Slaton Tigers Looking Tougher As 1975 Grid Season Nears

To Meet Tiger ers Monday Night

Tigers' night next Monday Tiger Club will football players at the junior 8 p.m., fans of Slaton are urged to the booster club, with the drawing scheduled for Oct. 17, homecoming, at the game against Roosevelt. It was announced that the Tiger Club will take over sponsorship of the annual West Texas Girls Invitational Basketball Tournament which has been sponsored in the past by the Chamber of Commerce, and that Donald Basinger has tentatively accepted chairmanship of the event, planned this year for three days, Dec. 29-31.

Coach Benson commented that it is necessary to pay for top-quality officials for the holiday tournament, because good officiating is imperative. J. Martin Basinger supported this view, observing that "if you don't have good officiating, you don't have a tournament."

These remarks were made in view of some criticism of the amount spent on tournament officials in the past.

Looking ahead to the annual football awards, Coach Cook said he did not think such awards should be restricted to seniors, "because the outstanding player in one of these categories might be a junior or sophomore — or possibly even a freshman." Cook also discussed the possibility of using incentive awards during the season, such as emblems on helmets for outstanding play during a game.

It was announced that fire department members would sell programs at the games this fall.

WITHOUT QUESTION, we have to have the and to make it work, anyone who do so should take his or her turn on the juries of the various courts. sure does make a mess out of your schedule of activities.

I reported for jury service in along with about 100 other eager wondering if I could tell the judge I to attorneys and Mondays and get n't try this, though, and they kept me, then told me to go home and come next day. The idea behind all this is up as many of a fellow's days as so he'll have more of a feeling of for juries in the future.

I recognized on the panel went up and told him some kind of yarn turned loose. One of the qualifications is that he must be of sound mind or moral character, so I suspect it was he used. Anyway, he was back at a clothing store fairly early in the day.

all this, which had not yet ended at of this writing, should explain the of this week's offering here. It is worth mentioning that one guy said I've been excused on the insanity angle just by showing the judge a copy of er. He's a pretty funny fellow, who laughing one of these days.

Team To Scrimmage Levelland Here Friday

By DALTON WOOD

With 17 lettermen and a dozen starters returning, the 1975 Slaton Tiger football team which will get its first contact with opposing forces in a scrimmage here against Levelland Friday evening should be a tougher cat than usual.

Head Coach Eddie Cook, football fans and the Tiger players are all optimistic and with spirit running high on the team, just about all the folks who have endured the slings of outrageous fortune for most of the last two decades are thinking that this just might be the Year of the Tiger.

A lot of well-deserved publicity is being given to the Tigers' talented all-

South Plains running back, Bill McClesky. But the quiet, 194-pound senior himself is quick to point out that he got a lot of help last year — and is sure to get more help this season — from some strong blocking in the line and in the backfield by his teammates.

Take on Loboes

Fans will get their first look at this year's team in action when the Tigers scrimmage at 6 p.m. Friday against Levelland at the Tiger practice field west of the gymnasium. The junior varsity also will scrimmage Levelland JV.

About 38 freshmen were expected to report for the first time this week, making a total of about 85 boys out for football in high school. The varsity, jayvees and freshmen all will scrimmage at Tulia a week from Friday.

With the running attack certain to be built around McClesky, the team likely will throw more this fall to give McClesky and the other runners a better chance. All four of last year's starters will be back in the backfield, with junior Quarterback Mike Tumlinson, a fine 150-pound passer, sure to be improved after a year's experience. Manning the slotback position, and also the backup quarterback, is tough Gary Aycock, who will be a senior. With McClesky at tailback, Gaylon Buxkemper, up to 195, will be running at fullback. Charlie Haynes, Brad Eblen, Clarence Hammons and Ernest Gipson all are expected to see lots of action in the offensive backfield also.

Infantry Troops

At center, Coach Cook will go with either Mark Ethridge or Artie Limmer, starters John T. Basinger and Tip Culver will be backed up at the guard spots by Russell Heinrich and Steve Leake, and the tackle slots will be filled by Loran Roberts, at 201, 185-pound Geron Stricklin, Michael Bednarz or Clifford Lacy.

At the offensive end positions, top candidates are Darrell Bednarz, who Coach Cook said has been showing up well as a pass receiver, Jesse Smith and Bill Burks.

A defensive depth chart at this stage of development looks like this: nose guard, Culver, Emilio Garcia and Lacy; tacklers, Roberts, Stricklin, Limmer and Michael Bednarz; ends, Greg Basinger, Ethridge and Darrell Bednarz; linebackers, Hammons, John T. Basinger and Buxkemper; corner backs, Aycock, Gipson, Steve Wood and Jesse Smith; safeties, Tumlinson, Eblen, Tim Bourn and Rocky Smith.

