TIGERETTES WIN REGIONAL, SET SIGHTS ON STATE TITLE

By DALTON WOOD

On to Austin!

That's the battle cry of the Slaton Tigerettes and their fans this week as the community's favorite girls prepare to go to the capital, determined to bring back the school's first state championship ever in any team sport.

The Tigerettes already have accomplished more than any other athletic team in Slaton High history, by winning the regional title and making the trip to the state level. Coach Gay Benson's girls, now 27-4, came through in fine style in the regional finals at Lubbock Saturday night by beating the highly-regarded Stratford Elk-ettes 52-41 as all three Slaton forwards scored in double figures and the aggressive guards controlled the backboards on the other end of the court against the taller Stratford forwards.

It was a truly satisfying high point in Slaton's season for the girls to win the regional crown after being in the finals at Lubbock for the third straight year. Slaton fans, coaches and players erupted in a joyous frenzy of excitement at the end of the game, and many of the students on hand began chanting "We're No. 1" seconds before the final buzzer.

The claim of being No. 1 perhaps is a bit premature, but Slaton fans believe the Tigerettes have a good chance to win it all at Gregory Gymnasium on the University of Texas campus. Slaton will play Lyford, a deep South Texas team, at 1 p.m. Friday.

Midway Defending Champion

Immediately following that game, the other two Class AA teams still in the running will play at 2:30. They are Waco Midway, the defending state champion, and Comanche, a team which the Tigerettes beat in the Lubbock regional first round a couple of years ago. Midway, which beat Spearman last year, has been ranked No. 1 in the state all season.

The two Friday winners will meet in the finals at 2 p.m. Saturday.

Also at Gregory Gym Friday, in Class A, Valley will play Grandview at 8:30 a.m. and Cooper will play Shiner at 10. In the evening, in Class AAA, Canyon meets Center at 7 p.m. and Calhoun plays Conroe at 8:30. Class A finals are at 10:30 a.m. Saturday, and AAA finals will be at 3:30.

Lyford, Slaton's Friday opponent, is 28-2 for the year, according to newsman Tom Drew of Harlingen. Located between Harlingen and Raymondville, Lyford is coached by Miss M. F. Watkins and led by forwards Diane Trolinger, averaging about 21 points per game, and Nora Williams, believed to be averaging about 16 points. Drew said that both of these girls "are just average size" and said he believed that Lyford's tallest girl was a guard 5-10.

The Slaton games will be broadcast live on radio station KCAS.

Lyford advanced to the state tournament by beating Bourne 41-40 and then George West 56-50 in regional.

Coahoma Rugged Foe

En route to the regional title which had eluded them so often in recent years, the Tigerettes almost were ambushed by Coahoma, a team which Slaton had beaten in December. Slaton was just one field goal away from losing in a cardiac caper which saw the Tigerettes held to an incredibly low total of just 7 points in the entire last half. But Jan Davis' free throw with a full three minutes left -- Slaton's final point -- proved to be the margin of victory, because Coahoma was held to only 11 points in the last half. The score of 32-31 held up for the last two and half minutes of the game, and Slaton guard LuAnne Fondy tied up the ball on the floor under the Slaton basket as the contest ended.

In this game, Slaton's forwards were not shooting well, and they were getting only one shot, as Coahoma's guards, led by agile Dale Mitchell, came down with the rebounds almost every time.

Rosemary Scott had 14 points in that game, while Davis scored 10 and Doris Meurer 8. Coahoma's Sherry Griffin scored 19. Slaton had 10 team fouls and Coahoma 15.

Slaton In Command

Stratford beat Floydada 56-38 in the morning game, but in the finals Slaton's girls, who must have been mentally pointing for Stratford all the time, took early command and kept it most of the time, with the main exception being some anxious moments in the third period, when the Elkettes pulled up to within 2 points.

Miss Scott scored 24 points in the game, 11 of them in the first quarter, as Slaton took a 17-10 quarter lead. Meurer had 16 points and Davis 12 in the contest. Phyllis Miller, a deadly long shot specialist, led Stratford with 18 points. Tall D'Lynn Brown had 12 and Cynthia Stokes 11 for the Elkettes.

WOODWORK

WAS A GREAT weekend for Slaton ball girls, Coach Gay Benson, and all of our fans here, and an even greater one could be coming up. How sweet it is, being bridesmaid so often in the regional tournament, to win it and make the first trip to the state meet.

