Local Police to Crack Down On Speeders on City Streets

Plans to crack down on speeders and for a more rigid enforcement of traffic laws were revealed early this week by Bill Daniels, Slaton's chief of police.

Recently the City of Slaton was awarded a plaque by the National Safety Council for the record of no traffic fatalities in the city limits during the year 1955.

Again in 1956 "We are going to try to win that award again in 1956 and we can do it if we have the cooperation of all citizens of Slaton. Most of our speeding is taking place around the local schools and we feel that if the parents who drive their children to school will set the example for the younger drivers we can have another 'no fatality year,' Daniels said.

"We need more cooperation from parents, also, in talking to their youngsters about driving to school or anywhere else without a drivers license. We intend to start checking driver licenses around the school zones—and we offer this advice to young drivers—either get a license or quit driving.

State Law

"There is in existence a state law which makes it possible for law enforcement officers to file charges on parents who allow their children to drive without a license.

"We are going to get rough on drag racers in the city. Though there is no law in regard to reckless driving there is one called imprudent speeding which in effect means the same thing as reckless driving. This law carries a fine of from $1 to $200.

"Now that we have two patrol cars we can do a more effective job of enforcing traffic laws around the city and especially around the schools."

Daniels reported that the members of the safety patrol in the grade schools will be asked to take down the license numbers of traffic violators to be turned into the police department.

To Write Letters

Letters will be written by the police department to the violator telling him that he was observed violating the law and requesting him to cooperate with the police department in making the streets safer for both pedestrians and drivers—by obeying the traffic laws.

School Board Votes to Maintain Segregated Schools for '56-'57 Term

Slaton's school board members, in a meeting Thursday night, voted to maintain segregated school facilities for the 1956-57 school term. The group will continue to study to arrive at a positive action in the future.

A statement released by school board president Robert Hall Davis reads "The following existing conditions have been studied by the Slaton Independent School Board since May 1954 with regards to integration of the public school system.

"1. The best interest of all pupils involved both colored and white. The board feels that it must consider every child and not certain individuals.

"2. Secondly, the best interest of the community comprising the Slaton Independent School District. To prevent any critical situation from arising, that is anything that would work a hardship upon any group in the Slaton community.

"3. The condition of housing the continued increasing enrollment. Due to the fact that every building is at capacity and some buildings over capacity we have tried to furnish adequate housing in each area.

"Due to these primary critical conditions and many other minor conditions existing, the Slaton Independent School Board deems it inadvisable to consider integration for the term 1956-57, but will continue study to arrive at a positive action."

Davis stated that the school board has heard no comment, pro or con, in regard to segregation in the local school system from the townspeople in any section of the community.

Southland to Open Football Season

Southland High School's football team will meet the Patton Springs High School team in the season's opening game Friday night at 8 p. m. at the Southland High football field.

Southland, which plays six man football, ended the season last year with a seven win-two loss record.

METHODIST REVIVAL TO FEATURE TENNESSEE MINISTER-WRITER

September 23 through 28 is the date set for the First Methodist Church revival effort which is to be led by Dr. Clovis Chappell, one of the outstanding preachers of America, according to The Christian Century Pulpit Magazine survey. Services will be held daily at 10 p. m. and 8 p. m. daily.

The local church is sponsoring study and prayer groups meeting at various times preceding the revival season. The members are urged by their pastor, the Rev. J. B. Sharp, to attend one of these at the most convenient time for their schedule.

Dr. Chappell, whose home is in Waverly, Tenn., was reared in that state. He attended Duke and Harvard Universities and has had academic honors bestowed on him by Duke University, Centenary College of Louisiana and Birmingham-Southern College.

Ordained to the ministry in 1908, he has held pastorates in several states and in Washington, D. C. In Texas, he was pastor at Polytechnic, Gatesville, Highland Park, Dallas and First Methodist, Houston. In 1949 he retired from pastoral duties to writing and preaching, and has completed some thirty books. His latest one is "The Seven Words," "In Parables" and "Meet These Men."

"I THOUGHT THEY WERE KIDDING ME—it sure was a pleasant surprise to find out they weren't," was the reaction of Miss Helen Russell when told she had been selected as "Most Courteous Clerk" for the month of August. Leroy Holt, co-owner of Slaton Pharmacy where Miss Russell has been employed for the past five months, is shown as he presented her with a corsage. "We are very happy to have an employee who could make such a good impression in such a short time," Holt stated. He is a director of the Chamber of Commerce which jointly presents the monthly awards with The Slatonite.

Slaton Ministerial Alliance to Meet For Reorganization

Members of Slaton's Ministerial Alliance will meet Monday, September 10 for the purpose of reorganization following the summer recess of meetings. The minister members will meet at the Church of the Nazarene in Slaton at 2 p. m.

Motorists Urged To Practice Safe Driving

An appeal to motorists to obey laws concerning school bus operation was made this week by superintendent of schools P. L. Vardy Jr. "Safety around schools is a matter with which we all are concerned and in this regard we should all be concerned with adhering to traffic laws when near schools.

"We are also concerned with safety in regard to operation of school buses," he stated. Texas school buses were involved in 379 accidents in rural areas during 1955. Three children and two adults were killed in these accidents.

The law says, in effect, that upon meeting or overtaking from either direction a school bus which has stopped on the highway for the purpose of receiving or discharging children, the driver shall stop immediately before passing then proceed with due caution at a speed which is prudent and does not exceed ten miles per hour.

Former Student At St. Joseph's Returns to Teach

Editors Note: The following story concerns a Slaton girl who attended St. Joseph's school and has now returned as a nun to teach in the school. The story appeared in the West Texas Register, official newspaper of the Diocese of Amarillo.

A girl who received her grade school education at St. Joseph's school in Slaton has come back to teach in the same school.

Two of her fellow teachers on the staff taught her while she was going to St. Joseph's. She is Sister M. Angelica, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Heinrich of St. Joseph's Parish. One of a family of seven, Sister Angelica's name before she entered the Sisters of Mercy was Cleo.

Her two former teachers who are still on the staff at St. Joseph's are Sister M. Michael, principal, who taught Sister Angelica in the third, fourth, and fifth grades; and Sister M. Regina, who taught her in the first and second grades.

Director of the school is Monsignor Thomas D. O'Brien pastor of St. Joseph's. It was Magr. O'Brien who baptized Sister Angelica and gave her first communion.

After being graduated from St. Joseph's School, Sister Angelica attended Slaton High School before going to Webster Groves, Mo., to join the Sisters of Mercy. She took her final vows August 16 in St. Louis.

Sister Angelica will teach the fifth and sixth grades in the new school.

Her elder sister also is a nun, and also belongs to the congregation of the Sisters of Mercy. She is Sister M. Angelita, now a teacher at St. Mary's School, Groom.

Present commissioners include B. H. Bollinger, Wayne Liles, and H. T. Swanner.

The term of office of the newly elected commissioner will expire on the first Tuesday in April, 1958 or until his successor has been duly elected and qualified.

Voters will cast their ballots for the new commissioner in the Board of City Development office in City Hall.

BROKEN GLASSES COME HIGH WHEN WORN BY POLICEMEN

At least one resident of the Flats has found out that the cost of a pair of glasses comes pretty high—especially when they are worn at the time they are broken by a police officer.

W. J. Todd, local patrolman, had his glasses broken Sunday night while trying to break up a fight in the Flats. Fines totalling $100 were assessed against the man responsible for breaking the officer's glasses.

"Slaton Played Good Football In 1921 Too"

"Now listen here you young whippersnapper, before you start bragging about your football team let me tell you how the game was played when I was a younger man.

"When Slaton first had a football team—now let me see was it 19—sure now I remember—it was 1921. In those days the team didn't need a schedule, they just practiced with the ball until they thought they were ready and then began looking around for a team from another town to bang heads with.

"In 1921—I can see it now—the first game of the year—the boys went down to the express office one morning, picked up their uniforms and then took off for Plainview to play the team there.

"Our team, for the most part, had never even played a game of football before that day—the score? Ahem, well somehow Plainview managed to slip by in that game 25 to 6.

"We played several other games that first year including Lubbock and Floydada. Lubbock had been playing one or two years before our team was organized—the score of those two games? Ahem, well I don't rightly recall, I'm sure Slaton ran 'em clean off the field—scores don't matter anyway, boy—its the game.

"Our team that first year was coached by Paul Wilson and Truman Case with some able assistance from Mr. Martin the high school principal.

"Because we had no regular schedule we took on the team down at Wilson, which was also playing its first year, several times that year—what was the score? Boy why do you keep hammering at me about them little details. "As I was saying before I was interrupted, the members of the 1921 team included Percy Olive, Joe Burton, Truman Case, Harry Green, James Burton, Marion Benton, Marion Anderson, Julian Joplin, Jay Anderson, Robert Sledge, Harvey Austin, Johnny Able, Menard Able, Olan "Red" Weaver, and Earl Florence.

Rev. C. N. Wylie Installed Sunday

The Rev. Clarence N. Wylie was installed as pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Slaton Sunday night at ceremonies at the church. Installation ceremonies were conducted under the direction of a commission appointed by the Amarillo Presbytery.

Moderator of the Presbytery, the Rev. A. B. Morris of Canadian, Texas, presided. The Rev. Lewis Koerselman Sr., of Tulsa delivered the sermon.

The charge was given to the pastor by the Rev. Frank Travis of Plainview. The Rev. Richmond of Lubbock gave the charge to the congregation.

