Project Souvenance Ballard T. Edwards

Since a recent article on Project Souvenance, there have been questions about the late Ballard T. Edwards. The famous Black Historian, Dr. Luther P. Jackson wrote about him in 1943 in an article in the Richmond Times Dispatch, "Rights and Duties in a Democracy." Ballard T. Edwards was a man of Negro and Indian blood, of the town of Manchester (the South Richmond of today). For two years he held a seat in the Virginia legislature and for about 10 years he held the offices of justice of the peace and overseer of the poor.

Because of his fine family background, training, and experience, Edwards functioned as a competent officeholder and notable citizen.

Ballard T. Edwards was born free in Manchester in 1829 and died there in 1881. Concerning his free ancestry he could trace it back to the years before the American Revolution. Edward B. Edwards, his grandfather, was born in 1763, and Edward B. Edwards, Jr., his father was born in 1800. This man married Mary Trent in 1828 and to them Ballard was born in 1829. At the age of 21 this son the future officeholder, was married to Sarah Coy and to them children were born. Two daughters are living today and one has children and grandchildren. Thus, the genealogist can trace six generations of the family of Ballard T. Edwards most of whom were born in Manchester. Each generation was the offspring of a legal marriage and each the heir of a family tradition.

Well versed Edwards must have been in literary pursuits, because on the opening day of the legislature he was nominated for the position of clerk in the House of Delegates. Though failing to win this clerkship, he did serve as clerk of his church, the

Ballard T. Edwards

First Baptist of South Richmond, for a period of 34 years - from 1847 to 1881.

Though giving some time to teaching, Edwards' living was derived from his labor in bricklaying, lathing, and plastering. So proficient was he in these several building trades that he soon became a contractor. Like his parents Edwards invested his earnings in property. Between 1867 and 1871 he became the owner of

Civil Rights Activist

One of the most dedicated civil rights activist in Lubbock is Dr. F. L. Lovings, a native of Cairo, Ill.

Dr. Lovings, who came to Lubbock in the early 1950s, has dedicated his life in working for the black community of Lubbock. He has served as past president of the Lubbock Branch of the NAACP and is also a life-time member.

Several years ago, he organized the United Political Action League (UPAL). "It was my hope to have another organization as vital as the United Black Coalition was in the latter 1960s," said Dr. Lovings.

"In Cairo, Ill., my home town, blacks are standing up for their rights in quest for a ward system. These people are dedicated," he said.

Coronado Apartments In Desperate Need Of Renovation

Street. This apartment complex is in a dire need of a complete renovation. The City of Lubbock should investigate this apartment complex where people live. There are many little kids who live and play in this area.

The first step could be with the City/County Health Department investigating the unsanitary living conditions in these apartments.

NAACP Hold Regular Meeting

The Lubbock Branch of the National Association of Colored People (NAACP) will hold its regular monthly meeting Saturday, September 13, at 7 p. m. at the Mae Simmons Community Center, 2100 Oak Avenue. The public is invited to attend. The agenda includes viewing a one-hour KTXV-TV Channel special on school desegregation, followed by guest speaker T. J. Patterson, Sr., editor and co-publisher of the Lubbock Digest. A discussion on strategy for voter registration will also be on the agenda. All officers, committee chair persons, and other

Executive Committee members are requested to be present earlier at 6:30 p. m., for plans to select a nominating committee for the forthcoming election of NAACP officers.

Lewis Autopsy Report Ruled Inconclusive

Justice of the Peace announced Monday that an autopsy report in the death of an 18 year-old Lubbock woman is "inconclusive."

He has ruled homicide on the death of Eula Jean Lewis, 2510 D Weber Drive, whose body was found inside a car stopped by Department of Public Safety at Loop 289 and East 50th Street on September 1st.

Murder charges, however, have been filed against Charles Reynolds, 38, of 402 Walnut Avenue, and Louise Ross, 23, 2413 East 7th Street. According to the report, it was not immediately clear what effect, if any, the autopsy results would have on the murder charges.

The autopsy report by Dr. Hugh Paik of Lubbock showed that some "incised wounds" on the woman's hand "may be defensive wounds."

"Although the changes in the lungs are seen in asphyxia due to various causes, the finds are somewhat non-specific," the local pathologist reported.

New "Exact Change" Fare Policy Here

A new "exact change" fare policy got underway here Tuesday, Sept. 2 for Citibus riders.