Obviously, congratulations are in order for Coach Benson and the girls. The players have worked hard all year -- Coach Benson saw to it and although there undoubtedly have been many times they thought it wasn't worth the effort, they just as surely agree today it was worth it. Dedication pays off in any sport.

It had planned to run a page in support of the girls' basketball team throughout the season, but so many people wanted to see their support of the team that it had to be split into two pages a week, as could be done next week and again in this issue. We would like you basketball fans to note the support on the pages and maybe tell these girls you appreciate their support.

Support not only shows the girls who are cheering for them, but also makes it possible for the newspaper editor to go to such places as the state tournament.

Trips to state tournaments in any sport are pretty hard to come by, it is logical to us to make the most of this opportunity by winning the whole thing. We hope the Tigerettes feel the same way, and we hope one person who thinks we will win the championship this weekend, in front of a cheering Slatonite who will make the trip. Come on, yawl. Let's go to Austin!

AND THEY DID, TOO --- Slaton players coming back onto the court at halftime of the regional finals at Lubbock last Saturday ran through this banner held by students. They took it to heart, going on to win the regional title and earning the trip to Austin. (SLATONITE PHOTO)

Three Masked Men Invade Home, Rob Couple Near Here

Three masked men came to the home of a Slaton man just outside the city limits Thursday night, threatened the man and his wife, and then took his car, radio, television set and house keys.

Clarence O. Stephens, who lives on FM 2150 south, told sheriff's deputies that the three men came to his home about 11 p.m. Thursday, knocked on the door, and when he answered, they pinned him to the floor.

The intruders all wore stocking masks, it was reported. One of them, with a flashlight, held Stephens down while the other two searched the house. They then took the items mentioned and left in Stephens' 1970 Chevrolet four-door Biscayne. The car, white with a blue vinyl top, 1973 license CJY 982, had not been located Wednesday.

Neither Stephens nor his wife was reported to be injured.

Two wrecks in the city limits were investigated by Slaton Police Dept. during the last week.

On Tuesday, a 1973 auto driven by Mary Jane Chapa, 805 S. 6th, went out of control and struck a FM 400 road sign, causing an estimated $350 damage.

On Monday, a 1970 auto driven by Howard L. Macker, 278 W. 22nd, and a 1962 car driven by Lorene Jones, 1230 S. 13th St., collided, causing an estimated total damage of $60.

Manuel Garza, 1140 S. 6th, told police someone broke a window glass out of his 1963 car while it was parked Monday. Damage estimate was $60.

Last Friday, Elex Gonzales of Lubbock told officers someone had taken from a garage located at 640 S. 10th in Slaton, a Volkswagen engine which had been dismantled into sections. Also missing was a duffel bag containing a mess kit, canteen, blanket and steel helmet. Gonzales valued the engine at $450 and the other items at $50 to $85.

Benson Among Top Cage Coaches

After a dozen years as coach of Slaton girls basketball teams, Mrs. Frank (Gay) Benson this week has reached the high point of achievement in her coaching career by winning the regional title and taking the team to the state tournament.

A former honorable mention all-American player for the Hutcherson Flying Queens when she was at Wayland Baptist College, Coach Benson gives the impression of being in complete control of all her players, insisting that the girls perform to a high standard which has become a hallmark of Slaton girls teams in recent years.

When Coach Benson was Gay Ivey in high school at Pettit, her coach for three years was R. G. Copeland, presently a Slaton junior high coach. "And I think the world of him," she declared.

Mrs. Benson was named to the National Girls Basketball League All-Star team when a freshman at Clarendon Junior College, when a student in a small Oklahoma college, and was on all-star teams at Wayland, where she earned her degree. She was a member of a national team of all-star women players who represented the United States in a tour of Russia, playing against Russian teams in eight games. Earlier, in 1959, she played on a team in the Pan American games in Chicago.

Asked about her philosophy of coaching, she said that if she emphasizes any one part of the game over another, it would have to be defense.

"I really believe in defense, because it can be more of a stabilizing factor," she said. "You can't always depend upon having a good night offensively, and often, when this happens, your defense will pull you through. . . . Also, I'm a strong believer in fundamentals. We're still working on that right now. After all, that's the key to any sport."