Plainsmen Quartet To Appear Here Sunday Afternoon

The Plainsmen Quartet of Dallas will be in the spotlight at the Slaton Singing Convention to be held at the high school auditorium Sunday from 1 to 4 p. m.

The Plainsmen, formerly known as the Stamps Quartet will lead the way in an afternoon of gospel singing, according to Bill Baker, president of the Slaton Singing Class which is sponsoring the event.

No admission will be charged. Two Lubbock quartets, the Rambles and the Happy Rhythm Boys, will also be on hand for the singing.

Slaton's varsity squad will travel to Crosbyton Friday night to meet the Crosbyton Chiefs on their home ground to open the 1956 football season. The Tigers will be out hoping to avenge a 13-6 defeat handed them by the Chiefs last year. Game time is 8 p. m.

Starting line-up for Slaton includes Alex Franco and Rodney Kitten playing at end; Don Wright and Dale Gordon, tackles; Carlton Tomlinson and Roland German, guards; Alfred Blissard, at center; Douglas Corley, quarterback; Phil Pearson, fullback; Lanny Swanner and Dickie Thomas, halfbacks.

On defensive play, Noberto Diaz will replace Corley. Several of the boys who have shown a great deal of ability will probably see a lot of action also, according to coach Leonard Ehrler. These boys are Howard Limmer, Jerry Jones, Tommy McClanahan, and Jerry Hogue.

"Our aim is to be able to play every boy before we get too far into the season. We want to let each boy play as a part of the team he is working out with. We have our boys divided up into three teams."

White Jerseys The Slaton team will wear white jerseys Friday night so as to contrast with purple jerseys which the Crosbyton eleven will wear.

Crosbyton's offensive game can be summed up in one thing," Ehrler said. "That one thing is Leatherwood, their halfback. He can run 100 yards in 10 seconds flat and he is almost that fast in full uniform.

Few Injuries "As far as we know they have very few injuries, so far we have only soreness and minor bruises to contend with on our own team."

Crosbyton's probable line up according to Ehrler will be Hill and Snodgrass at end; Drake and Witt, at tackle; Long and Brints, at guard; Lowe, center; Williams, quarterback; Parker, fullback; Leatherwood, and Rathel, halfbacks.

Leatherwood and Rathel are Crosbyton's only two starters who are returning from last year's team, the coach related. "These two boys have last year's winning attitude and the desire to play football—the way it should be played—they may prove to be our biggest threats."

MRS. MAXEY TO BECOME FIRST BAPTIST SECRETARY Mrs. J. J. Maxey, who is society editor at the Slatonite, is resigning to accept the position of church secretary for the First Baptist Church. She will begin her work there Sept. 17.

WEIGHTING FOR PAPER

Col. M. Robert Guggenheim, former ambassador to Portugal, has a hobby. He collects paperweights. His accumulation of more than 600 such objects, stashed away in velvet-lined cases, is reported to have an insured value of $338,000. But it is said—and this, you understand, may be just sour grapes from rival collectors—that when the colonel needs something to hold down papers on his desk he grabs the nearest ash tray or letter opener.

That is a tried and true method, all right. A glue pot works nicely, also. But we ourselves, being of a sentimental breed, favor such objects as that stone from the Cape Cod beach, or the epouisonously green frog that Johnny made of clay in the first grade. They anchor disorder just as surely as a $100 blown glass paperweight would. In fact, we sometimes wonder whether anyone anywhere actually does use bona fide paperweights to weight papers.

NO PAIN IN GLASS

Tariff worries have reached the inner studios of America's makers of stained glass windows, but it looks as if the craftsmen may be borrowing trouble.

Stained glass windows enter the United States duty free if the cost is more than $15 a square foot, a price set in the early 1920's and far from realistic now, American firms say.

Yet with the greatest church-building boom in history, there is no hardship in the business in this country. Some of the leading window creators are nearly two years behind in filling orders. And besides the great demand for church windows is a growing market for special stained glass designed for commercial buildings.

Perhaps tariff laws based on long-outdated figures and circumstances should be revised, but there's a real question as to whether American producers with more business than they can handle need to be concerned about holding back foreign competitors.

ASSAULT BY NOISE

It has often been remarked that man is a noisy creature. Since the rise of humankind, the amount of racket that shocks this old planet's air waves has gone up incalculably. With our factories, airplanes, autos and trains, not to mention radio and television, we are making the welkin ring many times louder than it did only a generation ago.

The British writer J. B. Priestley had something pertinent to say on this subject recently. Noting that many people in cities seem to be in a permanent state of tiredness and bad temper, he asked: "And what is it that exhausts them? In my view, it is noise—sheer unnecessary, idiotic noise. We cannot close our ears as we can close our eyes, and it is what enters the brain by way of the ears that is emotionally disturbing."

That's the thing; we cannot close our ears. They are assaulted day and much of the night by a bewildering variety of sound ranging in intensity from the distant hum of traffic to the scream of a jet violating the altitude rules. This is more true of people in cities than of those who live in smaller towns or in the country. But even in less populated areas there is too much noise. It has become an almost universal problem of society.

It is not a matter that can be shrugged off. There is growing evidence that excess noise plays hob with the human nervous system. The situation is going to grow worse before it becomes better. We had better begin cutting down on needless noise.

A good neighbor is a fellow who continues to do unto others as he would have them do unto him even when they don't.

The trend is toward smaller and smaller sports cars. The day may come when if Daddy is successful he'll have a car just like his small son drives.

With all the political speeches we'll hear on this television this year the men who make their living as comedians will really be hard pressed by the amateur competition.

The trouble with most people in an argument is that they think there are only two sides to it—theirs and the wrong one.

"HE THAT IS THE GREATER AMONG YOU, LET HIM BECOME AS THE YOUNGER; AND HE THAT IS CHIEF, AS HE THAT DOETH SERVE."—CHRIST—LUKE 22:26 (ASV)

STRENGTH FOR THE WEEK

Rev. Henry F. Treptow
 "If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness."
 —1 John 1:9

The Gospel of our Blessed Lord Jesus is the gift of God for salvation unto all the world. Jesus becomes the real Hope of all who come to faith in His redeeming love. There are many ways through which the Holy Spirit guides and directs the life of the Christian in receiving this hope. His holy Word contains prohibitions and admonitions for Christian living which grows out of this God-given ability to believe, called faith or trust.

Even the negative prohibitions and admonitions for Christian living which grow out of this God-given ability to believe, called faith or trust.

Even the negative prohibitions of the Word of God are efficacious and meaningful as guides in Christian living. Without being pessimistic, we shall study this month the meanings of the so-called "Seven Deadly Sins" as established through usage in the early Christian Church. This listing of the prominent sins of man; yes, Christians too; are guides and helps which lead men back to God.

This listing of sins based upon the Holy Scripture summarizes the thoughts, words and deeds which separate man from God. As St. Paul wrote, "what does not come from faith is sin." Thus, contrary to so-called liberal Christianity, sin is real and is a problem in the life of every Christian. Sin must always be defined by God Himself as He speaks to us through His Word; then and then only can we recognize it and find the forgiveness which God promises through His Savior Son. Since sin is any act or attitude by which man estranges himself from God, the grace of that God must then be received for hope and life. The Church was founded by Christ for this one purpose: to proclaim the forgiveness of sins, life and salvation!

The "Seven Deadly Sins" are these: pride, envy, anger, dejection, avarice, gluttony, and lust. The order in which these are enumerated is meaningful. All form a summary of man's ability to know right from wrong because of God's revelation; if wrong, to be shown the right and be forgiven by the Lord; if right, to receive a blessing and give glory to God in Christian faith and life.

A football film of important games of the nation was shown.

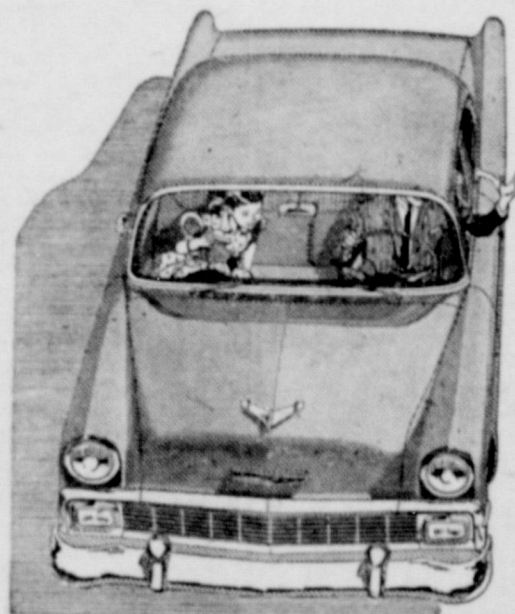

Visitors at the meeting were Joe May, Dallas; B. E. Adair, Lub-

Highlights and Sidelights FROM Your State CAPITOL

By Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association
AUSTIN, Tex.—Instead of simmering down at summer's end, Texas' political pot is boiling more furiously than ever.

New significance has been added to the already-controversial State Democratic Convention next week. Monday the executive committee must certify a winner in one of the most breathtakingly close gubernatorial races in Texas history.

Unofficial counts showed Price Daniel leading Ralph Yarborough by some 3,000 votes. But each side regarded returns in certain areas as questionable.

It promises to be an even closer finish than in 1932 when Mrs. Miriam Ferguson edged out Ross Sterling by 3,798 votes.

Decision of the executive committee apparently is all-important. In the Ferguson-Sterling contest courts refused to interfere with the committee ruling. They said it would delay the general election.

SENATE CANDIDATES JUMP IN—Would-be successors to Price Daniel didn't wait for the vacancy to develop to start scrambling for his U. S. Senate post.

