

Rita Payne Enters Med School

GALVESTON — Rita K. Payne, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Glen B. Payne, Slaton, is among the 203 prospective physicians comprising The University of Texas Medical Branch freshmen class this year.

As the largest and oldest medical school in Texas and the ninth largest in the country, UTMB has approximately 323 fulltime and 281 part time faculty members for the total medical student enrollment of 735, with 196 sophomores, 196 juniors, and 135 seniors.

These future doctors, the majority from throughout Texas, will be involved in four information-packed years and will rotate through every UTMB medical department before receiving their medical degrees.

Since there is high competitiveness for entrance into medical school, each of these students were selected according to their scholastic ability, motivation, personal qualifications, and probability of professional success.

All UTMB freshmen begin their curriculum with the basic science program, followed by the clinical science core and the track program. Students are provided with in-depth information about the basic sciences and general clinical work in the various medical specialties. Such material furnishes students with the necessary background for making a decision about their future medical career.

The track program in the fourth year gives students opportunities for learning about patient care in their chosen field.

Miss Payne is a 1969 graduate of Slaton High School and a 1974 graduate of Texas Tech University.

Nursing Home News

By MARY ANN RESCH

We are glad to have one of our residents back from the hospital. He is John Nuchinson. We still have two residents in the hospital, Mrs. Lee Ann Readoner is still in Lubbock and we hope that she's feeling better and ready to come home. Mrs. Exic Feltie is in Mercy Hospital here. We have one new resident, Curtis Bray, who came here from Lubbock.

Thanks for the many things that have been donated to the Crafts department, we really do appreciate them, we can use them in different types of crafts or some of the things will make good prizes for our little games, which the residents enjoy very much.

The residents enjoyed a birthday party on Tuesday. Our birthday ladies all received cards and flowers for the occasion and several families and friends attended to help celebrate these birthdays. Some of the families brought cakes and various things for the party. Three of our ladies, Mrs. Ada LaHue, Mrs. Sarah Benton and Mrs. Lena Berherend, will celebrate their 90th birthday. This is an extra honor and they will receive a beautiful certificate from Governor Briscoe sending his congratulations to them.

Monday a red blazer was found on the parking lot in front of the nursing home. We have it here and if this belongs to you, you may come by the office and claim it.

Coupons Cut Costs

"Five cents off," "second box free," "send in for a full refund." These coupon offers are manufacturers' ways of getting you to buy and try new products. Often they are used to promote new products, but clipping and redeeming coupons can benefit a consumer too.

You can cut costs, especially in grocery shopping, if you're careful not to buy unnecessary items, or expensive or luxury products, just to use up your coupons. To save money, use coupons for items you regularly purchase.

Look for coupons in newspapers and magazines. When you shop, look for coupons displayed on the shelves and packages containing coupons. Then exchange with friends to get coupons for the products you want.

Organize your box-tops, labels and other offers, sorting them into product categories. And watch dates to be sure you use them before offer expires.

The money saved will make coupon clipping worth your time. Those dimes and nickels can quickly mount into dollars.

Reschs Fill Posts At Care Center

Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Resch have filled the posts of assistant administrator and activities director for the Slaton Care Center.

The Reschs come to Slaton from Clovis, N.M. where Mrs. Resch was activities director in the nursing home there and Resch was working for the newspaper.

Both of their involvements in nursing home work came about in an odd way.

Mrs. Resch was a beautician, and she always styled the nursing home administrator's hair. She learned through the administrator that the home needed a secretary, and Mrs. Resch got the job. She later became activities director.

Resch became interested in nursing homes when he worked first as a janitor and then as an orderly at a nursing home. He is currently undergoing a year's training as an assistant administrator. He is getting on-the-job training here, and he is also required to take 200 hours work at the South Plains Vocational School in Lubbock.

Resch's duties include seeing that the home runs smoothly and working with department heads. "It's hard to say exactly what I do," he said, "I'm a combination secretary, personnel director and counselor."

Resch takes care of most of the records of the residents, and when a family comes to see the home prior to bringing in a new resident, he counsels with them if Bobbie Greer, administrator, is not available.

There are currently 74 residents in the home and 53 employees.

Mrs. Resch conducts orientation classes and helps the residents with their crafts. She also plans and directs the monthly birthday parties and helps with bingo and other activities of the residents.