Few could argue with her philosophy of coaching this week, and those who watched the Slaton players embracing their coach after Saturday night's tremendous triumph at regional could see that the players not only respect their coach, but are also quite fond of her.

With this year's squad now standing at 28-4 for the season, Mrs. Benson's coaching record here is a remarkable 213 wins against 63 losses in 12 years -- an average of fewer than six losses a season.

And this season isn't over yet.

KNOW THIS will come as a big surprise to everyone, but this country is going to be about blown away if it doesn't rain, according to one of the Dept. of Agriculture's experts.

The gist of statements attributed to W. Fryrear, agricultural engineer with USDA research service in Big Spring. He says severe wind erosion can be expected in the area an estimated 67 days this year with the worst during March and April.

We didn't need any USDA big brains to tell us it's plenty dry around here. He did couple of interesting suggestions. He said that if the dry soil must be chiseled to bring large clods to the surface, the clods will make the surface rough and to break up the wind at ground level, thus reducing erosion. Chiseling should be 8 to 10 inches deep on about 20-inch clods.

For cotton-growing areas, Fryrear recommends that cotton farmers not mow their fields but rather let them stand until tillage is done, then chisel without mowing. He says unmowed stalks will aid in reducing wind erosion of the soil to blow.

What he says. Personally, I wouldn't mind farming is not my thing. Wonder, though, if he always has been a farmer, or if he acquired the name of Fryrear in outside research in the West.

VERMONT farmer was walking along to his home one day when he met a stranger. The farmer noticed his companion's sanctimonious language.

The stranger stopped and pointed a long finger at the farmer and asked, "You made your peace with God?" The farmer considered for a moment, then answered shortly: "We ain't come to no open court."

Washington - The Farmer

Everyone knows that George Washington gave seven years of his life without pay to command the Revolutionary Army and eight more to serve as the new country's first president. What isn't so well known is that he would have been much happier "under his own vine and fig tree." By his own admission, George Washington's first interest was farming.

It was because of his interest in farming and his accomplishments as a successful farmer that FFA WEEK is celebrated during the week of George Washington's birthday. In addition, George Washington has been labeled the patron saint of the organization and has come to symbolize the FFA Treasurer.

Actually it was a small inheritance that launched Washington's career as a farmer; he was 11 when his father died. According to custom, Lawrence -- as the oldest son -- got most of the estate including Mt. Vernon. Washington's small inheritance was only a 280-acre Cherry Tree Farm plus a share of land at Deep Run.

Washington started accumulating land with money he earned as a surveyor. At 16, George had bought 550 acres.

Washington resigned his military commission when he was 26 and soon married Martha Custis, a wealthy Virginia widow. At that time he owned about 5,000 acres of land which included Mt. Vernon's 2,500 acres of land inherited from his brother Lawrence.

Washington began to take farming seriously! He had a keen business mind, an eye for detail, and a searching curiosity about anything new.

Washington divided his huge estate into five farms. Each farm's overseer made weekly reports which Washington used for his notes, diaries, and account books. He made exacting notes on planting, harvest, and sale -- a trait that is recognized in the FFA.

As early as 1766, Washington realized the error in continued tobacco cultivation. He practically abandoned tobacco, the major colonial crop.

Some have called Mt. Vernon one of the earliest "experiment stations" in America. It's true that Washington tried various manure and water applications under controlled conditions. He experimented with countless new seeds, fertilizers, and management practices.

Washington called the life of a farmer "most delectable." "It is honorable. It is amusing, and, with judicious management, it is profitable," he said.

Perhaps his far-reaching vision and love of farm life are best expressed in his eighth address to Congress: "It will not be doubted that with reference either to individual, or National

Washington started accumulating land with money he earned as a surveyor. At 16, George had bought 550 acres.

Washington resigned his military commission when he was 26 and soon married Martha Custis, a wealthy Virginia widow. At that time he owned about 5,000 acres of land which included Mt. Vernon's 2,500 acres of land inherited from his brother Lawrence.

Washington began to take farming seriously! He had a keen business mind, an eye for detail, and a searching curiosity about anything new.

Washington divided his huge estate into five farms. Each farm's overseer made weekly reports which Washington used for his notes, diaries, and account books. He made exacting notes on planting, harvest, and sale -- a trait that is recognized in the FFA.

As early as 1766, Washington realized the error in continued tobacco cultivation. He practically abandoned tobacco, the major colonial crop.