Political observers predict a "real horse race" if Daniel does resign in time for a special election. First formal announcement came from State Sen. Searcy Bracewell of Houston. Bracewell promised to vote with Democrats in organizing the Senate, but made it clear he voted for Ike in '52, and would do so again.

He is a major threat to the Texas GOP's official endorsee, Thad Hutcheson, a young Houston attorney. Hutcheson promised "no token fight."

James B. Hart, former Supreme Court justice and University of Texas chancellor, also has announced.

Congressman-at-Large Martin Dies indicated early in the summer that he would run.

"Names in speculation" include just about every other Texan in or formerly in public life—Ralph Yarborough, J. Evetts Haley, Lloyd Bentsen Jr., John Ben Shepperd, John C. White, Wright Morrow, etc.

Not all will run, of course, but such a rare political opportunity is sure to draw a crowded field. Filing fee is only $50. High man wins without a runoff.

In the last such election, held in 1941, a total of 29 candidates ran. W. Lee O'Daniel emerged as victor with a blade-thin lead over Lyndon B. Johnson.

DEMO NOMINEES INVITED TO TEXAS—Democrats will make a real fight to regain Texas in the November election, says U. S. Sen. Lyndon Johnson.

He has invited both nominees to speak in Texas this fall. Vice-presidential Candidate Kefauver was specifically urged to attend the Heart of Texas Fair in Waco to be held Sept. 29-Oct. 5.

SCHOOL BELLS RING OUT—For millions of Texans the political clamor is almost drowned out this week by the ringing of school bells. As usual, a "biggest ever" public school enrollment is expected. Texas Education Agency estimates enrollment at 1,754,833, compared to 1,740,784 last year.

No official reports or estimates were available on how many additional schools will be integrated this year. TEA officials, always carefully aloof on the subject, said they had "heard of only a few." Only known trouble spot was Mansfield (Tarrant County) where white citizens patrolled the school to prevent registration of Negroes.

A more common problem is shortage of teachers. Some 6,000 additional teachers are needed, says the Texas State Teachers Association.

BUSINESS RECORD STILL EXPECTED—Despite a summer slump and farm troubles, forecasters expect Texas' total business volume to set another record in 1956.

According to the University of Texas' Bureau of Business Research, business activity declined two per cent in July. But the index was still two per cent above July, 1955.

"Plight of the drought-stricken Texas farmer continues to be the most serious aspect of the state's business situation," said the report. "Farmers not only face falling prices, but have very little to sell."

Texas farm prices have fallen 36 per cent since 1951, livestock prices 48 per cent in the same period.

NEW MENTAL HEALTH CODE—Proposals to streamline Texas' mental health code are being drafted by the University of Texas Law School.

Financed by the Hogg Foundation, the project is being conducted with the guidance of the Board for State Hospitals and Special Schools.

Suggested changes would (1) encourage earlier care for mental cases to speed recoveries and reduce expense to the state and (2) modernize administrative procedures for the state hospital system.

CRIMEMOBILE LAUNCHED—Texas' unique new crimemobile is on the road. It was officially launched in Austin last week with a flask of "truth serum" (sodium amytal) substituted for traditional champagne.

Dallas was first stop for the 40-foot trailer truck with its educational display of modern crime detection equipment. Other major cities are to be visited soon.

Start Tax Records Now for Use Next Year

There is no time like the present, while last year's tax problems are fresh on your mind, to start a procedure that will aid you with next year's income tax calculations. That is to maintain a record of your income and outgo. Such a record can be simple and brief but it may save you tax dollars.

The average man who works for a wage or salary doesn't have to concern himself about keeping books and records—at least so he thinks. His employer keeps a reliable record of his earnings and Uncle Sam looks primarily to the employer for information on his earnings and for the withholding of various taxes out of his wages.

But whether or not you run a business of your own, you have a partner who each year is claiming a substantial interest in your personal income. And the law requires that you keep books for him in case he ever asks for an accounting.

Perhaps you own your home or are paying it out in installments. It's likely that some day you may want to be able to prove whether you realized a gain or a loss on that sale. If a gain in capital resulted, it probably will add to your income tax. If a loss was suffered, it probably will reduce your income tax.

You may have made certain capital improvements on the house while you lived in it, but unless you can show what out-of-pocket expense you incurred while making them, you may not get credit for them in your cost basis so as

Texas Law Enforcement Foundation assembled the crimemobile with contributions from industry.

SHORT SNORTS—University of Texas will have its final admission tests for the fall semester at the main campus Sept. 10. Total students tested before school's opening will be about 4,500, officials estimate.

Texas Department of Public Safety cancelled leaves and off-days to put every available man on the highways during the holidays. Their goal: to beat the odds that 32 would be killed in weekend accidents.

State inheritance taxes on stocks are based on the number of shares owned, times the quoted value of stock on the date of the holder's death.

This method of taxation is being contested by the executrix for the estate of Calvert Smith, wealthy Houstonian, who died in 1952. Involved is 31,350 shares of Humble Oil & Refining Co. stock on which a tax of $180,410 was paid under protest.

Executrix contends that if that amount of stock was dumped on the market at one time the value would drop. District Judge Jack Roberts ruled against the state. Notice of appeal to the Supreme Court was given by the state.

Or perhaps you received that little summer cottage on the lake as a gift from your father. If you ever sell it, you should be able to show Uncle Sam not only the cost of improvements you made on it while you owned it, but also what its fair market value was at the time Dad gave it to you.

It may be that you are receiving an annuity on an insurance policy. If so, do you know how much of that cost you have recovered tax-free to date?

There are many kinds of transactions you enter into that may some day affect the computation of your personal income tax. The best proof of the cost of anything you've purchased is a receipted bill or canceled check. If one of these pieces of evidence relates to any transaction that may affect your income in later years, it's a good idea to keep it. Your "partner" may some day ask to see it.

DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE 180 YEARS OLD

What do we mean when we say that in the United States we have a "government of law" and not a "government of men"? Basically we mean that we have certain individual rights, guaranteed by our federal and state constitutions and laws, which may not be denied by any governing body.

The early American colonists had their fill of government by men, and the Declaration of Independence, signed 180 years ago, set out their complaints against that type of government and revealed their belief in a principle which we now accept as basic to our American way of life.

The indictments set out in the document against King George III of Great Britain charged him with numerous violations of that principle. Among the complaints enumerated are the following:

"He has dissolved Representative Houses repeatedly, for opposing with manly firmness his invasions on the rights of the people."

"He has obstructed the administration of justice, by refusing his assent for laws for establishing judiciary powers."

"He has made judges dependent upon his will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries."

"He has refused his assent to laws, the most wholesome and necessary for the public good."

"He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution, and unacknowledged by our laws; giving his assent to their acts of pretended legislation: . . . For depriving us, in many cases, of the benefits of trial by jury; For transporting us beyond seas to be tried for pretended offences; . . . For taking away our charters, abolishing our most valuable laws, and altering fundamentally the forms of our governments; . . . For suspending our own legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever."

Our forefathers who subscribed to the principles of the Declaration of Independence were willing to fight for their beliefs. The Revolutionary War followed, dragging through weary years of suffering and suspense. Each of us takes pride in their eventual triumph over gigantic obstacles.

In 1787, when the framers of our Constitution met at Independence Hall in Philadelphia, where the Declaration of Independence had been signed 11 years previously, they set to work to create a system of checks and balances in government which was to perpetuate the fundamental theory mentioned in the preamble of the earlier document:

"We hold these truths to be self-evident: That all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness."

"That to secure these rights, gov-

MYF Plans Supper Meeting Sunday Evening

Dickie Thomas, president of the Methodist Youth Fellowship, announced this week that a supper meeting will be held Sunday at 5:45 p. m. in Fellowship Hall of the First Methodist Church.

The supper will begin the fall program of activities for the high school youth of the church. Following the supper there will be group singing and a special program which will include a film.

The MYF members will attend the 7 p. m. worship service together following the meeting.

Southland Delia 2d 3783690, a registered Holstein-Friesian cow owned by Edmund Campbell of Seguin has set a new Texas production record for junior three-year-old Holsteins on a twice per day milking. She produced 14,783 pounds of milk and 659 pounds of butterfat.

Preparing for a presidential nominating convention takes hard work. Think of the preparation and rehearsals necessary for those spontaneous demonstrations.

We Have Many But Not Enough

The United States now has some 250,000 scientists—chemists, physicists, biologists, geologists, mathematicians, etc., and more than 600,000 engineers. More than 200,000 Americans are engaged in research and development, as against but 90,000 so engaged 15 years ago.

But still, in light of the enormous growth of American research, we do not have enough. . . More than two-thirds of the nation's research is done by private industry, to develop new and better products, new and better methods of production.

Driving Safer In Urban Areas

Sometimes you're safer among the tall buildings than in the tall corn.

The traffic death rate in urban areas is less than half that of rural areas, according to the 1956 edition of the National Safety Council's statistical yearbook, "Accident Facts."

The 1955 rural death rate was more than eight per 100,000,000 miles of travel, while the city death rate was less than four.

Night driving is considerably more hazardous than day driving in both urban and rural areas.

Slaton Rangers Come Home With Another Trophy

The Slaton Rangers came home recently with another trophy to put in their already crowded trophy case at John Fondy's Shoe Shop. The Rangers took the third place trophy in the rodeo parade at Brownfield last week. There were eight teams competing in the parade.

Future plans of the Rangers include trips to Ruidoso, New Mexico; Albuquerque, Littlefield, Falls, Levelland and the county fair at Plainview.

