

Construction Of 500 Cargo Planes Is Oked

Initial Order Due Shortly, Says Nelson

WPB Approval Given To 70-Ton "Mars" Type Flying Boat

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (AP)—Chairman Donald M. Nelson said today the WPB had approved construction by Henry J. Kaiser, west coast shipbuilder, of 500 huge "Mars" type flying boats, with an initial order for 100 to be placed by the navy shortly.

The other 400 seventy-ton cargo carrying planes will be built Nelson said, if the initial program is accomplished successfully in Kaiser's Pacific coast shipbuilding plants.

"This is all contingent upon the construction not interfering with our combat plane program," Nelson added.

Asked whether WPB believed it could be done without hampering war plane production he replied: "I have hopes—at least we can try."

Nelson said Kaiser now in Washington, would go to the coast and then "come back and tell us what materials and facilities he needs, when he can get started, and where he will build them."

Farish Charges Smear Campaign On Standard

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (AP)—Declaring his company was being made the object of a "vicious smear campaign," William S. Farish, president of the Standard Oil company (New Jersey), today contradicted what he called "reckless assertions" made before the senate subcommittee by C. R. Starnes, Texas oil operator.

Starnes testified Wednesday that he had been blocked at every turn in his efforts to produce synthetic rubber, "blocked by Standard of New Jersey and men who are affiliated with and influenced by the Standard Oil."

Farish, in a telegram to Chairman Bone (D-Wash.), said he was at a loss to understand why Bone permitted his committee to be used as a sounding board for "reckless, unsupported accusations."

Cecil Hodges, Liquor Board Agent, Sent To Waco Office

Cecil Hodges, supervisor of the local Liquor Control Board offices, has been transferred to the Waco office, it was announced today, and left Friday to assume his position there.

Hodges had been supervisor of the local offices since January of this year.

Commissioners Due To Study Water, Hangar Proposals

City commissioners were due to go into another session Friday afternoon to consider possible minor revisions of a proposed water contract with the U. S. Army.

It was possible that a decision on the water contract proposition, long under negotiation, might be reached. This, however, was no guarantee that it would meet army approval.

Industrial Sugar Increase Extended For Two Months

Increase in the sugar allotments of industrial and institutional users of sugar for the months of July and August, which were announced previously, will be extended to cover the allotment period of September and October, E. F. Robbins, chairman of the local war price and rationing board announced today.

Authorization for the increase in both allotment periods is contained in a new amendment to the sugar rationing regulations, Robbins explained, which was made effective today.

Industrial users will be given a 10 per cent increase, thus raising their allotment to 80 per cent of their sugar "base" for these four months, while institutional users will be granted a 25 per cent increase, boosting their allotment to 75 per cent of their base.

Sugar purchase certificates for these additional allotments will be granted the institutional and industrial users when they apply for their regular allotments for the September and October period.

The local board has been authorized to accept applications for this period any time after Aug. 7, and no special application is required to obtain this increase.

Strong RAF Force Blasts Duisburg

Is Third Successive Attack On Ruhr Industries

LONDON, Aug. 7 (AP)—A strong force of RAF bombers last night attacked the big German industrial center of Duisburg, target of repeated raids in July, and other points in the Ruhr valley, the air ministry announced today.

Nazi airfields in the low countries also were attacked by British raiders, six of which failed to return from their night missions, a communique said.

The size of the strong force was not disclosed officially but a British source said that in the days before the British hurled more than 1,000 bombers against Germany in a single night, last night's total would have been considered "a whopper."

Last night's foray was the third successive night assault upon the Ruhr region.

The German high command acknowledged material damage to buildings by both high-explosive and incendiary bombs and said there were some casualties in RAF raids on "residential quarters" in several towns. It claimed seven British bombers were shot down.

The German communique said German planes bombed military targets in southwest England yesterday and harbor and armament works in east England and on the east coast of Scotland last night.

The raids were not on a heavy scale, however, and although there were some casualties first reports indicated the number was not large.

Britons had been prepared for the new phosphorus bombs the Germans dropped by a bulletin from the ministry of home security, which gave explicit instructions for dealing with these incendiaries. As a result fires which were started were extinguished with a minimum of damage.

The air ministry issued a summary today of aerial operations in all theaters for July which placed British losses at 432 planes and credited the RAF with destroying 420 axis aircraft.

President Still Ponders Case

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (AP)—President Roosevelt told a press conference today he had not yet finished his review of testimony in the case of eight alleged saboteurs and added that he did not know whether he would finish today.

The president made no amplification of that brief statement.

Shortly before the press conference, the White House said that "the president has not yet concluded his reading of the testimony in the saboteur case."

Five Decorated By Queen Wilhelmina

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (AP)—Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands conferred decorations upon five members of the United States navy today, including Admiral Thomas C. Hart, retired, for distinguished service in the southwestern Pacific campaign against the Japanese.

The ceremonies at the residence of the Netherlands ambassador, A. Loudon, followed an appearance of the queen as a guest at President Roosevelt's press conference.

Jap Canton Base Is Hit

CHUNGKING, Aug. 7 (AP)—United States Army bombers attacked a Japanese airbase near Canton yesterday, destroying at least 10 ground enemy planes, Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's headquarters announced today.

"The Japanese were taken completely by surprise," a headquarters communique said.

Besides the destruction of ground Japanese planes, the bombers scored hits on the airbase runway, it said.

All of the American planes, including bombers and fighter escort, returned safely to their bases.

Information reaching Chungking said the Japanese were enlarging the attack airbase at Honkong, former terminus of trans-Pacific Clipper service from the United States and were moving residents out of adjoining property. The airport is in Kowloon Bay across from Honkong.

Tobruk Target For Bombers

CAIRO, Aug. 7 (AP)—United States army air force bombers "effectively attacked" shipping and the harbor at Tobruk yesterday evening, the RAF Middle East news service reported today. Details were not given.