Some have called Mt. Vernon one of the earliest "experiment stations" in America. It's true that Washington tried various manure and water applications under controlled conditions. He experimented with countless new seeds, fertilizers, and management practices.

Washington called the life of a farmer "most delectable." "It is honorable. It is amusing, and, with judicious management, it is profitable," he said.

Perhaps his far-reaching vision and love of farm life are best expressed in his eighth address to Congress: "It will not be doubted that with reference either to individual, or National

FFA Makes A Contribution To The World's Agriculture

Youth ambassadors — FFA members are working to improve agriculture and establish Future Farmer organizations in South and Central American vocational agriculture schools.

The FFA began working with Colombia, South America, in the early '60's when the Agency for International Development invited the national FFA organization to send an official to assist Colombians in establishing a youth organization for students of vocational agriculture. As a result of that visit, the Futuros Agricultores de Colombia, FAC (Future Farmers of Colombia) was founded. The organization was patterned after the Future Farmers of America, and even today the organization uses many similar rituals and has the same aims and purposes.

Throughout the '60's the FFA maintained contact with the

traveled to Buga, Colombia to attend the National Convention of the FAC. In 1970 the FFA sent its Manager of International Activities, and an FFA member, Alfred Trujillo of New Mexico, to Colombia to learn how the FFA could be of further assistance to the Colombian students. As a result of their visit to schools in both Columbia and Panama, an exchange program for students and teachers was initiated between the United States, Colombia and Panama.

The first two FFA members to visit South America on the Work Experience Abroad program were Tom Hagan of Arizona and John Rivera of New Mexico. Both spent three Young Farmers and cotton are important in our future!

A good vocational agricultural education program combined with active FFA participation insures that student-members DISCOVER the career that's right for them.

The young men and women in FFA today will be the leaders of tomorrow's American agri-complex.

months living and working in schools in the coffee-growing regions of Colombia. They also assisted instructors by teaching agricultural courses and by teaching English. While Hagan and Rivera were in Colombia, two Colombian agriculture instructors came to the United States. They too lived and worked with hosts in this country to get a taste of U.S. farm life.

In 1971 the FFA also initiated its first FFA exchange with Panama when Ohio FFA President Dave Branham spent three months living and working on farms and in vocational agriculture schools in Panama. Three teachers from Panama also visited the U.S.

During 1972-1973 three Colombian vocational agriculture instructors and two students who are members of the FAC are in the U.S. on a three-month exchange program. One FFA member, Steven Tindall of Illinois, will spend six months living and working in the Colombian vocational agriculture schools.

Also this year, for the first time, the FFA is hosting students from Brazil. The delegation of six Brazilian vocational agriculture students is the first in what the FFA hopes will be the establishment of a regular exchange of members to that country.

The National FFA Center is located near historic Mt. Vernon in Virginia on 37 acres which once was part of Washington's estate.

HUNGRY?

FFA members have youthful appetites. They appreciate good foods and plenty of them.

As part of an FFA's vocational agricultural education, the student-member discovers the ever expanding career opportunities. It will take trained producers, processors, marketers and distributors to be sure Americans get enough food to eat in the future.