We, the People . . .

The Preamble to our Constitution is the framework of the American concept. This concept offers the individual the freedom to choose his own course of action, rather than to follow the dictates of a "welfare state" or a "planned economy."

This concept offers each of us the opportunity to seek whatever values he desires, in whatever way he desires, so long as his efforts do not impinge upon the equal rights of his fellow man. It offers the individual a reward for his success, or imposes a penalty for his failure.

A VAST NEW HOLIDAY LAND in the heart of Texas will be created under the Brazos River Authority's master plan for development of the river. The map shows how the Authority's Six-Dam Program will provide a chain of lakes 250 miles long stretching between Whitney Dam at Waco and Possum Kingdom above Mineral Wells. This continuous body of water, convenient to virtually all Texas sportsmen, will become a center of a great new recreation industry. This Land of Lakes of Texas will provide boating, fishing and camping facilities on a scale never before known in the Southwest. They also will assure the Brazos Valley of an ample water supply for irrigation, industry and municipal use far into the future. A by-product will be hydro-electricity. Besides the Six-Dam Program, the Authority plans various other reservoirs for local water supply and for special purposes, such as Allens Creek and South Bend, shown on the map.

Chapel Choir Elects Officers

Don Edwards was elected to serve as 1956-1957 president of the chapel choir of the First Methodist Church Saturday night.

Other newly elected officers and their respective duties include Johnny Morris, first vice-president, in charge of membership and attendance; Ann Wright, second vice-president, in charge of social activities; Katha Walker, third vice-president, in charge of fellowship; Marilyn Gilmore, secretary-treasurer; and Jay McSween, robe chairman.

The way of the transgressor may be hard—but it isn't lonely. . .

PREVENTIVE MEDICINE STRIDES FORWARD

There are, broadly speaking, two kinds of medicine. The one with which we, as patients, are familiar is that which works to correct a specific illness.

The other is preventive medicine. Its purpose, as the name implies, is to see to it that we don't become ill. And the progress made in this all-important field in the last half century has been little short of miraculous.

Writing in the Journal of the American Medical Association, Dr. James Watt says: "While literally thousands of cases of malaria were seen each year in my home state when I was a child, today there are virtually none. If the diphtheria mortality rate of 1900 prevailed today, there would be over 60,000 deaths a year. In 1950 there were actually 410. According to rates of 1900, there should now be over 45,000 deaths from typhoid; actually in 1950 there were 114. Similar figures could be given for other major communicable diseases." Now the medical fraternity is battling the diseases and afflictions which have not yet been defeated.

It is worth noting that preventive medicine has suffered most in countries where medicine is either socialized or controlled by government. Writers on England's national health system have pointed to this. Doctors in such countries are often overworked. They lack the time for study, experiment, and research. And the bureaucrats who make the rules and issue the orders have small interest in projects which may not produce results for long periods of time.

Progress in medicine—like all progress—flourishes in an atmosphere of freedom, and withers in an atmosphere of coercion.

SPECTATOR AT FIGHT IN FLATS RECEIVES SEVERE INJURIES

An elderly colored man was injured accidentally Sunday night in a fracas in the Flats. The man was, according to a report the police received, an onlooker at a fight between two other colored men, Earl Powell and Joe Bolden.

Police said they were told that the elderly man was injured when he was accidentally struck on the head by a club or a 2x4 board swung by one of the two men involved in the fight.

He sustained severe injuries to his ear and head where the blow landed. The two men involved in the bout were filed on for fighting and both released after paying fines of $20 each.

Several Grace Lutheran Members To Attend College

Several members of Grace Lutheran Church will attend various colleges, according to the Rev. Henry F. Treptow, pastor of the church.

The members and the colleges they plan to attend include Miss Burdine Becker, Carson White, and Kenneth Gerner, Texas Lutheran College, Seguin, Texas; Clarence Voigt, Texas Technological College, Lubbock; C. M. McPherson, Texas Tech as an instructor in the chemistry department; and Mrs. C. M. McPherson, Texas Tech as an instructor in the home economics department.

Among the things to be studied are the effect of radiation on the durability of cotton, its strength, elasticity, and ability to absorb dyes. Cotton has already been much improved for certain uses by treatment with various chemicals. How radiation will affect these chemical treatments will also be studied under the M. I. T. contract.

Does that sound absurd? Well, here's the true story. The world's highest-salaried ballplayer ($100,000 a year) was fined $5,000 by his club for a display of temper toward the fans. This is considered a business expense, for the reason that the fine must be paid if the player is to keep on practicing his profession. Thus, his taxable income is reduced by the $5,000.
After deductions, the top tax rate on this player's income is 84 per cent. So the fine gives him a tax reduction of $4,200, leaving him only $800 out of pocket.
But that isn't all. Admirers of the player are reported to be making up a fund to pay the fine. U. S. News says: "If they give him $5,000, that amount is not taxable at all. In that case, the ballplayer would stand an $800 loss and a $5,000 gain, for a net profit of $4,200."
Very few of us have any personal experience with either $100,000 incomes or $5,000 fines. But this factual illustration indicates just how confused, inequitable, and generally unsound our tax laws are. Like Topsy, they just grew—and grew into a crazy-quilt. That's why sentiment for a complete overhaul has been snowballing.

I was lunching at a drugstore counter when a pretty girl followed by a handsome young man came in and took the only vacant stools, which happened to be on either side of me. I turned to the young man and offered to change seats so they might sit together. "Oh, that isn't necessary," he protested, but I waved him to silence. After we had exchanged seats he turned to the young lady and in a loud voice announced, "Well, now that the seating arrangements suit this polite gentleman, we might as well make him real happy and get acquainted."

Seems there is no end to where cotton may go as a modern textile, with serious efforts being made to improve its qualities and markets. The latest study to be announced deals with how cotton is affected by radiation. The work will be done at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology this fall, reports the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Under a contract recently signed with the Department, M. I. T. scientists will seek to learn whether atomic or electrically-generated radiation can be used to make useful new textile products from cotton or to improve the value of cotton in its present uses.

S/3 Royce Bednarz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Bednarz, has returned to Detroit after spending a two week leave here with his parents. He has received a promotion since he returned and expects to spend the rest of his time in the Army at Detroit. He is with the 99th A. A. and works in the supply division. He says the army should know where everything is as many times as he has recorded each item as it comes in and leaves his desk.

It is already cool enough up there to burn the heaters. Bednarz is due for his discharge on Jan. 27.

ALICE-IN-TAXLAND
There is an Alice-In-Wonderland quality about our federal income tax laws, with their extremely high upper-bracket rates. U. S. News & World Report gives an example.

The magazine says: "A baseball player's angry gesture, during a ball game, may cost the Federal Government $4,200 in income taxes. It also may bring the athlete a personal profit of $4,200."

Does that sound absurd? Well, here's the true story. The world's highest-salaried ballplayer ($100,000 a year) was fined $5,000 by his club for a display of temper toward the fans. This is considered a business expense, for the reason that the fine must be paid if the player is to keep on practicing his profession. Thus, his taxable income is reduced by the $5,000.

But that isn't all. Admirers of the player are reported to be making up a fund to pay the fine. U. S. News says: "If they give him $5,000, that amount is not taxable at all. In that case, the ballplayer would stand an $800 loss and a $5,000 gain, for a net profit of $4,200."

FOREST MANAGEMENT KEY TO PERMANENT SUPPLY OF PULPWOOD

Long-range and highly developed forest management policies of the American pulpwood industry, coupled with increasing use of left-overs from logging and sawmill operations, assure a continuing supply of pulpwood for the nation and permanence for the industry.

While pulp companies, which own only 6.1 per cent of the nation's commercial forest lands, will always depend upon the more than 4.4 million small woodlot owners for a major portion of their pulpwood, the amount the industry spends on forest management and research has increased 260 per cent since 1945.

"To meet the demand for pulpwood, the industry is engaged in some of the most intensive and progressive programs of forestry to be found anywhere in the country," the booklet says. "These programs are aimed at obtaining maximum and continuing production of pulpwood and other forest products from company-owned or leased lands, and providing assistance to other private landowners in proper management and protection of forest properties."

The American Tree Farm System, sponsored by the nation's wood-using industries, now embraces more than 39 million acres of well-managed, privately owned timberlands.

Forrestry experts estimate that good management now practiced on timberlands of pulp companies will increase pulpwood yield up to 40 per cent by 1962.

The American people have been happily eating their way through record quantities of meat. And they have been paying a smaller proportion of their income for it.

As an example, in 1947—the first postwar year in which the supply-demand situation approached a normal state—consumer disposable income in this country averaged $1,157 per person and $77.30, or 6.7 per cent, went for meat. Last year income was up to $1,698 per person, while the average meat bill came to $82.10, or 5.1 per cent. And 1955 set a record in meat consumption of 26.5 billion pounds.

Moreover, while the quantity of meat going to market has soared and the price as related to income has declined, there also has been an improvement in quality. A good illustration of this is found in the development of meat-type hogs, which provide the leaner cuts present-day consumers want.

Finally, meat—like various other foods—now is available in forms which offer the housewife a maximum of convenience and require a minimum of work. Precooked and frozen hamburgers need nothing more than reheating. Steaks can be had in packaged form with a built-in charcoal grill and fuel.

As for the future, indications of what we may expect are found in experiments whereby meat is treated in such a manner that it will keep indefinitely without refrigeration or special care. We certainly live in an amazing era.

