Celebration Begins With Tennis Meet On Friday Morning

The best celebration yet is planned for the ninth annual observance of Groom Day this weekend with the Groom Day banner hoisted in place early Tuesday morning as local supporters of the event begin the final preparations for Saturday.

The location of the horse race which begins at 6:00 Friday will be a half mile south of the Lucky 13 next to FM 2300. All spectators are welcome to come see what horse and rider will emerge as the best. Dale Brooks will be the one to beat as he has walked away with the belt buckle the past two years.

The attention will shift to the football field at the school where the Pet Show will begin at 6:30 p.m. Mrs. Burton, chairman for the event asked that everyone note the new time for the show. The event sponsored by the Girl Scouts is still in need of entries in the Pet Look Alike contest. A trophy will be awarded to the winner. She also asked that persons turn in their entries as soon as possible with the $1.00 entry fee.

The talent show will follow with Debbie Anthony reporting some surprising entries that are sure to provide non-stop entertainment. Saturday's festivities begin promptly at 7:30 a.m. with the Fun Run gun sounding. The 10K will begin at 7:45 a.m. John Eschle reports that entries are running about the same as in past years but some local talent would be appreciated.

If running is not your idea of the proper way to begin your morning, you can eat a hearty breakfast in the cafeteria and be at the finish line in time to see the winner cross over. The Fun Run was won last year by Chris Hansen of Pampa timed at 10:44.91. Winner of the 10K Lew Kohagen of Amarillo finishing in 34:42.4.

Parade Marshal Rex Peeples is beginning plans to line up floats for the 10:00 a.m. parade. He urges everyone planning to participate to contact him so that your float will be properly placed in the parade which will follow the route from the school down Main Street, turning on Front Street, back down Main to the school. He reminds everyone to stay with their float after returning to the school so that judges can make their presentations of ribbons to the winning entries.

Taxpayer Challenges Court To Provide Checks And Balances

A Carson County Taxpayer raised questions concerning the use of county equipment, expenditures and possible conduct of private business by commissioners, and closed his statements with an unveiled threat to file suit against the county if the alleged practices were not halted.

George Eller told the court he had received advice and counseling from an undisclosed source in Austin and proceeded with his list of grievances against practices in Precinct 4.

Eller charged expenditures in Precinct 4 seemed excessive and said he had personally observed county equipment operating on private property. He said, further more, some pieces of county-owned equipment are not marked as such, raising questions as to what is really county-owned.

He stated he feared the county as a whole would be in serious trouble if equipment was being used on private property and an accident occurred. He asked wherein the liability would lie in such an event. He said he feared a loss of insurance and bonding could result from such an incident and that such action could come from a law suit demanding the equipment be operated by stringent guidelines.

He went on, stating he had observed piles of caliche left on county roads unmarked by warning devices. He said suits against the county could occur from this practice. He also entertained the idea public opinion might have it private business was being conducted from the county barn in Precinct 4.

He called for the court to act on its own 'check and balance system' and to adhere to the strictest letter of the law by working together—or face the consequences of a suit.

In rebuttal, Carson County Judge J. Robert Roselius categorically and individually disposed of the issues.

The judge explained his position as overseer and helper to the court to see that all operations were under the law. He commended Precinct 4 Commissioner Lee Lockridge, and told the complainant, most of the issues brought in the complaint had been worked out in the past several weeks.

Eller had questioned expenditures in the Precinct and was told the commission believed the equipment needed replacing.

He further stated the 'grey area' when county equipment does operate on private land. In the matter of providing drainage for public roads, often the equipment must transverse private property to execute the obligation. At these times, an agreement with the landowner and county is sought.

Roselius said there is no place in the law which states a commissioner shall not have another job and assured the complainant measures to have county vehicles marked had been initiated. The unmarked county vehicles have been a topic of discussion recently and plans to identify all the of the equipment had been put into action before reference.

Judge Roselius expedited the complaints in shord order and Commissioner Lockridge expressed his appreciation for the opportunity to clear up some potential problems.

The judge concluded his statements saying, "I don't think you will be seeing any of the practices in the future."

and discussed the heavy hail damage sustained by the courthouse earlier in the month. A large percentage of the windows in the District Court Room had been broken by hail.

An easement was granted to R.A. Ramming to have constructed a gas line to fuel an irrigation well engine.

The commission granted approval with the stipulation the line be a two-inch, encased in a four-inch water-packed, vented and marked.

The commission briefly touched the subject of county responsibility relative to indigent care.

The county portion has been reduced to $110,000 an amount already in the fund. The issue will not be budgeted this year.

The court also approved a $5 hike in license plate fees to help alleviate the burden ad valorem taxing.

The county's biggest concern at the moment is the hard-hit strip, 15 miles wide and centered by Panhandle.

The court also accepted a bid submitted by Metcalf Motor to sell the county a pickup for maintenance and emergency use. The accepted bid was in the amount of $12,612.

DPS Report

DPS Officer John Holland reports arresting three people for drunk driving last week. Last Tuesday, he was working west of town when he stopped a pick-up which was speeding and traveling in an erratic manner. Holland arrested the driver and was taking him to Pampa when he encountered a vehicle driving on the wrong side of the road. He stopped the car and discovered that that driver also had been drinking. He took both men to Pampa where they were booked.