A standing activity of the care center is the weekly church services. Resch said, "We're proud of our religious aspects and we emphasize them. Our residents were brought up in a time when church was all they had. They enjoy church and we are anxious to have church services here." Local preachers take turns bringing devotionals.

The Reschs have three children: Ricky, 14; Debbie, 12; and Deana, 1½. They have been in Slaton only a short time. Resch began work Sept. 1 and Mrs. Resch began her duties Oct. 1.

looked out the window of the school and observed one man on the ground, another bending over him "and hitting the man on the ground repeatedly." He said he saw the standing man swing his arms for what appeared to be about 15 blows.

Heinrich's testimony contradicted that of Brad Robinson and Bill Jones, two 17-year-old wrecker drivers who testified at an earlier hearing that they helped Saldivar subdue and handcuff Davies. Heinrich said the two youths merely stood watching and were not physically involved except for "about 10 or 15 seconds when they helped the man up."

Kitten Testifies

Shelton cross - examined

Heinrich and brought out several apparent discrepancies in his stated testimony and a written statement made Oct. 1. Kitten's testimony corroborated that of Heinrich.

Presiding officer Byron Crandall granted Huffaker the right to cross-examine all witnesses except Saldivar himself, and on each occasion Huffaker spoke. Shelton or Gilkerson protested "Mr. Huffaker's taking over the hearing."

Sentiment of the crowd apparently was with Saldivar, and applause broke out three times, once when Shelton made reference to "the wealth of the complainant (Davies) as opposed to that of the defendant (Saldivar)."

Gilkerson called several witnesses in Saldivar's defense, including the 22-year-old patrolman himself. One witness called by Gilkerson, Patrolman Bobby Pack, did not testify, because Gilkerson started questioning him about how Davies was released from jail the morning after his arrest on a charge of drunkenness. Both Crandall and Morton said they wanted nothing said in the hearing about the circumstances surrounding Davies' release from jail.

Gilkerson said he was trying to make a point that in a hearing such as the one in progress, the accused person has a right to be heard by an impartial tribunal. He obviously was making reference to the report that one of the commissioners sitting on the "tribunal" allegedly took part in turning Davies loose from his cell without police authorization, a charge that has been denied by the commissioner in question, Otis Neill.

Gilbert Called

Officer Gary Gilbert, who was dispatcher on duty the night Davies was arrested, testified that Davies did not appear to need medical attention that night, but admitted he did see some blood on the back of Davies' head.

Two professors at Western Texas College, Snyder, where Saldivar earned a degree of associate of applied science in law enforcement, were called. One of them, Dr. Mary Hood, director of counseling and testing and associate professor psychology, testified that Saldivar "was very shy" and gave the opinion that beating of a prisoner would not be in keeping with the officer's personality.

