THE STORY from the reliable old Extension Service last week got me thinking about what we know about potatoes. I said that "potato production is in the last stages before harvest across the Plains and producers would do well to take steps in closing out their crop." I don't know anything about that, but I know nothing about growing potatoes. I am, however, an expert at eating potatoes in any way they are prepared. It is difficult to fix a potato in a way that is edible, but it can be done. (I did it when I was a Boy Scout, when I cooked one all night and it was still raw in the middle). I like potatoes, which horrifies my wife. When they are sliced and French fried, I sometimes grab a handful and salt it down and eat it. I also like them fried, baked, boiled, au gratin, in salad, in chips, in spudnuts, or in french fries. I really don't care for them.

Potatoes are especially appealing to children, and the fact that eating them is good for you. They are starchy and plentiful these days. They can also be used as stoppers for kerosene or moonshine, according to my co-workers, who apparently had a bad childhood. And John (I think it was) once escaped jail with a potato. I get black spots when they just sit on the table, which could be the origin of the word "black spots".

Some of my readers tell me I'm wrong about nobody ever winning the Reader's Digest. Several of my checks from RD lately. All for nothing. It is welcome news to Slaton that we will have another doctor here in about a month. Our two local doctors are doing a good job, but there's just too much for two doctors to handle, so Dr. Ernesto Maldia and family should find lots of friends here. We can't swear this is true, but we heard J. W. Holt bought a copy of Hemingway's "Across the River and Through the Trees," but took it back the next day because he lost his money back. He thought it was on golf.

Family Active In Antique Car Club

Harley Martin family found a hobby together as a family. Mrs. Martin is currently restoring a 1936 Ford Cabriolet and Paul is working on a 1938 Oldsmobile coupe.

Flapper Fashions
Mrs. Martin has also become interested in the fashions of the earlier days, and she will model a 1926 dress in the style show which will accompany the Tour in Lubbock.

She will wear a flapper dress which she bought at JJ's Antique Store in Slaton. It formerly belonged to Mrs. Raymond Standefer who wore it in 1926. The dress is styled along the classical flapper lines, with a dropped waistline and a raised hemline. The rust colored dress is accented with round circles of amber velvet on both the skirt and bodice. Mrs. Martin will complete her outfit with beads and a flapper style hat.

1926 REVISITED — Stepping out in the style of 1926 is Mrs. Harley Martin. She is shown wearing a flapper dress of that year, ready to step into her 1926 T Model Roadster for a night on the town. Both the car and the dress will be featured in the antique car show and style show the first three days of August. (SLATONITE PHOTO)

11 Arrests Follow Near-Riot Here

Slaton Policemen attempting to break up a fight at a Mexican-American dance here early Sunday morning found themselves involved in a near-riot with a crowd estimated at 150 to 200, with the officers reporting they were struck and cursed and had beer cans thrown at them during the affray.

Eleven arrests ranging from public drunkenness to aggravated assault on a police officer resulted from the incident shortly after midnight Saturday.

According to a report written by Sgt. Jerry Edwards, police officers were notified by an unknown Mexican male about 1 a.m. that there was a disturbance at the VFW Hall and that an officer was needed. Officers went to the scene, found two men age 35 and 29 fighting and "did separate them momentarily" with help of some persons in the crowd, according to Edwards' report. During an attempt to arrest the two men, the wife of one of them jumped on the back of Patrolman Bobby Turner, who pushed her away and she fell, according to the report. Her husband broke free, struck the officer and cursed him, the report said.

34th Annual Post Rodeo Scheduled In August

The 34th annual Post Stampede Rodeo will be Aug. 8-10, with each of the three night shows starting at 8 p.m.

The producer will be Bucking S Rodeo, Inc., of Lawton, Okla., with contests scheduled in saddle, bareback bronc and bull riding, calf roping, team roping, and girls barrel race.

The opening day parade will be at 5:30 p.m. Aug. 8, with trophies to be awarded the winning riding groups, and cash prizes going to winners in the float division.

Weldon Reed's Solid Country Band will play for a dance following each night's rodeo performance.

The rodeo office will open for entries Monday, Aug. 5, according to Tommy Young, secretary, Rt. 2, Post, Tex.