The new policy was recommended by the Transit Advisory Board and approved by the City Council to eliminate the need for bus drivers to make change for boarding passengers.

"Having to make change does two things," said City Transit Coordinator John Wilson. "It slows down the route schedule, and it increases the risk of robbery. We feel this new policy will make it easier to keep our buses running according to schedule and will make the situation safer for our riders and drivers."

Persons boarding a Citibus should be prepared to deposit 50 cents in the locked fareboxes. "Any combination of change will do," Wilson said. Two quarters, a fifty-cent piece, five dimes or a combination of quarters and nickels are possible.

A new reduced fare for students has also begun. The new student fare provides a 20-ride punch for $6. This is 30 cents a trip compared to the regular base fare of 50 cents. Any registered student regardless of age is eligible to purchase the student cards. The former youth fare for persons under 18 has been discontinued.

Student cards are currently available at the Citibus offices, 911 10th St.; at the Texas Tech University Center; at Christ the King School; and at the Lubbock Christian College administrative building. Wilson said the new exact change fare policy on city bus routes is not expected to inconvenience many patrons. "Many people are now buying the new discount

INHUMANITY CAUSED BLACK EXPLOSION IN MIAMI

When people are sitting on a powder keg, it can certainly be expected to blow up some time. That's what happened in Miami recently. Blacks have been constant victims of police brutality and injustice in courts handling the cases. These conditions have existed down through the years.

Senate. Stone of Florida informed me that the cases against blacks in this country, such as the Dade County school superintendent's misuse of school funds, are handled quickly. But the handling of cases of similar conduct against whites is a long drawn out process. For comparison he used Governor Mandel of Maryland's case, which was drawn out through many years. Then, of course everyone knows that whites who are in high places do not serve long prison terms, if any at all. The Watergate rascals who did not serve, generally had short terms and some were even pardoned without any time.

In Miami, blacks were infuriated over the alleged rape of an eleven-year-old black girl by a white highway patrolman, and the Grand Jury refused to indict him. Then a black schoolteacher, to whose home the police went with a warrant in search of cocaine, opened the door in response to their knock. Upon learning that the police (who, by the way, had the correct address on the warrant) came to the home which was not the proper address, shut the door. At that point, the police broke into the teacher's home. The authorities said closing the door in the police's face was wrong.

Another worrisome event was the freeing of the four white police officers who beat insurance agent McDuffie. He was snatched from a motorcycle and his head beat to a pulp as well as receiving numerous devastating blows to his body. This incident triggered the explosive situation which had been simmering for a long time over the many unjust racial problems. Unemployment is high among blacks, especially black youth. These Miami blacks observe with disdain the preferred treatment of Cuban refugees by the government and employers, while overlooking their needs and concerns. They also observe the government's horrible treatment of Haitian boat people who are blacks. Surely they see a close relationship between the Haitians and themselves.

Several black national leaders went to Miami with the hope of cooling conditions, finding out the real underlying causes, and calling upon the city, state and federal leaders to live up to their responsibilities to black citizens who are a very vital and valuable part of the United States population.

The black leaders called upon the Justice Department to investigate the entire criminal justice conditions in Miami. They are also calling the attention of the country's county leaders to the necessity of immediately alleviating the high rate of unemployment among blacks in Miami and all inner American cities, because there can quite likely be repeat Miami performances in other places.

William Raspberry, of the Washington Post, said President Carter stated that the riot in Miami was no way to get attention. All agree it's certainly not the best way, but as blacks we've always had to take dramatic steps for anything like justice. Mr. Carter will have to admit that he had not considered sending the Justice Department to Miami before the riot. He also will have to confess that since he and congress have continuously turned deaf ears to the high unemployment of blacks, but instead induced higher unemployment for them under the pretense of lowering inflation, they might have to give more attention to destruction and riots. Both Mr. Carter's and the congress' hands are solid with the Miami riot because of their inhumane auster budget, and with their lack of concern for rising racism—the most serious problem today—in the United States.

Diabetes Update 1980

Management of diabetes will be the emphasis of "Diabetes Update 1980," a seminar to be presented by Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center Sept. 26, in Lubbock.

Information provided at "Diabetes Update 1980" will be of interest to physicians, nurses, dietitians and allied health professionals working with diabetics, according to C. F. Menendez, M. D., assistant professor of internal medicine at Texas Tech.