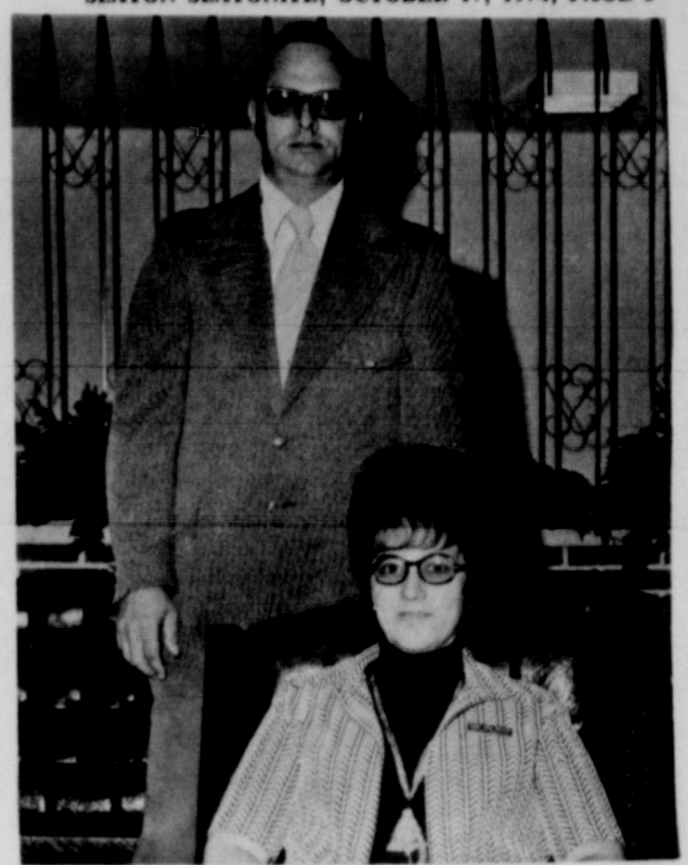

Saldivar took the stand after Crandall ruled that Huffaker would not be allowed to cross-examine him. The hearing had started at 1:30 and Saldivar went on the stand at 5:25 p.m., where he was questioned for an hour and 20 minutes. The entire hearing lasted about six hours Wednesday and about three hours the previous Friday, when Davies had testified.

Saldivar gave his account of the arrest incident, denying that any more force was used than was necessary.

Considerable wrangling over the handcuffing procedure took place with Saldivar, Gilkerson, Morton, Huffaker and Police Chief Fred Clark involved. Gilkerson, demonstrating how the cuffs work, accidentally locked the handcuffs on one arm and had to be freed with the key from Saldivar.

Saldivar testified he struck Davies on the hands only after asking Davies three times to let go of the officer's pants legs as Davies lay on the ground. He also said he struck Davies just once on the head after warning him.

About 100 persons were present for the hearing.

NEW PERSONNEL — Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Resch are the new assistant administrator and activities director for the Slaton Care Center. Resch is now in training at the Center and will serve a year as assistant administrator. Mrs. Resch has previously served as activities director in a home in Clovis, N.M. (SLATONITE PHOTO)

Care Center Profile

Lizzie was born July 25, 1888, in Polk County. She and her family later moved to a farm and a community was named for the family name. It was called Andreville, Tex.

She went to school in a one-room school in the piney woods. She didn't attend school with graded classrooms, because every grade was taught in one large room. She had to walk about three miles to school.

Lizzie attended and enjoyed church and Sunday school very much as a child and still today attends church and Sunday school every Sunday if at all possible.

Lizzie married Emery English in the small town of Grovetown, which was about 30 miles from her home. They traveled there by horse and buggy. They lived for awhile in Onalaska.

English was a railroad engineer, so they moved many times during the first LIZZIE ADRESS ENGLISH years of their married life. Only one child was born to Mr. and Mrs. English. Her name is Pauline Scott, and she is still a resident of Slaton. The Scotts have two daughters.

After retirement Emery and Lizzie moved back to Polk County where they were living when English died. After his death, Lizzie came to live at the nursing home. She has been here for the past seven years. She still enjoys her church work and likes the people here very much.

St. Joseph's paper clips

The students of St. Joseph School will finish their first nine weeks of school Friday. Report cards will be distributed the following week.

Last Monday, Oct. 7, Fire Chief Don Kendrick and several of his assistants came to the school for a fire prevention program. Several of the rooms submitted posters on fire prevention, and winners were presented certificates naming them honorary firemen by the Fire Department.

Following the program the Fire Department officials inspected the school for fire hazards. There were no hazards, but Chief Kendrick suggested that the fire extinguishers be checked. Tuesday, Charles Henz-ler, a volunteer fireman, gave the school a surprise fire drill, and the school was evacuated in less than a minute. Wednesday, several volunteer firemen gave all the children a ride on the fire truck.

October 18 will be World Mission Day and at the liturgy on Friday each person will give a contribution from his or her spending money to share with those who are hungry either physically or spiritually.

National School Lunch Week is scheduled for Oct. 13-19. St. Joseph School celebrates it by placing colorful bulletin boards and displays around the school and in the cafeteria to inform students and teachers about well balanced meals.

The school wants to give special recognition to the cafeteria personnel who try so hard to serve a nutritious, well-balanced and delicious meal. The school salutes Mrs. Betty Hlavaty, Mrs. Delta Meurer and Mrs. Connie Lewis, who all work hard and help the cafeteria run smoothly.

GRABBING AN ANTELOPE — Post runner Jimmy Dorland is aided by End Chris Wyatt (88) but is going down, thanks to Charlie Haynes (33) and an unidentified Tiger teammate. Post won a good game 10-3 last Friday. Coming up fast is Slaton's Darrell Bednarz (82). (SLATONITE PHOTO)

INCOMPLETE — Post's Jimmy Dorland was either the intended receiver on this play, or he was the defender against the unidentified Slaton player. Anyway, the ball obviously fell incomplete and the players fell completely. (SLATONITE PHOTO)

Broncs Kick Mustangs Out Of Corral, 27-16

The Wilson Mustangs received a crushing blow to their district hopes last Friday night when Meadow overpowered them 27-16.