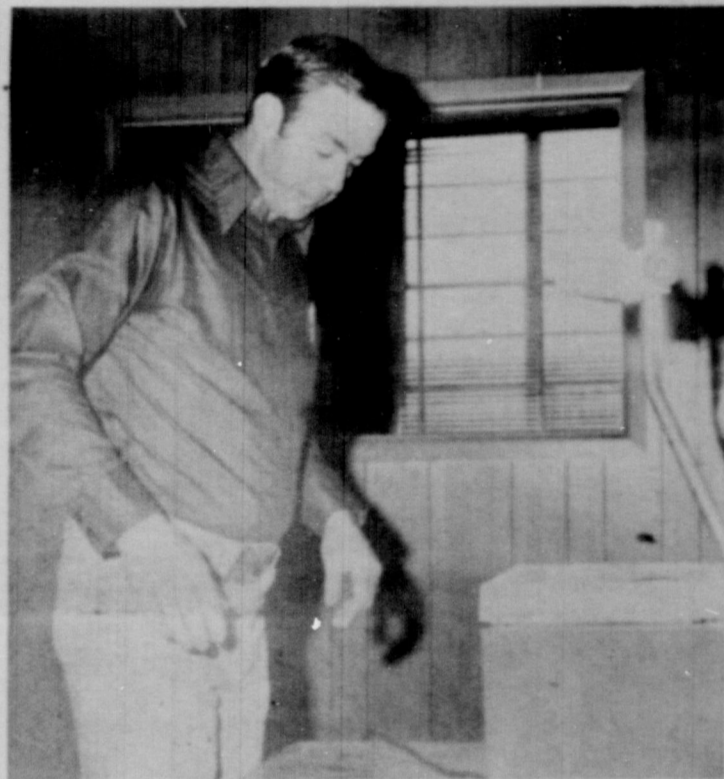

National FFA officers (there are six) travel extensively. During his year's term of office, each officer will travel 50,000 miles or more and spend about two-thirds of his time working in the interest of the FFA.

Contracts Extended For School Personnel

Slaton School trustees extended contracts of principals, coaches and other administrative personnel in a meeting last Thursday night, accepted a couple of classroom teacher resignations, and adopted policies in regard to posting of meeting notices and other actions relative to the new Texas Open Meetings Law.

The board also spent more than an hour discussing possible changes or establishment of policies regarding trips by school groups to such events as state tournaments. Unable to reach a decision on this matter, the group decided to appoint a committee to come up with recommendations at the next school board meeting. R. C. Hall Jr., presiding in the absence of Board President Don Kendrick, named Clark Self Jr. and J. Martin Basinger to work with Supt.

J. C. McClesky on the policy.

In discussion of the new open meetings law, Supt. McClesky told the board that all records of the school district are open to the public except for personnel records, pupil records and "matters involving security."

Resignations were accepted from Mrs. Clinton Eastman as remedial reading teacher in West Ward, effective immediately, and from Mrs. Rebecca Samples as high school math teacher, effective March 8. Mrs. Jill Rogers was hired to replace Mrs. Eastman for the remainder of this term.

Contracts of the four school principals and three administrators were extended so that all have contracts three years ahead. These were approved for Principals M. W. Kerr, high school; Ernie Davis, junior high; James Perkins, West Ward; and Bing Bingham, Stephen F. Austin; for Joe Sparkman, administrative assistant; Mrs. MayBelle Kern, director of special services; and Edwin Knight, business manager.

Contract of Athletic Director and Head Coach Bill Curry was extended one year to give him a two-year contract. All other coaches work on a one-year contract, and these were extended another year.

Engagement Is Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Cable of 5430 9th St., Lubbock, announce the engagement of their daughter, Marsha Kay Baucum, to Gary Drew Glasscock.

Parents of the prospective bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Oree Glasscock of 1050 W. Garza, Slaton.

More Home Gardeners 'Doing Their Thing'

COLLEGE STATION -- "More and more home gardeners are 'doing their thing' out in their back yards or just wherever they can find space," says Sam Cotner, vegetable specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The gardening boom is definitely on, as Cotner cites the latest Gallup Poll showing that three million more Americans took up gardening last year compared to 1972 figures. The poll also shows that four out of every 10 families in the U.S., or about 27 million families, have a home vegetable garden.

Why the sudden spurt to return to Mother Nature, to till the soil, to live off the land?

"It's a matter of economics for most families," points out Cotner. "The increase in food prices during the past year has been a major factor in the mushrooming interest in gardening. Most gardeners should be able to save from $200 to $300 a year on their grocery bills.

"And no one can deny the improved flavor and freshness of home grown vegetables. Plus they're available when you want them," contends Cotner. "The current fertilizer shortage as well as a shortage of commercial seed may keep down commercial vegetable production in some areas this year."

Gardening can also play an important role in the current energy crisis, notes the Texas A&M University System specialist. With fresh produce in the back yard, trips to the supermarket can be reduced. Gardening also provides a form of recreation that brings about family togetherness. Again, this helps keep family members at home and out of those gas-consuming automobiles.

"And the health aspect can't be overlooked," argues Cotner. "Gardening provides good, wholesome exercise in the outdoors."

How do you get started in producing your favorite vegetable? "Begin with a small plot," advises Cotner, "and if you and your family really have the desire, you can always expand. A plot 20 feet by 20 feet can produce plenty of vegetables for a family of four. Remember that time and work are involved, so don't go overboard. Also, grow only the things that you and your family enjoy most and those that cost the most at the supermarket."

