

Judges And Commissioners Arrive For Autumn Meeting

Officials To Ponder War Born Topics

Approximately 300 Delegates Expected For Parley

Judges and members of the commissioners courts from far-flung West Texas counties were moving into Big Spring Friday for their two-day autumn convention—one that will be devoted largely to topics related to wartime.

With the bulk of visitors due to arrive during the afternoon, registration at noon approached the 100-mark, and estimates were that 300 may be here for the convocation. Early arrivals included Judge Frank Day of Plainview, president of the West Texas association, and Judge Gilbert Smith of Anson, secretary.

Both pronounced affairs in readiness for the programs which run this afternoon, tonight and tomorrow.

This evening, following a demonstration in incendiary bomb control (to which the public is invited) to be staged at the city park softball field, conventioners will assemble for the annual banquet at the Settles hotel, headquarters for the sessions. Dr. W. R. White, Hardin-Simmons university president, will make the address. A dance, with music by Harrison's Texans, follows the dinner program.

The judges and commissioners had a full program during the afternoon. Following opening ceremonies, addresses were given by Brig. Gen. Inalah Davies, commanding officer of the Midland army flying school; Col. Harold B. Brayton, director of the war department civilian protection school; Col. W. N. Winship, Jr., superintendent of the Gatesville state school for boys; John H. Winters, president of the Texas Association of Judges and Commissioners; and Lt. Col. Harold B. Brayton, director of the war department civilian protection school. Col. Brayton directs the bomb control demonstration this evening.

Guests were welcomed by the host county judge, Walton Morrison, and by Mayor Grover Dunham of Big Spring, and response was given by Judge Carl Hulsey of Abilene.

The officials bring their convalescence to a close at noon Saturday, with election of officers and selection of the next convention city. Resolutions will be considered and two talks are on the closing program, by Harold J. Stafford, state director of the WPA division of employment, and Lee Thompson, judge of Farmer county.

Navy Transfers Local Recruiter

A. H. Walker, who has been serving in the local navy recruiting office since last winter, has been transferred for similar service in the Dallas office.

Walker was to leave Big Spring Friday for Dallas to undertake his duties.

M. Stanley, who, incidentally, joined the navy in Big Spring sometime ago and who has been stationed in Dallas, takes over Walker's place in the recruiting office here. He reported Friday morning.

The last recruits for the navy signed up by Walker are: Cleo Clifton Wilson, Fortson, who joined the "sea-bees"; Edwin Floyd Houston, Lamesa, who joined up as a cook; Willard Burlin Bradshaw, Midland; Russell Young Sadler, Stanton, and Walter Marshall Murray, Afton, all enlisting as apprentice seamen V-4.

Two Are Named In Auto Theft

Complaints charging auto theft were filed in the justice court Friday against Paul Henry Ross and Clint Youmans Barnett.

The two were taken in custody Thursday night by city police and transferred to county officers. Police recovered a car which had been taken from the Jones Motor company used car lot Wednesday night.

Cadet Crashes

SAN ANGELO, Sept. 25 (AP)—A board of inquiry at Goodfellow field today was investigating the airplane crash in which Aviation Cadet Delmar Merrett Yeakum, 25, was killed late Thursday. Yeakum, a graduate of Midland, Tex., high school in 1939, was killed instantly.

Nazis Pay Dearly For Convoy Attack

British Destroyer Lost On Return From Russia

LONDON, Sept. 25 (AP)—The British lost the destroyer Somali and the minesweeper Leda in a convoy homeward bound from Russia after getting "the great majority" of the laden merchantmen through to Soviet northern ports, the admiralty disclosed today in a complete account of the sea struggle in the Arctic ocean.

Against the Allied losses, the admiralty announced that 40 German planes were blasted from the sky, two U-boats were destroyed and four others damaged during the inward and outward passages of the convoy by anti-aircraft fire and carrier-borne naval planes.

"The task of the escorting ships was by no means complete" when the goods had been delivered to Russia, the admiralty related, and the commodore of the convoy "turned his force to fight the homeward bound convoy from Russia back through areas in which the enemy has concentrated in such large forces."

On the outward journey, the admiralty previously had disclosed that most of the merchant ships carrying war supplies for Russia had reached their destinations and that none of the convoying warships had been lost despite Nazi air and U-boat attacks in the autumn dusk of the Arctic.

Round back, however, it said that Somali was torpedoed by a lone submarine into the Atlantic, paraded and sank after breakthrough in bad weather for more than three days.

Only four of the British naval fighter planes operated from carriers were lost during the two-way battle and three of the pilots were saved.

Japs Claim Their Ships In Atlantic

Imperial Tokyo headquarters attempted to blow up a bubble-gum scare today with the announcement that Japanese naval forces were now operating in the Atlantic "in close cooperation with the Axis navies."

While Tokyo specifically mentioned only one Japanese submarine as having arrived in Atlantic waters, the German high command seized on the announcement to declare that "Japanese warships" had made contact with Axis forces in the Atlantic.

In London, British naval observers said any suggestion that Japanese surface raiders or heavy naval units might follow the lone submarine was "foolish."

These quarters said the Japanese navy already had its hands full in the Pacific, and that the North and South Atlantic were too well guarded by Allied navies for a Japanese surface flotilla to enter those water undetected.

British informants said it would not be difficult for Japan to send a submarine into the Atlantic, perhaps using Vichy-French Madagascar island as a refueling base, but declared:

"If a 10,000-mile trip like that were carried out, it was undoubtedly done just for its propaganda value."

GEN. WAINWRIGHT AND OTHER DEFENDERS OF BATAAN BELIEVED HELD NEAR MANILA

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright and an estimated 6,000 other American defenders of Bataan and Corregidor were reported today to be war captives of the Japanese in a prison camp at Tarsac, north of Manila, in the Philippines.

A partial list of about 200 prisoners, compiled from information furnished by some of the small number of persons permitted to leave Manila, also contained the names of four other American and Filipino army general officers.

General Wainwright, commander of the Philippines forces after Gen. Douglas MacArthur was ordered to Australia, was taken with the fall of Corregidor on May 6. His late and that of more than 60,000 others (including Filipinos) last reported on Bataan and Corregidor has since been in doubt.

Those in the partial list of prisoners included Maj. Gen. William F. Sharp, Monksport, Md., commander of the American-Philippine forces on the southern island of Mindanao; Brig. Gen. Lewis C. Beebe, a native of Ashton, Iowa; Clinton A. Pierce, Sierra Madre, Calif.; and Fidel V. Segundo, of the Philippine army.

