BEING CHILDISH

We can not see why Governor O'Daniel ever thought—if he really did—that Texas legislators would agree without debate to adopt any measure as important as one that would raise the twenty million dollars or more he proposed to raise by his mail referendum. We think of two good reasons why he should not have expected to have his plan approved: First, the lawmakers are responsible to their constituents and not to the governor. There are few who might owe their elections it. Those legislators were thinking of their obligations to the electorate in the session just closed and still they have it in mind. The second reason for no approval is that debate is one of the essentials of democracy. Without differences of opinion and open discussions of vital and controversial questions, many would not have opportunity to judge from careful study the results that might come from any en-actment of the legislature. We think the Governor was just being child-

Pepsin-ize Acid Stomach Too

When constipation brings on acid indigestion, bloating, dizzy spells, gas, coated tongue, sour taste, and bad breath, your stomach is probably loaded up with certain undigested food and your bowels don't move. So you need both Pepsin to help break up fast that rich undigested food in your stomach, and Laxative Senna to pull the trigger on those lary bowels. So be sure your laxative also contains Pepsin. Take Dr. Caldwell's Laxative, because its Syrup Pepsin helps you gain that wonderful stomach-relief, while the Laxative Senna moves your bowels. Tests prove the power of Pepsin to dissolve those lumps of undigested protein food which may linger in your stomach, to cause belching, gastric acidity and nauses. This is how pepsinizing your stomach, to cause belching, gastric acidity and nauser. This is how pepsinizing your stomach helps relieve it of such distress. At the same time this medicine wakes up lazy nerves and muscles in your bowels to relieve your constipation. So see how much better you feel by taking the laxative that also puts Pepsin to work on that stomach discomfort, too. Even finicky children love to taste this pleasant family laxative. Is that we must learn to distinguish between the propaganda preachers to have government questions explained to them.

It is to be noted here, by way of review, that three months ago the bulk of the speeches by men from Washington had to do with war, our chances of getting involved, neutrality, etc. There were interspersed with these, of course, the usual truckloads of guff from Secretary Wallace and the other self-appointed spokesmen for agriculture, rinds and cracklings from Secretary Ickes, and about the usual retary Ickes, and about the usual quantity of mouthings from the "su-perior minds" whose owners are greatly concerned in development of culture, liberal thinking. But it was about the war and related subjects that most people wanted to

The scene is changing now; in The scene is changing now; indeed, a considerable transition already has taken place. Home folks are getting fed up, at last, and are desirous of knowing more about home problems and what the government intends to do about them. It is a trend most pleasant to con-template. There simply can be no doubt about the fact that if the people of the United States forget about that war in Europe and pay attention to their own business, we will be able to stay out rather easily.

Comes an Awakening to The Problem of Taxation

With this background, then, let e call attention to the number me call attention to the number of heave awakened to the problem of taxation—federal, state, county and city. Obviously, when there is an interest in taxation there is a parallel interest in what government does with the money taken from its citi-zens. This interest surely exists now to a greater extent than at any time within recent months. More and more inquiries are being re-ceived, more and more requests for discussion of the subject are reaching officials in Washington. And if my information from outside sources be correct, there is a simi-lar interest being shown in the lar interest being shown in the states and cities.

It will refund something like a billion and a quarter, also, but that process is simply trading new bonds or notes for old ones that fall due. The borrowing is "new" money, in the sense that new bonds will be sold and the proceeds used by the treasury to meet expenses, and naturally the national debt will be increased by that amount. It is well to remember that, as of November 1, the public debt was $41,139,971,217, and that there are several other billions of bonds issued by such agencies as the Reconstruction Finance coras the Reconstruction Finance poration, the Home Owners Loan corporation and debts guaranteed by agencies like the Federal Hous-

Tax Receipts for Nation

Astounding in Magnitude

I am indebted to the federation of tax administration for some totals of tax receipts for the nation that are not only astounding in their magnitude but startling in the im-magnitude but startling in the implications they give.