Wilson began the first quarter by getting two breaks, an opening kickoff recovery by Richard Cedillo and a fumble recovery by Greg Bednarz on Meadow's first possession. The score remained 0-0 until 17 seconds left in the first quarter when Freddy Hernandez intercepted a Wilson pass and sped 51 yards to paydirt.

On Meadow's first possession of the second quarter, quarterback Danny Bingham hit halfback Mitchell McElroy on a 27-yard scoring pass with Terry Duncan kicking the extra point to make the score 13-0 in favor of Meadow. Following a 36-yard punt by Johnny Hernandez of Wilson, Victor Ortega tackled Bingham in the end zone for a safety to make the score 2-13. Meadow then punted to Wilson and they drove 42 yards in six plays to score with Wes Wilke going over from 3 yards out to make the score 8-13.

Meadow retaliated by marching the ensuing kickoff 66 yards in 11 plays to score. The drive was capped by a 19-yard touchdown pass from Bingham to end Terry Duncan. The score came with 22 seconds left in the second quarter.

Ortega Intercepts

After receiving the kickoff to open the second half Wilson fumbled the ball over to Meadow but got the ball back on a fine pass interception by Oscar Ortega who ran the ball back to the Meadow 29 yard line. Eight plays later Wilke drove over from a half yard out and David Ramirez ran over the extra point to bring the score to 16-19, in favor of Meadow.

On Meadow's next possession Phillip Bednarz recovered a fumble in the air on Wilson's 15-yard line and ran the ball back to Wilson's 29-yard line. Six plays later Meadow intercepted a Wilson pass and drove 61 yards to paydirt. The drive was capped off by a 16-yard run by Mitchell McElroy and Danny Bingham ran over the extra point to end the scoring at 27-16.

Wilson's offense was led by Richard Cedillo who gained 143 yards on 26 carries. Sophomore Carlton Henderson, filling in for injured Mike Bednarz, did a fine job at quarterback guiding his team to Wilson's two touchdowns against the tough Meadow defense.

Greg Bednarz led the Mustang defense with 15 tackles and one fumble recovery. Phillip Bednarz intercepted one pass and recovered a fumble. Ortega and Cedillo also recovered fumbles.

Wilson's record is now 3-3 and they travel to Amherst this Friday to play the fast improving Bulldogs.

Mustangs Slip By Cooper, 6-0 Tie-Breaker Determines All Contest Winners

By BILL SERYABILL
The Denver City Mustangs scored early in the second quarter, missed the extra point conversion, but won the game Friday night at Cooper. The defensive units of both teams worked overtime to hold the offense of both teams from scoring. As time ran out for the Pirates, the Mustangs remained ahead to win, 6-0.

During the first quarter, the teams battled to a standstill. The Mustangs came close to scoring several times, but were stopped by the Pirate defense. The Pirate offense was stopped cold by the Mustangs. The Mustang defense keyed on the Pirate runners, holding the Pirates to short yardage runs.

game came six seconds into the second quarter. The Mustangs were driving down field as the first quarter came to an end. As the second quarter opened, Darrell Knox kept the ball on an end run, dashed seven yards to score. The try for the extra point failed when the snap from center was bobbled.

Knox, Mustang quarterback, had a very good night. He carried the ball 10 times for a total of 107 yards, making him the leading rusher for either team. Knox completed two passes of 10 for 15 yards, with no interceptions. Jeff Ham, Myron Sims, and Kevin Munn were the other rushers for the Mustangs. The three carried the ball 37 times for a total of 92 yards. Sims and Glenn Bradley caught Knox's two completed passes for the 15 yard total.

Kelly Choban of Cooper had better luck in the passing department, as he completed four of seven for 38 yards. Clayton Bates, Jon Fehleison, and Steve Garcia were the primary receivers for Cooper. The Pirates' leading rushers were Garcia and Choban, carrying the ball 18 times for a total of 44 yards.