Others named included Maj. Thomas J. H. Trapnell, Baltimore, Md., holder of the distinguished service cross for heroism in blowing up a bridge in the face of heavy enemy fire; and Col. Jesse Traywick, Montgomery, Ala., credited

Compromise On Inflation Bill Possible

Barkley Introduces Alternate Plan To Ease Farm Bloc

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25 (AP)—Democratic Leader Barkley (Kentucky) said today that an effort to compromise the fight over farm parity prices in the administration's anti-inflation bill rapidly was gaining support in the senate.

Talking to reporters at the start of the fifth day of debate, Barkley said that "many senators" who previously had been backing an amendment by Senators Thomas (D-Okla.) and Hatch (D-N.M.) to revise the basis of parity upward had informed him they would vote for a substitute proposal directing President Roosevelt to lift farm price ceilings where they did not reflect to producers the increased costs of labor and other items.

The latter amendment would avoid any change in the method of computing parity. President Roosevelt has said that he was "unalterably opposed" to changing this standard.

"Many senators who have been committed to vote for the Thomas amendment have indicated to me that the compromise proposal is more workable and more satisfactory," Barkley said, adding:

"It does not have the vice of re-writing the parity formula."

However, Thomas told reporters he thought the compromise was "a meaningless jumble of words" and would insist on a vote first on the amendment he and Hatch offered.

Barkley said there was little chance of any decision by the senate today on any of the major points in the bill, indicating that a show-down might be postponed until Monday.

The probably would delay final enactment of the bill until after the October 1 deadline set by President Roosevelt in his message to congress on Sept. 7 asking for authority to cut farm price ceilings back from 110 per cent of parity to 100 per cent and saying that unless congress acted, he would.

Captured AP Man Demands Interview With Gen. Rommel

LONDON, Sept. 25 (AP)—Larry Allen, Associated Press correspondent who fell into enemy hands in the British commando raid on Tobruk Sept. 14, floored his axis captors by demanding an interview with Field Marshal Erwin Rommel, DNEB disclosed today in a broadcast from Berlin.

(Although the Italian radio had announced the capture of an American correspondent in the Tobruk raid, since established to have been Allen, this was the first time that the axis radio had mentioned the name of the Pulitzer prize winner who had been with the British fleet in virtually all its Mediterranean operations.)

The radio said this "rather queer wish by the prisoner" amazed the captors but they turned it down, even though the Nazi desert commander happened then to be in Tobruk.

Allen asked to be exchanged immediately for an axis prisoner in British hands but, said DNEB, the request "first must be carefully examined by competent quarters."

WAAC Member To Join Local Army Recruiting Staff

Sgt. Edwin R. Turner, local army recruiting officer, was transferred eagerly to Tuesday, September 22.

On that day, he says, he is to be assigned a member of the WAACs for duty in his office. She will be the first woman in the armed forces of the United States to be stationed in the Big Spring recruiting offices.

Six more men joined the army in Big Spring Thursday. Three of the men, Herschel Johnson, J. C. Gross, and Roy E. Black are from Big Spring; David L. McDowell, Colorado City; Craig L. Chumley, Menard; and Lloyd B. Murphy made up the remainder of the recruits.

By the Japanese with communicating their terms of surrender to General Sharp in Mindanao after Corregidor's fall.

Only one American has been officially listed by the war department as a prisoner in the Philippines. He is Capt. Kenneth Hoefel, Cambridge, Mass.

Some 3,500 civilians are interned in the buildings and grounds of Santo Tomas (OQ) university on the outskirts of the city, and an additional 1,000, mostly aged, ill or very young, are permitted to live in the city.

Americans and Filipinos without exception were said to be required to dismount from conveyances to make bows to Japanese officers they may encounter.

Red Counter-Attacks Slow Nazis Before Stalingrad

INCENDIARY BOMB DISPLAY IS REAL STUFF, LOCATION MOVED

There's nothing playful about incendiary bombs. And for that reason, a demonstration in controlling these implements of war, scheduled for this evening in connection with the West Texas county judges-commissioners convention, has been moved out to the city park, at the softball field.

Previously, the demonstration was announced for Main street, near the courthouse, but men in charge of the display said that the high-power explosives were too dangerous to be touched off in the downtown area.

While the demonstration, to be staged under direction of Lt. Col. Harold B. Brayton of the war department civilian protection school, is primarily for convention guests, the public is invited to see it. Valuable information is presented for air raid wardens, volunteer firemen and all others who must have knowledge to protect their homes from enemy raids.

Solid and liquid oil bombs will be demonstrated in addition to other types of incendiary bombs. The demonstration promises to be very spectacular, since there will be a simulated air attack with swarms of planes crossing the field dropping flares. Bombs will be set off on the ground and Col. Brayton will be at the microphone to explain to the crowd how best to deal with the different bombs.

Col. Brayton, Capt. McInnis, and Sgt. Sobolewski arrived in Big Spring Friday morning to conduct the demonstration.

First Bombardier Cadets Arrive Here

Students To Begin 12-Week Training On Saturday

First cadets assigned to the Big Spring Army Air Force Advanced Flying School—more of those future bombardiers—arrived at base here Friday morning.

Arrival of the men here in time to begin their routine schedule Saturday marked the fulfillment of a long-cherished dream of Capt. Sam L. Ellis, commanding officer of the school, who had been aiming at since construction of the Big Spring bombardier school was started. He had worked toward starting his first class of cadets out on Sept. 26.

In good spirits, the young men who will be taught the art of precision bombing here, were quartered and instructed in the routine which they will follow for a grueling 12-week course.

Their first three weeks will be spent in ground school where they will master the foundation work which later will enable them to react expertly and instantaneously in the air.

In the fourth week they will take to the AP-11 trainers and experience their initial thrill of releasing 100-pound practice bombs at targets scattered throughout the area. From then on it will be day and night bombing missions for the student bombardiers until they are graduated and assigned to regular stations in the air corps.

Not all of the last nine weeks will be spent in flying, for there will be much practice in the "bomb trainer," a huge building where bomb-bombing conditions are simulated by means of moveable scaffolding.

Clyde Bishop Death Victim

Last rites will be said at 3:30 p. m. Saturday at the Eberly chapel for Clyde Andrew Bishop, 38, long-time resident and son of a well known Howard county farm couple.

Bishop succumbed at 1:30 p. m. Thursday in a Dallas hospital where he had gone last Sunday for treatment.