An earlier British communique had identified the Tobruk raiders only as "allied," and said they set a large fire.

The American attack followed upon a heavy raid on Tobruk the previous night by RAF bombers, which started fires in the dock area and were believed to have hit two ships.

Not Pipe Dreams—Gigantic Planes Capable Of Transporting 400 Men Said Out Of "Speculative Stage"

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 7 (AP)—Gigantic cargo planes, capable of mass transport of troops across the Atlantic out of reach of lurking submarines, are not a vision of the future—they are an actuality, in quantity production.

And even greater ships, with a capacity of 400 soldiers, able to span the Atlantic in 10 to 12 hours, have passed the speculative stage to the point where the industry could begin their construction.

Tom M. Girdler, chairman of the board of Consolidated Aircraft Corp., and Maj. Reuben H. Fleet, the company's founder and present adviser, made these statements last night as they

India Congress Asks Allies To Back Demands

Gandhi Supports Move And Sends Message To The Chinese

BOMBAY, Aug. 7 (AP)—The working committee of the All-India congress party voted today to appeal to President Roosevelt, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek and Ivan Maisky, Russian ambassador to Britain, to support its demands that Great Britain grant India immediate independence.

Maulana Abdul Kalam Azad, president of the congress, was authorized to dispatch the appeals as soon as the congress committee passes upon a resolution calling for a mass campaign of passive resistance to continued British rule.

Endorsement of the resolution, backed by Mohandas K. Gandhi, was regarded as a foregone conclusion.

Gandhi himself sent a message to the Chinese today to "let China know that this struggle is as much for her defense as it is for India's liberation." He declared that India's "ability to give effective assistance" is dependent on her freedom.

In an incongruous setting under a canvas tent's big top, the 360 militant congressmen assembled to begin deliberations for throwing into motion what may become India's grimmest bid for independence.

They had the scrawny little leader's word again last night, on the eve of the conference, that the time for non-violent action is now and that time would show what strength the congress could marshal from his masses of disciples.

There was not the slightest hint from Gandhi's headquarters of any wavering. His statement seemed merely to reiterate that Britain must yield now—not, as she has proposed, wait to grant independence after the war—or see the congress party act.

All that Bombay was asking was: When would mass disobedience begin? How widespread would it be? What forces would it take? Boycott? Highway stoppage? The shunning of dealings with foreigners? Even a general strike?

And Gandhi gave the word simply that a general strike was "not outside my contemplation."

Stephan Thinks He Won't Hang

DETROIT, Aug. 7 (AP)—Squat Max Stephan began today in closely guarded confinement the 68 days of life that remain to him before he must go to the gallows for treason (treason) to America in time of war.

A deputy federal marshal said that Stephan still boasted that he would not hang.

"I'll bet all the tea in China I won't hang," Deputy John W. Ingram quoted the prisoner as saying on his way back to Milan.

Employment Totals Increase Sharply

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (AP)—Employment increased 700,000 from June to July, bringing the total number of persons at work to a new record high of 54,000,000, the Work Projects administration reported today.

Unemployment, however, remained unchanged at 2,800,000, the WPA said, explaining that while 700,000 persons found jobs an equal number entered the labor force, mostly young people leaving school and seeking employment for the first time.

Soviet Tanks Stall Nazis, But Reds Sag In Caucasus

Fight Goes On—These were the words used by Queen Wilhelmina in her address to a joint session of congress to describe the resistance of her people. War Appropriations Up To Staggering 205 Billions

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (AP)—A compilation of congress fiscal activity showed today that the staggering sum of $205,514,657,286 had been appropriated or authorized between June 1, 1940, to June 30, 1943, for expenditure to provide the nation's defense and war needs.

The figures, including a breakdown of both war-necessitated and "normal" appropriations voted this year, were prepared by the bureau of the budget and were placed in the Congressional Record by Senator Glass (D-Va) and Rep. Cannon (D-Mo), chairman of the house and senate appropriations committee.

Of the $139,770,114,641 appropriated during this session, Cannon pointed out that approximately $133,370,000,000 was earmarked for war purposes while approximately $6,400,000,000 was tagged for ordinary costs of government.

Glass, in his analysis of the figures, declared congress had reduced appropriations for the normal activities of government by $1,077,965,150.59 below last year's figures, and made increases in that category of $579,872,154, leaving a net cut of $1,657,837,305.71.

In citing the three-year $205,514,657,286 total on the books for war expenditures, Cannon emphasized that the figure did not represent actual expenditures.

"Appropriations and authorizations," he said, "need to be made far in advance in order that programs of orders for material, weapons, naval vessels, merchant ships and all other war-effort requirements may be integrated with the recruitment and training of manpower, and the long range planning and conduct of the war in the various theatres of action where that war may be fought."

The budget bureau's figures on actual expenditures for war purposes: Fiscal year 1941—$6,301,000,000. Fiscal year 1942—$20,954,000,000. Fiscal year 1943 (estimated)—$67,000,000,000.

Simultaneously, Cannon reported that the total gross public debt on June 30, 1942, was $72,422,000,000, and estimated that it would reach $125,445,000,000 by that date next year.

Another Atlantic Sinking Reported

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (AP)—The navy announced today that a medium sized Norwegian merchant ship was torpedoed and sunk by an enemy submarine in the Atlantic, off the northern coast of South America in late June. Survivors have been landed at a United States east coast port.

Floyd was on Wake Island at the outbreak of war, and was taken by the enemy when the heroic defense of the island was overcome. The Dixons had been advised by the war department that Floyd was taken prisoner, but Friday, the word came that he was in Shanghai. The Red Cross information was written May 6, in reply to an inquiry sent in February.