New Doctor Coming To Slaton

NEW DOCTOR FOR SLATON — Dr. Ernesto Maldia, right, is welcomed to Slaton by Steve Smith, president of the board of trustees of Slaton Hospital Memorial Foundation. Dr. Maldia will move to Slaton and begin practice here in about a month. (SLATONITE PHOTO)

Dr. Ernesto Maldia, 37, a native of the Philippines and formerly head of the surgical department of Lawton, Okla., Indian Hospital, will be moving to Slaton where he will begin practice in about a month.

Dr. Maldia was in Slaton this week making arrangements for a place for he and family to live and arranging for the opening of offices in Mercy Hospital.

Steve Smith, president of the board of trustees of Slaton Hospital Memorial Foundation, Inc., said the location of Dr. Maldia's office on the first floor of the hospital would be temporary. There are tentative plans being made for establishment of a clinic in the city.

Slaton already has two doctors serving the community. Stanley Jaynes and Glenn Payne. The two have been hard-pressed to keep up with the needs of the community.

A 1963 graduate of the University of Santo Tomas, Manila, Dr. Maldia served about one year of general practice in Manila, and then came to the United States for training in Michigan, where he completed his residency requirements in Detroit. A surgeon as well as a physician, he went to Lawton as head of the surgical department of the Indian Hospital.

After Dr. Maldia moves here in about two weeks, he will begin setting up his offices, probably on the north end of the bottom floor of Mercy Hospital.

Correspondence which culminated in Dr. Maldia's decision to move to Slaton began with the Slaton Chamber of Commerce with a letter from Manager Tom Roy, who had secured the doctor's name from the Texas Medical Assn. Dr. Maldia explained that he had notified the TMA that he would be interested in locating in a Texas community.

Dr. Maldia's wife, Inga, is a native of Iceland, and should find Slaton — like Lawton — a bit warmer than her homeland. They have three children, Ernest 9; Maria, 7; and Ruben, 2. Dr. Maldia is a Catholic and his wife is a Lutheran.

Slaton City Commissioners Discuss Swimming Pool

Following a brief regular meeting of the City Commission Tuesday, the Slaton commissioners reconvened in executive session, allegedly to discuss personnel.

Prior to dismissing the press and going into closed session, the Council disposed of several routine matters and discussed the condition of the city swimming pool.

Mayor J. N. Landreth reported that he had received some complaints about the condition of the pool. He spoke with Chamber of Commerce director Tom Roy, who is responsible for the pool, and told the Commissioners that the repair work done earlier in the summer would suffice.

"There are no problems now, and as long as everything is okay, we should just let it go for the rest of the season," said Landreth.

The other Commissioners agreed and the Council decided to help make major repairs when they become necessary, but to do nothing until that time.

Landreth then brought up the problem of vacant houses which are fire hazards. He cited one example in particular, and opened the floor to discussion as to what to do with such fire traps.

City Attorney Harvey Morton said they had the authority to tear down such a building if they could prove it had no value and was a definite fire hazard. Morton explained that they would need pictures, a report by the health inspector, and reports by a building inspector, a real estate agent, and the fire marshal.

Landreth mentioned the possibility of beginning a campaign to rid Slaton of such hazardous buildings, and Morton said he would work with the Commission.

Minutes of the two previous meetings were approved and the Council adjourned.

SCOTLAND'S PRIVATE ARMY

Only one man in the whole of Britain is allowed to keep a private army and he is a Scot. He is, in fact, the Duke of Atholl and by law he can keep a standing army at his dual seat, Blair Castle in Blair Atholl, Perthshire.

The origins of this private army are lost in the mists of antiquity, but all Clan Chiefs had their own army at one time. The Atholl Highlanders were allowed to continue as an army long after the Clan forces had been banished.

Thought For Food

It's not difficult to braise meat or to "prepare a pot-roast." Important steps include browning the meat thoroughly so it remains brown while cooking in liquid. One-fourth to one-half cup is usually the rule. Then, make sure there's a tight cover as well as low temperature for the whole cooking time.

For a snappy sandwich, split English muffins, then toast. Top with cream cheese (three ounces) mixed with one-fourth cup each of finely chopped onion and green stuffed olives, then spread with deviled ham. Top each with a slice of tomato. Spread lightly with mayonnaise and broil for a few minutes until heated through.

Any homemaker who has at one time overcooked a piece of meat knows it's difficult to slice. Overcooked meats do not slice. They just seem to fall apart in shreds. For a roast, it's easy to chart doneness with a roast meat thermometer. After cooking to the degree desired, let the roast "rest" to become firm enough for slicing. That takes about 20 minutes.

