PHS to offer dual credit courses eligible Juniors, Seniors can earn high school and college credits in coming months

Plains High School Junior and Senior students and their parents recently received a letter and detailed information outlining the offering of college courses through the district's Interactive Video Classroom, and in some cases by instructors in classrooms at the school or an alternative site.

PHS administrators developed regulations governing student eligibility for the college courses which were approved by the PISD Board of Trustees. The dual credit courses will be available at the start of the Spring 2001 semester which starts January 9.

Superintendent Jim Haynes said there are a number of ways students could receive the dual credits. Instruction by a college professor would be available over the Interactive Video Network (ITV) before, during or after regular school hours. College professors could offer instruction at the PHS campus, an alternative site or a college campus. Instruction could be available during a PHS Advanced Placement class provided the instructor holds a Master Degree with 18 graduate hours in the subject being taught. To illustrate how dual credits could be earned, students passing the college algebra course would receive college credits for that subject, and high school credit for algebra II; Passing general psychology would earn college credits for the subject, and an high school elective subject.

"The high school administration and Board of Trustees are excited about the new program. It will give many of our Juniors and Seniors a head start in their college careers," Haynes said. He pointed out South Plains College (or any future participating college) must also determine each student's eligibility for the college courses. Eligible students could take a maximum of two college courses per semester, or two courses during the summer session. Anticipated fees for the program are $75 for one course, or $116 for two.

Temporary Truce Called in Weevil War eradication program shows impressive results

Officials at the Western High Plains Boll Weevil Eradication Zone office here are pleased with final numbers and data gathered after the end of the eradication efforts against the cotton pest.

In the Plains District, a total of 221,639 acres of cotton were sprayed for weevil infestations. The Brownfield office reported 235,000 acres were treated, along with 140,285 acres out of Seminole, and 215,575 acres from Seagraves. Eradication spraying included aerial flights, ground rigs and mist blower units.

One year ago, the Plains district captured some 993,000 weevils while inspecting a total of 47,687 traps, an average of almost 21 weevils per trap. In the year 2000 eradication program, 489,220 weevils were captured from 648,000 traps, a dramatic 96 percent reduction.

Michael Hester, Assistant Zone Manager, told CCN "The seasonal field personnel have been laid off until we start the eradication program again next season. We still have ten personnel at the District office located at the airport, plus seven people here in the Zone office."

He said the District employees will continue to monitor some 720 traps for weevil numbers, perform all necessary maintenance on the many vehicles based at the airport, and salvage as many stakes for mounting traps as possible for next season.

The Plains, Brownfield, Seminole and Seagraves offices had a total of 809,530 acres of cotton to monitor and perform eradication spraying on. A total of one and a half million weevils were captured in 2,227,559 inspected traps. In 1999, almost two and a half million weevils were taken from 136,542 inspected traps, a reduction of 96 percent in captured weevils.

Most area cotton producers in the county and entire Zone have indicated their satisfaction with the results of the first full year of the Boll Weevil War.

Panhandle People Invited To Town Meeting

District 31 residents are invited to share their thoughts and opinions on a variety of issues as State Senator Teel Bivins (R-Amarillo) tours the Panhandle and West Texas, beginning December 12 through December 19, conducting a series of town hall meetings. Senator Bivins will meet with Yoakum County residents at the Plains Community Center 8:15 to 9:15 am. on Tuesday, December 19.

Bivins will discuss the upcoming 77th Legislative session, answer questions and solicit input from constituents on statewide issues affecting them. "Redistricting, water and transportation needs are just some of the topics that have garnered attention so far," said the Senator. "I want to hear from constituents on these issues and any other concerns that I need to focus on during the intense 140 days of the regular session."

As Chair of the Senate Education Committee, Bivins will share information on bills he plans to introduce relating to public education, especially those dealing with initiatives to recruit and retain quality teachers. The Senator also serves on the Natural Resources and Border Affairs Committees. On January 9, 2001, when the Legislature convenes, Bivins will be serving in his fourth term in the Texas Senate.

As most District 31 residents are aware, rapidly changing developments in presidential politics is impacting Senator

New city building complex nearer Preparations for new City Hall, Fire Department and EMS in final stages

Successful negotiations between officials of the City of Plains and the Yoakum County Art Association produced a new and final building site for a new city hall and building for the volunteer fire department and local EMS service.