The second incident came during the second half. The Pirates had the ball and were in the huddle when the Denver City coach noticed one too many players on the field for the Mustangs. The coach signaled Darrell Knox to get off the field, but it was too late. As the Pirates began to line up for the play, Knox casually moved off the field and mingled with the Pirate players, un-noticed by the referees. When the play had ended, Knox went back on field, mingled with his own players, then moved off the field to his own side. All this went un-noticed by the referees, much to the disgust of the Pirate coaches.

This Friday the Pirates will travel to Tahoka to meet the Bulldogs.

Eleven entrants missed just six games in the weekly football contest sponsored by the Slatonite, so all three money winners were determined by the tie-breaker scores. Actual tie-breaker score total (Slaton vs. Post) was 13, and closest to this figure was W. V. Childers, 140 N. 5th, who picked 18 points and won the $10 first prize.

Sandra Voigt, 1005 S. 19th, placed second with a tie-breaker score of 22, and wins $5. Third prize of $2 goes to Rex Beck of Rt. 2, Slaton, who listed 28 points. Others who missed only six, but whose tie-breaker scores were higher, included Charles Miller, Charles Didway, Bob Melton, Tim Hartley, Paul Mercer, Jack Kuykendall, J. H. Baker and Mary Miller.

forward (one game) as he correctly picked 9 out of 12 winners last week to put him one game ahead of Pete Williams, who missed 4. Bill Ball dropped to third by missing 5, the same number missed by J.W. Holt, in fourth, and by Kelly Sparkman, who subbed for Joe while he was out of town, supposedly on business. Actually, she did much better than he usually does.

The eighth grade has also been collecting fire articles since the first week of school and also gathering information about different kinds of fires and how to prevent them. This information was used to write fire themes which will be judged for first, second and third place.

The eighth grade would like to thank Bob Kern and Don Kendrick for showing slides and passing out fire prevention leaflets. We thank them for taking time to bring us this program.

Junior Vasquez, Roosevelt 7th grader who weighs over 170 pounds at age 13, mauled Slaton's 7th grade team considerably in scoring four touchdowns as Roosevelt won 36-0 there Tuesday.

Firemen Busy During Fire Prevention Week

Fire Chief Don Kendrick and his men of the Slaton Volunteer Fire Department were busy last week. No, they weren't putting out fires; they were conducting fire prevention programs in Slaton schools.

Kendrick and Assistant Fire Chief Bob Kern visited Stephen F. Austin, Slaton Junior High and St. Joseph School during fire prevention week last week.

At each school, the men presented a slide show which consisted of two films. One deals with the Slaton Fire Department and its facilities. The other is strictly a slide show on fire prevention.

After the show, Kendrick and Kern answered questions and handed out a fire prevention leaflet.

Also, the men inspected the schools for fire hazards. Although West Ward youngsters were considered too young to really understand fire prevention, several classes did visit the fire department and were given tours of the station and a ride on one of the fire trucks.

The Department also presented certificates to winners of the fire prevention poster contests in the various schools.

Prior to fire prevention week, the Lubbock County fire departments had been very much in the news. Lubbock city firemen asked for a raise in the rate for rural calls, and when the County Commissioners refused the raise, the Lubbock City Fire Department said they would make no more rural runs.

The question is currently in debate right now, and both the City officials and the County Commissioners are hoping for an agreement. Until then, any fire outside the city limits of Lubbock will have to be handled by another department, such as Slaton's.

Kendrick said, "This will work fine. We've been making these runs for years, but now we'll just have to go farther. We'll have to go all the way to the Lubbock city limits."

In discussing the possibility of making longer runs, Kendrick said, "My only concern is the response time, how long it takes us to get there." A recent fire at Buffalo Springs Lake was answered by the Slaton Fire Department and it took approximately 10 minutes to get there.

"We are anticipating a larger number of calls now," said Kendrick. "We can handle two at a time and still have one truck here to protect the city."

The fire department has three trucks and a volunteer crew of 25. In addition to extending their coverage of Lubbock County, the department also covers the northern parts of Lynn and Garza counties.

"We feel an obligation to our rural citizens. We're going to answer every call we can," said Kendrick.

"We can also count on Tahoka, Post, Ralls and other area towns to help us out if something really big came up. Lubbock has said they won't come outside the city limits. I guess Roosevelt School could be burning to the ground and they wouldn't come," said Kendrick.