Born April 2, 1904 in Hardeman county, Tennessee, he came here more than a score years ago with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Bishop, who reside 13 miles northeast of here. Clyde Bishop farmed most of his adult life but also operated a gin here in recent years. He also served as an election judge in the R-Bar box.

Survivors include his widow and one son, Harold Bishop, two daughters, Paul Bishop and Bruce Bishop; one sister, Mrs. Sadie Yell, Big Spring. D. E. Bishop, Big Spring, is an uncle.

Other than the time, funeral arrangements were pending Friday.

Congressman Wants Charity Grid Tilts Investigated, Too

NEW YORK, Sept. 25 (AP)—Representative O'Toole (D-N. Y.), who on Wednesday called for an investigation of the Louis-Come boat sinking, is making a "mockery" of the war, the army and charity, last night called for an investigation of the distribution of the funds from recent games played by the two all-army football teams against various clubs in the national professional league.

Farm Market Pool Seen As Price Control

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25 (AP)—Use of a giant government purchasing organization to create in effect a single market for farm products was reported today to be one possible result if President Roosevelt decides on direct action to stabilize prices and wages.

It probably would be one of the later steps, informed persons said, and would be preceded by more generalized and less drastic moves.

First of all, if the program understood to have been outlined for the army forces, second to the military quarters Sept. 15 that the battle was in the "final phase." It broadcast a dispatch which stated that the high command preferred a gradual, systematic advance in order to save men and the "fall of the city may thus be delayed for some time."

Still denied Stalingrad, the German high command threw a new weight of numbers into the Caucasus penetration, struggling to develop an attack toward Grozny, the big oil town.

The Russians contained this new offensive effort generally, dispatches said, but the Germans made some progress in the area of an unidentified village. The Russians also were reported still stoutly resisting axis assaults southeast of Novorossk, on the Black Sea coast.

An Investia dispatch from the Moscow area on the Grozny front said that the Russians had attacked 67 German tanks, destroying 16 of them.

The president would allocate all of the available supplies of the commodity according to needs, first call going to the armed forces, second to the lend-lease program, and the last to civilians. Purchases under the allocation would be at not more than fixed prices.

If an individual balked at the allocation order, the requisition power would be employed through the commodity credit corporation, which could take what it needed and pay "a fair and reasonable price" as provided by law. This price presumably would be that fixed under the allocation program.

WILLKIE GETS CLOSE TO RZHEV ON INSPECTION OF RED FRONT

MOSCOW, Sept. 25 (AP)—After a tour of inspection which carried him within six or seven miles of German-held Rzhev amid dueling artillery on the central Russian front, Wendell L. Willkie returned to this capital today.

He entered into the zone of artillery action and from a lofty vantage point saw Rzhev, where Russian soldiers were engaged in street fighting. Rzhev is about 120 miles west northwest of Moscow.

Clutching the sides of the leaping jeep, Willkie rode to the vicinity of Rzhev, escorted by a Russian lieutenant-general. It was a 14-hour trip.

Standing on a windswept hill, he looked toward the city. It was one of the biggest thrills of his life, he related. Later he talked to seven German prisoners. Their extreme youth impressed him.

To see the front so intimately Willkie went two nights without sleep. He had no opportunity to pull the lanyard of a Russian cannon, as he said he would have liked to do, but the firing was under way about him for practically the entire time he was close to the front. Willkie was an artilleryman in the World War.

The Rzhev front was the second battline he has visited in the past few weeks. He went up to the Egyptian desert front in the early part of his tour.

Willkie said the German prisoners he talked to before Rzhev looked like they were dressed not for Russia's coming winter but for an African campaign. They wore loose, floppy cotton uniforms, and shivered in the cold and rain.

Soviets Take Two Strategic Points

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
MOSCOW, Sept. 25 (AP)—Thrown on the defense of Stalingrad's northwestern rim by the development of the Red army's flanking counterattack, the Germans were reported today to have failed in fresh infiltration attempts directly against the city while battling desperately against the menace from the flank.

The epic battle centered on the northwestern sector where the Russians had recaptured two dominating heights and nearby populated sections, according to today's Stalingrad dispatches.

The German high command declared that its troops had taken "further fortified points in fierce street fighting" and, conceding the defensive nature of the fight on the flank, said "Soviet relief attacks against the northern barrier erected by German and allied troops were repulsed in hard fighting."

The Russian army newspaper Red Star declared that no other city in this war had been such a battlefield as Stalingrad. A military commentator quoted by Tass, official Russian news agency, said the Germans had lost more than 25,000 dead in the last week.

"And Stalingrad is not the fortress which Verdun was," he added.

Red Star said German tanks were cruising the streets and alleys of Stalingrad, seeking to fall unexpectedly upon the Russian positions and demoralize the men holding them.

Despite this infiltration, it was said, the Russians were countering successfully, with anti-tank guns and grenades, generally holding their ground. One street running from the western edge of the city to the high cliffs along the Volga was attacked "scores of times" by German tank forces and tommy-gun shock troops—without avail.

A savage battle was indicated northwest of the city, where Russian planes, tanks, heavy artillery and foot troops have struck repeatedly into the Germans' left wing.

Field dispatches said Red army task forces had captured two hills and, in one sector, killed 900 Germans.

(The Berlin radio hedged again on a declaration by German military quarters Sept. 15 that the battle was in the "final phase." It broadcast a dispatch which stated that the high command preferred a gradual, systematic advance in order to save men and the "fall of the city may thus be delayed for some time.")

Still denied Stalingrad, the German high command threw a new weight of numbers into the Caucasus penetration, struggling to develop an attack toward Grozny, the big oil town.

The Russians contained this new offensive effort generally, dispatches said, but the Germans made some progress in the area of an unidentified village. The Russians also were reported still stoutly resisting axis assaults southeast of Novorossk, on the Black Sea coast.

An Investia dispatch from the Moscow area on the Grozny front said that the Russians had attacked 67 German tanks, destroying 16 of them.

Heavy Casualties

LONDON, Sept. 25 (AP)—A Reuters dispatch from Zurich, Switzerland, today quoted persons who survived the last week's RAF attack on Karlsruhe as estimating that 8,000 to 10,000 residents of the city died in that assault.

Mobs Fired Upon

NEW DELHI, India, Sept. 25 (AP)—Indian mobs have been machine gunned five times from the air since the independence movement broke into violence last month, General Sir Alan F. Hartley, deputy British commander in chief in India, disclosed today.