The order of some of these players is sure to change and addition of some new names is certain, Cook said, as some of the players develop and challenge others for position, but no matter who is out there, Cook and his aides are looking for something much better than last year's 3-8 record to happen this season.

"Right now, we're so far ahead of last year at this time, we can't even compare," the coach told Slaton Tiger Club members Monday. "We have as fine a spirit and as much enthusiasm as any group I've been associated with... they're ready to win."

Cheaters Caught Say Welfare Workers

By SANDY MARTIN

Welfare is abused. Fraud is practiced. Violators are prosecuted.

Welfare is not a get-rich-quick scheme or a government plot to fleece taxpayers of their money, according to those within the system. It is a program designed to help those in need who cannot help themselves. The system is riddled with criticisms and misconceptions, and to a majority of the public, welfare is simply another way to throw away money on people who neither deserve it or appreciate it.

"Nobody gets rich on welfare," said Sammie Mitchell, financial services worker in the Slaton office of the State Department of Public Welfare. Sammie is mainly concerned with a program known as AFDC (Aid to Families with Dependent Children), and she deals daily with the income problems of welfare recipients.

"I work mostly with unwed mothers and children or with families whose fathers have deserted them," said Sammie. "A family of two, a mother and child, gets only $86 a month from welfare. A family of three receives $116. Now tell me, how is anybody going to get rich on that?"

Qualifications

To qualify for AFDC, a child's parent or parents must be gone or must be physically or mentally unable to take care of him. The child must be under 18 years old or under 21 if he is still in school. The child must be a U.S. citizen or registered alien and must live in Texas with a parent or close relative.

The family taking care of the dependent child must be in financial need, but they may own a home and other property and still be able to get help. The child may also be eligible if the one taking care of him gets Social Security checks.

Once a family is receiving AFDC, they are often also eligible for other benefits such as medical care and food stamps.

"Medicaid is a program which entitles recipients to free medical care," said Sammie. "Each family has an identification card that proves they have Medicaid. A doctor doesn't have to accept these state paid cases. Some doctors will and others won't, it's not mandatory," said Sammie.

Glasses, Dental Care

Medicaid also enables families to free glasses, dental care and three prescriptions per family member a month.

Sammie's caseload of families now receiving AFDC numbers 126 for Slaton. Among those cases, some of the welfare is being abused.

"When anyone calls us and tells us that they think someone is violating any of the welfare rules, we go and check it out. We have a fraud unit operating out of Lubbock, and we prosecute violators," said Sammie.

The most common fraud practiced has to do with men living in the household. "When a family is receiving AFDC, the mother cannot have a live-in boyfriend and still receive her share. If a man is in the home, assuming the role of provider, it is a violation of the rules not to report it. We welcome calls that let us know when this is going on," said Sammie.

Another common fraud is to lie about the number of children in the house and their ages. "Sometimes a mother will report she has six young children, when two of them are over 18 and are working," she said.

Each case is reviewed every three months and fraud is usually found out sooner or later. "Our welfare rolls are decreasing now because we are really getting serious about prosecuting," said Sammie. "We also have a new child support unit that is going after unwed fathers and deserting fathers. They are locating them and making them pay child support. Just because the father isn't married, he can't escape his responsibilities to his children," she said.

Another type of relief available to low income families is food stamps. Adrienne Blanchard is in charge of the food stamp program for the eastern half of Lubbock County and she now has 685 active cases in the area.

Lots of Interviews

"I handle twice as many cases as a worker in Lubbock would, and it keeps me busy," said Adrienne. During the average week, Adrienne interviews approximately 50 people a week. During migrant season, from October to December, Adrienne sees 20 people a day and her case load doubles.

"We now have a new program where we transfer food stamp cases from county to county rather than beginning a new case on each family when they move. It makes it harder to get food stamps, and cuts down on fraud cases," said Adrienne.

The process for obtaining food stamps is relatively

I own several pieces of expensive jewelry. What is the best method of insuring them? Through a homeowner's policy or through a separate policy?

Either method is adequate. You may insure them for approximately the same cost through your homeowner's policy or through an addition to that policy called a "personal floater" policy. Cost of the coverage depends, of course, on the value of the jewelry. In order to determine the appropriate value, an appraisal must be obtained from an accredited appraiser. If you don't know where to find an appraiser give me a call and I'll be glad to help. Effects of inflation (increasing values of jewelry) have made it necessary for many people to take a second look at this type coverage.

Nursing Home News

By GLADYS RICHARDSON

This week has been a very busy week here in the Care Center.