"The seminar will be a review of diabetes and will concentrate on how to better control the disease," Menendez said.

Featured at the seminar will be sessions on the management of diabetes during pregnancy, childhood, adolescence and adulthood.

David S. Schade, M. D., will be guest speaker. Schade is assistant professor of medicine in endocrinology and metabolism at the University of New Mexico School of Medicine, Albuquerque.

Schade will discuss the implantation of an insulin pump in diabetic patients and the prevention of diabetic ketoacidosis (a complication often requiring hospitalization to correct insulin imbalance).

Other sessions will explore the diagnosis of diabetes mellitus, diabetes and the kidney, and diabetic retinopathy.

"We are expecting to draw doctors from West Texas and Eastern New Mexico," Menendez said.

"Diabetes Update 1980" is certified as meeting the criteria for seven credit hours in Category I of the Physician's Recognition Award of the American Medical Association.

The conference is supported by a grant from the Merck, Sharp and Dohme post-graduate program and a grant-in-aid from the Upjohn Company.

eight lots in his home town.

Fortified with the ability to speak, read and write, conduct a school, and build houses, Ballard T. Edwards made an admirable candidate for the legislature. Falling into politics he staged a campaign early in 1869 and won a seat in the legislature on October 5 of this year. Recognizing his knowledge of the mechanic arts the legislator was fittingly appointed to the committee on manufactures and mechanic arts. In this capacity he was able to make resolutions pertaining to matters of public welfare as well as to matters of racial advancement. In a resolution offered on

February 17, 1870 he declared that

"Whereas, the appearance of the capitol... is such a great and proud state should be ashamed of; (Be it) resolved that the committee on public property enquire into the expediency of the general assembly making an appropriation... for the painting or otherwise improving the appearance of the building."

Another public project which concerned Edwards was the building of an additional bridge and a free bridge over the James River connecting Manchester and Richmond. Bearing it grievously that citizens should continue to pay toll over the one existing bridge, he collaborated with a white member in having a bill passed to erect a free bridge, the 9th Street Bridge today. Turning to matters purely racial, Edwards sought to have a law passed forbidding common carriers to make race distinctions in public travel.

His great-grandson, Col. Benjamin T. Layton, Founder and President of Project Souvenance, believes that consideration should be given to renaming the recently constructed Manchester Bridge, which has replaced the 9th Street Bridge, to the Ballard T. Edwards Memorial Bridge.

Locations where the Econocard is sold are listed in each bus.

"In the event a passenger has no Econocard and hasn't the correct change, they can give the driver more than the base fare and obtain instructions for getting a refund," Wilson said.

Route 2 in the

Route 5 through Texas Tech campus will exit the campus toward downtown at Broadway instead of 15th Street; the inbound and outbound buses on Route 5 will both use 13th Street instead of the inbound

COPING

Everytime that you imagine yourself being successful, you are actually paving the way to your own success. Think about it. How many times have you been successful after having imagined yourself succeeding?

Now, ask yourself this question. How many times have you succeeded after having imagined yourself failing? The answer to the first question is probably "many times." The answer to the second question is probably "almost never."

The mind plays a very potent and important part in determining whether one will succeed or fail. If you think that you will fail, you probably will fail. If you think that you will succeed, you probably will succeed. You determine your own destiny by "psyching" yourself up. Winner imagine themselves to be winners and losers imagine themselves to be losers. How have you psyched yourself?

The imagination is extraordinarily powerful. When you imagine yourself to be unhappy, tired, bored or even sick, the mind has an amazing capability of making you feel that very way. When you picture yourself being happy, full of energy, motivated with enthusiasm and healthy, you will achieve the actual physical and emotional condition that you daydream about.

This concept is known as visual imagery and is being used increasingly and successfully by medical doctors, psychologists and even athletes. It works for everyone.

If you desire to use your mind to achieve success and aid yourself physically and emotionally to escape stress, depression, and physical and mental illness, follow this plan:

Think of everything that you want to achieve in life. Write these goals on a sheet of paper.

At least twice a day (more often if you wish), seat yourself in a comfortable chair in a quiet room where you will not be disturbed, take a few deep breaths of air to relax yourself, and recite each of your goals aloud.

Now, close your eyes and try to imagine yourself, as vividly as you can, actually achieving each of your goals in succession.