The statistics disclose that the American people paid $14.811.000,000 in taxes in 1938. This money was collected by the federal, state, county and city governments and some odds and ends of special taxing districts which levied taxes for especial purposes. Of this amount, the federal government collected $6,034,000,000; state governments collected $3,857,000,000, and local governments took a toll of $4,920,000,000.

One of the new taxes—the tax on

One of the new taxes—the tax on payrolls to maintain pensions and unemployment—yielded in excess of $1,500,000,000, or almost one-tenth of all of the money taken by the tax pand and beg collector. Its total seems to give

WASHINGTON .- Observers, here | substance to the complaint that this tax is a tremendous burden on any one who hires workers. The pay-roll tax, according to the administhe property tax and the income tax brought in more money for the spenders of federal, state or local governments.

Property taxes, levies on every thing you own, your house or farm or horses or automobile, paid a to-tal tribute of $4,745,000,000. If you are good at figures you will find that sum to be 32 per cent—almost one-third—of all of the taxes paid by the United States last year.

Income taxes ranked second in the sums produced for government-al use. The income taxes laid by federal, state and city governments supplied $3,242,000,000, and that is 22 per cent of the revenue.

Another Group Includes The Concealed Levies

But there is another group of taxes—a long list of items that in-clude most of the sneak-thief taxes. unseen and concealed levies—that really is bearing down. These eneral and special sales taxes, federal stamp levies, excise and license taxes were responsible for slightly more than one-fourth of all money paid into treasuries of government. This money came from tobacco, liquor, gasoline, sales taxes of various kinds which you saw only by close examination or could not discover at all, licenses, etc. The gasoline tax was the largest revenue producer. Federal, state and local governments obtained $981.000,000 because most of us burned up gasoline through use of the motor cars. Liquor revenue amounted to $383,000,000. It is said by some authorities that this type of tax has about reached its peak. To increase it more will mean that bootleggers can begin to operate once more, because added taxes will send the pice of liquor to a point where bootlegging becomes profitable. Such is not the case with the other taxes in the group; you pay them and like it. All in all, the administrators analysis shows ten general groupings of taxes throughout the nation, and it is interesting to note that each of these ten major items is used by more than one level of government. That is to say, the federal and state governments will be found using income taxes; states and counties and cities will be found using some types of sales taxes, along with a similar tax by the found using income taxes; states and counties and cities will be found using some types of sales taxes, along with a similar tax by the found using some types of sales taxes, along with a similar tax by the found using some types of sales taxes, along with a similar tax by the found using some types of sales taxes, along with a conclusion that only a general increase in business would provide enough income for all of the tax eaters. He suggested that unseen and concealed levies-that really is bearing down. These gen-eral and special sales taxes, federal only a general increase in business would provide enough income for all of the tax eaters. He suggested that there were few, if any, untapped sources of income, insofar as the federal government is concerned. And other students have talked And other students have talked frankly about the similarity of tax problems among the federal, state and local governments.

Cut in Personal Exemptions

The school of thought that has advocated broadening the base of income taxes by the federal government, by reducing the personal exemptions from $2,500 for married couples and $1,000 for single. couples and $1,000 for single persons, was shown by Mr. Hanes to person served. Dress, clean, stuff be somewhat ignorant of facts. He and truss turkey. present limits, would add only Roast in moderate oven (325 de$60,000,000 a year to the national grees) allowing approximately 20 revenue. That is not a good drop in the bucket. If all of the present income tax amendments that have been mentioned were now in force, the total taxes they would yield would be only about $250,000,000, according to Mr. Hanes. Hence, Mr. forces. Hanes said, with reference to the federal government:

"You, the American public, have the final control. Demands from back home upon the Congress for more and more federal expendi-tures, for less and less needed projects, are at least a partial source of difficulties.

"We have developed our country a $10,000,000,000 appetite with a $5,000,000,000 pocketbook. I think our problem is not so much when we balance our budget, as where In other words, how much federal expenditure are you going to de mand and how do you propose that the government raise the funda?"