City Administrator David Brunson said the one-quarter block of land where the Art Association building sits will be the home for the new complex. The north half of the quarter block belonged to Yoakum County, which has deeded the property to the city. The City of Plains paid the Art Association $5,000 for the building and remaining land. In the near future, the art building will be demolished.

A building plan has been submitted for the new fire hall and EMS building to the Texas Department of Accessibility Standards in Austin, for their approval of requirements contained in the Americans with Disabilities Act. When approved, bids will be advertised for construction of the 4,800 square foot steel building. It will be capable of housing six fire department vehicles, plus the two EMS

The art building will be razed to provide space for two new city buildings ambulances. Brunson said the probable cost of the project will be $90 to $100 thousand.

When the first building is completed, it will serve as a temporary city hall, until the second new building is finished. The new headquarters for the city will also be a steel structure, partially bricked.

"I don't feel comfortable talking cost figures for the new city hall now. We have not received any engineering firm or contractors estimates of building costs yet." Asked when he thought actual work would begin on the dual facility project, He said "I expect demolishing and removing the old art building will start sometime after the first of the year. It could be sometime in February or early March before construction starts on the fire department and EMS building."

The Plains Lions Club has agreed to make their building, which also serves as the Scout Hut, available to the Yoakum County Art Association. The building will be used for lessons and art seminars. Plans have not been finalized by the Art Association on the site for their annual show and sale.

We Get Letters

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Dyer,

Last Saturday I drove through Plains hoping to do some research in the local library but found it closed.

I really should have known better than to try on a weekend. I tried to contact you at home and on your mobile phone but was unsuccessful.

A few years ago I talked to a Plains librarian who informed me that the county court house burned down years ago and most records I was looking for were probably destroyed. Anyway, maybe you or someone from the Yoakum County Historical Society might be able to help. My father, W.A.S. Douglas, was a newspaperman for many years with the Chicago Sun (prior to the Sun Times), the Washington Times Herald and the Baltimore Sun. He also wrote several magazine articles. In one (American Mercury, March 1930) he mentioned having been the managing editor and boss printer in the "Plains Gazette in Yoakum County". This was before I came along and my dad died in 1951 while I was still quite young.

I have looked in many newspaper history books and can find no mention of this publication. Do you know if this paper existed, or if so, anything about it? Any information you could furnish would be appreciated. My e-mail address is shown below.

Sincerely,

Edward Douglas

Lincoln - Kennedy strange assassination coincidences

Both were concerned with civil rights.

Lincoln was elected president in 1860, Kennedy was elected in 1960.

Both were killed in the presence of their wives.

Both were shot from behind in the head.

They were both succeeded by Southern Democrats named Johnson, who held seats in the U.S. Senate.

Andrew Johnson was born in 1808, Lyndon Johnson was born in 1908.

John Wilkes Booth was born in 1839, Lee Harvey Oswald was born in 1939.

Booth and Oswald were southerners favoring unpopular ideas. Both presidents lost children through death while in the White House.

President Lincoln's secretary, whose name was Kennedy, advised him not to go to the theater.

Kennedy's secretary, whose name was Lincoln, advised him not to go to Dallas.

Booth shot Lincoln in a theater and ran to a warehouse.

Oswald shot Kennedy from a warehouse and ran to a theater.

Both assassins were killed before they could be brought to trial.

In the Monday meeting of Commissioners Court, the county approved a new management agreement between the Board of Managers of Yoakum County Hospital and Covenant Health System. The agreement is essentially the same as the hospital has operated under for a number of years. As manager of the hospital, Covenant will have the authority and responsibility to supervise and manage the day to day operation of the hospital, subject to the authority and responsibility of the board.

The Tax Assessor/Collectors report for the month of November showed a total of $261,787 in taxes collected.

The court approved the purchase of new Teleradiology equipment for Yoakum County Hospital from Computed Images, Inc. for $31,395, using previously budgeted hospital funds.

Getting Back On Track After the Holidays

Did you spend more than you had anticipated this holiday season? You're probably not alone. But rest assured, reality will soon set in when you receive your first bill. For many, frenzied holiday spending has pushed them into a serious and troublesome financial situation, or has aggravated an existing debt.