The Dixons have been writing Floyd through the Red Cross, and have reason to believe he has received their letters. This week they dispatched a package to him by way of a special ship being sent to the Far East by the Red Cross. They had heard indirectly that Floyd had been heard on a radio broadcast, but did not hear the broadcast themselves.

Russians Say Huns Shoved Back On Don

Germans Claim Drive Is Within 30 Miles Of Oil Fields

MOSCOW, Aug. 7 (AP)—Hurling its own huge tanks against the mechanized Nazi onrush, the Red army checked the Germans today along the whole Stalingrad front in one of the great tank battles of the war, with infantry crushed by the hundreds under the treads of the steel war wagons, battlefield dispatches said today.

Only in the critical Belaya Glna sector 100 miles into the north Caucasus were the Russian defenses still reported sagging before the big axis offensive. There drive bombers blasted ceaselessly at the Russian lines as they battered the way for German gains.

The Russians reported rolling the axis back in hard counterattacks at the Don bend approaches to Stalingrad, and said fierce-charging Don and Kuban Cossacks sabred more than 1,000 Germans as they beat off the assault of two tank and two infantry divisions in a fight for Cossack village south of the Don. Reports from this front said the Russians were driven from the town twice, but each time won it back.

(The German high command took cognizance of the arrival of Red army reserves in the battle, mentioned large-scale Russian use of tanks in the Caucasus for first time and said the bolshie Soviet forces were counter-attacking against German and Pan troops between the Don rivers, in the Don by the Hsbeiv salient, north Moscow.

(The Berlin communique said forces had probed deeper into the Caucasus, crossing the Kuban river a point 30 miles northeast of the Malkol oil fields which produce seven per cent of Russia's oil.)

(The Russian communique gave the account of operations at key points on the battlefield.

"South of Kizitskaya (80 miles northwest of Stalingrad) our troops launched a number of counter-attacks and pressed the enemy back.

"In the Kotelnikovski area (95 miles southwest of Stalingrad) the Germans are sending in large numbers of tanks in an attempt to smash our defenses. Our troops have repelled these attacks.

"South of Kuschevka (50 miles south of Rostov) the Germans launched repeated attacks against our positions but were repulsed with heavy losses."

Speeding their drive for oil in the Caucasus, the Germans were reported landing troop-laden air transports and dropping fresh swarms of paratroopers behind Soviet lines in a costly expenditure of men and machines.

In the first officially reported big-scale attempt to put air-borne troops down in the rear of Soviet positions on the Caucasus battlefield, the Russians said nine of 18 big Junkers transports which landed in one sector were set afire or smashed and the soldiers accounted for to the last man.

Warfront dispatches said the nazis were showing more paratroopers behind Soviet lines after landing groups of between 100 and 150 along with small tanks earlier in the week. The latest invaders were declared exterminated or swiftly rounded up.

Mrs. BERNARD FISHER says that these days her housekeeping and other work is all going haywire while she rushes through one of those sweaters called for in a hurry by the Red Cross. Since they are all large sizes, with long sleeves, etc., making one isn't as simple as a twist of the wrist. But she's getting here done, nevertheless.

Met up with Mrs. J. W. O'CONNELL, who has moved here with her husband, MAJOR O'CONNELL, and we got to discussing of all things, laundry problems. But it is a problem, especially if your fine laundry woman quits you cold, like happened to us.

Texas Facing Shortage Of Choice Meat

By The Associated Press

An anticipated shortage in Texas of choice, first grade beef is due primarily to the fact that Texas feeders usually feed lightly during the hot months and few "finished" steers other than pasture fattened cattle are now available, meat packers at the Fort Worth livestock market declare.

Pasture-fattened steers, either grain-fed or cake-on-grass fed, are rarely a grade "better," "good" or "low choice" under United States department of agriculture grading, it was pointed out.

The Fort Worth packers explained that most feeders of good beef in Texas place livestock on the heavy fattening ration in drylots during the cooler months so cattle will be bothered less by flies and high temperature.

Another difficulty was said to be ceiling prices of corn fed loin and rib cuts, purchased in corn belt markets and going to the select club and hotel trade.

Shippers have been reportedly losing from two to five cents a pound when marketing these cuts in Texas, but some packers felt they should take this loss to furnish their customers with an assortment of meats, trade sources said.

Fort Worth packers believed Texans will have to take "medium" and "good" grades of meat, until fall supplies of grain fed steers arrive at market, because of the demand of military establishments and the scarcity of choice beef.

The Dallas News said the first meat shortage of the war will be felt next week and that independent packers attribute the situation to ceiling prices on processed meat products and no ceiling prices on livestock.

Fackers were quoted as saying they were losing money because rising livestock prices had passed the packers' ceiling price.

"Packers insist that a simple, direct solution is a ceiling on livestock on the hoof, with the full 110 per cent parity permitted," the News said.

Now, About This Business of Advertising

There are a great many people who think that advertising isn't very necessary, now that so much merchandise has either been put out of production or curtailed, and the rest is protected by price ceilings. The fact is that folks want to know more about the substitutes they can use... they want more information about how to conserve what they already have. They want to buy quality goods and they want to know where to buy. Tell them in your advertising!

Sens And White Sox Come Alive In American League

Giants Beat Bums In Lone Nat'l Game

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

With practically no fanfare two of the American league clubs suffering from sleeping sickness as the result of staying too near the contagious cellar zone suddenly have shown unexpected signs of life.

The Chicago White Sox have won half a dozen games in succession in recent days and the Washington Senators have won seven out of nine in the last couple of weeks for what amounts to a slugging spree for the Nationals.

Last night, led by the irrepressible Babe Newsom, they set down the New York Yankees 6-3 in a free-hitting affair in which Washington made 14 blows and the Yanks 11. In addition the usually flawless Yanks contributed a couple of errors to Rookie Hank Borowy's second defeat of the season.