I am hoping that the apparent trend toward a public consciousness of the government's financial condition—whether that government be national or state or local—will expand and begin to roll like mountain flood waters. difficulties.

TRADE & INDUSTRY

Repeal of the U. S. arms embargo, which keeps American ships out of combat zones and allows belligerents "cash and carry" rights, not only set off a partial business boom at home but also brought major repercussions in world diplomatic, trade and maritime circles. A survey by the Northwestern National Life Insurance company showed luxury and semi-luxury goods began moving swiftly in September, but Federal Works Administrator John Carmody spiked any boom hopes: Only 500,000 of the 9,000,000 unemployed can expect new jobs.

There was cautious expansion in There was cautious expansion in U. S. industry, where building awards for October totaled $49,910,000 against $12,814,000 a year ago. Many firms announced stock dividends payable in December. Railroads, which coupled their expan sion with a plea that they might be permitted to operate without government interference in times of emer-gency, were offered a new recovery program by

"This," said Prime Minister Chamberlain, "is not a state of war but a state of siege." He was not far wrong. The French claimed nine of their U. ## CONGRESS: Committee Time

Home to the stamping grounds went most senators and congress-men when the special neutrality sesmen when the special neutrality ses-sion adjourned. But between ses-sions is a fine time for committee hearings. Still in session is Martin Dies' un-Americanism group, bally-hooing for another appropriation. Two other groups, working out legis-lative suggestions for next Janu-ary's term seeary's term, are: House Tax Subcommittee. Open ing its hearings under Tennessee's Rep. Jere Cooper, the committee talked about broadening income tax bases. But there was a disinclina-tion to offer concrete proposals. It was announced final determination of a program will await the opening of congress. Two official reasons:

(1) The treasury is studying taxes, soliciting suggestions from business and industry; (2) National defense needs for the next fiscal year are not yet known. Besides, the committee is wondering about taxes on where to turn. Equally important, how would tax revision be received in an election year like 1940?

(At Washington, Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau told reporters any initiative for ruising the U. S. debt limit above $45,000,000,000 must come from congress, not from himself or the White House, Present debt; About $41,000,000,000,000. Though steadfastly denying any German "ultimatum" for a statement of their positions, the king and queen held all-night consultations with their foreign ministers. Result: A peace appeal was dispatched to all combatants offering Belgian-Dutch mediation services. Britain rejected it politely.

A week earlier the loan program seemed stymied by increased cot-ton consumption thanks to the war.

(2) The bureau of agricultural economics forecast the same wheat acreage for 1940 as for 1939, i. e. 64,600,000 acres, which would produce about 760,000,000 bushels of spring and winter wheat. But next year's yield will be under par unless unusually favorable weather comes along. Reason: Drouth has already damaged much seeded win-ter wheat beyond recovery.

(3) Closing its first year, the federal crop insurance corporation was sad. Having taken 6,769,120 bush els of wheat as premiums from 165, 551 farmers, the corporation had claims from one-fourth its customers. Indemnities paid, totaling 9,461,730 bushels, brought a loss of about $1,885,000.

Then Eloise and Edith came in and presently the men, and Lucy and Del from a trip to the small porkers, and Adelaide going out with Del to dinner was uncomfortably aware that Jane had either artlessly or artfully refused to discuss with her the women who had been loved by Frederick Towne!

The dinner was delicious. "Our farm products," Delafield boasted. Even the fish, it seemed, he had caught that morning, motoring over to the river and bringing them back to be split and broiled and served with little new potatoes. There was chicken and asparagus, small cream cheeses with the salad, heaped-up berries in a Royal Worcester bowl roses from the garden. "All home-grown," said the proud new hus-

That Towne had made it possible for any woman to speak of him as Adelaide spoke, seemed to Jane to drag her own relation to

The strength of the wind in-creased. The table was sheltered by the house, but at last Delafield decided, "We'd better go in. The rain is coming. We can have our coffee in the hall."

