Plans For 1961 Farmers And Merchants Night

Plans are going forward for the annual Chamber of Commerce sponsored "Farmers and Merchants Night" banquet. It was announced this week by officials of the organization. The massive banquet this year, to be held in the football field, will mark the fourth annual time it has been given. Judging by past events, a crowd of approximately 1000 is expected.

The meal is catered through Underwood's in Lubbock. When the event was first begun, it was held in the Catholic Hall. The second year it was held at the Bowling Alley, and the third year, with more equipment being owned especially for the banquet, it was staged in the football field.

The night is given through the sale of tickets to merchants. The proceeds go for the prizes for the first three bales, and additionally purchase the merchant and one farmer meal. More details on the program and time of the event will be given in next week's Slatonite.

Cole Outstanding Officer In State FFA

James Cole, 19-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Cole, of Slaton, was selected as the outstanding student officer of the Texas Association of Future Farmers of America last Friday at the state FFA convention in Dallas.

Cole, the retiring first vice-president of the Texas FFA, received the honor for his service to the FFA during the past year.

A sophomore Agriculture Science major at Tech, Cole travelled more than 13,000 miles the past year and spoke at more than thirty banquets in conjunction with future farmer work.

Also at the convention, Cole was elected as the Texas delegate to the national convention in Kansas City, scheduled for October.

The two honors climax a brilliantly successful FFA career for Cole. He served as president of the Slaton chapter for two years; was president of Area I during his senior year in high school; and was elected 1st vice president at the state convention in Houston last July.

Cole is attending Tech on a $6,000 Marshall Foundation scholarship which he received at the Houston Fat Stock Show in March of 1960.

Also at the Dallas convention, Miss Charlene Wright of Livingston was elected as the state FFA Sweetheart, James Morris of Anahuac was named president of the Texas FFA. Don Alford, a Monterey graduate received the Anderson - Clayton scholarship, valued at $3,200.

There are 36,000 FFA members in the state.

TEMPERATURES

The average temperature for the week of July 24 to July 30, was 74.

According to Pioneer Natural Gas Company the temperatures were Monday, 86 and 66; Tuesday, 85 and 64; Wednesday, 86 and 62; Thursday, 86 and 62; Friday, 87 and 62; Saturday, 84 and 62; and Sunday 86 and 63.

The average maximum temperature was 85, while the average minimum temperature was 63.

Weather Bulletin

Rainfall has ranged from one to three inches each of the past two weeks. A July 15th hail damaged approximately 20,000 acres in parts of Lubbock, Hockley, Lamb, Bailey, Swisher, and Hale counties. Most of the damage ranged from 25 to 75 per cent. 3,000 to 4,000 acres in the area was lost. Last Friday night a cool front brought showers and heavy rains over all the area, with Plainview and Lubbock receiving about 1 inch, Levelland and Lamesa received 2 to 3 inches. Observers feel the rain was beneficial in the dryland section although there was no concern over moisture at the time. Irrigated sections didn't need it and it has caused, in some locations, a serious weed problem.

Although night temperatures have been a little cool (about 65 degrees) day temperatures have been favorably warm and the crop has made good progress, cotton is blooming in all but the late planted fields and fields where hail has stripped the stalk.

Veteran observers in several different communities of the South Plains area have reported the best crops they've ever seen at this stage. Long range weather forecasts for this area indicate about 1 1/2 inches of rain toward the middle of August and a dry September.

No significant insect build up has been reported. Fleahoppers and boll worm infestations are reported to be light in most counties. Aphid population has caused concern in some areas.

Below, for review purposes, is final classing reports from each of the three classing offices in this area for the past two seasons (1959 and 1960 crops.)

Underground Water Is Jeopardized

Many irrigators in the southern High Plains are at present watering grain sorghum and vegetables. Some are even irrigating cotton. If the dry weather continues for the next few days, most others will be starting their wells.

When the irrigation of crops gets into full swing, it is almost certain that some waste of water will result.

It has been pointed out, that to allow irrigation "tailwater" to escape the land from which it is produced is not only a violation of the rules of the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District, but it is also a violation of all our basic concepts.

Aside from the economic and human relations aspects involved in wasting irrigation water, the High Plains District emphasizes the fact that in failing to keep water on our own land we jeopardize the doctrine of private ownership of underground water in Texas.

A District spokesman recently stated that, "Texas is the only state we know anything about that has private ownership of underground water-- where the person who owns the

Rites Held For Pioneer Of Slaton

Mrs. Magnolia Bussell, 92, resident of Slaton for 40 years, died at 8:30 p.m. Sunday, July 30, in the home of a stepson, George Bussell.

Funeral services were conducted at 2 p.m. Tuesday, August 1, in Westview Baptist Church. Officiating minister was Rev. Dwight Lusk, pastor, assisted by Rev. Ray Smith of the Missionary Baptist Church. Pallbearers were her grandsons. Interment was in Tahoka Cemetery under the direction of Williams Funeral Home.

Mrs. Bussell had been living in the home of a daughter, Mrs. J. E. Dillard, here.

Survivors include three daughters, Mrs. Dillard; Mrs. Milt Madill, Okla.; and Mrs. Homer Roach, Wichita Falls, two stepsons, George Bussell and Ed Bussell, Missouri; and many grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Revival Set At Missionary Baptist Church

A revival in the Missionary Baptist Church of Slaton will be held from August 6 to 13, it was announced this week.

Ken Whitten of Lubbock will be evangelist, and evening services will begin at 8 p. m. The public is invited.

Lions Hold Regular Meet

A program on Salesmanship was presented by Bill Smith at the Lions Club meeting, Tuesday at Bruce's Cafe. Plans were made by members for their annual Broom Sale for the Blind, which will be in September. Special guest for the meeting was Howard Limmer, employed by C. R. Anthony Co.

Petitions Now Ready For Owners Interested In Paving Projects

Petitions are now available in the city secretary's office for property owners interested in having paving done under the new assessment program.

At the last regular meeting of the City Commission, it was voted to begin the program for next year. The program will encompass from 40 to 60 blocks.

Under the new program, when a majority of the property owners in a block sign the petition, then the paving will be done. Owners not signing will then be assessed their proportionate part of the total cost.

land also owns the water beneath it. We should all be thankful for this fact; however, most people don't give it much thought, one way or the other-- they just take private ownership for granted."

The spokesman continued, "In this day when we have occasion to observe first hand more and more of our individual rights slipping from our grasp we don't seem too disturbed about it -- not until its too late do we really get concerned."

"Well," according to the High Plains Water District spokesman, "it's not yet too late to do some thing to help insure continued private ownership of underground water in Texas. Each one of us can accept the responsibility that goes along with private ownership -- that of using water wisely and for beneficial purposes. Running water down a bar-ditch could hardly be considered beneficial by anyone."

The District official had this to say in conclusion, "The right to individually own underground water in Texas can be retained only if individuals use that water prudently and without waste."

"Wouldn't you think that every man who loves the free-enterprise system and the opportunity it affords to individually excel be happy to also accept the responsibilities that go along with such freedom? "Irrigate, sure, but do it without waste. Doesn't that make sense?"