Potatoes in 1728 were forbidden by law in Scotland because the potato was an unholy plant of the nightshade family and not mentioned in the Bible.

CONSUMER CORNER

FOOD BUYING BONANZA!

You may not have noticed, but there is one delicious, nutritious, efficacious edible that you can buy without getting a skinning when you pay for it.

According to the United States Department of Labor, while food prices in general recently rose 6.2 percent in one month alone, the cost of bananas has grown only one percent in the past ten years!

By and large, you can still buy bananas for less than twenty cents a pound, and into the bargain, you are getting a good-to-eat, good-for-you foodstuff. This fine fruit is high in vitamins and minerals, low in sodium and fat, and totally free of cholesterol.

Dieters needn't be yellow about eating a Chiquita banana either. To add to its appeal, the average banana has only about as many calories as an average serving of cottage cheese!

In addition, the pick of the bunch, which bear the Chiquita label, are pampered and protected all the way from their tropical trees to your grocery shelf so you can be sure there are no slip-ups where the quality of their condition is concerned.

When you tally it all up, this fairly priced fare seems to be the top banana in any food chain!

Plumbing Problems?
A clogged drain ranks among the most common and maddening household nuisances. And up until now the solution to the problem has been maddening, too. Waiting for the plumber. Using lye or acid and risking their destructive effects. Today, however, there is a new drain opener that can not only clear a clogged drain easily but can do it instantly. It works by the pure power of its aerosol propellant which pushes against the water of the pipe and "pops" the clog out of the drain and into the sewer—all in just one second.

Library News

There were 48 children present for the seventh Kidstuff program Tuesday, July 16, at the Slaton Branch Library. Mrs. S. H. Jaynes displayed a great number of rocks and spoke of different kinds of rocks in the collection. Some of the rocks were displayed under water to show their beauty. Several books on rock collecting were also shown with the rock-collection.

Charlene Nelson, of Lubbock City-Co. libraries, told the story of "Funny little Woman", Sally Timmons, also of the Lubbock Libraries staff, had the children to participate in riddles and songs. They presented the movie, "The Mole and the Hedge-hog". Tuesday, July 23, at 2:30 p.m. another Kidstuff program was given at the Slaton Branch Library. Nora Torres, library helper for the summer, had a dancing puppet, "Pancho Villa", along with a recording and Polly Melugin, local librarian, and Nora presented a skit on "The Three Billy Goats Gruff", to entertain the children present. A movie was shown and songs, stories, and riddles enjoyed. Tuesday, July 30, at 2:30 p.m. will be the last Kidstuff program for the summer. These programs, sponsored by the Lubbock City-Co. Libraries children's staff, were in connection with the Serendipity's Summer Program during June and July. The last Kidstuff program will be a study of clowns, presented by Mrs. Carol Karpe of Slaton.

The Summer Reading Club has 255 members registered, with over 70 listed on the honor roll, 15 books or more read, and over 70 climbing the mountain poster in the library. July 22. STORYHOURS will be given each first Saturday of the month, sponsored by the Friend's Club, beginning August 3, Saturday, at 10 a.m. according to Mrs. R. C. Hall Jr., chairman of Storyhour.

An infant born without congenital defects appears to be completely protected in his home, but suffocation, falls, poisonings, drownings and burns cause more deaths in this age group than all diseases combined.

Preferred closet rod height for adult use is 64-65 inches for the closet floor. This allows 9-12 inches below most hemlines for mop clearance.

Read Galatians 3:23-28

There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither slave nor free, there is neither male nor female; for you are all one in Christ Jesus. (Galatians 3:28)

Several years ago I was working in a church in Dallas, with some fellow seminary students. Our job involved working with children of minority families. Some of us were international students and some represented various minority groups.

On St. Patrick's Day the children quickly noticed that we were not wearing green. The penalty for not wearing green is a pinch, so we were given a pinch. It was amusing to see black Americans and Mexican Americans pinching a Malaysian and an American Indian because of the customs concerning an Irish Roman Catholic holiday. Their act demonstrated how people become one in celebration.

It is not always easy to overlook our differences, but we must remember what Christ has done by His death and resurrection. He has made us children of God by our accepting Him as Savior. We need the kind of faith Paul described when he said, "You are all one in Christ Jesus."