Annual Sausage Festival Here Is Big Success

About 1380 area residents were served Sunday at the annual Wurst Festival Benefic for St. Joseph's School.

Area residents consumed 5,800 pounds of homemade sausage in one of the "best" Wurst Festivals ever, according to Jerry Kitten, Grand Knight of the Slaton Council Knights of Columbus. More than $9,000 was raised. This is the only major fund raising activity for the school each year.

As a sequel for the festival, St. Joseph School will hold an open house Thursday from 7 to 9 p.m.

Slaton schools were out last Thursday and Friday for a flu epidemic.

School will also be dismissed Thursday at 2:30 p.m. and all day Friday so anyone who wants to go to Austin to watch the varsity basketball girls play for State may go.

Students moving away include Barbra Nino, Jessie Vidaurre and Israel Vidaurre.

The seventh and eighth grade girls are starting track this week.

This week instead of asking a question, nicknames were given to the following:

Sherrie Bradford, Grandma; Chad Sikes, Chad-A-Rat; Sharon Stafford, Inch Worm; Steve White, Crow; Jancee' Jensen, JJ; Dee Dee Preston, Thud.

Senior Citizens

The Senior Citizens met Monday with 39 members present. Mrs. Fannie Patterson, president, presided at the business meeting.

F. B. Sexton gave the opening prayer and led the singing with Mrs. Ila Porterfield at the piano.

Rev. W. L. Porterfield, a retired Methodist minister, from Oxford, Miss., now of Slaton, gave the devotional, reading from Psalms. He also gave the closing prayer.

Lunch was carried to Mrs. Fannie Teague. Mrs. Nan Greer was reported to be in the hospital.

The group played forty-two and dominoes.

New members and guests are always welcome.

"To save energy and money this summer . . . cool your home with Gas Central Air Conditioning.

You save with a gas system because it's a more efficient energy user than its electric counterpart. It's more efficient because gas, unlike electricity, is a direct source of energy. You don't have the energy loss that occurs in electrical generation and transmission.

We help you save in another way, too.

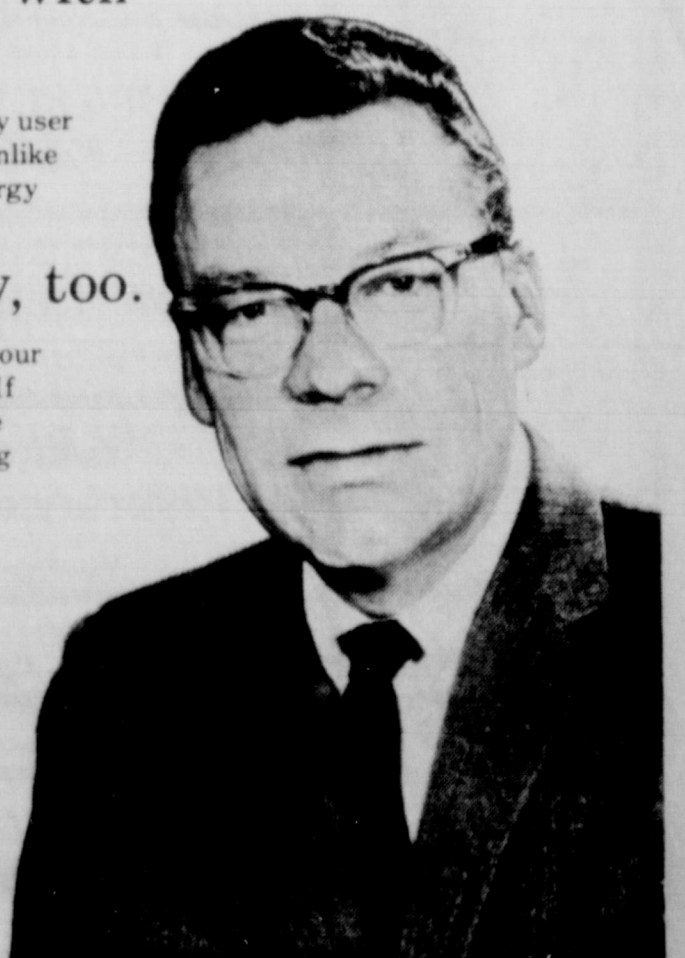

In addition to determining the exact cooling requirements of your home, our cooling specialists also check your attic insulation. If it's insufficient, insulation is added and included as part of the job. Proper insulation saves energy and money for both cooling and heating. So, beat the summer rush.