Panama Defenses Lauded By Knox

BALBOA, C. Z., Sept. 25 (AP)—Secretary of the Navy Knox declared today on an inspection trip of the Panama Canal that "we probably" have as perfect a defense against air attack here as anywhere in the world—certainly anywhere under our flag.

Knox, who came here from the United States aboard a big naval seaplane, praised army-navy cooperation in the defense and said he noted a tremendous amount of changes and improvements since his previous visit.

He also praised the cooperation "especially of the government of Panama and the governments of Central and South America."

He said he had observed that "everybody here apparently appreciates the gravity of the situation" on this "active war front"—this potential danger spot engulfing conditions in the southwest Pacific.

Some Railway Brotherhoods Ask Wage Hike

CHICAGO, Sept. 25 (AP)—Railroad management and labor sources which declined to be quoted reported today that 15 brotherhoods of non-operating employees had notified the carriers of demands for a 20-cent an hour wage increase, with minimum of 70 cents an hour, and a closed shop.

The sources said railroad operators employing members of the brotherhoods were being served with notices of the demands at their executive offices throughout the nation today.

The non-operating brotherhoods, unions of personnel such as clerks, telegraphers and signalmen, represent more than 800,000 workers.

Representatives of the unions conferred in Chicago several days last week, then adjourned without announcing the purpose of the sessions or what action might be taken in the future.

Both non-operating and the "Big Four" operating unions of engineers, conductors, switchmen and trainmen and engineers obtained wage increases a year ago through mediation processes set up under the national railway act.

Settlement of last year's dispute was expected by some sources to add from $300,000,000 to $325,000,000 a year to the carrier's payroll.

Allied Planes Blast Jap Bases

GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, AUSTRALIA, Sept. 25 (AP)—Allied planes continued their devastating attacks on Japanese communication lines in New Guinea yesterday while bombing formations blasted enemy shipping and shore installations in New Britain, Timor and the Solomon Islands, General MacArthur's headquarters announced today.

But containing stores and equipment were left in flames, a communique said, by a strong force of allied fighters which strafed the airdrome at Kokoda, advance base for the Japanese column attempting to push across southeastern New Guinea toward Port Moresby.

Fighting between allied and Japanese patrols was reported, meanwhile, in the vicinity of Orsbaiwa, 23 miles from Port Moresby, where the invaders here were stalled for more than 10 days, but the allied communique said there was no change in the general situation.

The attack on New Britain island was carried out in moonlight by a force of flying fortresses. The bombers were credited with scoring a direct hit amidships on an 8,000-ton cargo ship in the harbor of Rabaul.

Vols, Sports To Open Dixie Series Today

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 25 (AP)—The Nashville Vols tonight start their fourth Dixie series in as many years, playing host to the Texas league champions from Shreveport. Into what bids fair to be a battle of the pitching greats, Manager Larry Gilbert of the Vols will send Paul Erickson, fast ball artist who tossed 23 consecutive scoreless innings in the Southern association playoffs, while Manager Salty Parker has given the opening nod to Doyle Lade, winner of 19 games during the regular season. Like most of the clubs in the Texas league, the Sports have relied on pitching rather than hitting to win their games. This may be the margin of victory for the Nashville Vols, for with a hurling staff on a par with Shreveport's, the Vols hit 391 during the season as compared with 240 for the Sports.

Frogs Plan Aerial Game Against UCLA

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 25 (AP)—The air minded Texas Christian are favored to outpace the University of California at Los Angeles in their twilight game starting at 6 p. m. (CWT), today. The late start is designed to lure war workers coming off the day shift in droves and admittedly is an experiment.

Big Spring Is Favorite To Cop Decision

Out to make it two-straight for the season and not merely to collect some valuable experience, the Big Spring Steers will tangle at 8:30 p. m. today with the Cisco Lobos on Steer Stadium. The locals will be favored to take the decision, but owing to the unknown status of the visitors, odds were not too long. Some sources listed Cisco as having a rugged and experienced bunch of youngsters, perhaps on a par with Big Spring in weight. Ticket window will open at 7 p. m. and the gate at 7:30 p. m. Admitted men, of course, will be admitted for student prices and will be seated in the west stands. In fine condition, the Steers will enter the tilt at full strength. Coach John Dibrell said his starters probably would be Wayne Dearing and Peppy Blount at ends, Glenn Brown (captain for the evening) and Bobby Boykin at tackles, Bob Coffee and Darrell Webb at guards, Barkley Wood at center, Dewey Stevenson, quarterback, Earnest Bostick and Billy Mims at halfbacks and Doyle Stewart at fullback. Last night the Steers looked better than ever in a nocturnal rehearsal, but this did not mean that they had suddenly become champions. The fact still remains that there are only three lettermen in the lot. But the Steers are full of fight. Cisco has only four returning lettermen, but grapevine had it that the Lobos were little better fixed on squad material. Too, Colorful Monroe Sweeney, who has made athletics a life-long business, is capable of cooking up more surprises than a magician's convention. If he passes a lot, the questionable Steer pass defense will get an acid test. If he hits the middle of the line, the leaky defense there will be tested. If his line stiffens, the bullrushes of Hunka Stewart, ponderous Steer plunger will be up for real scrutiny.

Rationing Won't Slow Oil Trade, Predicts Jester

AUSTIN, Sept. 25 (AP)—Compelling war demands for petroleum products will keep the Texas oil industry humming indefinitely "even if we have universal gasoline rationing," asserts Railroad Commissioner Beauford Jester. Declaring "there is no cause for alarm" for the future of the state's oil industry, Jester said yesterday that "the effects of nationwide rationing would be equalized with constantly increasing war demands for oil counterbalancing any decline on consumption by automobile users." The commissioner predicted that "many of our civilian cars will be kept going with synthetic rubber production even under universal gasoline rationing" and added that the entire market for ordinary gasolines would not entirely disappear. Jester proposed that a statewide oil hearing be convened to permit crude purchasers to submit testimony on the question of authorizing production of petroleum by lease allowables rather than on a per well basis. The plan to fix allowables on a lease or production unit basis was proposed by Chairman Ernest O. Thompson of the commission to simplify operation and help solve problems of manpower and rising production costs. Commissioner Olin Culberson opposed the plan, charging that it would "constitute relinquishment by the commission of its last regulatory powers." Jester declared in an interview that he was studying proposals to alleviate the depressed market situation in West Texas. Crude prices, the commissioner asserted, "should be substantially increased because exploration for new crude reserves" is induced largely by price considerations.