Revival In Progress At Methodist Church

Dr. Timothy W. Guthrie, pastor of the First Methodist Church in Midland, is speaking this week at a revival being held in the First Methodist Church.

Morning services are beginning at 9:30 a.m., and evening services at 8 p.m. Prayer meetings are at 7:30 p.m. The meeting will conclude Sunday.

Plans for the competition call for preliminary tests, a semi-final round and the finals. All playing sessions will be held in Ed Landreth Auditorium on the Texas Christian University campus and will be public.

The prize winner will take part in a concert on the same stage at the end of the final judging.

In addition to the first prize of $10,000, there will be a second-place award of $3,000, a third prize of $2,000, fourth of $1,000, a fifth of $750 and a sixth prize of $500.

A concert in New York's Carnegie Hall and engagements with leading symphony orchestras have been assured the winner.

Under the rules, contestants must assume financial responsibility for the trip to and from Fort Worth. However, all housing, meals, practice facilities will be furnished to accepted contestants during the event. The International Women's Club of Fort Worth is cooperating in this phase.

There will be two required numbers in the preliminary stage of the competition. They are Sonata Opus 26 by Samuel Barber (Scherzo and Fugue only) and a short commissioned work by Lee Hoiby, young American composer, which will be mailed to applicants on acceptance.

Also in the preliminary stage, contestants may play 1) any composition of their choice; 2) any of the four or five voice Preludes or Fugues from Bach's "Well Tempered Clavichord";

3) any Hadyn, Mozart or Beethoven Sonata (excluding Beethoven's Opus 14 Nos. 1 and 2 and Opus 49 Nos. 1 and 2); 4) any Chopin Etude of virtuosio proportion, any Chopin nocturne; 5) any etude of Debussy, Rachmaninoff, Scriabin or Liszt, or Toccata of Schumann, Ravel or Prokofieff, or any selection from "Iberia" of Albeniz.

In the semifinals, the contestants will play: 1) Brahms' chamber music, choice of Trio in B Major Opus 8 or piano Quintet in F Minor Opus 34; 2) any two Sonatas of Scarlatti; 3) choice of American music-- one of the four MacDowell Sonatas and an important work of a present-day composer; 4)

HIGHLIGHTS AND SIDELIGHTS

From The State Capitol

By Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN, Tex.—Store windows already are featuring school clothes, and mothers across Texas are budgeting money for new blue jeans and calico dresses.

But money with which to open the schools is not yet in sight. No one seriously doubts that new taxes will be voted and new appropriations made before current appropriations run out August 31.

Gov. Price Daniel has asked the Legislature to provide $359,000,000 in new revenue to get the state out of the hole and cover future needs. Even in "good times," raising this much money is a staggering problem. It will mean passing taxes to which a good portion of the Legislature -- and possibly the governor -- are bitterly opposed.

It could not be done -- except that in a few weeks those blue jeans and calico-clad youngsters must go to school. SENATE WORKS ON TAX -- Senate's unenthusiastic attitude toward the House-passed tax bill may foreshadow another end-of-the-session deadlock between the two houses.

Even if all senators heartily approved the House bill, they would still have to expand it. State Comptroller Robert Calvert, whose word is final on revenue forecasts, estimates the House bill will raise only $254,000,000. This is over $100,000,000 short of anticipated need. At the time it was passed, House sponsors thought it would bring in about $328,000,000.

House measure would raise money from these sources:

1. A 2 per cent sales tax on all power-driven objects, construction materials, utility services and on other items costing more than $5. (Bulk of expected revenue would be from this provision.)

2. A minimum levy of one cent per thousand cubic feet on natural gas. Holders of dedicated reserve contracts would be liable for paying the difference between present gas production taxes and this minimum requirement.

3. A one-third increase in drivers' license fees.

4. A revision in the corporation franchise tax formula to get more taxes from out-of-state corporations operating in Texas.

5. A one per cent transfer ($12,000,000) from the Permanent School Fund to the Available School fund.

6. A bookkeeping change to transfer to the schools in August the portion of gasoline tax money that is slated for school purposes.

BUDGET IN CONFERENCE -- House and Senate general appropriations bills, each calling for spending in the neighborhood of $2,500,000,000, are in the hands of a joint conference committee.

House bill calls for $16,000,000 more than the Senate version. In addition to what it already had passed, the House instructed its conference committee to hold fast on provisions for a 40-hour week for prison system and Department of Public Safety employees.

House conferees are Reps. James Cotten of Weatherford, B.H. Dewey of Bryan, J.W. Buchanan of Dumas, Malcolm McGregor of El Paso and Bill Hollowell of Grand Saline.

Senate committee members are Senators Ray Roberts of McKinney, A.M. Aikin Jr. of Paris, Crawford Martin of Hillsboro, Wardlow Lane of Center and Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo.

GOVERNOR OPENS GATES-- Just when legislators thought they were going into the stretch on the drive to solve fiscal problems, the governor opened up the session to bills on 21 additional subjects.

Only subjects listed by the governor may be considered in a special session.

Daniel opened the door to legislation on unemployment compensation, law enforcement and traffic safety, the election code, Sunday closing laws, municipal annexation and some 15 other subjects.

Not included in the list were three bone-in-the-throat issues left over from the regular session: small loan regulation, changes in the auto insurance plan and ceding part of Padre Island to the federal government for a park.

Some legislators protested that the avalanche of bills resulting from the governor's broadened call would make it harder than ever to pass a tax program.

COST - CUTTING PLAN -- In view of the House's money-finding problems, Rep. Charles Ballman introduced a measure designed to lop $97,000,000 off the state's revenue needs for the next two years.

Ballman is chairman of the House revenue and taxation committee. He termed his bill an "economy" measure. But many of its provisions, which are likely to arouse opposition, call for getting more money rather than spending less.

Among the bill's provisions: combine the Game and Fish Commission and the State Parks Board; raise tuition for state-supported colleges; pay county superintendents from county, rather than state, funds; finance the Department of Public Safety from state highway funds and put DPS-collected funds into the general fund.

INSURANCE HIKE STUDIED-- Lawmakers, though they cannot legislate on insurance in this session, are giving the new, higher auto insurance rates a thorough going over.

Conflict began when the State Board of Insurance instituted insurance premiums based on driving records in January, 1960. Many legislators protested effects of the plan during the regular session. Then during the summer the Board ordered an across-the-board increase in auto insurance rates, averaging about 15 per cent.

Both House and Senate set up special committees to investigate need for the increase. A rate expert representing the Insurance Board told the House committee that drivers, not the Board, actually determine rates. As proof, he said rates dropped 30 per cent during World War II when drivers knew that if they wrecked a car, they'd be walking for the duration.

SPEAKERSHIP CHANGE REJECTED--House voted down a proposal by Rep. W.T. Dungan of McKinney to elect a speaker "by gentlemen's agreement" in November, 1962.

Dungan urged that newly-elected representatives meet two months before the session's opening and elect a speaker. This would give the winner time to select committees and be ready for business at the start of the session.

Objectors said that since this is not provided in the constitution, the results would not be binding. More likely, they said, that the two months interval would be spent in trying to change votes and get a different speaker elected when the House actually convened.