SUN POWER! --- Jimmy Steffens and Brenda Hammons of Slaton Junior High School watch Bobbie Sue Simms demonstrate the Surveyor Lunar Roving Vehicle, more commonly known as the Moon Rover. This scale model of the unmanned moon vehicle shows how the energy of the sun can be changed into electricity through solar cells. The Moon Rover was shown to students and faculty of Slaton Junior High as part of the General Motors "Previews of Progress" science show that appeared last Wednesday.

Previews Of Progress' Presented

"The world we live in today is merely a stepping stone to tomorrow, with countless challenging questions left for scientists and engineers to answer."

That message of opportunity was presented to local students when General Motors national assembly program, Previews of Progress, appeared at Slaton High School and Slaton Jr. High last Wednesday.

The non-commercial show seeks to encourage more student interest in science, engineering, and related vocational careers. It was presented live and in non-technical language by General Motors lecturers.

Two highlights of the 45-minute program included energy conversion techniques involving fuel cells and solar cells.

Potentially one of the most significant scientific developments of the century, fuel cells convert chemical energy into electrical power with much greater efficiency than is now obtained from conventional power plants. During the show, a few drops of "liquid sunshine" added to the cells provided enough energy to operate a portable radio.

The GM representatives also explained how the energy of the sun can be converted into electricity by running a model of the Surveyor Lunar Roving Vehicle on solar cells. A 300-watt lamp, simulating the sun's rays, powered the Moon Rover across an undulating table top surface.

Students also saw two demonstrations which illustrate recent developments toward solving water and air pollution problems. First, the lecturers showed progress being made to clean-up water used in an industrial process. They combined two common manufacturing pollutants to produce clean water and to eliminate the pollutants in one mutually beneficial operation.

Then students viewed a cutaway model of a catalytic converter, a device GM is developing to reduce automotive exhaust pollutants. Catalytic converters someday may help to remove the automobile from the air pollution problem.

A unique way to move heavy loads with little physical effort was illustrated by an "air bearing" platform. A small vacuum cleaner type motor provided a thin film of air under three large circular pads supporting the platform. This air-cushion reduced friction between the floor and the pads enabling finger-tip movement of the platform carrying about 200 pounds.

Two novel experiments involving "man-made" molecules showed modern chemistry's contribution to progress. Synthetic rubber was manufactured in a bottle in just a few minutes. A polyurethane cake "baked" in two minutes.

PRAISE THE LORD

By LENDA WOOD
 "So give yourselves humbly to God." (James 4:7.)
 "Open your mouth wide and see if I won't fill it." (Psalm 81:10.)
 "Not by might, nor by power, but by my Spirit, says the Lord of Hosts -- you will succeed because of my Spirit, though you are few and weak." (Zech. 4:6.)
 "If you insist on saving your life, you will lose it. Only those who throw away their lives for my sake and for the sake of the Good News will ever know what it means to really live." (Mark 8:35.)

I believe with all my heart that the Lord stands ready to pour out his blessings upon us, pressed down and running over. It all depends upon how much we open up to Him. If we hold back a little corner of our lives, then our holding back causes Him to hold back his blessings. We are the ones that close the door -- not Him.
 Remember, the Bible says that He forgives us as we forgive others.
 I have noticed more and more, in just talking casually with people that a lot of folks really do harbor a lot of old grudges and resentments in their hearts -- good people. Maybe they were mistreated, but God's Word says that we must take our hurts, our sicknesses, and our burdens -- all -- to the Lord and leave them there. We MUST let go of them (they're not worth hanging on to anyway -- they only give us heart-ache).

 No matter what bad experiences have happened in our lives, we MUST let go of them, and let the Lord take care of them. He is able, and more than that, He wants to handle all this stuff for us, so that our lives might overflow with JOY unspeakable and full of glory!
 Some folks either don't know how to turn loose of the stuff that burdens them down, or they refuse to believe that the Lord can really set them free.
 But this is where we make the choice -- the Bible says that He CAN set us free, and if the Son sets us free, we are free indeed!
 Not only is the Lord able to take our grudges, resentments, etc., and set us free from them, He is also able to take away our bad habits that we have been hooked on for so long, and think we

THE INWARD MAN

"Wherefore we faint not; but though our outward man is decaying, yet our inward man is renewed day by day" (2 Cor. 4:16). It is an extremely comforting thing to know that our spirits need never grow old as do our bodies. The robe of flesh continually ages, accepting the inevitable weaknesses and erosions which come its way. Day by day the body comes nearer the state of immobility, and finally we must lay it down in the dust of death. It will then have served its purpose.