LEARNING BY DOING
More and more people—particularly in the moderate-income brackets—are buying shares of stock in corporations in whose future they have faith. There is every indication that this number will steadily increase as time goes on. How can young people—the potential shareholders of the future—learn in a practical and interesting way just how the stock market operates and what it contributes to the American free enterprise system?

A group of students in an eastern high school came up with an excellent answer to that question. Under the direction of their economics and terminology. Each student nominated a specific stock and argued its merits. A share of the stock receiving the largest number of votes was actually purchased.

Then the group of shareowner-students kept a daily graph, showing their stock's ups and downs and other factual data. They discussed and analyzed the various factors that might affect its value. Interest was strong, with teachers and members of other classes joining in.

A trade organ, Wholesale Grocers News, accurately emphasized the significance of this when it said: "Here is another example of the wonderful magic of learning by doing. . . . These students acquired some appreciation of what makes the American economy tick. . . . Some appreciation of business risks, of capital requirements, of investment returns." This school's experiment should be widely emulated.

Land leveling is often one of the early problems faced by farmers who supplement rainfall with irrigation. Now is the time, says Bob Thurmond, extension agricultural engineer, to start planning for the job. Land leveling is an expensive and time consuming job but the benefits last for years. A good job requires the services of a competent engineer.

TAR SPOTS IN COTTON MUST GO

Cotton producers of Texas and the nation are being asked to take every possible step to keep tar spots out of their cotton. The problem has become serious enough, says Fred C. Elliott, extension cotton work specialist, to warrant a belt-wide campaign of elimination.

A chief source of contamination is believed to come from the use of tar coatings for pick sacks. But, according to Elliott, tar spots may also get into the unginned cotton when the trailer is pulled over roads coated with tar or from tar spots left in the trailer or truck.

During the hot weather which usually is prevalent during the cotton picking season, close attention should be given to the problem of tar picked up from roads or driveways either by the vehicle or on the feet of those working with cotton. It's an easy matter to track the tar into the cotton, says Elliott, for the wheel of the trailer is often used as a step for entering the trailer and tar carried on the wheel or tire is easily transferred to the cotton or to the sides or floor of the trailer or wagon.

Cotton manufacturers are penalized for materials contaminated with tar spots. By checking on the origin of the contaminated cotton, the mills can tell exactly where the bale was produced. At least one manufacturer has already called on producers in an area where cotton has been bought for years to eliminate the tar spots or lose their market (not in Texas).

Right now few items are more important to cotton producers than markets and Elliott advises farmers to do everything possible to help hold what they have and gain more.

The specialist advises growers to check the sacks of pickers who furnish their own sacks to make sure no tar is present and to also caution the pickers on tracking tar into the truck, trailer or wagon. If sacks must be bought, don't buy those with a tar coating.

Heat Stroke and Heat Exhaustion Summer Dangers

As summer temperatures climb, a disregard for the dangers of heat-stroke and heat exhaustion can prove costly. Hard physical labor in the hot sun or a stuffy place might bring on heat exhaustion in a hurry, says W. L. Ulich, extension agricultural engineer and secretary of the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council.

At this season, he adds, there are plenty of opportunities to work under such conditions. Heat exhaustion occurs when the body's heat regulating system collapses during prolonged heat or exposure to the sun.

In heatstroke, body temperature rises, the skin becomes hot and dry, the face reddens and a headache develops. Heat exhaustion, on the other hand, displays different symptoms. Instead of burning up, the patient's body is cool, perhaps with clammy sweat. Prevention, says the safety expert, is the best treatment for both.

He offers these suggestions for cutting down on the possibility of trouble from summer heat. Increase the intake of salt in order to offset the excessive losses of salt from the body through perspiration. The increase may be made by using more salt on food, by drinking salty water or by taking salt tablets.

Avoid over exertion and over exposure to direct sun rays or extreme indoor temperatures and high humidity. Wear a hat while out-of-doors. Eat nutritious food, says Ulich, but don't over-eat. Drink water often throughout the day, a glass at a time and avoid ice water.

And finally, he warns if either a heatstroke or heat exhaustion occur, get a doctor at once and apply first aid treatment. In applying the first aid to a person suffering from heat sickness, keep in mind a simple rule: if the patient is cold, make him warm . . . if he is hot, make him cool.

Land leveling is often one of the early problems faced by farmers who supplement rainfall with irrigation. Now is the time, says Bob Thurmond, extension agricultural engineer, to start planning for the job. Land leveling is an expensive and time consuming job but the benefits last for years. A good job requires the services of a competent engineer.

Methodist Church Begins Graded Choir Program For Membership

A recent addition to the activities of the First Methodist Church of Slaton is the graded choir program. Through this program choirs will be trained "to sing for the glory of God and to someday take their places as adults in the worship-hour choir."

New Program
Through the new program the Methodist Church hopes to interest the young people of the church in singing with choirs at an early age and eventually work upward toward the goal of singing in the adult choir which sings each Sunday during worship services.

The choirs will be under the direction of Jim D. Campbell, minister of music at the church.

Choirs Follow
The choirs which are being organized include the following:
The Cherub Choir, for pre-school children. Meeting once each week for a one hour period, this choir will spend 20 minutes in singing and musical instruction and 40 minutes in creative play and study. Mothers and teachers of the kindergarten department of the church will assist.

Carol Choir
The Carol Choir, consists of first graders. It will meet immediately after school one afternoon each week. The Carol Choir learns songs that children like, Campbell stated. It studies great hymns of the church and it studies the fundamentals of music.

The Asbury Choir, for second and third graders, continues the work of the Carol Choir. Second graders will come to the Fellowship Hall of the church as soon as school is dismissed for refreshments and games. Then they will be joined by the third graders who will have their refreshments after the choir meeting.

Wesley Choir
The Wesley Choir, is for fourth, fifth, and sixth graders. It will study the great hymns of the church, one and two part anthems and music theory. In addition great figures of church history will be studied. It meets one afternoon each week.

The Chapel Choir consists of seventh, eighth, and ninth grade students. It meets each Saturday evening in the Fellowship Hall of the church for a choir rehearsal which is followed by refreshments and games. Social life, according to Campbell, is an important part of the activities of this choir, in addition to its study of great hymns, great sacred music, and music theory.

Chancel Choir
The Chancel Choir represents the culmination of our choir program Campbell said. It is open to qualified adults and high school youth of the 10th grade and above. It sings the great anthems, cantatas, and oratorios of sacred music. The Chancel Choir sings at each Sunday morning service and tries to uphold the loftiest ideals of church music, he related.

Campbell emphasized that the various choirs are not limited to the congregation of the First Methodist Church, but are open to persons of all faith.

Personnel to Assist
Personnel of the church who will assist Campbell in his duties as minister of music include the Rev. J. B. Sharp, pastor of the church; and members of the music committee composed of M. J. Nowlin, Joe S. Walker Jr., Mrs. F. E. Perry, Mrs. M. G. Davis, and Mrs. Webber Williams.

THE AEC PREDICTS
No less an authority than the Atomic Energy Commission has issued this prediction: "Demand for coal will run ahead of the demand for other fuels during the next 15 to 20 years despite the advent of nuclear power."

This is the result of several factors. For one thing, coal is an exceedingly economical source of electricity. It now takes, on the average, less than a pound of coal to produce a kilowatt of power—only a fraction of the amount that was required in the comparatively recent past.

For another, our coal reserves are limitless. We have enough underground to last for many centuries. And we have the world's most highly advanced and mechanized coal industry to make the most of them.

For still another, the production of power on a commercial basis from nuclear energy presents some exceedingly difficult problems—both scientific and economic. It is still in the laboratory stage. Many experts now seem to feel that it will be of value principally in remote regions, where transportation costs of conventional fuels are a major consideration.

Finally, a number of industries which are huge power users, including aluminum, are building new plants which will utilize coal. Such developments as these lend powerful factual support to the AEC's prediction.

Diane and Billie Cook of Spade spent last week here with their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Chambers. Saturday Mrs. Chambers' mother, Mrs. C. B. Alexander, of Sudan and her sister, Mrs. W. B. Cook of Spade visited in the Chambers home.

Property Loss In Rural Areas Seen Worsening

Fire Engineering, the journal of the fire protection profession, notes in a recent issue that the high property loss and death toll resulting from fire in rural areas is worsening. This, the magazine says, is because of the influx of people and capital, represented by business and industry, into non-urban areas. The magazine states:

"It is true that more rural, district and suburban fire departments are being organized but it is also true that the fire hazards of these areas are growing in complexity and volume, as concurrently are the problems of fire protection and prevention.

"All of this emphasizes the need of a reappraisal of the fire suppression facilities presently in, or proposed for, these areas, and serious consideration of the need for creating additional such facilities to provide requisite protection in these growing districts.

"Improved roads and highways, modern motorized fire apparatus, a general statewide recognition on the part of government officials of the need of better organizing for non-urban protection and the maintenance of interest of volunteer fire fighters in their calling, are all assets. But opposed to them are the drawbacks of lack of interest in fire safety on the part of many farmers and small town businessmen, and scarcity of money to finance fire safety."

SIX OF THE BEST!
Sydney, Australia, like many an American community, has been plagued with juvenile crime. Duck-tailed teen-agers, called bodgie-boys Down Under, have wantonly destroyed automobiles, engaged in gang wars, and beaten innocent bystanders.

Sydney's answer takes the form of a two-pronged ordinance. First, the parents must pay for the damage done by their delinquent offspring. Second, as Robert Ruark vividly phrases it, "A father must, in the presence of a police officer, apply six of the best to sonny boy's stern—with a police whip, and to the satisfaction of the attending officer."