Their leaving had the effect of a stampede. Big drops splashed into the plates. The men servants and maids scurried to the rescue of

The draperies of the women streamed in the wind. Adelaide's tulle was a banner of green and blue. The peacock came swiftly up the walk, crying raucously, and found a sheltered spot beneath the

From the wide hall, they saw the rain in silver sheets. Then the doors were shut against the beating wind. They drank their coffee, and bridge tables were brought in. There were enough without Jane to form two tables. And she was glad. She wandered into the living-room and curled herself up in a window-seat. The window opened on the porch. Beyond the white pillars she could see the road, and the rain-drenched garden.

After a time the rain stopped, and the world showed clear as crys-tal against the opal brightness of the western sky. The peacock came out of his hiding-place, and dragged a long, heavy tail over the sodden

It was cool and the air was sweet. Jane lay with her head against a cushion, looking out. She was lonely and wished that Towne would come. Perhaps in his presence her doubts would vanish. It grew dark and darker. Jane shut her eyes and at last she fell asleep.

She was waked by Towne's voice. He was on the porch. "Where is everybody?"

It was Adelaide who answered him. "They have motored into Alex-andria to the movies. Eloise would have it. But I stayed—waiting for

He stood up, sternly renouncing his dreams. "Get your things on, Jane, and I'll take you home. You can't stay here, of course. We can decide later what it is best to do."
"I don't see how I can break it off. He's done so much for us. I can't. He's done so much for us. I can't ever—pay him—" In Baldy's pocket was the pink

Jane was not well was the reason given their hostess. The note to Towne said more than that, And the note left for Edith was—renun-

Edith coming home to lunched found the note in her room. All the morning she had been filled with glorious anticipation. Baldy would arrive in a few hours. Together they would walk down that trellised path to the fountain, they would sit on the marble coping. She would trail her hand through the water. Further than that she would not let her imagination carry her. It was enough that she would see him in that magic place with his air of

But she was not to see him, for the note said:

"I can't tell you what the thought of these two days with you meant to me. And now I must give them up. Perhaps I must give you up, I don't know. I came with high hopes. I go away without any hope at all. But I love you."

Edith read the note twice, then put it to her lips. She hardly dared admit to herself the keenness of her disappointment.

She stood for a long time at the window looking out. Why had Jane decided not to marry Uncle Frederick? What had happened since yesterday afternoon?

From Edith's window she could see the south lawn. The servants were arranging a buffet luncheon. Little tables were set around—and wicker chairs. Adelaide, tall and fair, in her favorite blue and a broad black hat stood by one of the little tables. She was feeding the peacock with bits of bread. She made a picture, and Towne's window faced that way.
"I wonder—" Edith said, and stopped. She remembered coming in from the movies the night before and finding Adelaide and Towne out on the porch. And where was Jane?

Towne did not eat lunch. He pleaded important business, and had his car brought around. But everylaide was restless. Only Edith knew the truth.

After lunch, she told Lucy. "Jane isn't going to marry Uncle Fred. I don't know why. But I am afraid that it is breaking up your house

"I hope it is," said Lucy, calmly.
"Delafield is bored to death. He wants to get back to his pigs and roses. I am speaking frankly to you because I know you understand. I want our lives to be bigger and because that they would have been broader than they would have been if we hadn't met. And as for you" —her voice shook a little—"you'll always be a sort of goddess blessour hearth.'

Edith bent and kissed ber, emo-tion gripping her, "Your hearth is blessed without me," she said, "but I'll always be glad to come.'

Towne, riding like mad along the Virginia roads, behind the competent Briggs, pondered over Jane's letter.

"I was not up-stairs last night when you came. I was asleep in the window-seat of the living-room, just off the porch. And your voice waked me and I heard what you said, and Mrs. Laramore. And I can't marry you. I know how much you've done for me—and I shall never forget your goodness. Baldy will take me home."

Enclosed was a pink check. Towne blamed Adelaide furious-ly. Of course it was her fault. Such foolishness. And sentimentality.