Mexico Prohibits Silver Coin Export

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 25 (AP)—Reporting that higher prices for silver bullion in the United States were draining off Mexican silver money, the treasury ministry yesterday banned the export of any silver coins. The ruling will have the effect of making Mexicans and tourists leave their change behind when they cross into the United States. United States coins may still be carried in either direction across the border, although the international movement of dollar currency, with the exception of $2 bills, has been banned.

Mike Jacobs Says Promoter Plays Banker For Top Fight Contenders

NEW YORK, Sept. 25 (AP)—Mike Jacobs doesn't know what War Secretary Stimson is investigating about the Joe Louis-Billy Conn bout, but since there's been so much hollering over $34,000 the two boxers owe him, Mike wonders if folks realize that fighters depend on promoters for money to keep going between fights. Stimson announced his investigation in Washington yesterday, saying he was "shocked" over details of the arrangements for the October 12 fight in Yankee stadium. One "detail" of the fight is that the war department originally announced it as 100 per cent for army emergency relief, although several days earlier a representative of the war department had seen Louis at Fort Riley, Kas., and discussed with him payment of certain of his debts from the bout. Another "detail" is that a total of $135,451.53 is to be taken from the gate to pay debts listed against Louis and Conn. Of this sum, Mike says $84,500.00 is owed him—$59,800.00 by Louis and $24,700.00 by Billy. The other $41,446.03 is owed by Louis to John Roxborough, one of his co-managers. While officials handling the bout said today they didn't believe the fight would be called off, Jacobs pointed out that there's nothing unusual about fighters owing promoters sizeable chunks, especially when the fighters are the heavyweight champion and his No. 1 challenger. "Fighters have to go to someone for money between fights," he explained. "So they ask a promoter for an advance on their next fight. Why, right now there's about $150,000 outstanding on my books—all money advanced to various fighters. They'll pay it back as soon as they get a fight."

Few Upsets Seen In Initial Skirmishes

NEW YORK, Sept. 25 (AP)—The annual game of blind man's buff states for all football guessers this week. Tremendous shifts in manpower have occurred since last fall with varsity football players by the hundreds and thousands now in the armed services. Football form, uncertain under normal circumstances, probably will be close to non-existent. Remembering that it's all in fun, here are the guesses for the first big week-end program: Notre Dame-Wisconsin: Angelo Bertelli still is operating at the old Notre Dame stand and so are a flock of other veterans. The nod goes to Notre Dame. Penn-Georgia Naval: Word is that Georgia's varsity has handled the Georgia naval cadets pretty easily in practice. This vote goes to Penn. Ivy league favorite. Harvard-North Carolina Naval: Harvard will have one of the greenest teams in history. North Carolina Cadets. Minnesota-Pitt: The material simply isn't there at Pitt any more. Minnesota.

Tornadoes Meet Brownfield Cubs

LAMESA, Sept. 25 (Sp)—Lamesa High Tornadoes play their third non-conference game Friday night on their home field against the Brownfield Cubs. The Lamesa squad is in good condition for the game, with the exception of a few minor injuries. Harold Beck, center, wears a nose guard to protect a pre-season injury, and Bill Taylor on the scrub team broke his arm this week in practice. With Owen Taylor, Jr., Reeves and Roberts on the line, the Golden Tornadoes will make a good showing. In the first game of the season Tahoka was defeated 25-6, and last Friday night in another non-conference game Snyder was defeated 6-0. Coach J. K. Cloyd is new in Lamesa this year, having come from Coleman. NEW YORK, Sept. 25 (AP)—Evidence of a Japanese manpower shortage especially on farms, was contained today in a Tokyo dispatch broadcast by the Berlin radio that high school and university students and soldiers would be used this year to help harvest Japan's crops. The broadcast said many Japanese soldiers would be detached from military service for this work.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR. Wide World Sports Columnist. NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—It was just a year ago today that them basing Bums won the National league pennant, so what could be more appropriate than if them Bums (no longer beautiful) should lose their last chance today. . . . They've been going backward this season just about as fast as they moved up last year. . . . But this is one time the Dodger fans can holler "wait till next year" and mean it (even if Durocher leaves along with MacPhail). . . . Those middle aged guys with families may be the best ball players left by next summer. . . . Seems that even the Dodger fans are slowing up: The guy who turned in a machine gun as scrap metal at Ebbets field didn't do it until Tuesday. He should have thought of it when the Cards were in town.

Border League Starts Play

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Sept. 25 (AP)—Border conference eleven teams swing into action this weekend on grids scattered from the Mississippi to the west coast, with three of the games in the sagebrush circuit proper. Conference play opens in Albuquerque tonight with New Mexico University entertaining the underdog Lumberjacks of Arizona State of Flagstaff. The other two conference games feature Texas Tech against West Texas State at Lubbock, the first gridiron collision of the Panhandle teams in 11 years; and the New Mexico Aggies against Arizona University at Tucson, both games tomorrow night. Inter-sectional play takes the Texas College of Mines to Ruston for a session with Louisiana Tech, and matches the Hardin-Simmons Cowboys against Baylor University at Waco Saturday. Arizona State of Tempe meets San Francisco University in the bay city Sunday.

Gen. Weathered On Inactive List

DALLAS, Sept. 25 (AP)—Brig. Gen. Preston A. Weathered will revert to inactive status as a brigadier general Saturday, following his retirement from active service because of age. General Weathered was commander of the 72nd infantry brigade of the Texas 36th division until his brigade was broken up in the change of the 36th from a square to a triangular division. The army's age-in-grade policy cuts off from active command brigadier generals of his age, which is 58. A veteran Dallas national guard and regular army officer, he returned here yesterday.