PRAYERS: Lord, make us one in Christ and help us to reconcile our differences. For His sake — and ours. Amen.
THOUGHT FOR THE DAY: How much we are alike!

Religious Center Tours Available

Nashville, Tenn. — The "upper room" is, according to the Holy Scriptures, the place Jesus Christ met with His disciples for His final meal.

Today, a person can share in the reverence and inspiration of this key event in Christian history by visiting the Chapel of The Upper Room in Nashville, Tenn.

A friendly and well informed hostess greets visitors as they enter the ground floor reception area of The Upper Room Chapel. Guests are invited to record their names in the permanent registry. They then begin a guided tour of the world-renowned religious center — home of THE UPPER ROOM daily devotional guide which is used on a daily basis by more than eight million persons of various denominations around the globe.

Before entering the second-floor chapel, the hostess pauses to give an interpretation of the World Christian Fellowship Window — a twenty-foot-high stained glass artwork which depicts the work of the Holy Spirit on the Day of Pentecost some twenty centuries ago, and growth of the Christian Church since that day through various representative denominational leaders.

Persons on the tour are then led into the magnificent chapel where they receive their first viewing of the sanctuary's primary focal point — an 8 by 17 foot wood carving of the Last Supper — a three dimensional reproduction of Leonardo da Vinci's famous painting of this key event in Christian history.

The Nashville-housed carving was created by noted Italian sculptor Ernest Pellegrini whose other works adorn many of the world's finest art galleries and museums.

Following a narrative interpretation of the Last Supper, visitors are given the opportunity to pause for a time of personal devotion, prayer and meditation. Many guests choose to enter the small "Alone With God" prayer room which adjoins the main chapel. Here they kneel to pray — to give thanks — to ask that their needs and the needs of loved ones be met. Some join with members of THE UPPER ROOM staff who lift up the prayer requests received in the day's mail from around the world.

After visiting the chapel and prayer room guests are escorted into the spacious World Exhibit Museum and Library where they are encouraged to browse and personally examine attractive displays of rare religious artifacts which include original paintings, ancient Bibles, scrolls of Hebrew parchment, thousand-year-old chalices used in celebrating the Lord's Supper, and many other one-of-a-kind religious items of interest to persons of all faiths and denominations.

Purpose of the Museum and Library is to afford persons the opportunity of finding new insights and deeper meaning in the power of a devotional life. The link which exists between a great and worthy heritage and a dynamic and fruitful ministry of THE UPPER ROOM in the present day is visually illustrated throughout the entire museum area.

Guests discover a beautiful and fitting climax to their visit as they step back outside and walk down a flower-lined path of the Agape Garden. A full size statue of Jesus serves as a reminder of His continuing presence and influence in the world, and His redemptive love for all persons. The garden seems therefore to be appropriately named AGAPE, a greek expression in the New Testament which means Christian love.

Many of the plants, shrubs, trees, and flowers which are found in the Agape Garden are still grown in the Holy Land. Located outside of the Garden are Cedars of Lebanon and Redbud, sometimes called the Judas Tree, which is by tradition the tree on which Judas hanged himself.

Main features of the Garden are indicated by five stations. Each station has a mechanical speaker which gives very briefly the story of what is located near that station.

The Agape Garden is a fitting place to end the journey through The Upper Room building, but, in a sense, that journey does not end for the dedicated men and women who carry Christ's message from The Upper Room to people of the world.

The Upper Room Building, including the Chapel, Library, World Exhibits Museum and Garden is open year round from 8 a.m. until 6 p.m. and until 7:30 p.m. during the summer. Guided tours are conducted on the hour and the half hour. Individuals, tour groups, church organizations, and school classes are most warmly received. Further information and related brochures may be obtained by contacting: The Upper Room, 1908 Grand Avenue, Nashville, Tenn. 37203. Phone (615) 327-0971.

THE GOSPEL

"Now I make known unto you, brethren, the gospel which I preached unto you, which also ye received, wherein also ye stand, by which also ye are saved." (1 Cor. 15:1) The gospel (good news) is the "power of God unto salvation" (Rom. 1:16), and Paul stresses its value in the passage above. But, exactly what is the good news? He explains in verses 3 and 4 that the gospel is the DEATH, BURIAL, and RESURRECTION of Jesus Christ. These are the FACTS of the gospel.