Try to achieve a daydream-type condition and concentrate all of your attention on being successful. As you relax, concentrate and use your vivid imagination; your body will respond with a strong positive feeling.

Your mind will give you the motivation to achieve your goals and your body will become enthralled with a pleasant, vibrant urge to achieve. Each successive effort of this type will double your enthusiasm and self-confidence.

Make this promise to yourself: Never, never again imagine yourself as a failure. Always, always picture yourself as a winner.

CARTER REFUSES TO BE PUSHED BY REAGAN

Concerning Billy Carter's Libya foreign policy, it is reported that the President said, Billy doesn't tell him how to run the presidency, and he doesn't tell Billy how to run his business. This response is another evidence of a strong character feather in Mr. Carter's cap.

Because the Republicans have called for a 10 percent across-the-board tax cut with a 10 percent increase for three years—which is highly inflationary and a great benefit to big business, with hardly any to low income people—President Carter has not allowed the Republicans to rush him into some hasty actions. It is reported that Mr. Carter is not in favor of a tax cut for this year, and when he does propose a tax cut he wants an indexed cut.

The Republicans are calling for an astronomical defense budget. They are saying that Russia has a greater military capability than the United States, and that President Carter's military proposal is the cause of this disparity—if there is one. Evidently the Republicans have forgotten that it was the Nixon-Ford administrations that spent the small sums on defense. While they are blaming President Carter for trying to get SALT II passed—which they feel is a mistake—this was just a continuation of the Ford policy. SALT I was passed during the Ford-Nixon years.

Surely, Mr. Carter, during the campaign, will have an opportunity to refresh the Republicans on historical facts.

From a statement Ronald Reagan made in a conversation with Mike Wallace, it appears that President Carter, during his presidential campaign, can look for some of the old Nixon dirty tricks. Reagan stated that he would not be surprised if the Soviets will help President Carter in this election. This tactic of waving the red flag to intensify the communist hysteria is an easy rallying cry for candidates who put winning above the genuine dedication to the welfare of all the American people. His statement bears a close resemblance to the chicanery Richard Nixon used against Helen Gahagan Douglas in the congressional race. Nixon often spoke of her in his denunciation of communism.

White House press secretary Jody Powell said President Carter had a statement about Ronald Reagan's statement in which he was trying to make it appear that the President had close ties with the Soviets. Mr. Carter was wise in ignoring such an utterly ridiculous accusation. If Reagan continues down that road and the President continues his present stance on like statements, the Republican candidate might afford Mr. Carter an opportunity to exhibit a superior strength of character.

OUR GIANTS SPEAK

James Weldon Johnson

1871-1938

RE: THE VARIETY AND WIDE APPEAL OF NEGRO SPIRITUALS

James Weldon Johnson is most often remembered as the lyricist for "Lift Every Voice and Sing," which is usually referred to as the "Negro National Anthem."

He was born on June 17, 1871 in Jacksonville, Florida. He was educated at Atlanta University and Columbia University.

During his sixty-seven years, James Weldon Johnson's varied career included service as a school principal; a lawyer; a diplomat (U.S. Consul at Puerto Cabello, Venezuela and later in Nicaragua); a key executive in the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) and eventually serving as NAACP Executive Secretary. While he was pursuing these careers, he was well known as a poet, lyricist and critic. Prior to 1917 he was well known as a lyricist for popular songs. But from 1917 to 1927, he firmly established himself as a serious poet with "Fifty Years and Other Poems," "The Book of American Negro Poetry," and "God's Trombones."

Our excerpt from his critique of "Negro" Spirituals is taken from the second book of American Negro Spirituals which was published in 1926. (The first book was published in 1925.)

Part I of Four Parts

What is the secret of the wide variety and perennially fresh appeal of the Spirituals? How is it that an audience can listen to them for two hours without interlude and without boredom or satiety? The Negro took as his basic material just his native African rhythms and the King James version of the Bible and out of them created the Spirituals. How, then, was he able to produce a body of five or six hundred religious songs with so little monotony of treatment and effect? One explanation is the fact that although the Spirituals in a general classification fall under the heading "religious songs," all of them are by no means songs of worship, though having a religious origin and usage. In the Spirituals the Negro did express his religious hopes and fears, his faith and his doubts. In them he also expressed his theological and ethical views, and sounded his exhortations and warnings.