Long-range goal of the reform advocates is a constitutional amendment to allow advance election of the speaker.

Senate doesn't have this problem since the people elect the Lieutenant Governor to preside over the Upper House. SPATE OF BILLS--Governor Daniel's broadening of the legislative call brought a hopper full of new proposals. Among them are measures that would:

1. Require public school children to take a standard state test in the basic subjects once every three years. (By Rep. Maco Stewart of Galveston and Rep. Dick Slack of Pecos.) Purpose is to focus more attention on academic quality.

2. Raise the present $28 a week maximum on unemployment compensation to $37 a week. (By Rep. John A. Huebner Sr. of Bay City.)

3. Allow school districts, on petition of 5 per cent of the voters, to hold a referendum on whether to establish free public school kindergartens. (By Rep. Travis Peeler of Corpus Christi.)

4. Require a run-off in special elections to fill seats in Congress and the State Legislature. (By Rep. Howard Green of Fort Worth.) Such an election is due this year to fill the post vacated by the death of State Rep. Marshall O. Bell of San Antonio.

5. Levy fines from $100 to $500 for selling certain types of merchandise on Sunday. (By Reps. Tommy Shannon and George Richardson of Fort Worth.)

SHORT SNORTS

Texas Highway Commission has authorized expenditure of $8,000,000 for purchase of right-of-way needed for construction of three interstate highways. Affected are Interstate 10 and Interstate 37 in San Antonio and Interstate 20 in Midland and Ector Counties.

State Selective Service Headquarters, feeling the first shock wave from the Berlin crisis, announced that 3,655 men would be called up for pre-induction exams in August. Last March the number called for exams was only 1,520. Aim is to increase the pool of potential draftees.

State Supreme Court announced that its docket was current and began its customary August-September recess.

It's the Law in TEXAS

RIGHT OF WITNESSES

By far the most vital people in our system of justice are witnesses. Everyone else in a trial exists to hear what they have to say.

Our courts need witnesses. A jury to find the facts. The judge to apply the law. The lawyer to tell his client's story.

Chances are you worry your stepping up, taking an oath, and telling your story in court. On some rare occasions you could be called upon to testify about something affecting your own standing in the community.

As a witness you too may have the right, for example, not to testify against yourself in somebody else's lawsuit or crime trial.

If you are ever in such a bind, consult a lawyer of your own choice on what to do. The lawyer who called you to testify has a sworn duty to protect HIS client, NOT you. But your lawyer is sworn to keep what you tell him secret and to advise you in your own interests within the law.

Wise lawyers tell their witnesses to obey twelve rules:

1. Go to the place (say, the scene of an accident). Check your memory before you go to court. People forget and get caught up on details. But if you check what you saw and heard you are on solid ground.

2. Visit a court. Hear how other witnesses testify. It will help you see your role on the witness stand.

3. Wear clean, conservative clothes.

4. Don't memorize your story word for word. This is the surest way to sound bad. But think of what you saw and heard.

5. Listen to the questions you are asked with care and answer thoughtfully.

6. Give a simple, direct answer in your own words. Don't be rushed.

7. If you err--and people often do--correct yourself at once. If you can't remember some detail, say so. Don't bluff.

8. Tell the truth. Don't figure which side you may help. Don't identify yourself with either side.

9. Stop when the judge breaks in, and don't try to sneak an answer in before he can stop you. What you might say could end in a "mistrial."

10. Keep cool and don't sass back.

11. If they ask you: Certainly, you have talked to other people -- the lawyer, for example; and yes, you may be reimbursed for certain of your expenses incurred in attending the trial.

12. Remember, without witnesses our law would fail to do justice. If you are called, be a good witness.

(This newfeature, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform--not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the

Private Enterprises To Launch Satellite

The Bell System stands ready to foot the bill to launch a communications satellite--and give America another "first" in the space race--if government agencies will give the go-ahead signal, said J.C. Oakley, Southwestern Bell Telephone Company manager here.

Oakley cited a recent statement by Frederick R. Kappel, American Telephone & Telegraph Company president, who said, "We have been ready to go ahead for a long time, and pay our costs as we go. We don't want the taxpayers' money. The first immediate need is a go-ahead to get experimental communications satellites aloft."

At stake for the American people--because of present indecision in Washington--is the possibility of the U.S. falling behind in the space communications field in which America took a clear lead with Project Echo he said.

The problem of starting the program is being delayed by arguments over who will operate the system, how it will be organized and who will control it, he added.

The communications satellite system would be an extension of present overseas communications systems. The satellites would be relay stations in outer space, from which telephone and television signals can be bounced to all parts of the world.

"Ownership and operation of the system should be the responsibility of international common carriers--who have for many years been providing overseas communications," Oakley said.

"Our sole interest in this matter is the earliest practicable establishment of a worldwide commercial satellite system, to supply communications service," he added.

Kappel spelled out the Bell System position regarding AT&T's participation. "I'd like to spike the notion that the telephone company is out to dominate this field. Nothing could be further from the truth. We are perfectly content to go along with the regulatory safeguards against favoritism or domination."

"Space communications should be a joint venture involving American international common carriers, under public regulation, and communications agencies abroad. This puts the job right where it belongs--with the common carriers who are responsible to the public for good service," Kappel said.

For many years, the company has spent millions in research and development of communications, including world-wide telephone and television transmission, by communications satellites.

Drop some oil on the nuts and bolts. Wash the guides too. If you're afraid of drowning your oil, it may get a little but it'll protect your salt water and sun out the protective coating. If you don't care for your equipment with out that old can of wax and rub some of it outside. Don't use moving parts. Stick to this.

When you've finished the heavy machinery of your tackle box and those plugs.

If you didn't clean the salt water, just dump it in the rust pot. If you have yet to feel the salt water, give them a little wax or oil. They'll be a bit of harm to them.

suggest you pack a tackle box itself. You'll be sorry you didn't do it. It's coated with salt. It holds true for your tackle container.

Now, when you're fishing grounds, whether in a boat or on a pier, keep your tackle around. Keep your tackle closed when not in use. A little salt water in an open tackle box will change the color of what's in it.

If there's a place to put them back in the compartment, string them extremely careful so they where you or your partner, can sit or stand. It's better to drop the box wet, if you can't find a safe place to hang the hooks. If they're over a wet surface, some fishermen say, "It would be time to follow the warnings." Sure it's some time. But you'll be surprised to learn how much money--it will be the long run.

What is America's favorite hymn?
The Slatonite is aiding Christian Herald, the nation's largest interdenominational Protestant magazine, and newspapers throughout the country, in a definitive survey to determine the hymns America loves best.
The National Newspapers Hymn Poll is open to Americans of all denominations.
Every reader of The Slatonite is invited to write the name of his favorite hymn or gospel song on the ballot printed with this article. In appreciation, Christian Herald will give each respondent the inspiring miniature book, "Hymn Thoughts for the Day," by Bill McVey, the Christian Herald Singer. This attractive book contains favorite hymns and scripture reading for every day of the month.
Our local hymn poll is an important part of the nationwide survey. The National Newspapers Hymn Poll is being conducted by newspapers in cities of all sizes in every state. Its purpose is to find out which hymns Slatonite readers (and Americans everywhere) enjoy singing and hearing--as well as to encourage hymn singing in homes and churches throughout the country.
Hymn singing has been a dynamic force for American family and community strength since colonial days. For years after the end of War II, however, hymn singing declined, a result of Bill McVey's Christian Herald Hymn Revival program, 1960 saw a new revival of hymn singing in America.
Under the direction of Dr. Daniel A. Pollock of Christian Herald, along with Bill McVey, hymn singing in many states, and audiences as large as people.