And he had been weak enough to fall for it, Yet, as he cooled a bit, he was glad that Jane had showed her re-sentment. It was in keeping with his conception of her. Her innocence had flamed against such sophistica-tion. There might, too, be a hint of jealousy. Women were like that.

ence People" may be worthwhile to study, unless it is done from a pure-ly selfish desire to be popular so that one may make more money and get on in the world. Everyone should desire to make more friends and better friends, and the Christian in making friends should make them for his Lord as well as for himself. Actually the best of the rules and suggestions offered on this subject are already an integral part of Christian conduct as revealed in the Word of God.

I. Avoid Judgment (vv. 1-5). By not judging others censoriously we escape such judgment of our-selves both by God and by our fel-low man. The admonition, "Judge not," obviously does not mean that we are not to exercise our Godgiven ability to discern between good and evil, nor does it mean that we are to stand silent in the pres-ence of wrongdoing. Verse 6 in this very chapter calls for the use of judgment (see also I Thess. 5:21). In all such judgment we are to avoid an unkind spirit and the hy-pocrisy described in verses 3 to 5. We are to be certain that our own lives are above reproach regarding that which we condemn (v. 5). The none too common exercise of correcting our own faults will serve a salutary twofold purpose of improv-ing ourselves and of making us too busy to find fault with others.

II. Be Reverent (v. 6).

While we are not to judge others, we are not to go to the opposite extreme of being so lenient in our attitude that we permit ungodly men to profane and trample down sacred things. This does not mean, as some would have us believe, that we are not to present the gospel to the lowest of sinners; for example, to a drunkard. Only thus can such an individual be saved. But it does mean that in dealing with holy things we are not only to be reverent ourselves, but we are to be careful that we do not permit wick-ed men to misuse and to profane the holy things of God.

III. Pray in Faith (vv. 7-11).

Here is a straightforward prom-ise from the lips of our Lord Himself, assuring us that prayer will be answered. It seems that He must have foreknown that some would feel that the promise was too good to be true, so He stated it in three-fold form and repeated it twice. Why not believe it, act on it, and receive the answer?

Observe that there is to be importunity in prayer, we are to seek if we would find. "Our Lord does not guarantee to us anything at first asking. God does not open His treasury to a passing bugle-call or the tap of a careless hand which just touches the door and then passes on. Prayer is not a momentary wish or a transitory whim. It is the ut-terance of a confirmed and persistent and unwearying longing. If you want a prayer answered, you must go on praying" (J. G. Greenhough).

We have included the so-called Golden Rule under this section be-cause the word "therefore" links it with that which goes before. Dr. G. Campbell Morgan aptly says, "If we omit the "therefore," we cannot obey the verse. If we retain the 'therefore,' and are driven to ask, to seek, to knock, and to know that the Listener to the asking, to the seeking, to the knocking, is our Fa-ther, then the rule is golden with heaven's own light, but in no other way), because Jesus walks with us The road to destruction is broad. The entrance is easy; there is much company, but one soon finds that the company, but one soon finds that the company is distasteful—just fellow sinners. Jesus is not going that way. The best people, God's people, are going the other way. The road leads into all kinds of by-ways where pitfalls abound. The earthly pleasures one thought to enjoy have, as Maclaren puts it, "a strange knack of losing their charm and at the same time increasing their hold." same time increasing their hold."

Isn't This Why You Are Constipated?

What do you eat for breakfast? Coffee, toast, maybe some eggs? What do you eat for lunch and dinner? White bread, meat, potatoes? It's little wonder you're constipated. You probably don't eat enough "bulk" doesn't mean the amount you eat. It's a kind of food that forms a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and helps a movement. If this is your trouble, may we suggest a crunchy toasted cereal-Kellogg's All-Bran-Tor breakfast. All-Bran is a natural food, not a medicine - but it's particularly rich in "bulk." Being so, it can help you not only to get regular but to keep regular. You won't have to endure constipation, you can avoid it. Eat All-Bran daily, drink plenty of water, and life will be brighter for you! Made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.