Japs Are Short Of Manpower, Too

Bums Cling On, But Cards Nearer Title

By JUDSON BAILEY Associated Press Sports Writer. The St. Louis Cardinals, close to clinching the National league pennant, are likely to be the shortest priced entry the senior circuit has sent against the New York Yankees in many years simply because of one man—Mort Cooper. The odds layers are tentatively calling 10 to 7 against the Cardinals in the world series and this is quite a tribute to the big right-handed pitcher who they figure might handcuff the world champions. Cooper has shown he is capable of beating just about any club in baseball any time his teammates get him one run. Yesterday he whitewashed the Cincinnati Reds 9-0 to assure the Cardinals of at least a tie for the pennant and put them in a position to clinch it today or tomorrow. It was Cooper's 22nd victory against seven defeats and for the fourth time this season he allowed only two hits, both singles. He walked no one and the only Red to get past first was Gee Walker, who was allowed to steal second unopposed. It also was Cooper's tenth shut out, not only the best mark of any pitcher in the major leagues this year, but the best of any hurler since Carl Hubbell pitched ten scoreless games for the New York Giants in 1933. Today, the Dodgers were in danger of being eliminated from the race. They came up against the Braves for the last time and a defeat would knock them out of even a chance to tie. The Dodgers downed Boston 5-3 yesterday by coming from behind with four runs in the sixth inning after spotting the Braves three runs on four hits and three errors in the third frame. All of Boston's seven hits were made off Whit Wyatt in six innings before he was relieved by Hugh Casey. But Wyatt received credit for the triumph, his 18th and the fifth in a row for Brooklyn. In the only other National league activity yesterday the Philadelphia and New York Giants divided a doubleheader. Bill Lohrman pitched New York to victory in the first game 8-0 with a sturdy fourth-inning performance. Then in the nightcap the Giants were held to four hits by John Odajny and George Hennessey and beaten 3-2. The American league competition was limited to one doubleheader which the White Sox took from Cleveland 3-1 and 4-2 to push the Indians within half a game of dropping out of the first division.

About that engagement we hinted at the other day. We turned right around and scooped ourselves that very same day. DEORTHA RODEN announced her engagement at her sorority meeting Tuesday and we thought it wouldn't come out until Thursday. Oh me!

The man of the moment as far as we are concerned is ART WINTHUISER, who caught the gleam in our eye and let us ride around with him in a jeep. What an experience! And people do it every day.

The BLUE BONNET club had an idea the other day. Instead of meeting every other week to play bridge, it is going to keep on meeting at regular times but work for the Red Cross on the day club. The only thing lacking at such a session will be the cards. The ladies will get their visiting done and also some needed work. Mrs. E. D. MERRILL was first hostess Wednesday for such a session.

Look like the soldier center at First and Runnels is really getting underway. Today is the day that the truck from the city will pick up your articles. And after today, it will be too late for the truck service. Some generous hearted people are needed for this chore of finding equipment for the center.

Bumped a lunch from Mrs. J. C. SMITH and FERN yesterday noon downtown. We talked and giggled so much during the lunch hour that it was hard to go "back to the mines" to work in the afternoon.

A Promise for Tomorrow

Chapter Nine NO DAWN TODAY

All through the long hours of that dreadful night, Julie had little time to be glad of Pete's narrow escape. And plenty of opportunity to mourn the injury, sometimes fatal, to fine skilled workmen. If the fire had been an accident, she thought fiercely it was criminal negligence. If it hadn't—she dared not think of that!

The wind which had caught at the flames like some malevolent demon, whisked them through the inflammable scaffolding, hurling fire fifty yards at a time, had died down as suddenly as it came up. Only the drizzle that followed helped check the fire's toll.

It was still drizzling at six the next morning when Julie, spent with the fierce battle she'd waged through the night, stumbled out to her car.

A taxi from the airport whirled into the drive, spraying gravel recklessly. A tall man lunged out, flung a coin toward the driver, hurried himself toward the steps. It was Pete!

"Pete!" her voice spoke the thought.

The sound stopped him. He turned, waved, ran toward her.

"Julie, you're just the person I want to see. How are they?"

"Two men died during the night. A third probably won't last the morning. The rest will pull through I think," she answered quietly.

Pete pulled off his hat, mopped the perspiration beading his forehead.

"Great Scott! I can't see how that happened. We've taken every precaution. Warned the boys. Made the working conditions as near fool-proof as possible."

"Maybe it wasn't an accident," Julie suggested and for the second time recalled Dawn's strange uneasiness, her insistent warning.

Pete glanced at her sharply.

"What makes you think so?"

"No reason. Just a hunch. I thought you were in Riverport."

"I was. Dad called the airport. So I hopped off one plane and onto another. But they had the fire pretty well under control when I got here." He pulled open her car door. "Get into to drop me down at the yard."

"Certainly," Julie slipped under the wheel, started the motor.

"What a rotten break that this should have happened while I was gone," Pete gnawed the stem of his unit pipe.

"Maybe somebody planned it that way."

He laughed at her. "You've been reading too many spy scare stories, Julie. We've a pretty good set-up for uncovering the suspicious boys down there. Besides, no one but Dad knew I was going."

Tough Assignment

Julie glanced at him sharply. Had he forgotten about Dawn? Then she censured that thought. It sounded like one of Dawn's feminine remarks.

But as if her thought had spoken Dawn's name aloud, Pete said, "Do me a favor, Sis?"

The old familiar nickname sounded especially dear right then. Julie nodded, her throat tightening around a lump, her eyes intent on the debris scat-

Editorial -- Way To Stop Spending For Relief Is To STOP

Established when there were millions of unemployed people, the time has come when those federal agencies that provided employment should be brought to an end, and the money used to carry on their programs be appropriated to some other necessary purpose. The CCC has already been liquidated and this should be followed by the WPA, the NYA and any others that were formed for taking up the slack in employment.

With agriculture crying for help in making and gathering the crops, and with necessity for production of crops and livestock increasing every day, to supply the needs of our army and navy and civilians as well as our allies, there should be no more switching of the work of these agencies, in order to keep their directors and employees busy. They should be ended.

The schools and colleges can take care of the NYA at less cost than has been attached to the program while it flourished under government management, and the great number of employes and supervisors and whatnot be released for other government work or private employment. That goes for the WPA also, and in even larger measure. No materials are available for such public works as the WPA has been doing in recent years, nor should they be, for all materials are needed in some phase of war work. The labor that has been employed by the WPA is needed elsewhere and the office and traveling personnel can find room in the army or navy or in some of the war industries.

Long after the war ends there will be need for government-provided employment, unless there is a lessening of government control of business enterprise, which is said to be necessary now. If the answer to that should be the WPA and similar agencies, they can be reestablished, but there should be no continuation of them now. Secretary Chase said of resumption of speed payment, the way to resumption was to resume. The way to stop useless agencies is to stop.

Washington Daybook-- The Question: How To Get A Commission

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — The question most asked members of Congress, military officials, and civilian government bigwigs, is "How can I get a commission in the Army, Navy, Marines, and..."

