Counting Down To Round Up #6!

On August 14, Yoakum County Connection held its last regular meeting prior to the 6th annual Watermelon Round Up coming up Saturday, September 1. The Connection is the primary fund raising organization for the youth summer arts program, and this summer 401 county youth took part in the program. Round Up Chair Jeannette Head reported plans were virtually complete for the day long, fun filled event. Publicity committee members Lori Vantine, Linda Powell, Gary Dyer and Russell Jones have used area newspapers, radio stations and TV stations to promote the event., and The Denver City Press and CCN have mailed promotional tabloids to out of town subscribers. Music and stage entertainment Chair James Altman has arranged for day long entertainment from the stage, and Wadonna Davis, co-chair of the Classic Car Show with husband Terry Davis expects this Round Up to draw even more cars than the 112 registered last year.

Plains State Bank employees will have watermelons for sale to the public from a new tent this year, and Toni Jones will for the 6th time headup the melon slice give-away. Wells Fargo Bank, Plains State Bank, and Sundown State Banks of Denver City and Brownfield will award U.S. Savings Bonds for winners in the new watermelon decorating contest. Deadline for receiving entries in the contest is 10 AM, Saturday, Septermber 1. Alltel Communications is sponsoring the Toddler and Fun Run events, chaired by Melvin Dearing. Entry fee for the Horse Shoe Pitching event, single or doubles, is $15, and contestants in the round-robin format will compete for the cash kitty. The event is chaired by Karen Williams. Melissa and Steve Crump, Shannon and Tonya Patton and Karen Williams will supervise kids games, Kathy Jones and Ty Earl Powell will stage the Cow Patty Bingo event, Bill Helwig will handle the melon growing contest, and Ted Welch will again oversee the Chili and Brisket Cook Off.

Jan Parrish reported team ropers from a number of states have registered for the day long team roping. Extension agents Debbie Pollard and Arlon Gentry will exhibit local grown watermelons in front of the Extension office, and Gentry and Dottie Mays will be in charge of the new Pig Racing event. BP-Denver City Production has donated $300 to ice the free watermelon slice day long event.

Texas-Oklahoma Watermelon Queen Amanda Key's Saturday appearance is sponsored by Anderson Produce, McWhirter Farms and Earnest Farms. If you would like a job in the day long activities, call 45 MELON. This family fun day should make all of Yoakum County proud, and the volunteer spirit making the Round Up a success is what helps make the county, our state and nation great.

City to lose a major asset

David Brunson accepts Muleshoe offer to serve as City Manager

At the August 21 Council ric Cooperative officials for the Department and EMS building had accepted employment with the City of Muleshoe as City Manager. He will assume those duties on October 1.

Brunson was named Plains' City Administrator on September 4, 1991. Prior to then he had served as Quitaque's City Administrator five years.

Muleshoe's City Council probably had no problems in choosing Brunson to head up their city government, for he has an impressive resume of achievements during his ten years here. He was instrumental in obtaining grant funding for a number of major projects, including revamping and improving the city water system. Two state of the art water storage tanks were constructed to handle new water obtained from three wells drilled on property purchased by the city, and brought here through almost 20,000 feet of 12 inch PVC pipe. Water flow from the city's present six wells is closely monitored by a new electronic system.

To meet the demands of TNRCC, a new and expanded wastewater treatment plant was constructed a few miles north of town, and most of the city's steel natural gas distribution lines were replaced. Brunson was instrumental in securing a five year fixed price for the city's natural gas, saving residents thousands of dollars when gas prices skyrocketed.

During his tenure here, a monumental achievement occured when Brunson negotiated with Lea County Electa 4 percent franchise fee, 2 percent paid up front and provisions for the initial payment to be adjusted yearly. Grant funds allowed replace- all the Council members and ment of all street signs in the city, computer and softeware improvements were made at City Hall, and a weather monitoring station were a few of the many other projects Brunson helped bring to Plains. Have you invited Aunt Beulah and Uncle Gomer yet??

2001 Texas & Oklahoma Watermelon Queen

Amanda Key is the 20-year-old daughter of Michael and Debra Key from McAllen, Texas. Amanda was chosen as the 2001 Texas & Oklahoma Watermelon Queen in January at the annual meeting held in McAllen, Texas. She presently attends Austin Community College in Austin, Texas. In the fall Amanda plans on attending the University of Texas in Austin to continue her studies in elementary education.

Amanda is a spokesperson for the Texas & Oklahoma Watermelon Association for one year and will then compete for the National Watermelon Queen title in Albuquerque, New Mexico, in February 2002. She will be doing in-store promotions, parades, and festivals like ours in Yoakum County.

WELCOME TO YOAKUM COUNTY, AMANDA!

Amanda would like to meet you at the 6th annual Yoakum County Watermelon Round Up Saturday, September 1!

If you were hired to harvest grapes, would you want to do it like this......