Sydney has set a precedent that every city and town could profitably follow.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Brasfield had as their guests Sunday their daughter, Mrs. Joe Rankin, and Mr. Rankin of Ralls. Friday Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Lorraine of Lubbock visited in the Brasfield home.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Carpenter visited with Mrs. Carpenter's parents, the Rev. and Mrs. J. T. Bolding, in Lubbock Sunday.

Jack Clark, J. J. Macey and Al Romines spent Sunday in Roby.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Walston and daughter, Rosa, returned last week from a sight seeing trip to New Mexico and Colorado. Besides sight seeing in Colorado Springs, while there they visited Mr. Walston's uncle, Marvin Walston, and family.

PROBLEMS OF AUTOMATION BEING SOLVED

Job reallocation problems which may arise from automation can be handled by our economy without serious hardship, so long as we retain the high flexibility of the labor force, according to the National Association of Manufacturers.

There will be industries in which total employment will be increased through automation, others in which it will be reduced, and still others yet unborn whose job opportunities only the future will reveal, the association said in a report on automation and employment.

Monthly Changes
The NAM pointed out that the labor force is "reallocating" itself voluntarily—with people entering or leaving the labor force, or making other changes of status—at the rate of eight million changes every month.

In manufacturing, the number of persons who voluntarily quit their jobs each month runs at more than two per cent of the labor force, the NAM noted.

"In other words, over an entire year the total number of quits is equal to about one-quarter of the total number of jobs," the association said. "Most of these people who leave jobs voluntarily move quickly to other fields of endeavor."

make YOUR GRAIN produce MORE MEAT per bushel

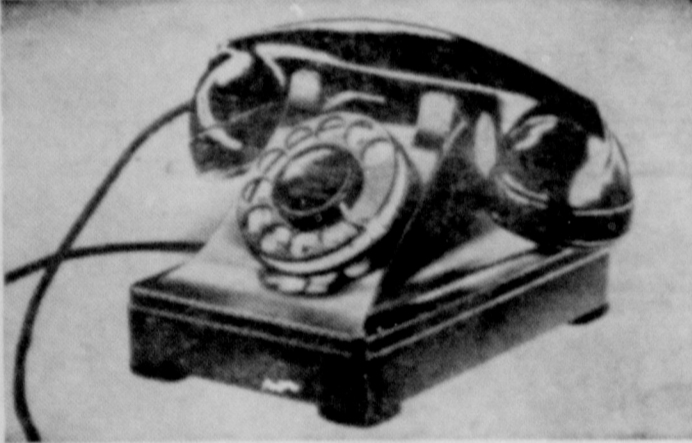

Grain alone will make beef and pork. But to make meat on grain alone, cattle and hogs require up to twice as much grain as when their ration is balanced with a good supplement.

Many cattle feeders report getting as much gain from 600 pounds of grain and 100 pounds of Steer Fatena as from 1,100 pounds of grain alone. Many feeders today also prefer to feed rations with stillbestrol to get the added gains and economy. Our Quality Mixing Service, plus the fact that we use Micro-Mixed Purina Steer Fatena, helps us insure you that all Micro ingredients, such as stillbestrol, are properly blended in your cattle feed.

Hogs fed on Purina Check-R-Mixed formulas should put on gains with only one-half the feed it takes when straight grain is used. We are equipped to take your grain, grind it just right for hogs, then mix it with just enough Purina Hog Chow Concentrate to make those low-cost gains you must have for profit these days.

HOW TO USE YOUR

Dial Telephone

September 28 is "Dial Day"
Until then, continue to give your calls to the operator

YOU'LL FIND IT'S EASY TO DIAL — HERE'S HOW

1. Place the receiver to your ear and listen to the steady hum of the dial tone.

2. Suppose you want to call number VALley 8-3108. Place your finger in the dial opening where you see the letter "V." Pull the dial around until your finger strikes the finger stop.

3. Remove your finger and let the dial spin back freely.

4. Do the same for the letter "A," then for each of the figures, in order — "8-3-1-0-8."

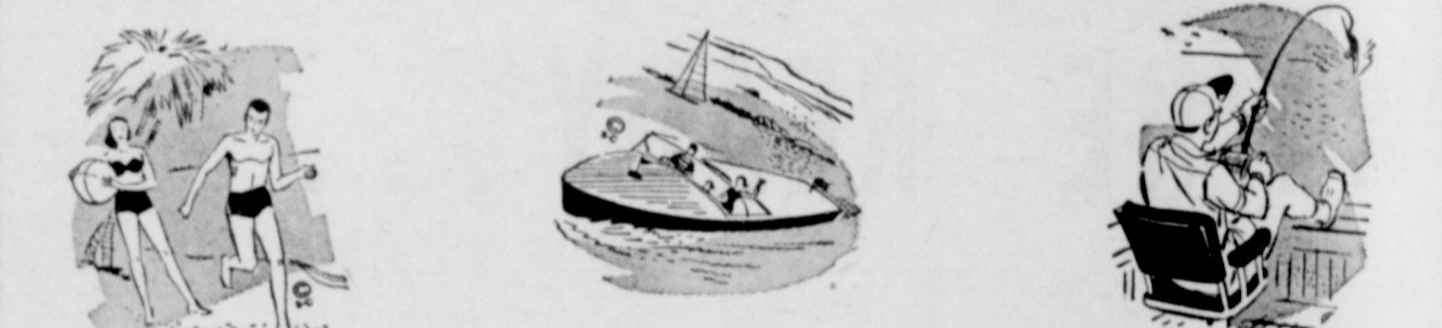

Don't confuse the letter "I" and the numeral "one" or the letter "O" and the numeral "zero." When you have finished dialing, you should hear a burr-rr, the ringing sound. If the line is busy, you will hear a fast buzz-buzz.

If you hear the busy signal, or if you hear neither sound, hang up. Wait for a few moments, then try the call again.

We believe you will like the speed, convenience, and dependability of dial service. When the new dial system goes in operation here at noon on September 28, Slaton will have the finest, most modern telephone service available.

New Publications Released by A.&M Extension Service
 Three new publications, B-827, Farm Sheep Production in Texas; MP-167, Which Feed is the Best Buy? and L-291, Move Forward with Farm and Home Development, have been released by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. They are available from the offices of local county extension agents or from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas. The new sheep production bulletin is a handbook which presents or prospective sheep raisers should find very valuable. The authors, J. A. Gray and J. M. Jones, point out management and operational practices which have been found most practical under farm conditions for sheep raising. The main requirements for a successful sheepman are having a genuine interest in the animals and providing for them a suitable environment, say the authors. R. E. Bursleson, extension dairy husbandman, in the publication on which feeds to buy has prepared tables showing the value of different feeds for dairy animals. Included are such feeds as concentrates, nonlegume and legume roughages and a dry roughage and concentrate mixture. The leaflet on farm and home development is concise statement on what the unit approach to better farm family living can mean to cooperating families. When you visit your local extension agents, ask them for other publications which can provide you with the latest information on

When We Go Shopping
 The cost of living has been the news again. The government's official index recently climbed fractionally to an all-time high. One reason was a rise in food prices. However, before you angrily decide that someone is extorting you when you go shopping, a few more facts should be taken into consideration. The National Association of Food Chains reports that food prices are still nearly three per cent below the 1952 peak, and that the average factory worker's take-home pay will buy him from 15 to 18 per cent more food now than it did in that prior year. When prices rise, we tend to blame the retailer. That's a human failing—he's the man who sells us the goods and takes our money. But the fact is that a very small part of what we spend at retail does more than pass through his hands. Food chains, for instance, commonly earn a profit of about one cent on each sales dollar. Other kinds of stores earn three or four cents, and often less. The rest of the money goes for payrolls, supplies, rents, taxes, and so on. There is still another factor that demands consideration in any price discussion. This is the tremendous change that has taken place in recent years in processing. We see it in its most dramatic form in foods which come to us in virtually a ready-for-the-table stage, and demand a minimum of time and work on the part of the housewife. Advanced processing of this nature requires much labor and costs money, and the consumer must pay for it. We get top value when we go shopping—thanks in large part to our highly competitive mass distribution system.

THE PARABLE

Therefore speak I to them in parables: because they seeing see not; and hearing they hear not, neither do they understand. (St. Matthew 13:13)

THE PARABLE is the basis of all religious education. From infancy through adult life we learn spiritual truths only as they are interpreted for us in terms of every-day experience.

OUR CHURCHES follow the example of the Greatest Teacher. Simple precepts or more complex doctrines are brought to us in vivid illustration. Lessons, sermons, hymns—even church architecture and ritual—are full of human narrative, word pictures or traditional symbolism to help us grasp and apply God's truth.

SPIRITUAL MATURITY must come to us through the effective teaching and practical guidance our churches provide. Our souls cannot grow simply by seeing a church on the corner, or hearing folks talk about religion. Worshipping and learning every Sunday, we will understand Christian truth in living terms and use our understanding to serve God and man.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

War Declared On Mosquitos In County

Encephalitis, a virus disease thought to be spread by way of mosquitos, has been the instigator of a move in the area to clean up those places which might be breeding grounds for these insects.

Though much talk has been heard of spraying mosquito breeding grounds at Buffalo Lakes, one of the local physicians stated that it is just as important to check those smaller breeding places in the community—such as garbage cans, pools of stagnant water, or even an old tin can which has water in it.

In the City of Lubbock there have been discovered 16 proven cases and 60 to 80 suspected cases of the disease. Slaton has had four cases of Encephalitis—one resulting in death, according to a local physician.