Dept. Named

Ulich, Texas Agricultural Extension Service engineer, has been named head of the agricultural engineering department at Texas Tech.

Ulich has been with the Extension Service since 1948. He was first employed in 1947 as shop supervisor under the farm labor program. He was named assistant agricultural engineer in 1948 and to his present position in 1949.

Plastic coated containers have been developed for packaging fluid milk and are now being used on a trial basis, reports A. M. Meekma, extension dairy specialist. The manufacturer says the new containers will eliminate loose wax particles in the milk, do away with leaky cartons and improve the appearance of the package.

Bacterial blight of cotton is the most damaging plant disease in Texas. Losses vary, according to Harlan Smith, extension plant pathologist, from 35 to 40 million dollars annually from decreased yields.

Santa Fe Crop Report

Southern Great Plains Conditions Good: Bank deposits in all wheat producing areas of the Southern Great Plains continue to climb as returns from the 1961 wheat crop pour in, and prospects for much above average per-acre sorghum yields are in sight, but in much of a wide area extending from Southern California across parts of Arizona, Nevada, Colorado, Wyoming, Nebraska, Montana, North Dakota, South Dakota into parts of Minnesota, drought conditions more severe than any dry period since the mid-1930's are causing much concern.

Yields of wheat throughout most of Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, New Mexico, and Colorado have been considerably above average, although some later maturing acreage was damaged by hot weather during the critical-tiling period, and there seemed to have been more than the usual amount of damage by hail, heavy rains, and high winds. Generally, harvest got underway about the usual time in the Low Rolling Plains of Texas and in southwest Oklahoma, and with little delay from the weather, moved across the states of Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, New Mexico, and Colorado in a very orderly manner. As of mid-July the only large acreage of winter wheat remaining in the fields in these states was a few counties in northwest Kansas and across the northern portions of Colorado. Yields and test weights have been generally good, but much of the total production continues to show up with a low protein content, and just how the 1961 crop will be received by millers, bakers, and the export market cannot yet be determined.

In much of Missouri and Illinois, harvest of wheat, oats, rye, and winter barley has been delayed because of wet fields and frequent showers. A considerable acreage of wheat lodged badly, resulting in slow progress as fields dried enough for movement of machinery.

Cotton, corn, soybeans, and sorghums, except in a few "water-short" irrigation projects in far West Texas and New Mexico, generally have sufficient moisture for near optimum growth, and with a break from the weather for the remainder of the growing season, could produce near record yields. As usual, some late planted acreage could be damaged by early frosts.

Total production of corn and sorghums, however, will likely be considerably below the 1960 total because of the reduction in acreage through the Emergency Feed Grain Program, aimed at reducing burdensome surpluses in the hands of the U. S. Government.

Farmers are busy getting their land into condition to plant the 1962 winter wheat crop, although just how many acres they will be allowed to plant for harvest may not be known for some time yet as final Congressional action is still awaited. State, county, and individual farm allotments will have to be determined before a referendum can be held to decide whether wheat producers are willing to accept allotments and enter the plant parts through wounds.

The blight organism overwinters in the soil on old plant trash and on or in planting seed. Wind-driven splashing rains, sprinkler irrigation or whirlwinds spread the bacteria from plant to plant in the fields.

The only known practical prevention is the growing of resistant varieties. Acala 1517 BR, Acala 1517 BR-1, Blightmaster, Austin, Rex and Mebane B-1 have some resistance and are available for commercial production.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS
OUR SOIL * OUR STRENGTH

The mounting human population is demanding more water for domestic, industrial, agricultural, recreational, navigational, and power needs, at the same time when requirements for safe and adequate waste disposal are increasing. Since anticipated demands for water soon will equal available supplies, re-use (once or several times) of water for all beneficial purposes.

Adequate control of pollution will require readjustment of the national philosophy from one of lavish waste of water, as has happened to so many natural resources, to one of conservation or wise use.

Lodging Important Grain Sorghum And Corn Disease

Charcoal rot or lodging is a common disease of grain sorghum and corn in most areas of Texas. The fungus root rot causes more damage than head smut in many areas. Close to 100 percent infection may occur in susceptible selections or varieties. Losses are apt to be heaviest during years of little rainfall with dryland farming. Although lodging is caused by other things in many cases it is charcoal rot disease.

Damage is noticed during June and July in South Texas. The disease appears in North Texas during August and September.

Damage is easiest to detect when the plants are approaching maturity. Charcoal rot damaged plants have poorly filled heads or ears with lightweight grain. Diseased stalks ripen and dry early.

Weakening of the stalks by the fungus, in many cases, causes them to lodge. Stalks are soft and discolored at the base with the pith disintegrated and shredded. Small pin-point, blackish, seed bodies (sclerotia) may be among the shredded pith.

Other crops affected by the disease are alfalfa, cotton, lespedeza, sugar beets, sweet potatoes, watermelons, sunflowers, peppers, cowpeas (southern peas), beans and

New Trailer Law Reduces License Fee

House and Senate agricultural leaders said this week that the new farm trailer law will save farmers and ranchers of Texas millions of dollars annually by reducing the license fee.

They said many farmers do not understand how the law benefits them and were protesting the payment of the annual license fee required under the new legislation.

HB 1082, the farm trailer law, was passed during the regular session of the Legislature and became effective May 29 with Governor Daniel's signature. It requires that farm trailers of from 4,000 to 10,000 pounds gross weight be registered with the county tax assessor. It also provides that owners must secure a special farm trailer license plate for a $5 annual fee.

Farm trailers up to 4,000 pounds gross are not required to have license tags, and all farm trailers up to 10,000 pounds gross are exempt from brake requirements.

Senator A. J. (Andy) Rogers of Childress and Rep. Grainger McIlhenny of Wheeler, sponsors of the trailer bill, said many legislators have encountered mass resentment on the part of farmers over the $5 license fee.

In a statement to the Texas Farm Bureau legislative office here, the two lawmakers said they wanted farmers to understand that without passage of the trailer law this year, the cost of operating farm trailers would have been prohibitive.

They said, for example, that before the new law was passed, the license fee for a 10,000-pound trailer (gross weight) was $55, or $50 more than is required by the new law. They pointed out that the Department of Public Safety had warned that if a farm trailer bill was not passed this year, the department would begin strict enforcement of laws on trailer licensing and brake requirements.

Bob A. Lilly, legislative director for the Texas Farm Bureau, said HB 1082 was a compromise bill. He added that it was quite evident that if some law was not passed, the DPS would enforce the old farm trailer law which exempted farm trailers only up to 4,000 pounds gross and which provided for brake requirements on all farm trailers of more than 3,000 pounds gross.