Lubbock county will depend heavily on Slaton to cover this part of the county. Idalou and Shallowater will also help in their end of the county, and Abernathy will cover the northern end.

"We'll do all we can," said Kendrick. "We're not going to tell anybody no."

PAUL

"Be ye imitators of me, even as I also am (1 Cor. 11:1). The splendid example of Paul encourages and amazes the follower of Christ, a man who never looked to his personal advantage, but whose entire concern was to please the Christ who loved him and to serve as many of his fellow creatures as possible. Flinging aside fame and fortune in religion, he joyfully endured the afflictions and persecutions of those he was trying to help. He never for a moment losing sight of his goal, he sought to impress all men with the value of Christ. Hunger, want, nakedness, peril, betrayal and torture — these never thwarted him in his purpose, finally, laying his head upon the chopping-block of the Roman executioner, he declared: "There is laid me the crown of righteousness, which the righteous judge, shall give to me at that day (2 Tim. 4:8)."

A sincere welcome is yours at every service of this church of Christ:

JUNIOR HIGH EAGLES

The Junior High Eagles scored three touchdowns and connected for all of the extras against Wellman on Oct. 10. The final score was 48-24, but Southland scored more points against Wellman than any other team.

Larry Hambrick scored two touchdowns on a 57-yard run and a 36-yard run, and Eddie Davila ran 44 yards for the other TD. The extras were scored by Terry Scott Smallwood on a pass from Sable Rodriguez and by two runs by John Sertuche. Gerry Hill returned four kick-offs for 55 yards; Jay Calloway grabbed an interception; and Dennis Becker recovered a fumble. Steve Kitchens, David Weaver, and Pete Valdez played good defensive football.

PEP RALLIES

Everyone is invited to the pep rallies held in the gym each Friday at 3:40 p.m.

"THE ELEPHANT EPISODE"

The class was quietly taking a test when the elephant walked by the open door and down the hall. The students heard a scream and then... we ran down the hall while the screaming continued. And there it was — right in the middle of the hall, Coach Windham was trying to shove the elephant out the back door. Then along came Coach Kohnhorst with his trusty-rusty dissection knife. With a gleam in his eye, he sliced a microscopic section of the elephant hide for his microscope, then he started to shove the rest of the elephant into a test tube. However, the students were too kindhearted to watch this. They released the injured elephant who gladly took a train to Lubbock.

BACK TO A MESS — Mrs. Joe Walker, who returned home to Slaton last Saturday after she and her husband went on a trip to Europe, found this sight awaiting her. The sign — and toilet tissue — were obviously placed by some of Mrs. Walker's students at Slaton High School. (SLATONITE PHOTO)

CIVILIZATION — A student in the sixth studies class in Slaton Junior High made this replica of an ancient civilization. The adobe huts are hand made and well detailed. The project earned a grade of A plus plus. (SLATONITE PHOTO)

Television: Is It Teaching Negative Character Traits?

"Television can't help but teach," says a children's television director, "but parents may be unhappy with what television is teaching their preschool children."

Bernard Lechowick, director of "Carrascalendas" bilingual children's television project, outlined several spurious effects of television on children in a recent meeting of the Austin Parent - Child Association.

He said children learn: — Not to think. "Laugh tracks on comedy shows tell you when something is funny," he said, "so you don't have to think; you laugh when you hear laughter."

— Not to be critical. "Commercials come on too fast and too often to allow the viewer to criticize. What does it matter, for example, that a toilet paper roll is squeezable?" he said.

— Not to react. Commercials generally interrupt programs at a highly dramatic or emotional moment.

Lechowick cited one program in which a man was rescued by a rope from a helicopter. As the helicopter pulled away from the scene, the rope broke and the man fell. In the next instant, a shaving commercial appeared on the screen.

— Not to distinguish stereotypes from fact. "Intelligent people are usually beautiful; stupid people are ugly or in some way physically defective," he said.

The same stereotype holds for good and evil, he continued. An evil person, for example, has "slanted eyes, a greasy mustache or a hunched back."

Unfortunately, "children apply these stereotypes to people in real life."

— That worth is judged by quantity and objects. Commercials teach children that "more is better," "larger is better," and that it's better to drive this kind of car and have that kind of toy.

— That the record of the event is better than the event itself. One commercial, Lechowick said, makes the claim for color pictures that are "truer than life."