Monday, Warner Boyce and Vera Johnson entertained with piano and fiddle music, and on Friday, we had our monthly birthday party.

Jim Franklin and Vera Johnson entertained with piano and harmonic music. Gospel songs were also sung by residents and visitors.

Our thanks go to Mrs. Ed Haddock, Mrs. James Hill, Mrs. Eugene Wilson and Cecilia Steffens for those beautiful and delicious cakes they furnished for the occasion.

Also helping with the party were the Slaton Care Center Auxiliary members. The Lutheran Church women treated residents to home made ice cream.

We are happy to have Stella Redmon back with us after spending a few days in Mercy Hospital. Rose Patterson is in Mercy and we wish her a speedy recovery.

Mary Sewell and Mabel Vaughn checked out the past week. We will miss these two lovely persons and we wish them the best of health and happiness.

New residents are Mrs. Minnie Gecklehorn from Wilson and Carry Matney from the Golden Age Nursing Home in Lubbock.

Mrs. John Covey and Mrs. Hugo Macker brought us some green beans and black eyed peas which we certainly appreciated. A few of our residents enjoy shelling peas and it always seems to bring back the conversation around to "When I was a kid back on the farm..."

I close with this thought for the week, "Seven days without church makes one week."

Southland Sets Scrimmage

Bicentennial Play To Be Cast

Auditions for the Bicentennial play, "Yankee Doodle" by Aurand Harris will be Sept. 2 and 3 from 6 to 8 p.m. in the Clubhouse.

"Yankee Doodle" is a musical review that is a rousing salute to the makers and the shakers of the United States.

The play is a fresh telling of a history of America from 1776 — 1927, with both famous and forgotten figures and events.

Spokesmen for the play committee of the Bicentennial Committee say the auditions are open for anyone from high school age on. In addition to actors, other production people are needed. Anyone who can help with costuming, lighting, sets, etc., is urged to come to the auditions and let your talents be known.

Because this is a musical, those wishing to have a singing part should bring a musical selection to the auditions. There is a piano in the clubhouse available for accompaniment.

No definite date for the play has been set, but it will be in early fall, and the need to get started now is an urgent one.

For more information regarding the play or tryouts, call Sandy Martin at 828-6201 or at 828-5132 after 5 p.m.

PICTURES and wall ornaments give a room the touches of color and visual intrigue that help it to "come alive". The finest furniture will have an incomplete look if the walls are all bare. Wall decor is like the jewelry that turns a woman's simplest dress into a striking outfit.

Besides providing a dramatic or restful place for the eye to fall, paintings can be useful decoratively. You can use the colors in a painting to tie your room colors together, for example. However, it's not a good idea to choose a painting for this purpose alone. You should select it because you like it. Keep your decor personally yours—not artificial.

You may want to group several smaller paintings for wall interest, or create a wall display for hobby items. Artifacts brought back from a special vacation, pieces of sculpture, antiques—all can give your room eye appeal. Today's trend is toward more ornamentation—so be bold!

From eye-catching wall decor to striking accessories — and famous names in quality furnishings for every room—our selection offers solutions to your decorating needs. Let us help you beautify your home in keeping with your good taste — and your budget.

BICENTENNIAL BITS

By NEWMA CARNES

The Slaton Bicentennial Committee met Tuesday, August 12. Greeley Sanders reported that, as a result of the Fourth of July activities, the exact amount donated to Mercy Hospital was $3,985.16! He also reported that the VFW, American Legion, and Chamber of Commerce would again be working together on the November 11 Veteran's Day parade. The parade will have a Bicentennial theme, and the awards will be the same as last year.

Cleo Green indicated a good response from local merchants to the idea of using the Slaton Bicentennial Emblem on their advertising items. Look for the Slaton emblem, designed by Mike Tumlinson, on pens, pencils, matchbooks, etc. given away by merchants. The emblem will also be on the football tickets and football programs.

Mrs. Tunnell requested that persons still holding recipes for the Bicentennial Cookbook turn in the recipes right away. Her target date now is to have the cookbook into print by Thanksgiving to have time to sell copies for Christmas gifts.

A business envelope from Oklahoma City, addressed to an individual in Slaton, is a Bicentennial emblem. A national Bicentennial emblem is on the front, and the entire back of the legal-sized envelope depicts seven

American Revolution historical events "in living color!"

Did you notice the well-known children's canvas shoes are advertised in "red, white, and blue Bicentennial colors"? Or that new Baskin-Robbins Bicen flavor—Red, White 'N Blueberry ice cream?