Bridesmaids Are Honored

The Johnson House, Lubbock, was the setting of the bridesmaids luncheon at 1 p.m. Thursday, July 29. Mrs. Leon Moore, nee Jeanette Burrell, was assisted in hostess duties by her mother, Mrs. Harry F. Brown of Slaton.

Maid of honor was Miss Carolyn Rhoads of Slaton. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Stewart Benson Rice of Klamath Falls, Ore.; and Mrs. William Becker Jr. Bridesmaids were Miss Billie Farmer and Miss Polly Greene of Abilene.

Special guest was Mrs. H. L. Moore, mother of the bridegroom.

An arrangement of white daisies and baby breath centered the table.

Mrs. Drewry Hosts Wesleyan Guild Meet

Wesleyan Service Guild of the First Methodist Church met in the home of Mrs. F.A. Drewry on Thursday evening, July 27.

Mrs. Ray Conner, president, conducted a short business meeting which was followed by a devotional presented by Mrs. R. L. Smith. A program on "Our Words and God's Words" was given by Mrs. W. C. Gilmore.

Refreshments were served to seven members and two guests.

Card Of Thanks

To the many friends and neighbors, for the prayers, every kind word, visits, flowers, and cards, which have meant so much to us during this trying time. We will always be grateful to Bill Smoot and Donny Marsh, who are taking Joe to Tech each day. This means so much to him at this time. May God bless each and every one of you in our prayer.

Mrs. Fred Stottlemire, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Osborn and Ann Osborn.

Mrs. J. Leon Moore (Jeanette Burrell)

Methodist Church Scene Of Moore-Burrell Vows

Turquoise and white were the prevailing colors when Miss Jeanette Burrell and J. Leon Moore pledged wedding vows at 7:30 p.m. Saturday July 29, in First Methodist Church. The Rev. W. F. Ferguson of Lubbock read the double ring service.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Harry F. Brown and Gordon Burrell of Lubbock. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Moore.

FATHER ESCORTS BRIDE

Given in marriage by Harry F. Brown, the bride wore a gown of hand clipped Chantilly lace designed with a portrait neckline enhanced by applied motifs of lace scattered with sequins and pearls. The bracelet length sleeves were complemented by short gloves. From the figurine bodice, flowed a magnificent skirt featuring unpressed pleats at the waist to emphasize the fullness of the bell skirt. From gathers at center back waistline flowed a full peacock cathedral train. A cap of reembroidered lace topped with a miniature crown of pearls and crystals caught her bouffant veil of silk illusion.

For something borrowed, the bride wore an heirloom ankle bracelet which belonged to her maternal great-grandmother. She carried a French lace handkerchief, a gift from Mrs. Stewart B. Rice, for something new. A lavalliere, gift from Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Holmes was the something old and she wore a blue garter and carried a sixpence in her shoe.

The wedding bouquet was a cascading arrangement formed of an orchid showered with stephanotis and white feathered carnations.

The bride's cousin, Miss Carolyn Rhoads, was the honor attendant. Bridesmaids and bridesmaidrons were Miss Polly Greene of Abilene, Mrs. Stewart Benson Rice of Klamath Falls, Ore., Miss Billie Farmer and Mrs. William B. Becker Jr., sister of the bridegroom.

The feminine attendants wore frocks of turquoise silk organza fashioned with scoop necklines and bouffant skirts. Short lace bolero jackets completed their costumes. Circular veils were fastened to matching crowns of braid enhanced by scallops of pearls and crystal beads. They carried cascading bouquets of feathered carnations accented by silver leaves.

BROTHERS ARE ATTENDANTS

Gene Moore of Post, brother of the bridegroom was best man. Groomsman were Sam Moore of Slaton, Harold Moore, Ed Moore, all brothers of the bridegroom, and Pat Kennedy of Lubbock.

Ushers were Jimmy H. Foerster of Shallowater, Donald E. Caldwell, Randy Mullins and Jerry Burrell, brother of the bride. Candles were lighted by Anna Kay Foerster of Shallowater and Caron Caldwell. Flower girl was Machele Mullins, cousin of the bride. Faron Kregg Foerster of Shallowater, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer.

Wedding music was provided by Mrs. J. A. Wright, pianist, Mrs. Webber Williams, organist, and Mrs. M. G. Davis, soloist, who sang "Ave Maria," "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer."

A reception followed the ceremony in Fellowship Hall. Miss Vicki Nowlin and Mrs. Glen Akin presided at the guest register. Miss Mary Ann Klattenhoff and Miss Ann Haddock provided the music.

The bride's table was laid with an imported cut work cloth with epergne centerpiece of white carnations and gypsophils and leather leaf, flanked with silver candelabra with white tapered decorated with white rose buds.

Members of the house party were Mesdames F.A. Drewry, Lucian Sloan, Charlie Walton, T. A. Worley Jr., B.A. Hanna, O. O. Crow, Jack Nowlin, Bud England, Hilton White, Grady Hallburton, H.G. Stokes, George Harlan, J. A. Wright, A. E. Whitehead, Vascar Browning, John Taylor, R. H. Todd, A. L. Clifton, C. R. Bain, Oree Glasscock, C. A. Porter, Raymond Standefer, L. E. Eakin, Magnus Klattenhoff, Charles Felty, and R. L. Smith.

Also assisting in hospitalities were Mesdames H. T. Swanner, Bill Smith, Mike Haddock, Douglas Wilson, Walter Jochetz, and Bertha Stottlemire. Lubbock members of the house party were Mesdames Paul Basinger, John McKinzie, Morris Long, Paul Keen, W. F. Ferguson, and Bob Johnson. For her wedding trip to points in New Mexico and Colorado, the bride wore a champagne silk costume suit with matching accessories, and a fur turquoise hat.

The former Miss Burrell attended Texas Tech and graduated from San Diego State College. She was affiliated with Alpha Phi social sorority. She has been employed as a teacher in San Diego.

Moore attended Texas Christian University where he was a member of the Horned Frog football team.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore will make their home in Lubbock.

Slaton Party Honors Couple

The home of Mrs. Lula Caldwell, maternal grandmother of Mrs. Leon Moore, nee Jeanette Burrell, was setting for the rehearsal dinner honoring Miss Burrell and Leon Moore at 6:30 p.m. Friday, July 28.

Mrs. Edna Fenley, aunt of the bride, assisted with hostess duties.

Guests included parents of the couple, Mr. and Mrs. Harry F. Brown, and Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Moore. Also the Rev. and Mrs. W.F. Ferguson, and Mrs. Bill Holmes of Lubbock.

An arrangement of white daisies with a miniature bridal couple formed the centerpiece.

No-Bake Apple Pie Filling

For all job-holding homemakers and others, too, here's news from the Borden Kitchen about the new Magic Apple Pie. It's truly "magic" for only the crust needs baking. This magic apple pie is a cross between the well-loved traditional type and the kind made and served in areas around Boston. Like these delightful favorites, Magic Apple Pie starts with cooked apples. The processed apples are wedded to sweetened condensed milk and lemon juice and poured into a baked shell. The pie is then chilled well, topped with plain or cinnamon flavored whipped cream just before serving.