Songs of this character constitute the bulk of the Spirituals. But in a large proportion of the songs the Negro passed over the strict limits of religion and covered nearly the whole range of group experiences—the notable omission being sex. In many of the Spirituals the Negro gave wide play to his imagination; in them he told his stories and drew his morals therefrom; he dreamed his dreams and declared his visions; he uttered his despair and prophesied his victories; he also spoke the group wisdom and expressed the group philosophy of life. Indeed, the Spirituals taken as a whole contain a record and a revelation of the deeper thoughts and experiences of the Negro in this country for a period beginning three hundred years ago and covering two and a half centuries.

Key Questions:

1. How were "Negro Spirituals" formed? Explain why there was so little monotony in the vast numbers of Spirituals?

2. What may be said about the significance of Spirituals in terms of recorded & oral American history?

LEGISLATIVE ALERT!

REPORT ON STIMULATING DEVELOPMENT OF DEPRESSED URBAN AREAS

The Howard University-based Joint Center for Political Studies has provided the following statement which suggests possible approaches to black ghetto rehabilitation:

The city of Flint, Michigan is working with local banks and community groups to curb redlining and to promote redevelopment and rehabilitation of existing housing in the central city. The government exerts some leverage on banks by keeping its money in banks that promise to cooperate in this effort.

Flint is also considering an approach similar to a current Philadelphia program that sets aside 1 percent of the tax revenue generated by new construction to support city-wide programs in the arts. This basic approach could be used to stimulate redevelopment of blighted areas.

State governments might also use revenues from new construction to set up "set aside" funds. Local communities could use these funds to make short-term loan guarantees to encourage new construction in deteriorating areas. After several years, such a fund could grow to substantial size.

Another type of revolving loan fund provides "seed money" to minority businesses in Beaton Harbor, Michigan. The town's Minority Enterprise "Small Business Investment Corporation" (MESBIC) got its start with $500,000 in capital drawn equally from federal grants and from local financial institutions and the community. The federal share was provided by the Economic Development Administration and the Small Business Administration (SBA) of the Commerce Department. Through SBA loans and loan guarantees, the fund can be used to make available up to $15 million in additional loans.

Black community leaders involved with municipal and state government issues should pursue the spirit of the approaches toward financing ghetto needs suggested here. Federal grants should also be pursued, backed by fresh enabling legislation.

You may write to your Congressman and Senators at: Congressional Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20515 or Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20510. Please congratulate them for their important work and let them know where Black America stands on crucial issues.

Punishment to Severe For Crime" Who is the Real Victim??

by Eddie P. Richardson

After the racial slurs by Police Chief J. T. Alley, the boiling blood and flaming tempers by local minorities (blacks and browns), guess who was the real victim?? You have two guesses!! And they are both wrong!!

The real victim was Lt. Wayne Robertson. A veteran of the Lubbock Police Department for more than twenty years of dedicated service. He was ousted from a post of duty he cherished. In this writer's opinion, his punishment was too severe for the crime committed. The Civil Service Commission's hearing (and I was there for the duration) was interesting, but the punishment was too harsh. Those members, two whites and a brown, will have to live with their conscious for a long time. It would have made good sense, in this writer's opinion, for this man of the badge to have been suspended for maybe 15, 30, 60 or even 90 days and a letter of reprimand, plus a strong warning. But not a man's life in a profession he was dedicated.

This should be a lesson for black people. We must organize and get together!! If this can happen to a person who was a part of the system for more than twenty years, what do you think will happen to each of us we are not together. We must get together, vote and work collectively for the good of all of us. A good example of what people collectively together and organized can do is the recent Polish situation. These people organized against themselves against the communist country. They worked real hard at organizing, and working collectively together.

We as a black people to be heard and recognized, we must get our priorities together. We must also push for black top elected officials and appointees in key decision making positions in all levels of government. We must refuse to continue to be figure heads, but, rather, be in full decision makers with authority and responsibility.

This is why it is so important that we VOTE and WORK COLLECTIVELY TOGETHER. It is a must that we have key blacks in decision making positions so they can relate to the masses of blacks and help the top decision makers to be aware and sensitive to our needs.

If you have heard this before, well it won't hurt to

Comments From The Rapper

by Jack Gibson

"Sharing A Letter"

Dear Jack,

"What do you say for P. D.'s and Jacks who won't jump at the chance to communicate a clean, good, positive message to the young Black minds who constantly listen to them?"