Coast Guard probably have several hundred thousand each of such applications. The Army Specialist Corps is near or over the 300,000 mark (not quite all of these are for commissioned jobs) on applications. Outside of these filled applications are undoubtedly hundreds of thousands more who haven't bothered to file but are "eager to get in" if they can get commissions with salaries commensurate with their civilian pay.

Hollywood-- Details Count With Filmland Make-Up Man

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD — Another side of Ernest Park, young, well-dressed, personable, stepped between the director and the camera, looked critically at Rosalind Russell's face and opened a small black bag he carried.

He produced a tiny vial, a small soft brush, and asked Rosalind to remove the aviatrix's goggles she wears in "Stand By To Die." Presently tiny smudges appeared where the tight-fitting goggles touched the Russell cheek, and there was a hint of dust on her nose. Park stepped back, the scene went on.

Park is a make-up man, and a grade-A movie fan. Born in Scotland, he came to Los Angeles as a small boy. Ten years ago he decided he would like a job in pictures—because he was a movie fan and the business intrigued him. He tried for months to get in.

"Almost every day I'd call on 'Cap' Duncan at Columbia studios, but there'd be no getting by the gates," he says. "Finally Duncan said, 'I'll have to get you a job in self-defense. The next week I went to work as a messenger.'"

Having studied art in school and done watercolor work, he became a make-up apprentice for three years, then a make-up artist. He likes the work—wants to become "the very best in the business." He likes almost all the people he has worked with, but R. Russell is his favorite—for interesting conversation, for helpful ideas, for happy disposition.

Minimum scale for Park's classification is $139.15 a week, 60 hours, extra pay for overtime. Park's longest lay-off came last year, when he was jobless 25 days. Many make-up artists, however, know longer lean periods.

Park is married, has no children, lives in his own home in Hollywood. Mrs. Park is a movie fan too—they talk about movies at home, read movie and gossip columns, and go to movies often—preferably musicals and light comedies. He always catches the films he has worked on, and studies the make-up jobs. All their friends are non-movie—"It gives us a change and has worked out fine."

He leaves his car at home and rides a bicycle to the studio—literate conversation—and he and his wife have an "automobile agreement" which limits its use to absolute necessity. He is senior air raid warden in his district, a Victory gardener, and an ardent War Bonder—more than 20 per cent now and planning to increase it.

Most interesting make-up jobs of his six years' experience were at Columbia on "The Face Behind the Mask" and at RKO on "Once Upon a Honeymoon." The latter was a "beard job" on Walter Slezak, and for Lorre he had to make up the actor and then make up the mask.

Hammond Sees Food Shortage

WACO, Sept. 25 (AP)—President J. Walter Hammond of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation predicted today that within 18 months there would be a serious shortage of food and fiber unless the increased cost of farm labor is included in parity prices.

"We are going to wake up about a year and a half from now to find ourselves a nation bristling with arms but with empty stomachs," Hammond warned.

"Reports coming into our state office indicate a third of the land in many of Texas' best agricultural counties may lie out next year unless the flow of manpower from the farms is halted."

He said unless the increased cost of labor is included in the parity formula, farmers cannot hope to be able to pay sufficient wages to hold labor on the farm.

Man About Manhattan—Celebrity Mecca Starts Year Always With Profit

(Last of Three Articles) By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—The Stork, mecca of celebrities and celebrity-hunters alike, is one of those curious places that starts off each year with a net profit item of $18,000 before a single pate de fois gras sandwich is sold.

The reason for this is simple: Sherman Billingsley, the owner, leases his hat check room to concessionaires for $27,000. He pays $12,000 rent. This leaves a net of $15,000, but then, as he explains, "this is eaten up by the bad checks that we cash during the year."

"Also, we lose about a thousand a month in breakage. I used to have pretty little ash trays with storks on them photographed in here, they looked well in pictures—it was a good ad. But people took them out by the dozens. The men would slip only one into a coat, but the women literally shoveled them into their handbags.

Another point on the debit side are the balloon parties that have become a part of the stock in trade at the Stork. On Sunday or holiday evenings guests would see a score of balloons attached to the ceilings. In some of these balloons would be $100 bank notes. At a given signal during the evening these balloons would be tossed upon a squealing, scrambling clientele. Billingsley has given away as many as twelve $100 notes in a single evening. Since the war, however, the prizes are war bonds, not money.

A good way to get your name in the newspapers, regardless of your identity, is to indulge in a fistfight in the Stork—but if you do, you will never be allowed to come back. There is a list of a dozen or so people prominent in the theatrical and sporting world who are no longer welcome at the Stork. These include a noted theatrical and Hollywood producer, an internationally famous tennis player, and a score of well-known playboys and visitors from the social and theatrical worlds. Their names have all been emblazoned across New York's daily newspapers, charged with indulging in public face-slappings.

"I don't want fighters or drunks," Billingsley says. "They annoy the real customers who behave themselves. They drive the decent people away."

The Stork proper goes much beyond the simple opening at No. 3 East 53 street. It includes the cocktail bar, the main dining room, where most of the hilarity and the balloon chasing take place. Then there is a "Cub" room lavishly ornamented by paintings of gorgeous girls, done by noted artists. To satisfy the ladies the portraits of these artists adorn the walls of the ladies' rest room. Then there is the "Blessed Event Room" whose walls are entirely mirrored. These mirrors are to be replaced soon. "Poker players who like a little party up here object to the mirrors. Everybody can see what you've got in your hand," explain Billingsley. Finally, there is a checkered table-clothed room ornamented with bottles of costly wines and brandies. This room is for private steak and chop parties. Hundred-year-old brandy costs $3 a drink. Forty-year-old brandy costs $2. Billingsley will open any bottle, however rare and old, for a price.

Ban On Records To Be Investigated

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25 (AP)—The senate unanimously approved today an expenditure of up to $5,000 for an investigation of a union ban against the making of musical records and transcriptions for radio stations and "juke" boxes.

Long-Time Mitchell Resident Succumbs

COLORADO CITY, Sept. 24—Funeral arrangements for H. B. Berry, 84, were still incomplete late Thursday pending word from relatives in California. The services will probably be held Friday afternoon at Kiker chapel with the Rev. C. M. Epps, pastor of the Methodist church, officiating.

Born in Alabama August 10, 1858, Mr. Berry had lived in Mitchell county for 28 years, having come here in 1906 as a farmer. In 1935 he retired and moved to Colorado City. He had been slightly ill for several weeks but his death was unexpected and came suddenly while he slept at 10:30 Thursday morning.