Magic Apple Pie

(Makes an 8 x 12 1/2 x 2-inch pie)

- 2 sticks (9-oz. package) pie crust mix
- 1 (15-ounce) can Eagle Brand Sweetened Condensed Milk
- 1/3 cup lemon juice
- 2-1/2 cups cooked, sliced apples
- OR (one No. 2 can) processed apple slices
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon

Prepare pastry according to directions on package of pie crust mix. Roll out entire amount in the shape of a rectangle. Fit into a 8 x 12 1/2 x 2-inch baking dish.

To prepare filling: Combine sweetened condensed milk and lemon juice stirring until mixture thickens. Fold in apples and cinnamon. Pour into cooled baked shell. Chill. If desired, garnish with whipped cream and sprinkle with cinnamon.

A LONG WAY FROM THE STEAM ENGINE - Pictured here is the engineer's conception of a 40-passenger Levacar, being designed to utilize railroad right-of-way in the future. The Levacar will travel on a thin film of air rather than wheels, and will reach speeds up to 500 miles per hour.

Wheel-Less Levacar Designed To Be Railroad Carrier Of Future

Railroad passenger cars speeding on a thin cushion of air, rather than wheels, at speeds up to 500 miles an hour! It sounds fantastic, but it's being predicted for the not very distant future, and is in the development stages now.

Several railroads are investigating the Levacar as means of passenger transportation. The wheel-less vehicle is being developed by Ford Motor Co. engineers, and the drawing above shows how it would operate on the present railroad right-of-way.

The Levacar rides on a thin film of air a fraction of an inch above the rails. Air provides the lubrication, and by separating the train from the tracks by a thin margin eliminates friction, which is the age-old problem of high ground speeds.

Dr. Kucher developed the concept 33 years ago, and coined the world Levacar from "levitation" and "car". Ford officials state that they have already furnished railroads with "ample proof" of the technical feasibility, and are now proving its economical advantage.

Ford says that once the completed product has been proven and accepted, it will be approximately five years before nationwide service will be found.

The first Levacars will be built to handle traffic between cities 200 miles or so apart.

SPORTS AFIELD

Many hunting dog trainers agree that no serious field training should be undertaken until the young bird dog is at least nine or ten months old, reports Henry P. Davis, Dogs Editor of SPORTS AFIELD Magazine. To attempt to force a puppy's education in the field, to the point of finished bird handling, is to risk blunting his hunting desire. Nevertheless there is a new development which is enabling trainers to teach puppies some very valuable lessons at an early age and to develop their hunting instincts naturally.

New techniques which have reduced the hazards of quail and pheasant raising and made these pen-raised game birds available at reasonable prices practically assure the owner of a young bird dog that he can give his pupil a lesson in game handling almost at will. The invention of various types of "call back traps" allows the trainer to use the same birds for training his puppies time and time again. In these traps a dozen or more bobwhites are placed. Some of the brood are confined in one end or in a top compartment. The remainder are left in the larger ground-level compartment.

Several of these birds can be removed from the trap and released in nearby cover. The young pupil can then be worked on these birds. At the end of the training session these birds, of course, remain at liberty. Toward the end of the day, the quail still confined in the trap will begin to call. Those at liberty will almost assuredly return to the trap entering it through a tunnel in the wire. The trainer can then close the aperture of the tunnel. This kind of practice has enabled many owners to get their puppies on game usually tender a young puppy, with a hunting instinct know how to use it not strong enough out in search of ever, when brought contact with them reacts quickly and instinctively, either by dashing in to find

BOUGHT HIM A RANCH: The Ultimate Outcome Of The Soil Bank Program

The soil bank program has again been turned to a racket. By way of illustration I shall describe the maneuvering whereby Wayne E. Tallman purchased a 6,960-acre ranch in Colorado for $139,200 and then, through subleasing agreements, placed 3,879 acres of this same land
 in a 10-year contract with the conservation program where he will, over the 10-year period, collect from the government $271,000 or more than the entire purchase price of the ranch. In addition, he or his tenants will have the use of the remaining acreage not placed in the bank.

It began in 1956, when the estate of John W.
 Tallman Farms Company, operating in Kansas Colorado, decided to 50,000 to 60,000
 of the company's holdings in Colorado inheritance and taxes. This land located over a three-
 area—Kiowa, Kit
 and Lincoln—in
 do. In January,
 Robert Baughman,
 of the John W.

SENATOR JOHN J. WILLIAMS

Tallman Farms Company, offered to sell to his manager, Wayne E. Tallman, the 6,960-acre Vogel Ranch at a price of $20 per acre, or a total of $139,200. The purchase price was to be paid over a period of 10 years in 10 equal in-stals, with no interest to be collected except contingent payments. The offer was contingent on Baughman's being able to work out arrangements to lease a substantial part under the conservation program, whereby he could use the cash
 to pay for the farm.

However, Tallman was confronted with the $5,000 down payment that Congress had placed upon the annual payments which could be paid to any one farmer under the bank program.

This proved to be no obstacle. To get around the 5,000 limitation, Tallman devised a scheme whereby he would break up the farm into smaller cash-lease the different units to various tenants and then have the tenants sign a contract with the government under the conservation reserve program, with the proviso that they would turn the property received thereon over to him as cash

before buying the property he wanted to be at his scheme would work, so on February 25, at the regular meeting of the Kiowa Agricultural Stabilization Committee, he presented this cash-lease plan and received assurances that it would be approved. It was agreed that, if Tallman could buy this land,
 the committee would accept the same acreage under the conservation program and pay him or his tenants an annual rental of $7 per acre for the next 10 years. This would mean that the government would be paying $70 per acre over the next 10 years to cultivate the same land which he was then in the process of buying for $20 an acre.

On February 25, 1957, following this advance
 agreement with the county committee of Kiowa County, Wayne E. Tallman—operating the newly organized Wayne E. Tallman Farms Company—bought from the John W. Baughman Company the 6,960-acre Vogel Ranch at a price of $139,200 or $20 per acre, payable over a period as outlined above.

Tallman then divided this ranch into six tracts.
 On March 25 and 26, 1957, he leased the entire tract to six different tenants for a 10-year period on a cash rental basis, under terms that would net him $27,100 annually, or a total of $271,000 over the 10-year contract.

In one instance, the leasing period was dated March 1, 1957. He had contracted to buy the ranch on February 25, 1957.

The Sounding Board

From Marvin Tomme's
 column, "Snapped Shots" in the Slatonite:

Now that President Kennedy
 has delivered his all important speech to the nation how many of you know what he wants? In his Bostonian accent he told,
 ably, of the sacrifices we would be called upon to make,
 not only in the near future, but in many years to come. He told of the threat that is world wide, then got down to business
 about the West Berlin crisis.

He told of the consequences
 and the rewards we would reap
 if we made the right choice in Berlin. Then—"I am tomorrow requesting of the Congress for the current fiscal year an additional $3,247,088,000 for military forces, and I am requesting an increase in the Army's total authorized strength from 875,000 to approximately one million men
 . . ."