Music and Black radio have become two tremendously powerful forces in the lives of our youth. In many instances, these influences have become frighteningly powerful. Are we going to give some positive direction to these influences or will we continue to stand by and let them run "rampant?"

In the end, we must all share in the blame and the terrible consequences.

Sex is sensational and I love to boogie, but when that is all we give our young people to hear, its time we take a second look at what we're doing to our future.

My personal commitment has been to record and promote only clean, healthy, mind-stimulating ideas like my latest single, "What Freedom Means."

Why can't I get 1/2 the airplay and consideration given "freely" to records and artists who virtually poison the minds of our youth? Is it because I'm a new artist on an independent label? Does it have to do with my being Muslim, promoting a constructive idea? Or is it that we (Jocks and P. D.s) are still slaves to old plantation ideas? Once we've gotten into a position where we can really help one of our own Black selves, do we still come down harder on the Brother than the man would?

Jack, I challenge Black Jocks and P. D.'s nationwide to listen to the message in "What Freedom Means." I challenge them to give their audience a chance to get their own minds back.

Stand up Black Radio! Be responsible!! "THAT'S WHAT FREEDOM MEANS."

SSI Payments To Children

Supplemental security income (SSI) payments can be made to disabled children as well as adults. SSI is a Federal program that provides a basic cash income to people 65 or older, or blind, or disabled, who do not have much income and do not own much in the way of property.

There is no age limit for SSI payments to persons who are disabled or blind. Young children can qualify as well as people who are beyond 65.

For a child under 18 to be eligible, he or she must have an impairment comparable in severity to one which would prevent an adult from working for a year or more. Blindness is defined as central visual acuity of 20/200 or less in the better eye with use of a corrective lens or restriction of the visual field to 20 degrees or less.

In addition to meeting the disability requirements, a child must also meet the income and resources tests to get payments. The parents' income and resources count toward the child's eligibility after certain allowances are made.

Generally SSI payments cannot be made to a person living in a public institution. But people living in a publicly operated community residence serving no more than 16 people may be eligible.

The maximum SSI payment for an individual is $238 a month, but this amount is reduced if a person lives with someone else or has income above a certain limit.

A child cannot receive SSI payments and take part in the Aid to Families with Dependent Children program. The parents of a child eligible for both programs can choose the one that best fits the family.

For more information about SSI payments, contact the Lubbock Social Security office. The office is located at 1205 Texas Avenue and the telephone number is 762-7381.

Ringin' The Bell

Black Colleges Seek Permanent Federal Aid: The United Negro College Fund has begun a campaign in congress to preserve a federal aid program that black institutions say they need to stay afloat.

Bellringer sources in D. C. report Fund President Prezell Robinson and spokesmen for 41 historically black institutions said they will lobby senators on behalf of Title III of the Higher Education Act. The program aids "developing" colleges and universities that serve many "disadvantaged or low-income students."

The United Negro College Fund wants congress to extend the program indefinitely, to limit the number of participating schools and to minimize the number of management restrictions written into law so the U. S. Education Department can oversee the program freely. There would be no more "Bishop College Financial Tangles" under the monitored program, supporters point out. The General Accounting Office has questioned the way some institutions have spent Title III money and even whether the program ought to be extended.

Promotion of equal educational opportunity, especially for poor and disadvantaged students is a national objective states Elias Blake, president of Clark College of Atlanta and the number of black graduates from these schools has almost doubled since they began receiving Title III assistance.

Blake said there need for and claim to a continuing source of federal support is as valid as that of Harvard, Massachusetts Institute of Technology or Stanford University institutions that receive regular federal support to promote research. "We do something important for our society, too," Blake concluded.

According to our Austin bellringer sources, William P. Clements, Jr., the first Republican Governor in 105 years, is getting high marks from concerned Texans for his equal employment opportunity practices in appointing Black Texans to high positions in his administration and to many boards and commissions. He has appointed some thirty blacks with less than a year in office. Joe Karven of Dallas is the first black in Texas history to be appointed an administrative assistant to the governor.

The Black Republican Council holds frequent state-wide meetings, coordinates activities of their local chapters and publishes a council newsletter which is mailed to all members. For more information, our readers may write Jim Bowie, Chairman - Black Republican Council, 1011 Congress Avenue (Suite 520) Austin, Texas 78701.