City Health Officer Dr. T. L. Talbert stated that the time of year is approaching when diarrhea will be causing much trouble. Although people don't seem to worry about it, it is probably worse than Encephalitis.

Even in severe cases, one doctor reported, in elderly people not more than about 10% die. The worse aftermath of the disease is a slight palsy which usually in most cases disappears shortly after the disease is cured.

Many things mimic Encephalitis, according to a local doctor, and a severe case is easy to spot. Even to the layman a severe case will appear to have something drastically wrong with him.

The person with Encephalitis will run a high temperature and have a blurring of vision and usually spells of dizziness. He will not have only one symptom but will usually have all of these symptoms, the doctor emphasized.

Should anyone be in doubt he can contact his family physician for a check-up and, if need be, treatment for the disease.

Gerre Hancock, Rotary Foundation Fellow from Lubbock, was to address the Slaton Rotary Club at noon on the September 6th meeting. Hancock has just returned from a year of study at the University of Paris, France. He was selected from the 183rd District of Rotary International in 1954 to attend the University of Paris.

Already 25 Rotary Clubs in this district have been scheduled to hear him report on his experiences.

Born in 1934 at Lubbock, Hancock is a graduate of Lubbock High School. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Hancock. His father, a former school superintendent, is now Lubbock County school supervisor and has been an active Rotarian for a number of years.

Gerre is an accomplished pianist and organist, having studied music since he was a child. He studied organ with Dr. E. William Doty, Dean of the College of Fine-Arts at the University of Texas, and graduated from the University in May, 1955.

During his period of study at Austin he was organist at the University Baptist Church, and was a member of Phi Mu Alpha, honorary music fraternity. He was also a member of Phi Kappa Lambda, honorary music fraternity for seniors. As a sophomore, he received a scholarship award from Pi Kappa Lambda for being the "best all-around sophomore or junior music student at the university."

He also studied at Texas Technological College in Lubbock before entering the University of Texas.

No practice has more consistent record for weakening the hog market than does the marketing of overweight hogs. Such a practice, says E. M. Regenbrecht, extension swine husbandman, not only results in lower market prices but feeding hogs to weights over 200 pounds is not efficient feeding.

P-TA President Mrs. R. E. Ayers

P-TA MEMBERSHIP DRIVE IN FULL SWING AS SCHOOL BEGINS

Activities of the Slaton Elementary Schools Parent-Teacher Association for the 1956-57 year got under way this week with a membership drive in the halls of the East and West Ward Schools and an announcement of plans for the year's program by Mrs. Cecil Scott, program chairman.

Representatives of the P-TA are collecting membership dues of 50 cents a parent in the school buildings this week. Mrs. R. E. Ayers, president, has announced that all parents who have not been contacted at school may pay their dues at the first meeting, at 7:45 p. m. Monday in the West Ward auditorium. The meeting will be a "get-acquainted-with-your-teacher" assembly, honoring new teachers.

Program Announcements
Mrs. Scott announced this week that the P-TA yearbooks will go to press after the room mothers are named this week, and they will be distributed at the October meeting. "We, the People, Spotlight Our School" is the year's program theme.

The subject for the October meeting will be "We, the People, Support Our Teachers." A panel, consisting of Robert Hall Davis, chairman of the school board; Mrs. Joe Teague, III, a Slaton citizen; Mrs. Virgie Hunter, a teacher; and Lee Vardy, Jr., school superintendent, will discuss the proposed Texas Constitutional Amendment No. 4 which is designed to improve the Teacher Retirement program in schools of the state.

The subject for November will be "We, the People, Give Thanks for Our Schools." There will be no December meeting.

A legislative program presented by the school superintendent is scheduled for January, the subject for the meeting being "We, the People, Invest in Education."

More Programs Announced
A patriotic book selected by the speaker, Mrs. Willard Childers, will be reviewed at the February meeting. The program subject for that occasion is "We, the People, Achieve Effective Home, School, Community Relations."

Mrs. James Perkins will be in charge of a musical program for the March meeting, subject for which is "We, the People, Interpret the Educational Opportunities provided for Our Children—Good Schools Are Your Responsibility." The final meeting, scheduled for April, will be devoted mainly to committee reports and other year-end activities. The program subject will be "We, the People Go Forth to Serve Our Schools."

The P-TA meets at 7:45 p. m. the second Monday night of each month in the West Ward auditorium. Membership is open to parents of all East and West Ward pupils, and the room having the most parents enrolled after the Sept. 10 meeting will receive a cash prize of $7.50, Mrs. Ayers said. The runner-up room will receive $5.00.

MRS. DUDLEY BERRY is shown arranging flowers which she and her husband have grown in their yard. This particular arrangement is of multi-colored gladioli and bells of Ireland, just two of the many varieties they grow.

Slaton Women Give Their Favorite Tested Recipes

From a group of recipes Mrs. Dudley Berry especially enjoys preparing, she has given a Chicken Taco recipe. Having lived on the Mexican border at Presidio, she became interested in Mexican recipes and has several "prize" ones.

Chicken Tacos
1 small can green chili peppers
1 medium onion, chopped
2 cups tomato juice
2 tsp. flour
1 pt. whipping cream
2 cups grated American Cheese
1 medium sized hen, boiled and cut in pieces.

Method: Mix first six ingredients and simmer. Add chicken cut in small pieces and season with salt and pepper. Fry 12 tortillas, place on cookie sheets and fold before cold as they will break if not hot. Fill these tacos with the chicken mixture and pour some over the top of them. Bake, in 350 degree oven for 10 minutes and serve hot. A tossed green salad and maybe some beans make an excellent Mexican meal.

Mr. and Mrs. Berry and their son, Lyle, moved to Slaton the first time from Plainview in 1937 and two years later were transferred by the Santa Fe to Presidio where they lived for three years. They moved back to Slaton in 1941 and have lived here since that time, with Mr. Berry serving the company as a train dispatcher.

Son in Germany
Lyle, who has been stationed with the Army at Giehnhausen, Germany, is home and plans to enroll in Tech this fall.

After listening to Mrs. Berry talk for a few minutes and detecting southern accent one is not surprised to learn she was born and reared in Mississippi. She came to Texas before her marriage and met her husband at Plainview where she was living with an aunt. Now she says she is just "nearly" a native Texan.

Hobby-Growing Flowers
The Berrys live at 940 South 10th, after moving their home from ninth street and are enjoying their new location so much. They are both gardeners and have for a hobby growing flowers. Mrs. Berry says she not only likes to grow the flowers but she loves to visit the sick and take them, bouquets remembering what a visit means to those who are ill. She was in a hospital at one time for 11 months and in bed for two and a half years.

In fact visiting the sick is an important phase of her life's work and one she feels that God has especially called her to do. One of her friends gave a little motto to her saying, "It fits your ideals so well I wanted you to have it." Mrs. Berry has it hanging by her door and tries to "make this my goal each day."

Her Motto
"I shall pass through this world but once, and any Good thing, therefore that I can do, or any kindness that I can show to any human being, let me do it now. Let me not defer it, or neglect it, for I shall not pass this way again."

Lorene loves young people and children and is a past mother advisor of Rainbow for Girls. She has helped them with their Spanish Fiesta for the past seven years, in fact, helped to start this annual affair. She is also a past matron of the local Eastern Star chapter. She is a member of the Past Matron's Club and the Bluebonnet Club.

As a member of the First Baptist Church, she is active in the work there. She is a past president of the WMU and is community missions chairman for the Business Women's Circle. She is also program chairman for the Federation of Church Women here in Slaton, having served as president previously.

With all of these activities and others we have not mentioned, Mrs. Berry is employed part time at the Slaton Floral and finds this a most interesting work that fits right in with her hobby of flowers.

Mrs. Everett Hodge returned to her home in Oceanside, Calif. after a weeks visit here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. O. Henry, and her parents-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Delma Hodge.

OUT OF THIS WORLD—That's the astronomical surplus storage problem which these huge, cone-shaped tents are designed to help alleviate. Each holding nearly a million bushels of wheat, they're being erected near St. Joseph, Mo., turning the landscape into something resembling an artist's conception of a space colony on a distant planet. Stages in erection are shown, counter-clockwise, beginning with second installation from lower right-hand corner. 1—Steel mast is located at center of what will become a storage tent. 2—Tent, partially filled from top by means of conveyor system, begins to rise. 3—Tent, almost full, will soon be sealed.

LIONS HEAR JUDGE ALLEN

The Lions Club played host Tuesday at their luncheon meeting at the Clubhouse to Judge Robert J. Allen, county judge in the county court at law.

Judge Allen spoke to the Lions about law and lawmakers. The laws which we use in the United States are laws that come from the common laws of England and the civil laws of Rome and Spain, he told the members.

"Laws must be changed occasionally to maintain the pace set by changing conditions. To change these laws or to introduce these laws is indirectly the responsibility of the people.

"Laws are changed by the elected representatives of the people and people determine the laws which will be passed or amended through these representatives." Louie Moore, Lubbock County Clerk was a guest at the meeting.

District of Columbia One of Safest Places To Drive Automobile

Ever wonder why so many people want to be congressmen and senators?

Well, aside from the pay and prestige there may be another reason.

The District of Columbia is one of the safest places in the country to work and to drive a motor vehicle. The death rate there last year from accidents occurring at work was 1.4 per 100,000 population, and the motor vehicle death rate was 11.6—as compared with 8.6 and 23.3 for the nation.

According to the 1956 edition of "Accident Facts," the statistical yearbook of the National Safety Council, which is just off the press, Wyoming had the country's highest work accident death rate—22.2 per 100,000 population. New Mexico had the highest motor vehicle death rate, 48.7.