The President went on to state that his secretary of treasury has assured him our economy will stand this type of increase. "Should an increase in taxes be needed to achieve that (budget) balance in view of these or subsequent defense rises, those increased taxes will be requested," he stated. And there is no doubt that taxes will be raised. Our national budget is so far in the red now that certainly another increase in national spending will not get us out of the red.
 The President completed his message by saying there is peace in Berlin today, but if it takes to war to maintain that peace he will request that too.
 A very enlightening and brilliant speech.

Snapped Shot: Money can't buy love, but makes shopping
 for it a lot more interesting.

I feel sure our taxes will be raised, at least the President and his family can stand it, whether the average man can or not. We have been taxed, either openly or with hidden taxes until we are on the verge of working full time for the government. Is that what we really want? Then we would have no responsibility--or no say so in the government. We have a small part of democracy, but the power to tax is the power to destroy, and our government has used and abused that power to its fullest. Taxes we sent in will be used for various things,
 such as the support of four different branches of our government working on our space program. Why can't our program be combined as other nations do and save three of these branch payrolls to be used for research. No, we have to compete not only with other countries, but ourselves as well. But, as the President said, our economy will stand the tax burden, so let's tax more and spend more and get further behind with the continual bickerings of the different branches.

 Just how much more our economy will stand, I am doubtful.

Sudden thought: There's still a few things you can get for a dollar -- nickels, dimes,
 quarters.

Along the same, sloppy, inconsistent line, now comes word that several Congressmen have voiced opinions that we should use force, if necessary, to go to Cuba and return the hijacked American civilian airplane. They say the plane was hijacked
 over American territory making this an act of piracy. Yet we hold several planes and ships belonging to Cuba that refugees have stolen or hijacked to come to the United States. We in turn refuse to return either the ships, the planes or the people. We have gotten our citizens back, all I ask is what is the difference in Cuban people and property and American property. If it were the people, this would be another story. But we have kept and sold, Cuban property, why shouldn't they return the favor.

The average man's biggest problem is reconciling his gross habits with his net income.

Many weekly news editor's decided to air opinions on Berlin this week. Following are some samples of grass roots thinking in others "necks of the woods":

From "Drifting Sands" in
 the Andrews paper:

by the Young'un
 Some people are more even-tempered than others--they're mad all the time."

Like a lot of other people,
 we supposed, we viewed the words of President Kennedy's talk on Tuesday night with mixed emotions.

On the one hand, we agree with most Americans that if ever we're to hold the containment line against Communist, it must be in Berlin.
 You can back-pedal, argue, talk,
 and back-pedal again, but eventually, there will come a time and place in which you either stand firm or tuck the tail between the legs and run
 . . . and Berlin is that place.

We fiddle-footed and talked
 during the Armistice on North Korea and while we talked the Russians kept gobbling up the territory under discussion. In Laos the situation was the same.
 While we talked at the conference table the Russians were moving in and taking over, if we let that happen in Berlin
 we might as well withdraw from all our commitments around the world and shrink back to within our own continental borders.

We believe most Americans want this nation to stand firm and solid in the Berlin situation . . . it has been a key in our foreign policy for 16 years.

But on the other hand, we also believe the American people have become so immune to cold war crisis, that it will be difficult if not impossible to get them
 stirred up about the Berlin situation.

The immunity has been developing for years. Ever since the end of World War II, we have been hammered at and warned about, cautioned against, and cajoled for one crisis after another . . . and often times, during the past,
 we, as a taxpayer and voter,
 have been tricked into buying something "in the interest of the cold war" that had little if anything to do with fighting the cold war.

In other words, the government has cried "wolf" so many times in past years in order to further its own aims, that it is now hard to convince the average American that the nation
 is in peril.

Personally, if three and a half billion dollars is what the government needs to bone up our armed forces so that we can
 back up what we say in Berlin,
 then that is the amount Congress should provide.

Our chief worry--and we believe the chief concern of most of us--is the costs involved in the "related" factors of an emergency mobilization.

Every pet project pusher in Washington will now start pushing his project in the "national interest of the Berlin crisis."

We can see how the proponents of federal aid to education will now declare to Congress that emergency funds should be voted immediately for our big
 and little schools to help out,
 "in the Berlin situation."

Because of the immediate crisis,
 forests will have to be con-
 served, water should be stored
 behind newer and bigger dams,
 more generating plants should be built with federal funds, more transmission lines will be needed, the peanut growers will have to be subsidized to produce bigger and better peanuts
 for the Berlin effort and naturally the government will have to erect newer and better and more modern plants to can those marvelous C-rations.

In the name of "emergency"
 and "crisis" the floodgate will open and federal spending on every level will jump by leaps and bounds . . . so we imagine that when the president talks about 3 1/2 billion, he's talking about the cheapest part of the new cold war situation.

Its kinda sad, we believe, to think that a nation like America
 has to pull itself up, launch an emergency campaign and spend billions of dollars just to show its opponent it actually means no when it says no.

We can remember a few years back -- prior to peace conference parleys and summit
 meetings -- when the whole world understood explicitly what this nation meant when we said "No!"

But we suppose that it is only fitting and proper in these days of dollar diplomacy to have to use dollars to make ourselves understood.

And finally, from the Marfa
 newspaper's column, "Marfa Omnibus":

It appears that the only thing

the Texas Legislature has done
 this year which pleases all the members, but displeases constituents, is vote themselves a regular salary. The "wishy-washy" group hasn't done a blasted thing to help the folks tell 'em what they would like to see done. The Legislature has done a whale of a lot of spending, but as yet haven't provided a source of income. We often wonder how people can ride along on credit for years, just livin' it up" and none the worse off in the end.
 Now we know where it all comes from. These same people get the idea from our governing bodies. They ride along term after term, spending money like it dropped out of taxpayers pockets, but never figuring on a sensible way to pay the bills.

Maybe these fellows in Austin and Washington should subscribe to some of the "inside stuff" weekly news letter that enterprising people are mailing out each week, at a nice fat premium. The news letters purport to know all about what's in store for us on a national and international scope. They all have the equivalent of a crystal ball and boy, is it ever a dilly. We received a subscription plug from one of these all-seeing news letter outfits

 recently, it was most interesting, in the plea to subscribe
 the author went on to tell about how this particular news letter predicted the recession of 1935. Even went so far as to predict a five year boom
 ahead with inflation to follow.

We were especially engrossed with the subscription
 pitch when we read, ". . .
 those who needed his advice are well off today." This was referring to advance notice of the 1935 recession. Maybe these fellows are "well off today,"
 but if they are, they made it all between the end of the 1935 recession and now. Surely this fellow doesn't want us to believe that some old boy has held on to his bundle for the past 25 years and he's still "well off." After reading further down

BY REV. DWIGHT E. LUSK
Pastor, Westview Baptist Church

Luke 18:9-14

The picture painted by Jesus in this passage gives a striking contrast of self-righteousness and humility toward God. The Pharisee was a man highly respected in his community, a good citizen, and a pillar in the church. The Publican, in the eyes of the people, was dishonest, had few friends if any, and was looked upon with contempt by the religious leaders. These two men, Jesus said, went to the temple to pray.