The White Sox whipped the Detroit Tigers 4-1 with Edgar Smith pitching six hit ball and losing a shutout because Jim Bloodworth belted a home run in the eighth inning.

No more convincing evidence that Chicago's hitless wonders are soaring could be mentioned than to point out that even Smith, the unlucky outcast who has lost 17 times, now has been able to gain his third victory.

In the only other American league game the Boston Red Sox scored their second straight shutout as Bill Butland, ordinarily used for relief chores, pitched four-hit ball to beat the Philadelphia Athletics 2-0.

Cleveland's doubleheader at St. Louis was postponed.

Only one game was scheduled in the National league and in this the New York Giants released all the pent-up fury of their last three days to overwhelm the Brooklyn Dodgers 8-0 with five home runs and a steady seven-hit pitching performance by Prince Hal Schumacher.

Mel Ott hit two of New York's circuit blows, bringing his total for the season to 18, and Bill Werber, Mickey Witke and Buster Maynard accounted for the others.

Some Cornish tin mines are tunneled under the floor of the sea.

Hogan Leads In Canada Meet

TORONTO, Aug. 7 (AP)—With Ben Hogan in the lead, United States professionals topped the field which teed off today on the second 18-hole round of Canadian open golf tournament.

Hogan set a stiff pace in yesterday's open round, blazing over the 6,543-yard Mississauga club layout in 65, seven under par.

Although he shattered the competitive course record, Hogan's lead was only one stroke better than Craig Wood of Mamaroneck, N. Y., and Ralph Guldahl of Santa Fe, Calif.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Wide World Sports Columnist

NEW YORK, Aug. 7 (AP)—Henry Armstrong's "comeback" as everyone figured, was dictated by lack of dough, but did you know just how broke Henery is? Well, the other day he sold a $50,000 annuity, on which he had paid $19,000, for only $14,500. Dick Shikat, the rascal, reports from Chile that there's a terrific boom in the mat racket down there since they imported grunt-and-gron tactics from the United States.

Today's guest star—Jim Reed, Burlington (La.) Hawley-Gazette: "Many college football players hesitate to enlist in the services because of the salary cut. In the army they get only $82 in addition to room and board."

A local hotel manager reports world series reservations now are heavier than they were Sept. 20 last year....

Byron Nelson, the No. 1 pro golfer, will play right field for Fred Haney's Toledo Mud Hens in an exhibition against the Browns next Friday. Those who have seen Lord Byron play ball say he'll be back in his pro shop Saturday morning.

Walling wall—Oklahoma's football sage, Dewey "Snorter" Luster, snorts out this explanation of Athletic Director Jap Hassell's taking leave of absence for naval service. "Jap made out 1942 schedule, then read it, then joined the navy."

Looks as if Camp Cailan, Calif., was the biggest contributor to the all army football squad. Capt. Steve Bagarus, Corp. William Tamm and Joseph Holland, technician 4th class, have been assigned to Lieut. Col. Bob Neyland's eastern squad and Corp. Dick Schneider and Pvt. Fred Croom to Wallace Wade's western team.

Dick Andrade, the Texas horseman, has turned down an offer of $28,000 for Devil Ridge, a half brother of Whirlaway. He bought the colt for $5,000 for breeding purposes.

It's All Mixed Up—Fight Experts Figured There Will Be Some Changes In Lighter Groups

By SID FEDER
NEW YORK, Aug. 7 (AP)—It is still a matter for argument, like how hot you like your breakfast coffee, but the Jacobs' Beachcombers were pretty much convinced today that there'll be a couple of new bosses ruling the featherweights and lightweight as a result of the ruffling around Allie Stolz handed Chalky Wright in the latest neighborhood back-busting.

Stolz, a curly-haired New Yorker loaded with what the beachcombers point out as "class," cuffed the current featherweight champion—New York State version—all over Madison Square Garden's ring for the last five rounds of their fight last night, and was so much the winner that he not only galloped off with a ten-round decision, but says he could have kayaked "The Chalk" in the final heat.

And from his showing, Allie impressed even the oldest inhabitants that next time he tangles with Lightweight Champ Sammy Angott, probably around October 2, he'll likely wind up taking the 135-pound crown away from stolid Sammie. The last time they went into their war, in May, Sammy came out with a disputed, split decision.

At the same time, the ageless Chalky was given such a going over down the stretch of this brilliant brawl that the old-timers figured he had too much taken out of him to recover in time to withstand the challenge of young Charlie Costantino, a rapid-transit tussler from the lower East Side. They got together September 25, and the Los Angeles negro's half of the featherweight championship will be on the line that night.

What's more, it might be pointed out today, that the Chalk barely got by the last time they said "howdy", in a non-title tilt.

Big Spring Links Artists Qualify In Midland Play

Two Big Spring golfers have posted qualifying scores in the Midland Country Club invitational golf tournament, and several more are due to go the rounds before medalist play is over today.

Lowell Matlock toured the course in 80 and Charlie Harrell squaled his score.

Other Big Spring men were reported to have turned in qualifying rounds Thursday evening but their scores were not immediately available. The Midland tourney opens Saturday and will conclude probably on Sunday. Obie Bristow and Shirley Robbins of Big Spring, probable entries, are considered in the favorite's circle.

These Hounds Had A Big Yelp Coming

REVERE, Mass., Aug. 7 (AP)—Eight greyhounds scampered into the backstretch at Wompatand dog track last night—and the lights went out.

Seconds later the lights flashed on again, but by that time the mechanical rabbit was in his hideout, the growing greyhounds were huddled together—and the race and all bets were called off.