No formal dinner is complete without nuts. Always invite a few.

Some of the experts on gifted children have come to the conclusion that there are some things that even parents can teach them.

HEAT AND COLD CAN AND DO KILL

Do you ever moan, "This heat is killing me?" Well, it can—and so can cold!

Excessive heat and cold killed 1,208 persons in the United States in 1954. Excessive heat was responsible for 978 of the deaths, excessive cold for 230.

Hunger, thirst and exposure killed 238 other persons, according to "Accident Facts," the National Safety Council's statistical yearbook, which is just off the press.

The 1954 figures are the latest available.

While 10,000 theaters have closed in the last three years, more than that many new church buildings have been erected.

Cafe to Re-Open September 8th

The Palace Cafe in the 100 block on N. 9th Street will re-open for business Saturday, September 8. The cafe, which was closed because of the illness of the owner, H. C. Maxey, has been leased by J. B. Winchester.

Feature of the opening will be free coffee and doughnuts all day for those who drop in, according to Winchester.

Those were the happy days when the word "park" meant a pleasant place to take the family, and not a problem which often baffles the average citizen.

Mr. Maxey is recuperating at his home following a heart attack.

Hi everybody! Here I am again bring you a weekly report on activities and happenings at good old S. H. S.

I'm not sure that everyone is glad to be back in school, but I do know that all are getting in the swing of things.
There are approximately 23 new students this year. I would like to welcome you to our fine school and also welcome the many familiar faces back. All of the students look nice and fresh to begin this fall semester. Of course the football boys look rather bruised and skinned, but that proves they have been in rugged training.
Speaking of football, I would like to impress on your minds that the Slaton Tigers play their first game of the year Friday night, Sept. 7, at Crosbyton. The kickoff will be at 8 p. m. and I know that the Tigers would like to see the bleachers full of Slatonites.

Just to refresh your memory, the majorettes for the year are Sandra Wells, Martha McCormick, Helen Norris and Nancy Mosley. Cheerleaders are: head cheerleader, Louise Moore; seniors, Charlotte Muse and Beverly Bland; sophomore, Suzanne Neill; and freshman, June Johnson.
The band and pep squad will be boosting the Tigers tonight, so let's all go to Crosbyton for this first Tiger game.

CONELRAD CAR RADIO dial marked at 640 and 1240 kilocycles for any emergency will come in handy when all radio stations go off the air at 3:10 p. m. on July 20, and then some returns to broadcast special civil defense material on these frequencies as part of Operation Alert, 1956. The 15-minute nationwide Conelrad test, first of its kind, will test radio stations' ability to switch to the Conelrad system of broadcasting in an actual attack so that emergency instructions could be radioed to the public without guiding enemy bombers to their targets. Civil defense authorities are hoping the public will mark their radios for future emergencies. (FCDA Photo)

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Bain and Mike attended homecoming near Santo, Texas, last Sunday. The Bains are former residents of that community. There were about 250 present for the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Stewart of Lubbock were dinner guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Walter Monday night.

Seven college students recently won $96,000 at roulette in Reno, Nev. That should answer those who doubt that a college education pays practical dividends.

History of Texas Tech Completed

The story of a vision went on sale August 15 when The First Thirty Years, a history of Texas Tech, issued from the presses.

The vision is that of early pioneers of the South Plains area who dreamed of the day that such a college would come to serve the West Texas people. Urged as early as 1870, the establishment of the college became possible with the granting of the charter by the 38th legislature in 1923.

Written by Mrs. Ruth Horn Andrews, daughter of Tech's first president Dr. Paul W. Horn, the book deals primarily with the period from the fall of 1925, when classes were begun, to the commencement of 1955.

The history tells, in an informal and interesting style, of how the college grew during the three decades. Mrs. Andrews, New York author and widow of Joseph F. Andrews, an engineer with American Telephone and Telegraph, has known all of the principal persons connected with Tech and its growth.

And the growth has been outstanding. As Mrs. Andrews tells it, the Tech campus when she first saw it in 1923 was simply "2,000 acres of tumbleweeds." Today the campus boasts 50 permanent buildings, wide expanses for farms and agricultural experiments, and more than 18 million dollars worth of investment.

The first session, back in 1925, saw 914 students swarm onto the campus, where six buildings had been erected to start things off. Growing steadily, the college last fall topped the 7,000 mark in enrollment.

At first Tech offered only two years of college work. Today it offers a complete five-school undergraduate program, as well as graduate work leading to the masters degree in 30 fields and to the doctorate in 6.

Initial copies of the first edition, which is limited to 2,000 books, are being autographed for the purchasers.

The publication of the book, which was in preparation for a year and a half, was made possible by the action of Tech's Board of Directors, who encouraged the writing of the early history while those people who made the history were still alive to help in preserving the record.

In preparing the book Mrs. Andrews used personal memories, diaries, college records and student publications, anecdotes told her by the many members of the first faculty who are still living, and Lubbock newspaper files. Eight of the first faculty are still teaching at Tech.

Mrs. Andrews also interviewed many of the prominent people who served the college through its early days, including members of early faculties, former members of the Board of Directors, and others who knew the college in its infant years.

The publication follows closely behind the celebration in June of the thirtieth anniversary of Tech, which in its few years—for it is young, as colleges go—has shown to be one of the state's largest educational institutions.

Tech was also accepted into the Southwest Conference recently—but that is part of "The Second Thirty Years."

First sales of the book will be handled by the Texas Tech Book store, under the supervision of manager W. C. Cole.

PEAKING THROUGH THE WINDOW to see what's going on in the recreation room are six Tiger Town members. Tiger Town offers its members a variety of entertainment, from dancing as seen in the background, to ping pong and shuffle board inside the recreation room. The six girls were among the many teenagers who played host at an open house at Tiger Town, Friday night. They are left to right, Paulette Dowell, Dixie Clark, Linda Buxkemper, Pam Maxey, Susanne Neill, and Sandra Wells.

Tiger Town Open House Attended By Many Parents

Many parents and townspeople turned out Friday night at the invitation of Slaton's teenagers to inspect the facilities at Tiger Town.

More than 100 persons visited Tiger Town open house during which time the teenage hosts proudly exhibited the facilities of their youth center.

Visitors who recalled only the old barracks building which sat for so long in the City Park were amazed to see the many changes and improvements which the building has undergone since the young people re-opened it last year.

Improvements include a new hard-wood floor, a new paint job inside and out, and various improvements to make the interior more attractive. One of the features of the youth center is a mural in the game room which was painted for the teenagers by Mrs. Bob Conner.

Included in the recreation room are a shuffle board, a ping pong table, and a refreshment bar where the young people can gather for a cold soft drink.

The youth center is an excellent example of self-government with the young people making their own rules and policies and appointing an adult advisory board to aid them in carrying out the rules and policies.

As one of the parents who was on hand Friday night put it, "This is a perfect example of what can be accomplished when parents and teenagers work together—with the result that the qualities of good citizenship are today being practiced by Slaton's citizens of tomorrow."

Comanche Reunion Held Sunday at Mackenzie Park

Approximately 250 persons attended the sixth annual Comanche County Reunion Sunday in Mackenzie State Park in Lubbock.

Following a basket lunch, an old-fashioned sing-song was led by Ben Stephenson, program chairman.

Officers elected for the next year, all from Lubbock, include J. S. Scitern, president; R. D. Cox, vice president; and Mrs. Ben Stephenson, secretary.

The group set the fourth Sunday in August as the reunion date for 1957.

Miniature Golf Course Opened In Community

Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Weaver this week announced the opening of the "Fun Spot" a miniature golf course on the curve at the edge of town on U. S. Highway 84 going toward Post. The 18 hole course will be open, with the exception of Wednesday and Sunday, every night at 7 p. m.

Miniature golf fans can play the course for reasonable prices, according to the Weavers. The course consists of concrete runways covered with sawdust.

Special rates may be obtained for church parties, clubs or organization groups. Arrangements for special rates may be made by contacting the Weavers by phoning Southland 2072.

Patients Find Hope at Gonzales Warm Springs

As Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation progresses during its 15th year of successful operation, patients with all types of crippling diseases find treatment and hope here.

Although poliomyelitis cases presently predominate at the Foundation, the hospital facilities are so designed, both personnel and equipment, to treat other types of cases such as Cerebral Palsy, Multiple Sclerosis, Muscular Dystrophy, Arthritis, and other neuro-muscular diseases and musculoskeletal disorders.

Within the limits of its bed capacity, the Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation is open to any adult or child who can be benefited by the treatment program. A medical examination and evaluation conducted at the Foundation determines whether the patient can be helped or not.

While limited welfare funds do not permit free care for adults, no Texas child under 21 is ever denied treatment for lack of funds.

The first step in securing admission for prospective patients is to write for an application blank to be filled out by the parents and the referring physician.

This application blank should then be returned to the registrar at the Foundation, Box 58, Gonzales.

"This is a Texas rehabilitation center for all types of crippling diseases and we want to help anyone who needs it," said Walter Richter, director of public relations.

Senator Kefauver never seems to know when he is supposed to be licked, it seems.

Student in an Arkansas college gets into the act by advocating a rigid "grade support" program which, he explains, is "very similar to the Guaranteed Annual Grade—in other words, GAG." His plan, says the student, will "just about take the uncertainty out of going to college."

Visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Larkin Taylor from Thursday through Tuesday was Mrs. G. W. Young of Dodge City, Kan. Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Young have been friends since childhood, having gone to school together.