Facts cannot be "obeyed," but the gospel must be obeyed (2 Thess. 1:8). So the COMMANDS of the gospel become important in order that we may receive the BLESSINGS of the gospel. To sinners on Pentecost, Peter (after preaching the facts of the gospel) commanded: "Repent ye, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ unto the remission of your sins; and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Spirit." (Acts 2:38) Obey the gospel, that you may enjoy its benefits through Christ.

A sincere welcome is yours at every service of the church of Christ:

By MRS. ROBERT MOCK

Jerry Winterrowd, Southland State All Star basketball player participated in the all star game at Brownwood last week. He played on the West team and made four points during the game.

There were approximately 65 boys from all over the state participating in the event, and only 25 members actually played during the game. The East won 111-92.

White To Talk At Petersburg

AUSTIN — Agriculture Commissioner John C. White is scheduled to speak at the noon meeting of the Petersburg Lions Club on July 31.

"Drought-like conditions throughout the High Plains have severely limited production in the area. The Texas wheat crop is expected to decline almost 39 million bushels from 1971 figures, and most of the decrease is due to the failure of the dryland wheat crop on the High Plains," White said.

He added that the drought has also limited the 1974 cotton and sorghum acreage. "Most of the farmers have been unable to plant because of the dry weather."

Brake Takes Four Seminars

Bob Brake, State Farm agent at 160 S. 8th in Slaton, recently completed a formal agent education program composed of four seminars including auto, commercial fire, homeowners, residential fire, fire and casualty permanent licensing, health, life insurance and life-health estate analysis.

The seminars are part of a training program especially designed to assist State Farm agents better serve clients with their insurance needs.

COTTON TALKS

Three High Plains farmers from the section of the high and rolling plains most severely affected by the prolonged drought are personally taking to Washington their case for more equitable administration of farm program disaster provisions. Heading up the delegation will be Dawson County farmer Donnell Echols of Patricia, member of the executive committee and past president of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. He will be accompanied by Donovan Phipps of Welch, also in Dawson County, and C. A. Daugherty of Fluvanna in Scurry County.

The trip was planned for the week of July 22 at Chamber of Commerce sponsored meetings in Snyder and Lamesa July 16 and 18 involving some 50 farmers. PCG, the Rolling Plains Cotton Growers Association of Stamford, and the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce.

The Agriculture and Consumer Protection Act of 1973 provides that farmers prevented from planting or making less than two-thirds of normal yields because of drought or other adverse weather conditions will be paid 12.67¢ per pound times the difference between normal yields and actual production. Farmers who were not able to plant this year, generally, are happy with the way this section of the law is being administered. They will be paid 12.67¢ per pound times their allotted acreage times the farm's established yield as the law intended.

But for those who planted and either didn't get a good stand or got a stand and lost most of it to the drought, sand or hail, there are problems.

ASCS is using Federal Crop Insurance Corporation procedures to "appraise" the potential production of remaining plants on these farms, and those procedures do not permit economically sound appraisals.

A sample is a field with what the FCIC appraisers say has 18 percent of a normal stand. The farm's established yield is 544 pounds per acre, so the current procedures set potential production at 98 pounds per acre (18 percent of 544), without regard for the size and condition of plants, lack of soil moisture, the economics of trying to farm 18 percent of a stand, or the fact that such a crop couldn't be machine harvested even if it realized it's full "potential" under ideal conditions.

The determination that the field, if left to maturity would produce 98 pounds per acre, leaves the farmer with two choices. He can plow up the remaining cotton and lose over $12 per acre of his disaster payment, or he can leave the cotton until fall to prove it won't produce, foregoing in the process any possible soil conservation or other alternative use of the land. Either way, in comparison to his neighbor who did not plant, he is being penalized for having made the effort to produce a crop.

Another gross injustice, says Plains Cotton Growers, is encountered by the farmer who plants and subsequently loses cotton on more than his allotted acres. A case reviewed by PCG WINS AT FLOYDADA — Terry Wood of Slaton won men's singles over a field of 28 entrants in that event of the Floydada Open Tennis Tournament last weekend, beating Stacy Foster of Plainview in the finals 6-1, 6-3. Wood and David Jones of Plainview also won the doubles title. Wood's mother, Lenda Wood, won women's 35-and-over singles and his father, Dalton Wood, teamed with Wendell Tooley of Floydada to win men's 35 doubles.

shows that if a farmer, with a 100-acre cotton allotment and a 100-acre feed grain allotment, planted 110 acres of cotton and no grain sorghum he would get almost $3,000 less in disaster payments than if he had planted only 100 acres of cotton. This example assumes a 600 pound established yield for cotton and a 30 bushel yield for grain sorghum.