And, did you see the picture of Lubbock school children holding display materials for Lubbock and America? Part of the caption beneath the picture states "The 200th birthday of our country will be celebrated in the public schools this year with numerous programs and displays that have the Bicentennial theme." Several Slaton students participated in some Bicen projects during the Spring '75 session, and it is highly probable that most will have some opportunity to take part in Bicen-theme programs and

Comptroller Has New Plan

Austin — Comptroller Bob Bullock issued city sales tax rebates Friday worth $19.9 million and announced a new plan to give cities their proportionate share of any partial collections from delinquents.

Slaton received $7,211.80 from the state.

In the past, money from delinquents was applied first to the state's claim and only after that was totally paid off did the city get its money.

"It was wrong for the cities to be playing second fiddle," Bullock said. "In more than 800 cities the five per cent sales tax is displays this year."

Several copies of the Slaton Bicentennial Souvenir Calendar are still available at the C of C office at $1.00 per copy. No further copies will be printed.

four-and-one split, so that's exactly how we are going to rebate it."

Bullock said he doesn't look for the new plan to bring significantly more money to cities but "it will get them their share a lot faster than when they had to bring up the rear."

The City of Austin is one example of an immediate beneficiary of the new plan, Bullock said.

An Austin tire company shut down by Bullock last week owed $37,102 in state taxes and $9,936 in Austin's city sales taxes. The business was allowed to reopen after paying $12,000 cash toward the delinquency and agreeing to pay $2,000 monthly on the balance plus keeping future taxes current.

The City of Austin's $2,400 share of that initial $12,000 payment will be included in Austin's rebate next month and its $400 share of the $2,000 monthly payment will be paid every month until the full city liability is paid off.

This month's $19.9 million in rebates to the cities is significantly higher than the $11.4 million rebated last month. August is the second month of the three month rebate cycle which includes two months of relatively small rebates followed by a large "clean up" in the third month.

Report on Health

Dr. M. S. Dickerson, chief of the Bureau of Communicable Diseases Control, says the aging — those over 65 years — and the chronically ill have lowered resistance to respiratory infections. And, with this lowered resistance is the threat of complications, such as pneumonia, he said. Influenza outbreaks are frequently associated with excess mortality in older age groups.

Annual vaccination is strongly recommended for persons at any age who have such chronic conditions as: 1. Any type of heart disease; 2. Chronic bronchopulmonary diseases, such as asthma, chronic bronchitis, cystic fibrosis, emphysema and advanced tuberculosis; 3. Chronic renal diseases; and 4. Diabetes mellitus and other chronic metabolic disorders.

Persons who provide essential community services—such as firemen and policemen—may also be considered for immunizations.

Persons falling into the risk categories may want to contact their physicians now about setting up their vaccination schedules. Influenza vaccine should be administered by mid-November.

A word of caution is put forth by the Bureau of Biologics, Food and Drug Administration, concerning the vaccine. Since influenza virus vaccine is prepared from viruses grown in embryonated eggs, it should not be administered to persons clearly hypersensi-tive to egg protein, ingested or injected. Physicians are asked to thoroughly read the manufacturer's package insert before administering the vaccine.

Vaccine released by the FDA will contain the type A and type B influenza virus.

Dr. Dickerson says there's virtually no way that a mobile person can keep from being exposed to influenza, and that the vaccine in most people produces an immunization level which affords some protection. "For maximum protection, the vaccine is recommended," he said.

What type of influenza season the state and country will have this year can't be predicted, said Dickerson. "A large number of people will be immunized, and there is a large amount of immunity carried over from one year to the next in their general population," he said.

With fall comes the cold season, and there is confusion in the minds of many as to whether they have a cold of influenza.

"We have to have laboratory confirmation of what we have before stating there is an upsurge in influenza," he said. "In order to isolate viruses causing influenza, we need throat swabs plus blood serum specimens during the acute stage of the illness in the convalescent stage," he said. "And," he added, "the sooner we get in specimens the better off we are."

To aid in identifying and keeping track of influenza in Texas, a surveillance system has been established by the department of Health Resources. The existing Health Resources regional offices and some local Health Departments collect data from various points in their jurisdictions. This allows the state headquarters to have an immediate picture of influenza upswings. Kits are made available for taking specimen for submission to the State Laboratories.

When an upswing in influenza appears, educational efforts can be made immediately to zero in on prevention. Among the things stressed are personal hygiene, avoiding unnecessary exposure and confining yourself to bed if you become ill. Advice from a physician is recommended in case of elevated fever.

Past records indicate that January normally is the point at which the number of influenza cases swing upwards, although slight rises may occur later. By late March, the curve usually bottoms out again. Last year the rise started in December, hit a peak of more than 12,000 cases at one weekly reported period, and then began flattening out.
