions, can result in more serious consequences than temporary discomfort. Unless properly treated they can lead to serious -- and perhaps even permanent -- hearing losses. This is the warning of David Smith, director of the Beltone Crusade for Hearing Conservation. The crusade, sponsored by Beltone Electronics Corporation, is designed to encourage workable hearing conservation measures. Chicago - based Beltone is world leader in hearing aids and electronic hearing test instruments.

Smith said that while there is no certain method for avoiding head colds or earaches, the likelihood of contracting such an illness can be reduced by following dures as not staying outdoors too long during extremely cold weather and changing out of damp clothing as soon as possible.

While most adults would naturally follow these precautions, small children enjoy playing in the snow, and it is not unusual for a youngster to become chilled from overexposure to low temperatures and damp clothing. For this reason. parents, teachers and other persons responsible for the welfare of children should be particularly alert in guarding youngsters against the likelihood of developing chills and the head colds and earaches that can fol-

SNYDER -- The officers of nine Sons of Hermann lodges will be installed in a ceremony at 2:30 p.m. Sunday in Snyder with William R. Palmer, San Antonio, member of the Grand Lodge Youth Activities Committee, officiating.

The event is set for the Our Lady of Guadalupe Church properties.

Assisting Palmer will be Marchel Nauert, Aspermont, member of the Grand Lodge Laws Committee; and Marvin O. Gold, Grand Lodge district supervisor and grand guide of the statewide fraternal order.

Officers of the following lodges will be inducted: Lubbock Lodge No. 16, as well as Odessa. Abilene. San Angelo, Rowena, Old Glory, Haskell, Hermleigh Hermleigh lodge will be the host.

The 73,000-member Sons of Hermann order, established in this state by German pioneer settlers, is now Texas' largest and the nation's oldest fraternal benefit society. Famed for its insurance for its members, plus many social and fraternal events, the society operates free dancing schools for its junior members in a number of communities, as well as a modern youth summer camp and a home for its aged members who find themselves in need of retirement shelter in their twilight vears.

The camp and retirement home are both in the Hill Country at Comfort, Tex. The Grand Lodge of the order is in San Antonio. There are 161 Hermann Sons lodges in about 100 communities across the

The High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1 has made available the 1973 depletion maps, to be used by landowners and their accountants to calculate their possible deductions on their income tax statements. The maps are available at the District's Lubbock office.

The maps depict the decline of the water table in the Ogallala Formation, and are available to persons owning property lying with-15-county boundary in the of the Water District at a cost of $7.50 per map. The guideline maps are a result of the cost-in-water depletion, income-tax-allowance, program carried on each bock office.

In their Jan. 15 meeting. the District's Board of Directors voted to charge a fee of $5 per parcel for all claimants in Bailey, Parmer, Lamb and Castro Counties. This means the $7.50-maps will not be furnished for these counties -- the landowner or his accountant must supply the District with the data necessary to compute their decline -- at the $5-per-claim fee.

Data necessary to determine the decline for Parmer, Bailey, Castro and Lamb Counties is as follows: (1) taxpayer's agent's name and address, (2) landowner's name, address and social security number, (3) account number and (4) legal description.

The correct legal description includes the number of acres, quarter, section or labor, block or league, survey, township and range.

A new method for determining saturated thickness for any new claims for depletion allowance in Parmer County was also adopted by the Board on Jan.

In the past, Parmer County decline maps for 1963 After a short business through 1970 were sold for one dollar apiece. In 1971 they were raised to $7.50 and in 1972 the county was automated and the charge was set at $5 per parcel.

Saturated thickness, therefore, for those years would have been determined at a cost to the claimant of $31.50.

However, to figure saturated thickness in this way would require the District to reprint outdated maps -therefore, the Board voted to provide to individual claimants the information necessary to determine the base saturated thickness at the time of purchase at a fee of $25. This cost will also include the decline to the time of purchase. For example, a Parmer County landowner purchasing land in 1970 and making a claim for the first time in 1973 would receive the saturated thickness information and the 1970 to 1973 decline information for the

Flea Market Set Jan. 26

The Cooper Community 4-H Club is sponsoring a Flea Market Saturday, Jan. 26, at the Cooper High School Cafeteria from 9 to 1. Funds from the sale are to be used for the State 4-H Camp, which is being built at Lake Brownwood

Both the girls and boys teams played Frenship Friday. According to Coach Sonny Bounds, the girls played the best game of the season, but errors late in the game caused them to lose by a score of 60-64. Marilyn Payton led the scoring with 35 points followed by Brenda Ward with 18. The boys fell to Frenship with a score of 86-54. Donny Seale led Cooper's scoring with 26

Both teams played Post Tuesday night. Tomorrow night the girls will play Dimmet there and the boys will play Denver City there.

The Cooper Rural Chapter of the National Honor Society held a meeting last Tuesday and decided on a money making project. They decided to sell gold CHS pins. Also, as a service to the High School they will serve as host for the Cooper UIL meet, which will be held on March 16.