These matters, plus other examples of what PCG terms misadministration, have been and continue to be called to the attention of Washington ASCS officials by PCG and others. And the trip by Dawson and Scurry County farmers is welcomed as one more step toward getting the program administered in a manner that will be fair and equitable for all farmers.

Power lines of the rural electric cooperative are often the only ones because, in Texas, they serve an average of only one meter per mile of line. Now, inflation, fuel shortages and rising costs make higher electric rates inevitable.

But the countless uses for electricity in remote rural areas are built on the promise of dependable power at its lowest possible price. Keeping that promise is a tradition with the member-owned South Plains Electric Cooperative, Inc.

CONSUMER ALERT

AUSTIN — Most of us are trying to get the maximum from every dollar we spend these days. But attorneys in our Consumer Protection Division note that it's not only the amount of a product you get for your money, but the quality of that product that determines if you made a good buy.

That's why it's important to shop carefully before making a purchase, they suggest. One area in which quality is an especially important criterion is when you are purchasing either ready-made clothing or fabrics by the yard for home sewing. Some protection for consumers is offered by the Federal Trade Commission's Textile Fiber Product Identification Act, which requires all ready-made or yard-good items to have a label noting the fiber content. In 1972, another FTC rule, the Care Labeling Trade Regulation, went into effect. This regulation requires all ready-mades and yard-goods to carry labels advising the consumer of proper fabric care. Typical labels may advise "Dry Clean Only," "Hand Wash in Cool Water," or give other specific instruction which make it easier for consumers to know how to care for fabrics after they get them home. Most "Store bought" clothes have been carrying such hang-tags for some time. The FTC Bureau of Consumer Protection reports, however, that some stores selling yard-goods have not yet begun to implement the FTC directives and that others do not routinely supply such care labels unless they are requested by the consumer. And even these efforts do not assure the consumer that an item will stand up to normal wear-and-tear. Complaints about ready-made garments that have reached the files of many consumer agencies include: dress seams that pull out after one washing; buttons that fall off expensive suits; uneven hems; and trims that fade onto a garment. Complaints about yard-goods include the tendency of some fabrics to "pick," "fuzz," or ravel; to trap body heat and not allow for evaporation of perspiration; and to stretch at stress points. Garment industry experts suggest that persons planning to shop for ready-made clothes or to make their own familiarize themselves with the following marks of well-made clothing. — Fabrics should be cut with, not against, the grain and fabrics featuring plaids, stripes, checks, or designs should be carefully matched at seams.

— Seams should be stitched in a way that allows for some give. — Buttons should be bound or stay on and of the piece. — All dress buttons, zippers, grippers, etc. should be sewn in the Zippers should be without ripples. — Our Consumer attorneys suggest also (1) check fiber content; (4) check in store's return yard-goods, not be returned. — If you have a problem, call your local Protection Bureau.

Insecticide Use Harmful; Alternatives Available

"Through the wise use of cultural practices available to today's farmers, the heavy use of insecticides could be drastically reduced," said Dr. Perry Adkisson, professor and head of the Department of Entomology at Texas A&M University.

"Our farmers today have become too dependent on chemicals to control insects in their crops. They have forsaken the more traditional methods of pest control such as crop rotation, timing of plantings, early production and stalk destruction because these practices are more preventive in nature and do not offer immediate relief to a pest infestation," points out Adkisson.

The entomologist notes that about 270 million pounds of insecticide are being applied each year to cropland in the United States. However, only about five per cent of the cropland is treated, with cotton, corn, tobacco and peanuts receiving almost 90 per cent of the insecticides applied. Cotton is the big leader in insecticide usage, receiving 47 per cent of the total volume. About 33 per cent of the corn crop receives insecticidal treatment.

"This heavy insecticide use has led to resistant pest strains, unleashing of secondary pests, undesirable residues in the harvested crop, insecticidal drift on adjoining crops, undesirable effects on fish and wildlife, hazards to applicators and farm workers, and accumulation in the ecosystem.

"With present technology, non-chemical methods of pest control can be effective when used in an integrated program, with insecticides used only to suppress insect outbreaks," believes Adkisson. "The principle behind the use of non-chemical means of pest control is to change the environment so that it is unfavorable for insects."