'Use a little wine for thy stomach's sake Timothy 1, 5-23

Harvesting of Cabernet Sauvignon grapes was in full swing last week at Peggy and Kent Welch's vineyard north of town. Both mechanical and hand picking of the four year old grapes took place on the two acre plot. Mechanically harvested grapes were partially crushed, and the juice was stored in barrels in a refrigerated truck for the trip to the winery in the Dallas area. A total of three wineries were purchasing the grapes for further processing.

Peggy Welch told CCN they are hoping the harvest will produce a total of six tons of grapes from the two acres.

Or like this, on a giant mechanical harvester which shakes the grapes loose?

Another 'Meth' lab bust in area

In the August 27 session of Commissioners Court, Rick Dickson, Llano Estacado Drug Task Force, described a joint effort by the Terry County Sheriff Department and the Task Force leading to the arrest of Justin Rinehart of that county, who was charged with possession and manufacture of methamphetamines, possession of firearms by a felon and possession and transport of anhydrous ammo-

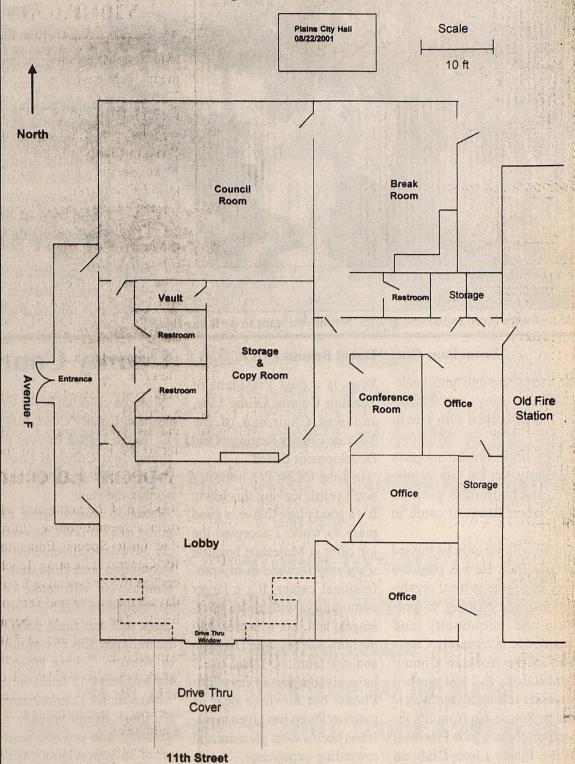

Dickson said a Terry County deputy in the area of a mobile home a few miles north of Brownfiled became suspicious when he detected the odor of anhydrous, and ether, both ingredients used in making meth, or 'speed'. The Drug Task Force was notified after several weeks of investigation by Terry County Sheriff deputies.

When the joint law officials approached the home, they could smell chemicals burning, and found a woman and child outside the home. She agreed to allow a search of the premises. Justin Rinehart met the officers and also agreed to the search.

Dickson said the thorough search turned up 8 grams of meth, plus assorted weapons including an AR 15 rifle, plus two pistols, one capable of fully automatic fire. ATF officers sent the AR 15 to Washington to determine if it had been modified for automatic fire.

Dickson told the court he felt the operation is just the tip of an approaching iceberg. "The really scary thing about methamphetamines is the ease of obtaining all the chemicals to manufacture 'speed'. Almost all of them are available very cheaply at a Wal Mart or hardware store. Ether is obtained from starter fluid, and the anhydous ammonia is usually stolen from supplies on area farms. Dealers and users are regularly coming to our agricultiral area to steal the anhydrous, even though it is extremely dangerous. And, anyone with access to a computer can quite easily go on line and look up the recipe for making the stuff."

New City Hall Planned

This drawing depicts the recently approved plan for a new City Hall building. The present building will be torn down, and the new building will be erected in its present location. City Administrator David Brunson said bid proposals will be advertised around October 1, and actual construction will start around the first of year 2002. The 3800 square foot project will take three to four months to complete. The old Fire and EMS building will also probably be renovated, and used for storage purposes.

From The Hack

There is an interesting little feature in most issues of the Lubbock AJ entitled 'I Never Knew That', penned by K. Van Asselt. In Sundays's edition of the AJ, he listed four Supreme Court Justices who never attended law school, including a couple of real notables, John Marshall and John Jay.

Intrigued, I began to query locals if they knew any attorneys who had never attended law school, in gathering places of higher wisdom such as Johnnie's Restaurant, the Dairy Queen, Amigas Cafe, and the driveway at Uncle's Convenience Store. I even sent a couple of emissaries out West to the Border Bar to quiz patrons there, (the Bride forbids my frequenting the place) and ask the question, "Do You Know Any Attorneys Who Didn't Attend Law School?" Here are the factual results. Of 427 people queried, 27% said No, but they knew of many who stayed in school twelve years and are still unsuccessful. 43% said, Yes, but those would be attorneys are in jail. now. 23% said, NO, all attorneys I know attended school, but I wouldn't use them. The other 7% replied, My attorney graduated with highest honors, but I'm still thinking of suing him, if I could find the right attorney.

Another feature addressed in Van Asselt's column was under the heading, "These Laws Should Be Outlawed."

Some of the more fascinating laws listed included;