He was a member of the Methodist church, the Odd Fellows, and the Woodmen of the World. His widow, Martha Heard Berry, and ten children survive him.

Gasoline Hoarding Voids Insurance

AUSTIN, Sept. 25 (AP)—Every person in Texas who is hoarding gasoline has automatically voided fire insurance on his property, Marvin Hall, state fire insurance commissioner, declared today.

"Rumors circulated in a number of cities to the effect that gasoline rationing would be imposed overnight caused many people to purchase gasoline and take it home for storage in all manner of extremely dangerous containers," Hall stated, adding that "such a foolish practice means three things:

"First, they have jeopardized their insurance. When gasoline comes into your house, your fire insurance policy walks out.

"Second, they endanger the present low insurance rates of Texas—the lowest of all time, and third, they also jeopardize lives when gasoline is stored on the premises."

Victory Corps Planned For High School

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25. (AP)—Creation of a war-inspired "high school victory corps," open to all of the 6,500,000 students in the nation's 28,000 public and private secondary schools, was announced today by War Manpower Chief Paul V. McNutt.

Established to give "every high school student in the United States the opportunity to take a definite place in the national war effort through a voluntary enrollment plan," the corps will be headed by Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, aviation leader and flying ace of the first World War.

A manual recommending methods of organization was sent to all school superintendents and high school principals along with this statement from the national policy committee for the corps, composed of army, navy, education and civilian aviation men.

Two aims of the corps were set forth: "First, in the immediate, accelerated and special training of youth for that war service they will be expected to perform after leaving school; second, active participation of youth while still in school in the community's war effort."

Objectives to be pursued "both inside and outside the classroom" were given as:

"Guidance of youth into critical citizenship training to insure better understanding of the war, its meaning, progress and problems; physical fitness; voluntary military drill for selected boys; competence in science and mathematics; pre-flight training in aeronautics for those preparing for air service; pre-induction training for critical occupations; community service, including training for essential civilian activities."

Mr. and Mrs. B. Y. Dixon Hear From Son On Anniversary Of Capture

Just nine months from the day that historic Wake Island fell to the Japs, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd B. Dixon received a letter from their son, Floyd Alton Dixon, who was stationed on the island at the time of its capture, December 24th.

The letter, received last night, was written from a Jap-prison camp in central China. It tells little news but confirms a hope that the Dixons have held to right along that their son is alive.

The letter reads, "I am well and in fair health. I am not wounded. Tell all my friends hello. We farm or work all day.

They feed us three times each day. All of my love, P. S. Let Oleta Finchum know about me."

The letter, which was printed, is signed with their sons own signature, the Dixons are assured. A return address on the envelope reads, "Shanghai War Prisoner's Camp, Japanese Field Post Office 106, Central China, Barracks No. One."

Heretofore the Dixons have written their son in care of the International Red Cross but will try the return address on the letter now and hope that their letters will go through.

Getting even as short a letter as this is worth a million dollars Mr. Dixon said as they know that at least their son is alive. They had received word that their son was a Japanese prisoner but no direct word had been heard until last night. Floyd landed on Wake Island on November 24th, has an aerial-photographer for the navy.

The letter with Japanese writing on the envelope also had printed in red "Sec Des Prisonniers de guerre." But regardless of the censored words, the lack of information that the Dixons would like to hear, and the few brief sentences, that letter brought a breath of happiness and relief. Today when you ask Mrs. Dixon how she feels, she smiles all over when she answers, "today I'm feeling fine."

Texas Traffic Toll Declines

AUSTIN, Sept. 25. (AP)—The State Department of Public Safety said today that motor vehicle traffic accidents killed 900 Texans during the first eight months of this year.

The figure marked a decrease of 315 over the first eight months of 1941 when 1,215 persons lost their lives in traffic accidents.

Among cities of over 100,000, Dallas led the state in safety for the first eight months of the year with 17 traffic fatalities and a population rate of 61 (the population rate is the number of deaths annually per 100,000 population and is computed on the assumption that fatalities will continue to occur during the remainder of the year at the same monthly average as they have for the period covered by this report).

ated. He took a step closer, lowered his voice. "Miss Dawn isn't in her room. She is gone. She was there last night. One of the maids served her dinner in bed. I can't think—" The old man shook his head.

"Gone!" Julie repeated slowly. "I've no doubt she has gone for a canter," Jarvis said then, recovering himself. "She often does. Without leaving word, you know."

"Oh, I see," she said, but she didn't, actually. No one would choose a drippy morning like this to canter anywhere, anytime. Least of all Dawn who hated rain like a cat. But, to relieve Jarvis' embarrassment in having betrayed his mistress, she said carefully, "Okay. Tell her I dropped in and have her call me at the office when she returns."

"Thank you, Miss Julie."

"How is Mr. Kelland this morning?"

"Nicely, thank you. He's quite himself again, you know."

"Good. Thank, Jarvis."

Julie stopped at her own home only long enough to shower, change into clean clothes, swallow coffee and orange juice. If Dawn went leisurely to bed last night, the thought kept elbowing her, what had roused her unless it were the fire? She must have heard it. No one could have slept through that banshee wailing of sirens. Had she turned public-spirited suddenly and gone to one of the first aid stations to help? Possible but not probable, Julie decided. Besides, she'd have told Jarvis she was going.

What You Buy With WAR STAMPS

Our fighting men are equipped with the best service rifle in the world. Cartridges for these rifles cost 2 cents each, so for the price of a 10-cent War Savings Stamp, our men in uniform can be supplied with five rounds of ammunition. Not only will those five cartridges protect the lives of five Americans; they may also shorten the war by five Japs or Nazis.

The Army, Navy and Marine Corps need millions of cartridges, and it is our responsibility to keep 'em coming. This can be done through the purchase of War Stamps. The school At War program points out how every school student can do his part through the regular purchase of War Stamps.

Too bad you can't just as readily smell quality in oil. Neither can you see it, feel it, or taste it. This doesn't mean that there's no way to spot the genuine article.

So here are facts to help you pick a quality oil: Phillips offers a number of oils because car owners' preferences vary almost as much as their cars and pocketbooks. But when you want our best oil, there's no need for doubt or question. Phillips speaks out plainly. Tells you frankly that Phillips 66 Motor Oil is our finest quality... the highest grade and greatest value... among all the oils we offer to car-owners like yourself.

You can readily make sure of quality when you are replacing summer-worn lubricant with the correct winter grade, or when you are making the regular 1,000-mile change, by asking for Phillips 66 Motor Oil.