Lookin' 'Em Over

By WAGEL McNAIR

The approaching date for opening of Moss Creek lake for fishing has prompted us to do some investigation in regard to what kind of fish there will be to bite the hooks and leap at the lures and how best to persuade these little members of the fin-clad tribe to be suckers to brilliant man. Nothing short of some of the most noted of the area's fishing authorities were consulted, and we take time out right here to warn any unsuspecting reader who may have started scanning this column accidentally that some amazing statements have been made. Such statements are not uncommon among those who take their quota of sports in angling, but a striking feature in the present case is the fact that most of them are plausible.

To begin Moss Creek lake is not expected to be a mecca for fishermen, and cane and pole artists may just as well spend their time doing something else. But for the fly and casting rod artist a reasonable measure of his favorite pastime may be expected. Please don't misunderstand, because there are fish in the lake which can be caught on the common pole, but the supply of bait for same appears infinitesimal. That situation gives the artificial lure boys a definite edge.

However, just any kind of artificial lure fishing will not get the job done, if we are to believe the above mentioned authorities. A man must be wise in his selection of a lure, just as the banker is wise in lending his money and just as the housewife is wise in doing her grocery shopping. Change of time and conditions has something to do with it. What's good today may be no good tomorrow.

But choosing the correct lure to use on a certain day will not solve all. The skillful manipulation is left strictly up to the individual and his ability in this respect will determine the extent of his catch. A very scientific venture, this fishing. As one who always regarded the sport as something to resort to for relaxation and as a haven from daily problems, we shudder to think of the complications involved if the sport is followed with success.

The fishermen (we mean the true artists) can talk to astounding lengths about the best ways to insure a good catch. They discuss settings and conditions which we never dreamed about. They can make their conversation seeth with technicalities and leave us completely "out in the cold" as far as understanding is concerned. But we never cease to be interested, because they bring 'em back. We know, because we have seen guys who saw the guys who had the proof. However, we still are inclined to feel deep respect for that one soul who said, "If you want to catch fish in Moss Creek lake, get a fish trap."

Colorado Back Is On "West" Squad

COLORADO CITY, Aug. 6 (SpI)—A star-back of the Colorado City Wolves in 1941, Royce Smith, has been selected as one of the football players to represent the west in the East-West all star football game scheduled for Wichita Falls, Sept. 1st. Proceeds of the game will go to the crippled children's charity fund of the Maskal Temple shrine at Wichita Falls. Coach Frank Kimbrough, Baylor university, will coach the west team, Leo Meyer, TCU, the east.

"Fore" Means Three

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Aug. 7 (AP)—A golfer yelled "fore!" at the Fort Wayne Country club course—and Gloria Spenley, 18, lost three of her teeth as the hard-driven golf ball struck her in the mouth.

EX-RANGER SUCCEMBLS
COLEMAN, Aug. 7 (AP)—Funeral services will be held today for William S. (Bill) Melton, 83, pioneer Texas Ranger, peace officer and rancher, who died Wednesday.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

The U. S. Marine Corps and the Army too, for that matter, effectively use the 50-caliber Anti-aircraft machine gun either mounted or on a mobile base. These rapid-firing guns literally eat up the ammunition and a thousand rounds of ammunition costs about $240.00.

These guns are used to take low-flying airplanes. Since they fire about 600 shells per minute, that $240 worth of ammunition lasts a little longer than two minutes. So we need thousands of dollars in War Bond sales to furnish our Boys with ammunition for the tools of war. Your War Bond purchases every pay day will buy it. Bufs Hang Second Loss To Exporters

By The Associated Press
The Houston Buffs last night again defeated the Texas league leading Beaumont Exporters 1 to 0, as Hank Polly yielded only two hits.

The Buffs gathered seven hits off Beaumont's Clarence Gann, but not until the eighth did Houston put together a couple of singles for the only score of the evening.

J. F. Wood hit a nifty triple with one down in the ninth, whereupon Polly fanned Anse Moore and forced Dick Wakefield, the loop's leading hitter, to roll one toward

Crisler Believes Grid Game Will Be Faster Than Ever

DENVER, Aug. 7 (AP)—The University of Michigan's Fritz Crisler doesn't look for any of the glitter to be missing in football this year. Here to attend a Denver University coaching school, the Wolverine coach predicted the "open" style of last year will predominate, with even more of an emphasis on deft ball handling.

"Football will play more of an important role than ever due to the war," Crisler said, "and it must develop men more than ever if we are to successfully meet the stiff competition we face."

Editorial — No Need For 'Pressure' In The Senatorial Election

Despite implications to the contrary left by political writers concerning trips home by various members of the Texas congressional delegation, most of these men, either publicly or privately, have declared they are taking no part in the senatorial campaign.

Some of the congressmen very properly have pointed out that the people of Texas could make their decision at the polls without the advice of a member of congress. Very likely most of these gentlemen have a preference, and will express it at the ballot box. That's their business, just as your vote is your business.

There would be nothing amiss in any congressman campaigning for his favored candidate, just as there is nothing wrong with any private citizen's doing the same thing. The difference is that efforts by the one could be construed as "pressure" from Washington which Texas people as a rule do not appreciate.

MRS. MURDOCK TAKES A CASE by George Harmon Coxe

Chapter 47
"DEAN DID IT!"
"And if Hardacker'd come to us when he should," Bacon said, "he'd be alive right now."
"He had a job to do first," Fenner's glance flashed with Bacon's. "He took Raeburn's money and he had to do his job first."
"Ah—"

you? Look at me. Here I am running around not knowing which way is up, with not even a camera. Now I've got to go down and—"
"Never mind," growled Bacon. "I'm sorry I mentioned it." He grinned crookedly at them and went out.
Joyce went over to Della. "You'd want to stay and help Ward unpack, won't you? We should run along, I think. There's just one thing I'd like to know—what happened here before I came? How did Dean find out?"
Della shivered. "I'm still scared every time I think of it."
"They came right after you'd phoned me," Allen said.
"I'd made up my mind I was going to have it out with Ward," Della said. "Uncle Dean said he'd go out in the kitchen and get himself a drink and we were to see if we couldn't straighten things out."