Children don't "toss stones into ponds anymore or play baseball in the park"; they watch television, he said.

— That learning is competitive. "Game shows teach children to compete," he said, "not to be the best person they can be."

Furthermore, game shows do not reward "cooperativeness, perception, insight or problem solving," but rather "retention and fast recall of trivial data."

Books and computers do a better job of storing information than people, he said, yet television — and much traditional education — rewards the people who can retain data.

In addition to the effects listed above, television also teaches children violence and narrow sex roles, Lechowick said.

The majority of television action drama — Westerns, crime and police shows, detective mysteries — follow the same pattern: Bad wins repeatedly throughout a program, until the end, when Good wins out. Ironically, Good must employ the same violent methods as Bad to win.

"A preschool child's attention span is short. In one hour, the child learns that Bad triumphs as many as 10 times more than Good, and that violence is the best solution to a problem."

Violence on television is usually defended, Lechowick said, by the cathartic theory.

This theory claims that violence on the screen helps people rid themselves of inner aggressions, "to get it out of their systems."

instead of expressing violence in real life.

However, Lechowick said, "the undeniable fact is that repeated, multiple exposure gradually wears the viewer down, so that negative feelings toward violence are gradually softened."

As an example, Lechowick cited the shock the nation felt at the assassination of John F. Kennedy; the lesser shock at Martin Luther King's death; and the lesser shock still at Robert Kennedy's.

As for sex roles, Lechowick said children see that males play a variety of dominant roles, but females play few and submissive roles.

A 1971 survey of one of the "superior" children's programs, for example, revealed that in the animated segments males portrayed 24 different roles in one week of viewing, and females portrayed only 2, that of "idiot" and mother.

Male-female stereotyping has decreased since this survey was taken, Lechowick said, but stereotyping is blatant in many Saturday morning children's shows and in those programs which attract a wide juvenile following, such as "Gilligan's Island" and "I Love Lucy."

The program that offers the best model for healthy emotional development, in Lechowick's mind, is "Misterogers Neighborhood."

Television defenders will say that television reflects society, Lechowick added. "It's the old chicken-egg question: does television influence society or does it reflect society?"

"That kind of question really doesn't matter anymore," he said, "because in either case children do learn from what they see on television."

LIVING- AS YOU LIKE IT

...and get more from the GOOD YEARS

By Francis Nugent

One of the most important retirement decisions is the choice of where to live. Our society is not nearly so static as it used to be. People travel during their working years. The "old hometown" (where everyone was a friend and neighbor) is hard to find. Like topsy, it grew and isn't "the same" anymore.

Many Americans, immigrants to this country long ago, still have strong ties with their homeland - Italy, Greece, Germany, Great Britain, Mexico, Canada. Each year, in increasing numbers, American workers retire and return to the land of their birth. They are joined by a number of native-born Americans who choose overseas retirement simply because they believe they can live better for less on their retirement income.

Growing also is the number who choose trailer life—on the move, or anchored at some trailer park in a moderate climate.

For those with no urge to roam, where to live often means simply the decision whether to remain in a paid-for home or sell it and move to an apartment to save the cost and bother of taxes and maintenance.

In any event, where to live in retirement is an important decision—and one that should not be lightly made. Returning to the "old country" can be disappointing. Old friends may be gone, living conditions may not be up to the American standard. Selling the home for apartment living needs special consideration. If you want a home back, it will cost you more to get one.

Like everything else about retirement, where to live is a matter for careful planning.

CONSUMERS' CORNER

Shop for low-cost, nutritious snacks

There are plenty of foods at the supermarket that can add up to low-cost, nutritious snacks for you and your family.

At the dairy counter, there is milk, cheese, ice cream, ice milk and sherbet. The fruit counter provides snack foods all year round. Fruit juices are good choices for bargain snack beverages. Canned peaches, apple sauce and fruit cocktail are handy items to keep on the shelf and ready to go. Raw vegetables for crunching includes tomatoes, lettuce, carrots, celery, green pepper, cucumbers and turnips. Processed meats, packaged or canned, are excellent for hearty snacks. The meat you have left over from a beef or pork loin roast, or broiler-fryer, can make good fare for the refrigerator-raider. Ready-to-eat cereals, enriched crackers and fruit cookies are other good snack foods, anytime of the day or night.

All of these are good snack foods because they offer nutrition and low cost all in one.