Unfortunately, this story is all too familiar. In some circles holiday debt has become as much of the holiday tradition as Ole Saint Nick himself. Being part of this trend is not wise, especially if you don't have enough money to pay for both current living expenses and yesterday's indulgences. To keep from carrying this debt through the same time next year, The Independent Bankers Association of Texas recommends these guidelines to get back on track:

- Make a plan to pay off debt. Create a budget and stick to it.
- If you are having problems making payments, contact creditors immediately about alternative, more manageable plans.
- Stop charging. Pay off balances each month or if debt

Tips from your Community Banker

- has accumulated, pay more than the minimum due.
- Use your debit card instead of your credit cards for purchases. By deducting money straight from your bank account you bypass the chance of racking up a big balance on your card.
- Make savings a priority and put those saved dollars toward reducing your debt. As little as $5 a month adds up.
- Get rid of the "buy now, pay later" attitude.
- Keep records of all purchases and payments.
- Reliable credit counselors can assist you at little to no cost. Be aware of scams that charge big fees for services you can do on your own.

From The Hack

We received a rather lengthy press release from the Texas Press Association the other day, detailing some rather weird personal injury lawsuits and settlements, and it gave me pause, then a serious sinking spell, to realize the dozens of opportunities I've lost by not suing someone for misfortunes I've experienced.

One of the suits discussed involved a man and wife who sued McDonald's of golden arches fame. Seems she burned her chin on a hot pickle in one of their burgers. She demanded $110,000 for mental and physical anguish, and hubby demanded $15,000 because he was "deprived of the services and consortium of his wife." The release said McDonald's was still fighting the case.

I remember one time while living in El Paso a wait person dumped a sizable bowl of tortilla soup in a very sensitive area of my lap. It was one of several very popular and prosperous restaurants. I didn't have the gumption to threaten to sue for many thousands, claiming mental and physical anguish, and depriving the Bride of my services and consortium, whatever consortium is.

I also recall another golden opportunity missed. Fresh out of the Navy, single, a wad of discharge money in my Wranglers, I found myself in Monahans at their annual rodeo. Afterwards, I found myself in a noteworthy honky tonk. As best I recall, someone held a gun to my head and forced me into the den of depravity.

I shyly eased up to the long, crowded bar, and politely ordered a sasparilla, best I remember. I glanced about, just in time to catch a glimpse of a brown missile approaching at supersonic speed. It was a beer bottle, I realized at the exact moment it crashed into the side of my head.

Why, oh why, when I came to my senses sometime the next morning, didn't I sue the bar owner, the bartender, the guy who threw the bottle, and especially Anheuser-Busch for making such an indestructible bottle, which was much harder than my skull. Surely no judge would have considered my plea a frivolous lawsuit. I could have retired at the age of 23.

From the internet, Florida has changed the rules of golf. Now, when a golfer hits a shot, he has the option to yell Gore instead of Fore. He is then allowed to hit another shot until he gets one he likes. The first foursome playing under the new rules took 21 days to finish - the first hole.

Dear Santa Claus, I know I'm a bit old to be writing, but there are a few things I desperately need and can't seem to get. First, and this may be tough - PLEASE bring us a new president by Christmas 2001! Who cares anymore if he's Demo or Repub, we'll take a Whig or Tory!

Next, please don't let my golf game improve one iota. Recently I shot fairly well (for me) and managed to win two bucks. The thieves I play with whined about it worse than Big Al in Florida, and are threatening to take back the strokes they've been giving. Please bring me a book on how to continue to look terrible, but get lucky now and then.

Also, please bring the Bride a new sciatic nerve for her back and knee. If you can't manage that, bring her a couple of cases of Blackberry wine. She's gotta get some relief someday.

I know this is a toughie, but could you possibly bring

Brother Bill Wright an improved sense of humor? He thinks what he says about me from the pulpit is hilarious, but completely misses the humor when I write about him.

Also, please bring an extra bag of enlightenment to all the local business people; Make them realize the economy is good, and they should take advantage of it and advertise with us more!

Thanks from your biggest fan,
The Hack

Texas at a Glance

Talking turkey

When it comes to turkey, Texans do the gobbling. Turkey producers saw their sales grow nearly 30 percent in the 1990s, from $135 million in 1990 to $175 million in 1999. The Texas Agricultural Extension Service says $189 million worth of turkeys will be sold from Texas farms in 2000. The wild birds are popular too. The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department issued 69,073 turkey hunting stickers in 1999, and 25,188 turkeys were bagged. The state has a long history of putting turkeys on the run—Cuero held its first Turkey Trot in 1912, and prize birds from across the nation still race through downtown during the city's annual Turkeyfest.