On his face." Della hunched her shoulders again. "Never."
"I hardly know what I said after that," Ward said. "I didn't know what he was going to do, but I guess I said we'd keep his secret—something like that. He just looked at us. I couldn't get any reaction; then I thought of Joyce. I said she was coming. That's when he told us what would happen if we gave him anything." Della said.
"I didn't know what was going to happen," Ward said. "Dean just sat there pretending surprise—and then the rest of you came."
Fenner put on his coat. "You did all right. That was a swell story you told. Just enough lies in it to tip off Joyce, but not enough to make Thorndike start anything." Della said.
"I stood that way a moment and Della smiled. The smile did tell her eyes or only in her own. The knock on the door gave them respite. Fenner opened it and a uniformed boy said:
"Telegram for Mr. Fenner."
"What?" the detective took the envelope, stared at it, turned it over. "I guess you're right," he said and signed it, handing the boy a coin.

He looked at Ward Allen. "Hardacker came to you, too."
Allen nodded. "He said he wanted the envelope. I told him I'd get it. I knew Della must have it. I didn't know there had been someone else up there—and I went to her place to try and find it so I could give it to him—so he wouldn't go to the police and tell them she'd been there."
Della looked up at him tenderly and her hand found its way inside his.
"I never dreamed the bonds were the cause of the murder," Joyce said. "I thought it was the envelope, although I wasn't sure why."
A Light Dawns
The telephone rang and Bacon answered it.
"I've got to shove off," he said when he hung up. He looked from one to the other, rubbing his chin, his glance accusing. "There are still some things I don't know about. What I ought to do, after the run-around I got, is take you all down and make you sing. I could do it, too."
"Sure," Murdock said. "And I can hand in a story that'll make you wish you hadn't. All about how Mrs. Murdock solved your case for you—with Fenner's help."
"Ah—"
"What are you crabbing about? You got what you need, haven't you?"

Della colored and lowered her glance. "I said awful things—I'm sorry, darling—but I couldn't help it. I told him he was acting the fool and that I knew he'd been up to Perry Clarke's and I'd been protecting him and—oh, a lot more things."
"And then I got sore, too," Allen said, looking sheepish. "I let go with both barrels and told her what I knew. When she saw that I'd been thinking all the time that she did it, she got even angrier. How could I say such a thing? I was a beast and—"
"Please, Ward."
"All right. . . . Anyway, I told her what Clarke had said before he died. I could tell by her expression that I had been wrong and yet there it was—the thing he said, "Dee did it." I kept repeating it and then something hit me between the eyes. If it wasn't Dee, what had Clarke said? Dead . . . I 'Deen', I said. And it dawned on me and I said the name over again and then something made us turn and she was standing in that doorway."
Telegram For Fenner
He gestured towards the hall. "He came in slowly, slipping an automatic from his pocket, and then I knew why he'd stayed. He was afraid he might know something and, getting together, reach some conclusion. And we had—and there we were."
"I'll never forget the expression

Washington Daybook— About Strikes, Draft Taxes, War Insurance

By JACK STINNETT
WASHINGTON—Answering the mail orders:
T. L. M. Akron, Ohio—War damage insurance may be purchased from any one of the hundreds of fire insurance companies in the country. Under regulations laid down by the War Damage Corp., it provides full coverage for all real or personal property damaged or lost by enemy action or by our own forces in resisting enemy action. The premiums vary from less than $1 to a little more than $7 a thousand, depending upon the type of property. Geographical location has nothing to do with the premium. It's the same in Akron as in San Francisco or New York.

K. D., Memphis, Tenn.—There has been no official announcement, but the report is that you can look for a draft reclassification within the next three or four months. This probably will get a lot of men with dependents in cases where those dependents can exist on the allotment pay. It will not affect married men with one or more children actually living in the home. It will not affect men, single or married, who are essential to war industries. Each board is now supplied with a list of more than 30 industries considered essential. Some of these, however, are only essential if they are working on war contracts.

Mrs. K. W. L., Pasadena, Calif. Don't count your 1943 taxes until they are hatched. The opinion here is that the almost six billion dollars tax bill passed by the house is just the beginning. In the first place there is the senate hurdle to clear. That there will be some revisions is a cinch. But even if these are minor, it's a fair guess that after the November elections are out of the way, there will be additional tax measures to bring next year's revenue somewhere near the $8,700,000,000 asked by the treasury. In Washington, it's about an even money bet that some sort of sales tax will be enacted before the first of next year.

P. R., Trenton, N. J.—Clarifying the rubber situation at this time is an utter impossibility. Not even those government officials and industrialists in a position to be the best informed are anywhere near close agreement on the matter.
A. R. T., Mineral Wells, Texas—There is nothing in the Washington record to substantiate the claim that strikes are on the upswing. The most recent report of the labor department was that there are 17 strikes now in progress in war industries. These affect something over 10,000 men. This is about 80 per cent less than the five-year peacetime average before 1940.

H. D., Monroe, La.—I don't think there is any need at this stage of the war to worry about American machines in the air or on the ground not being as good as those of the enemy. Reports from the battlefronts where our machines are being used don't indicate any inferiority. Changes are, however, constantly being made. There probably isn't a front where our planes, tanks or guns are being used where experts are not on hand to study performance under actual battle conditions and the bugs are being knocked out as fast as they are discovered.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds — Movie Cuties Keep In Trim

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD — One thing's sure, it's going to be no trouble for the movie cuties to keep those shapes that art and nature gave them. No trouble at all, while the bombs fall in the movies.
Today I saw Carole Landis, whose ends were nicely shaped by destiny, go through the equivalent of 10 rounds of calisthenics, just dodging bombs.
It was for "Manila Calling." By the day's end, if Miss Landis wasn't calling for a massage then she's a husky as well as beautiful gal. Mid the rocket's red glare, the bombs bursting in the back room, our Carole played a game of hide-and-seek under the table. Down she went, up she came, until I bet she got the bends.