The Pharisee took a prominent place so all could see him. Having been well trained in the art of public oratory the Pharisee knew that proper prayers should contain thanksgiving. This man gave thanks that he was so much better than other men. Knowing also that an "impressive" prayer should contain some sort of confession, the Pharisee confessed other people's sins. God warns often in His word about the sin of pride. Unquestionably, the Pharisee was saturated with this sin and could not, because of his self-centered thinking, realize that "man looketh on the outward appearance, but God looketh on the heart."

Take a look at the Publican. Every stroke of the brush by which Jesus drew him shows humility, -- exactly the opposite of the attitude of the Pharisee. He was conscious of no one but himself and God. He stood afar off in reverent awe of the Holy Place, which signified the presence of Almighty God. He humbly poured out his confession of sin and shame.

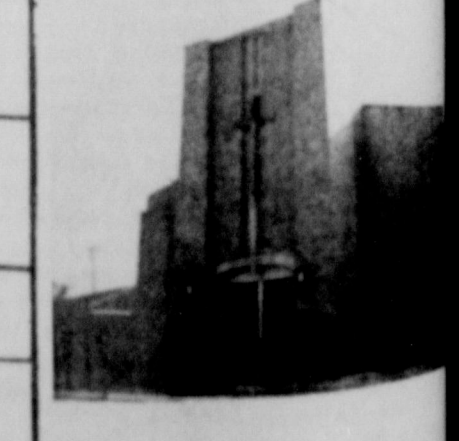

Jesus said the Publican, sinful though he was, found the pathway to God that morning in the temple; and the self-righteous Pharisee failed to do so. There had been asking, seeking, knocking in the Publican's prayer, -- while the other was not seeking an answer.

The attitude of the Pharisee can easily creep into the hearts of all Christians. Jesus saw even in some of his disciples spiritual pride and contempt of others. Let us watch carefully lest such an attitude steal into our own hearts. If it does, let us confess it and repent. Let us keep a true estimate of ourselves by taking Jesus Christ as our standard. Then we will have no room in our hearts for self-satisfaction.

Former Slaton Resident Receives Reward For Work In Army Research Development

Joseph F. Willis, son of Mr. and Mrs. C.D. Willis of Slaton, was cited recently for his fine work at the U. S. Army Engineer Research and Development Laboratories, Fort Belvoir, Virginia. He is seen here being congratulated by Col. John E. Walker, Acting Director, after receiving a certificate and $200 for "Sustained Superior Performance" of his duties as assistant chief of the Property Accounting Branch.

A veteran of World II, including 12 months' service overseas in the China-Burma-India Theater, Mr. Willis served with the Office of Strategic Service (OSS). He entered Civil Service in 1946, and has been employed since May, 1949, at the Laboratories, which are the principal research and development field agency of the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers.

He resides with his wife, Bernice, and their children, Barbara Jo, Robert D., and Bellinda Sue, at 133 North Early St., Alexandria.

VIEWING: Your City Government by J. J. Maxey, City Secretary

Lawrence Oliver Lemon was born March 24, 1911 near the little town of Garnish, Oklahoma to Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lemon who resided on a farm in that community at that time. Being the youngest of eleven children Lawrence should have either been stunted or petted, we have never learned which. At the age of six Lawrence moved with his parents to Pecan Gap, in Delta County, Texas. The family resided there until 1924 when they moved to Lorenzo where Lawrence attended High School.

As many of you can remember, farming in 1927 wasn't what it is today so Lawrence decided to learn a trade and went to Abilene where he attended barber school. Having a brand new trade and ready for life and all of its trials Lawrence came back from Abilene and began working as a barber in Idalou.

Finding single life uneventful Lawrence and his school girl sweetheart, Miss Alta Eaves were married October 13, 1928. To this union five children have been born, Bob, 30, who resides in Plainview, Carroll, 28, (Mrs. C.W. Scroggins) of Slaton, Rev. Jerry 26 of Fort Worth, Neida, 24, (Mrs. Bobby Norris) of Snyder and Larry, 12, a seventh grader in Slaton, Alta says he sure and not forget our nine grandchildren.

For a number of years after their marriage Lawrence and Alta tried farming at Lorenzo and Estacado, the barbering business in Springer, New Mexico and Cimaron, New Mexico before selecting Slaton as their home. They moved to Slaton September 11, 1942 and Lawrence started work as a barber at the Palace Barber Shop.

Like many others, Lawrences' work was interrupted by service during the second World War. Being in the Navy from 1944 through 1946 nineteen months of which was spent on a Navy tanker in the Pacific.

Returning home Lawrence again went to work in the Palace Barber Shop where he worked until 1948 when he bought an interest in the shop that he now owns and operates.

Seldom is any man noted or remembered for the work that he does for a livelihood. This is true of Lawrence Lemon. Being converted in 1926 at Lorenzo Lawrence has devoted his life to God and his fellow man. He is a deacon in the Westview Baptist Church and has served as chairman of that organization and of the deacon board of the First Baptist Church. Lawrence is probably better known for his work as a Sunday School teacher having taught a class for as long as we can remember.

Lawrence has also found time to devote to his community. He was elected as commissioner in ward one in April of 1959 and served in that capacity until being elected as Mayor in April of this year.

As has been said statistics do not properly evaluate a life. Lawrence is the kind of man of which good communities are built. He is the kind of man one can have confidence in and take his problems to. In short our Mayor is the kind of guy that will do to ride the river with.

Sounding Board--

the list of "advantages" obtained by subscribing we're certain it would be "advantages" obtained by subscribing we're certain it would be advantageous to our legislators. We find that this particular weekly letter "gives you advance notice of new government policies," something even Congress doesn't know.

The story continues, "gives you advance notice on political moves, and their meaning." Now, if we could just get a little advance notice on political moves and "their real meaning," we'd have it made. We'd also know all about "the stock market . . . union plans and tactics . . . employment . . . wages . . . anything that will have an effect on you, your job, your personal finances, your family." This old boy is going just a little too far, maybe we're not interested in knowing what's in store as far as finances, job, family. Seems this fellow, sitting in some far away city, can tell us more about our business than we know ourselves. Yes, sir, this is the weekly news letter to subscribe to right now. Bet it'll tell you a million things you never knew before.

Buy . . . from the folks whose community interests are the same as your own

The Diary of a Dollar

It has been a busy day. This morning I was swapped for medicine for his baby by a fellow who got me in exchange for farm produce.

some of my brothers and paid his school taxes. I was in the bank only a few minutes when a school teacher cashed her pay check and I started around town again.

a bad day's work for one little old dollar.

I'd like to hang around this nice community for a while longer. But I wound up the day in the hands of a city-shopper. Tomorrow I'll be on my way to go to work for city folks. It seems that some people want to get us dollars out of their sight and reach . . . maybe for fear we'll make their community a better place to live.

Before the day ended I had changed hands twenty times, and had put $20 worth of goods and service into people's hands . . . had accounted for $20 worth of trade volume in the community, and had been in one poker game. Not