The third incident occurred last Wednesday when he stopped a vehicle east of town near the county line. After determining that the driver had been drinking, Officer Holland took him to Wheeler to be booked.

Holland also reported that according to a recent survey conducted by the state, a total of 16,000 vehicles passed near McLean on I-40 during a 24-hour period.

Ambulance Run

The McLean Ambulance Service reports one run during the past week. On Saturday afternoon, an out-of-town woman was taken from Taylor's Food Mart to Coronado Hospital in Pampa.

Housing Authority Serves Disadvantaged

Perhaps you have driven around town and have noticed certain houses which say "City of McLean Housing Authority" and have wondered just what the "government housing" project is all about. Well, now is your chance to find out a little something about it.

Last week Kay Foshee, Executive Director of the Housing Authority, gave the McLean News some information about the project.

"We have 12 units under the jurisdiction of HUD and 8 under FmHA," she said. "Right now, all of our HUD units are full but four FmHA apartments are available."

There are different eligibility criteria for the programs but both are designed to provide low rent housing for economically disadvantaged individuals and families. According to Mrs. Foshee, "The amount of rent in each apartment is based on the size of a family and the amount of income. In FmHA the rent can't go over $140 per month. The program also offers what is called rental assistance. For example, if a person or family's income is so low that they don't have to pay rent, then we can help them pay for their utilities. The residents are responsible for getting the utilities hooked up and for paying the bill. However, we will give them the money to pay for it."

In the HUD program, things are a little different. For example, there is no $140 rent limit as in the other program. The person would have to pay a certain portion of the rent depending on their income. Also, in HUD, Mrs. Foshee is res-

a single person and only a three-bedroom apartment is available, that is not a suitable match. That person would have to wait for a one-bedroom apartment. Just because there is a vacancy, that doesn't mean someone is going to get it."

Anyone interested in applying for the program can see Mrs. Foshee Monday through Friday from 9 to 11 a.m. at 709 North Wheeler. As part of the application process, Mrs. Foshee says she needs verification of income and if a person is applying because they are elderly, disabled or a veteran, she also needs documentation for that.

In the FmHA program, Mrs. Foshee said that there is an additional requirement. "If someone is given an FmHA apartment," she said, "I can't give them the key until they bring proof that they have paid for the utilities and have arranged to have them switched on."

As was mentioned before, there are now four apartments available. Anyone interested should see Mrs. Foshee.

Also, she is looking for commissioners to serve on the Housing Authority's board of directors. The terms of three commissioners have ended and two have said that they will not be returning to the board. Anyone interested in serving should contact Mrs. Foshee so she can present their names to the Mayor and the City Council.

The board meets once a month and is responsible for making all major policy decisions for the Housing Authority.

possible for getting the utilities hooked up and paying the bill. "The resident is not responsible for that at all," she said.

To qualify for either of these programs, an individual or family income cannot exceed $20,000 per year and priority is given to the elderly, veterans and disabled persons. Also, if a family is currently living in a house that is considered substandard, that is, unfit to live in, they also might qualify for the program.

Mrs. Foshee said that one, two and three-bedroom apartments are available and that individuals or families are matched to the apartment that best suits them. "For example," she said, "If I get an application from

Power lines can be dangerous.

Touching irrigation pipe to a power line can divert the electricity through the pipe . . . and to anyone in contact with it. In this part of the country, this is the leading cause of farm injuries and deaths in electricity-related accidents. Any equipment of unusual height represents a potential danger. Lift arms on field equipment, combine auger spouts and even radio antennas can cause serious injury or death if they, and you, make contact with a power line.

Keep an eye up for power lines. Watch up, for safety's sake.

Viola Coffee, Exhibitor Of Month

Viola Coffee of White Deer is the Carson County Square House Museum exhibitor for the month of August. Her work will be on display Monday through Saturday 9:00 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., and Sunday 1:00 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. August 3 through 31. Many of the art works will be for sale. All those desiring to meet Mrs. Coffee, or discuss her works with her, are invited to a reception for the artist from 3 to 4:30 p.m. on Sunday, August 9, 1987.

The exhibit is not the only connection Mrs. Coffee has with the Museum. The busy artist is an active member of the Board of Directors, has painted backgrounds for some of the dioramas and did pencil sketches for the world famous Museum Cookbook.

Mrs. Coffee has been active in art for thirty years, beginning with the technique of delicate brushwork on fine china. She has experimented with sketching, watercolors and toile painting; but oils have been her major passion since about 1970.

Mrs. Coffee has been involved with farming most of her adult life, but does not limit her subjects to farming titles. Her works include flowers, landscapes, street scenes and Western themes; such as Indian portraits, windmills, barns and horses.

She is a prolific painter, working at her canvasses almost every day. She is enthusiastic about painting and is elated when one is finished and framed. "I need to paint often in order to keep the feel of the brush; it's good therapy for me," she says of her commitment to her art.

Her paintings hang in every state in the Union and in many foreign countries. Locally her works are in the White Deer library, elementary school and Methodist