All this was by way of assisting an actor named Martin Koeleck to make amends for his unsavory movie past. Koeleck's the young refugee chap, who has been playing all those nast sneaks and dogs, leering at innocent women and kicking babies. Not any more. In "Manila Calling" Martin plays a Polish refugee in the Philippines, a fellow who fights for Uncle Sam and dies a hero's death when the Japs invade.
The Japs, right today, were making it hot for hero Lloyd Nolan, hero Koeleck, and heroine Landis. The three of them were in a radio broadcasting shack, Koeleck at the control board while Nolan crowded the air with a plea to Americans and Filipinos to fight on and beautiful Carole handed him his notes—written by hero Cornell Wilde.

Director Herbert I. Leeds rehearsed the actors—minus explosions—and each time our Carole ducked under the table. It was more fun, for spectators, when the "bombs" went off. For Carole that was just another ducking, or two or three.
It takes a bit of doing to "bomb" a movie set. There's a gentleman with a length of electric wiring off behind the microphone boom. The wire leads around behind the set, beyond that open doorway in the rear, to a keg filled with powder, dust and ground cork. There's a pipe-cannon, off to the side, filled with more dust and discharged by compressed air. There's also a workman with a shovel—full of dust.
For the first bomb, as Nolan read his plea, the workman shoveled his cloud of dust. For the second, the pipe-cannon popped off. For the third—as the gentleman with the wire touched it to the button—the doorway back there spouted flame, smoke, and flying cork. It also spouted noise—the kind that makes your teeth rattle, the kind that makes you look for a table to duck under.
That was what our Carole did—again—along with Nolan and Koeleck. Then they got ready for the next bomb, the big one that would let Koeleck die the hero's death. By this time, Carole, either because she had got smart or the script said so, wasn't ducking any more.
She just stayed under the table.

Man About Manhattan— Army Flying Command Wars On Carelessness

By GEORGE TUCKER
NEW YORK—"The most dangerous period in a pilot's career is when he has between 100 and 150 hours in the air. Then he becomes careless. He forgets to think. And he runs into trouble."
So believes Lieut. Colonel Edwin M. Dixon, of the Army Air Corps, who has had more than 23 years of flying experience to his credit, and more than 8,600 hours in the air.

We were discussing the rising tide of aircraft accidents around the country that is claiming so many lives and so much valuable equipment. Frankly worried by the loss in personnel, the war department has instituted a safety campaign both in and outside the army. These accidents will have to be cut down. Hardly a day goes by but that you read of a bomber here, a pursuit ship there. . . . Only recently these accidents claimed a major general on a routine flight in Tennessee.

"Yes," added the colonel, "after they've had a hundred or so hours they lose respect for the plane. They omit the little routine precautions that so often save lives. . . . They forget sometimes that you shouldn't try to land with the brakes on. . . . I've known of accidents that resulted because the pilot forgot to snap the gas on all the way. . . . That's pure carelessness. . . . No excuse for it at all. But, it happens every day."
Did Col. Dixon think accidents per flying hour were beyond those of a year ago? On the contrary, he

Women Will Have To Sit While They Sip

CHICAGO, Aug. 7 (AP)—Madam will soon go back and sit down when she wants a drink in a Chicago tavern.
In about the time it takes to toss off a short beer, the city council voted unanimously yesterday to make it illegal for women to take their liquor standing up. The ordinance goes into effect with the pop of the first cork on Aug. 16.

Col. Dixon, ex-branchmaster, ex-serial gunnery instructor, ex-artillery tower, spent three years as commanding officer of the 152nd Observation Squadron. During that three years the squadron had only one accident—due to a broken runway—and no one was hurt. "We had nine pilots and three observers," adds the colonel. "One of those pilots today is co-pilot for Lieut. Gen. Hugh A. Drum; another is co-pilot for the commanding general of the 6th Corps Area; the others all are commanding officers of observation squadrons in the Ground Air Command. The reason? Those boys learned care. . . . They never took unnecessary chances."
The worst of all accidents is the type caused by lack of altitude, and there is seldom any excuse for such an accident. This is Col. Dixon's opinion, who considers an extra thousand feet of altitude more worthwhile than money in the bank. "You've got no right to give yourself less than 1,000 feet leeway, and you should take two thousand if you're within a hundred miles of a peak."

Program On Air Gives OPA Rules

In order that people may become better acquainted with price regulations and rationing rules, the OPA is urging that radio listeners tune in a program, "Neighborhood Call," which is being aired for the specific purpose of explaining to the public the entire Price Administration setup.
The program is carried by national hookup over some 800 stations each Friday at 8:30 p. m. (CWT), and is then rebroadcast by transcription on smaller stations at various times.

U.S. Bomber Destroys Jap Craft At Wake

HEADQUARTERS, HAWAIIAN AIR FORCE, Aug. 7 (AP)—An American flying fortress on a secret mission to Japanese-held Wake Island destroyed four of six Japanese planes which rose to attack it and returned to its base with three bullet holes as the only damage.

A fifth enemy plane probably was destroyed on the sixth, which followed the fortress to a point 150 miles from Wake, was given only a 50-50 chance to make its way back to its base because of the prevailing bad weather. The attack occurred last week-end.

"We just disintegrated the Jap planes," said Major George B. Giber, of San Angelo, Tex. "It takes only a few of our .50 caliber shells to disintegrate them."

The flying fortress reached Wake about noon, after encountering heavy weather. The Japanese were caught by surprise.

"Six fighters took off as we got there and we saw one large four-motored flying boat and two small surface ships," Major Giber said. "Four of the fighters were Zeros, the other two were newer types."