Our spirit, however, made in the image of God, will have been renewed constantly and will have enjoyed uninterrupted growth -- if we have kept the faith and the word of God. Therefore it will not be fitted for dissolution but for an everlasting fellowship with the God of glory. With these thoughts in mind, let us follow the precepts of the eternal word that, in the words of our text, "we faith not."

A sincere welcome is yours at all services of the Slaton church of Christ:

can't possibly do without! Maybe you've allowed yourself to even "enjoy" the bad habits, and you think that since you enjoy them, there's no way the Lord could take those habits away from you. I know of many people (personally) to whom this has happened. People who say they really did enjoy the things they were doing, but when they really and truly were honest with the Lord about it and really wanted the Lord to help them, He did help, and even took away the desire. Praise His Name!

 If we think we can do it in our own strength, we are foolish. We can't! This is where we make the choice of letting the Lord's strength come in. Won't you let Him come in and set you free? He wants to.
 For folks that need God's kind of love poured out upon their marriages and homes and on themselves, He stands ready to do that very thing. It all depends upon how much we open up to the Lord and let Him in.
 "What no man ever thought could happen, is the very thing God prepared for those who love him." (1 Cor. 2:9, Good News.)

JESUS BEGINS TO TEACH

And he went out from thence, and came into his own country, and his disciples follow him.
 And when the sabbath day was come, he began to teach in the synagogue, and many hearing him were astonished, saying, From whence hath this man these things, and what wisdom is this which is given unto him, that even such mighty works are wrought by his hands?
 Is not this the carpenter, the son of Mary, the brother of James, and Joses, and of Juda, and Simon? and are not his sisters here with us? And they were offended at him.
 But Jesus said unto them, A prophet is not without honor honour, but in his own country, and among his own kin, and in his own house.
 And he could there do no mighty work, save that he laid his hands upon a few sick folk and healed them.
 And he marvelled because of their unbelief. And he went round about the villages, teaching.
 -- St. Mark 6:1-6

Accessories Take Lead

COLLEGE STATION -- Fashion forecasters are predicting a big accent on accessories.

Last season's items become today's trendsetters with a splash of the right accessories, one authority observed.

Mrs. Vivian Simmons, clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, said today's accessories signal versatility and meet the ever-changing scene with a fresh statement.

"Since rules for dress are passe, accessories define personality and lifestyle. Emerging guidelines help the fashion-conscious get the most for their money -- especially the basic guideline of understanding oneself and then accessorizing garments to express that self," the specialist noted.

In this era of shortages, fashion-conscious consumers want what's real and basic, she continued.

"This appreciation of reality swings from real gold and silver jewelry to recycled denim handbags. With necklines important, look for new ways to Dogs For Allies? The Yanomamo tribes of Venezuela never openly admit a need for allies, because this implies a weakness. To foster an alliance, they deal in trade items - dogs, pots, baskets - and rely on them to create bonds between giver and recipient.

"Simple cotton bandana prints and paisleys reflect a conservatism that has hit the scarf market. Belts also change garment appearance. But they must suit garment color and the wearer's figure. Wide belts and bright colors are best on slimmer figures. For the more mature figure, choose a narrow belt of self fabric -- or one the same color as the dress. The newest fashion look features narrow, braided leather belts," the specialist added.

"Perennial best sellers, gold and silver chains, provide the tailored look." Scarves, on the other hand, lend soft accent to necklines on dresses and suits. Mrs. Simmons pointed out.

"One fashion look twists together two scarves of harmonizing colors and drapes them around the neckline. Let two scarf ends show, and hide the others within the folds." Belts also change garment appearance. But they must suit garment color and the wearer's figure. Wide belts and bright colors are best on slimmer figures. For the more mature figure, choose a narrow belt of self fabric -- or one the same color as the dress. The newest fashion look features narrow, braided leather belts," the specialist added.