The entomologist cites early production and disposal of crop residue as an excellent means of reducing the number of overwintering boll weevils and pink bollworms in cotton. Use of early maturing varieties are important to this program, and with mechanical strippers, fewer insect larvae and crop material are left in the field to bring on reinfestation the following year.

"Several new cotton varieties being developed by the Experiment Station offer some resistance to such cotton pests as the fleahopper, bollworm and tobacco budworm. Certain new varieties also mature three to four weeks earlier than present commercial types. One new type fruits so rapidly that only about half of the fruit set is vulnerable to attack from the boll weevil," points out the entomologist.

Where lygus bugs are a problem in cotton, interplanting strips of alfalfa at 500 feet intervals has proved effective, as the pests will migrate from the cotton to the alfalfa.

In peanuts, the selective placement of insecticide granules in the soil or the use of a directed spray have been effective in controlling the lesser cornstalk borer, the crop's most damaging pest. This directed placement of insecticides has greatly reduced the damage caused by this pest as well as the quantities of insecticide formerly used for its control, notes Adkisson.

"The old cultural practices such as crop rotation, timing of planting, clean tillage and use of insect resistant varieties to suppress corn insect pests are just as effective as ever," contends the entomologist. "In many cases these practices may be even more effective because the machinery presently used for stalk destruction and tillage is much improved."

He advises plowing at least three weeks before planting and maintaining clean tillage to keep down southern corn rootworm populations. Rotating corn with cotton or soybeans plus deep plowing and clean tillage will help control white grubs.

As far as sorghum is concerned, Adkisson suggests early, uniform planting of the crop on an areawide basis to avoid damage from the sorghum midge, the most serious pest. Limited insecticide applications may be necessary to control greenbugs if they reach damaging levels. However, the crop can tolerate heavy numbers of the pests, and there are numerous parasites and predators that feed on the tiny green aphids. Sorghum breeding lines have been released by the Experiment Station that are resistant to greenbugs, and a midge resistant line is in an advanced breeding program.

"All in all, the effective control of insect pests in crops involves using the right control measure at the right time and in the right way," believes Adkisson. "Today's farmer must use all the technology that is available to him, old and new, to produce his crops without loss of yield or quality due to insect infestations. Through an integrated pest management program that involves time-proven cultural practices plus the limited, selective use of insecticides, he can increase his profits while at the same time protecting the environment."

WOMAN INJURED — Viola Mae Garvin, Slaton, suffered a severe cut above her eye when the car she was riding in collided with a late model Oldsmobile station wagon Friday. Mrs. Garvin was the passenger in an El Camino driven by Albert Newsome, 72, Slaton. Driver of the other car was Homer Ray Anthony, 17, also of Slaton. The accident occurred at the intersection of Sixth St. and Scurry, which is a busy intersection. Damage to both cars was heavy. Mrs. Garvin was treated at Memorial Hospital after being taken there by Slaton ambulance. (SLATONITE)

Mary Schwertner was born February 4, 1895 in Czechoslovakia to Adolph and Mary Kuba. Mary's father was a blacksmith and came in contact with many people who talked about the United States. He decided to go to the United States to see what it was like for himself.

In November of 1908 Mary's father left his home town to find a place for his family in the United States. His ship docked in Galveston and with the help of a Catholic Priest he was sent to Granger, Tex. where he found a place for his family and sent for them. In February 1909, Mrs. Kuba and six children left from the port of Bremen, Germany for the United States. They were on the ship "Cassel" and it took two weeks to cross the ocean. The ship first docked in Maryland where about 1,100 people got off. It then continued on to Galveston. On March 15, they reached Galveston and then went on to join Mr. Kuba in Granger. After a few good and bad years of farming he decided to move to Harris County near the town of Crosby.

In 1920 Mary's father died of a heart attack leaving his wife and nine children.

On January 3, 1922 Mary married Rudolph Schwertner and they moved to his farm in Jerril. They had seven children: Hubert, Rudy, Mary, August, Martha, Joe, and Agnes. On June 1, 1931, Rudolph and his family moved to the South Plains to the town of Shallowater where Rudolph bought a farm.

They then had four more boys: Raymond, who passed away at six months, Bruno, Lawrence, and Tim.

In 1947, the Schwertner family moved to Slaton, and the children grew up and went their own ways. Hubert married Rita Schilling and they have five children. Rudy married Vera Schilling and they have ten children.