"We completed our mission while the Jap fighters climbed to fighting positions. The engagement started at 19,000 feet and ended at 25,000."

"We came out with no casualties and only three machinegun bullets in our ship."

He said the enemy planes definitely destroyed were two Zeros and two of the new type craft, which he described as similar to the Messerschmitt 111 or the Heinkel 113.

Maneuvering Men Show Initiative

By WILLIAM BONY Associated Press

WITH SIXTH ARMY CORPS ON CAROLINA MANEUVERS

Aug 7—Now that the troops on wartime maneuvers have gone into a welcomed three-day rest period before plunging into the next problem, there is proof in plenty of the value of these exercises in developing quick thinking and initiative in men who soon may need it in actual combat.

This correspondent's favorite story concerns Staff Sgt. George W. Romer of Hempstead, N. Y., 23 years old and in the service since January, 1941. Leading a reconnaissance platoon of a tank destroyer battalion, he suddenly found himself in a cul-de-sac, lines of advance and retreat cut off by Blue troops.

The sergeant ordered his scout car, four jeeps and 15 men off the road into an adjoining creek bed, where there was good cover. He sent one of his men into a tall pine tree to build an observation platform. From it the observers glued their eyes on a crossroad 150 yards ahead, where the Blues had set up two 37-mm. guns in the front yard of a farmhouse.

The relay of observers kept a careful tally of the vehicles which passed. They counted the number of men in each troop-carrier and noted the caliber of each gun which went by. The information was relayed to their company headquarters by radio.

The platoon needed fresh drinking water. The sergeant detailed two of his men to sneak through a cornfield back of a farmhouse. With the Blues manning their guns in front of the house, the Reds drew water from a well in the rear. Finally this little detachment had the effrontery to send two scouts crawling under the front porch, where they could listen in on the Blue gunners' conversation.

For 29 hours the platoon stuck to its hiding place. It was discovered and captured by sheer accident—because a Red trooper, after bathing in the stream, left his towel on a bush and a Blue trooper, coming down for the same purpose, found it. But by then Sergeant Romer's radio had sent in 27 messages packed with needed information.

Allred Carries Campaign Into Small Counties

By The Associated Press

Dewey Wright, who grows wheat in Castro county, saw his friend Jimmy Allred in Dimmitt (Pop. 943) and asked him to make a little talk.

Senator Candidate Allred did, even though his schedule called for no campaign speech in that West Texas county. Before the little crowd that gathered for the impromptu speaking Allred turned on his best oratory to plead his cause for election to the U.S. senate.

This happened late yesterday as Allred traveled from Plainview toward a night speech at Hereford, and suggests the energy and attention to detail Allred is giving his run-off race with Senator W. Lee O'Daniel, 394 for Allred in the first primary election.

Today Allred turned eastward, scheduling speeches for Quanah and Wichita Falls. In the latter place he spent his earlier years.

"Parity prices were all right a few years ago," he said at Plainview, "but they didn't put a ceiling on labor and other things the farmer has to have. We mustn't put a ceiling on the farmer's products until he has attained equality with other groups."

Forsan Pastor To Speak Here

In the pulpit of the First Baptist Church Sunday in the absence of the Rev. Dick O'Brien, pastor, will be the Rev. H. G. Weims, pastor of the Forsan church.

Rev. Weims was born in Siberia in 1908, and left that country with his parents for Canada in 1925. The Communist government had chosen young Weims for a scholastic to the University of Moscow, but the family decided to come to America after their property was seized because they were classed as capitalists.

After studying in a Bible school in Canada for four years, Weims came to the United States and eventually to Texas. After two years of study in Dallas he came to Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene, where he was graduated in January of this year.

Rev. Weims will be in the First Baptist pulpit at both hours Sunday, and will also teach the men's Bible class at 9:45 Sunday morning.

Mrs. Weisen Hears From Her Grandson Now In Australia

Mrs. Max Weisen of Big Spring and Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Weisen of Ranger were elated this week on receipt for the first time in six months of word from their son and grandson, Corp. R. Weisen.

Word came in a letter from a doctor's wife in Australia who said that young Weisen visited in her home recently. The letter, which was sent air mail to his mother, Mrs. J. Weisen, arrived in Ranger this week.

Almost at the same time a letter arrived from another son, Homer, who is now in Hawaii and who was last heard from in San Francisco a month ago.

The letter from Australia told of a hunting trip the doctor took young Weisen on, and also related that the doctor and his wife have three sons in service. According to the doctor's wife, Australians realize that they are in "grave danger now, but have been cheered considerably by the arrival of American troops."

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Weisen have still another son, Fred, now in training in Florida. The boys have visited here in the past.

Religious Unity Is Revival Topic

God has a platform for unity, according to Evangelist John H. Banister, who developed this subject in his evening message to the increasing Church of Christ revival crowd Thursday evening.

Speaking from the fourth chapter of Ephesians, Banister declared that "God's word teaches that religious people should be united; Christ prayed for unity, and Churches of Christ throughout the world are working for unity."

Religious division, he continued, is condemned in the Bible, for "it confuses people and should not be." However, he said, there "can be unity ONLY on the Bible. Man's ideas of union are not the Lord's idea of unity."

The platform of unity, he said is "one God, one Lord, one Spirit, one faith, one baptism, one body, one hope." In order to have unity, Banister asserted, people must believe alike on these things. The revival will continue through Sunday evening and the public is invited to attend the remaining services.

Pump Equipment For City Is Delayed

Progress of 1400 feet was made Thursday on the sewer extension line for the Big Spring Flying School and marked a little over the half way mark in the excavation.

Although pumping equipment was ordered some time ago from California, advices reaching E. J. McDaniel, city manager, were that the equipment was lost at the factory and had never been shipped.

Some temporary installation will be used, McDaniel said, until the pumping equipment is shipped.