A Person's Touch -- "Dear Bob - Believe it or not but Lena Allen Shore, 58, was the only member of the graduating class here in Philadelphia recently. The president of the 70 year old Philadelphia university is Joseph Kappaport stated that "our average is four a year at Dropsie University. The University is located in a decaying neighborhood in North Philly and the 1980 commencement speaker was the Rev. Leon Sullivan, founder of the Opportunities Industrialization Centers, which runs self-help programs for poor minorities.

The current student body of 70 includes many students from the Middle and Far East and the University assists residents in applying for housing and rehabilitation grants and offers Bible lectures for local ministers.

The lone graduate remarked that "many thoughts came to my mind on graduation. The most important was the sense of fulfillment and the joy of responsibility." She plans to open a center in the city where she will teach her own philosophy. Just thought you would like to know. Enjoy your column in the Recorder. Keep up the good work. ASTRO/NUMEROLOGY AND YOU

Dear Sir,
I always read your column and would like to know my key number and that of my friend. I was born April 5, 1935 and my Leo friend was born on August 11th.

Dear EE,
Your key number from your date of birth is the 5, and your friend's key numbers are 2 and 7. Your key number suggests a love of people, activity, movement, variety, change and mental pursuits. On the other hand, your Leo key numbers suggest one who is sensitive, emotional, artistic and romantic. I must be honest, however, and say that although you are both fire signs (Aries and Leo), at times you will not agree when it comes to major issues. This is where UNDERSTANDING in any relationship is important.

ARIES - March 21-April 20
The middle of the week suggests you do nothing important such as sign important papers, etc. This includes traveling as well. After Friday of this week, things will return to normal. Number 7 is your number to follow. ARIES BORN: Charles White—artist extraordinaire. TAURUS - April 21-May 20
The early part of the week may find you coasting alone. However, as you go into the weekend, it may be unwise to take unnecessary chances relating to business and health.

Number 4 will prove important. TAURUS BORN: Lorraine Heusbery—her dramatic play, "A Raisin in the Sun," brought her national prominence. GEMINI - May 21-June 20
The entire week favors you. So it's up to you to take advantage of this situation. Should any problems arise, it will be after the weekend. Look for the number 3 to pop up this week. GEMINI BORN: Dr. Charles Drew—set up the first blood bank in England. CANCER - June 21-July 21
Partners may prove a little disappointing on Thursday the 11th. However, once this passes, the rest of the week will smooth itself out greatly. The number 9 will begin to show its face this week. CANCER BORN: Samuel Yette—once Special Assistant of the Office of Economic Opportunity.

LEO - July 22-August 20
Small, but pleasant surprises should surface all this week for you. Just use a little caution on Friday and Saturday. Afterward, watch out (smile) Watch the number 6 appear. LEO BORN: Carl Rowan—journalist, writer and ambassador. Wrote the biography of Jackie Robinson—"South Of Freedom," very inspirational. VIRGO - August 21-September 21
Virgo, this time of the year is considered your strongest to get whatever you want and whenever you want it. So don't fail to move on this cycle if you want success. Watch for the number 3. VIRGO BORN: Andrew Brimmer—economist and member of Federal Reserve Board. LIBRA - September 22-October 21
Big surprises are in store for you on Wednesday and Thursday. On Friday the pace may slow a little, but even the balance of the week looks very good. The number 4 may prove important. LIBRA BORN: Ben Vereen—one of the most talented actors in the business, as well as a fine actor. SCORPIO - October 22-November 21
It's as if you could do no wrong this week, Scorpio, no matter how hard you try. The stars shine their favor on you all week long. Hope you take advantage of this trend. Number 7 should prove interesting. SCORPIO BORN: W.C. Handy—considered the "Father of the Blues." SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 20

As this is considered one of the oppositions for your sign, this time of the year, it is suggested that you wait (or the weekend before embarking on anything new. Number 5 should begin to sick out this week. SAGITTARIUS BORN: Charles Wesley—major black historian. CAPRICORN - December 21-January 20
Other than Thursday, which may prove a little upsetting, the rest of the week indicates nothing out of the ordinary, so just rest and take it easy, if you can. Number 4 is the one to watch this week. CAPRICORN BORN: Dean Dixon—famous black conductor. To date, the youngest to ever conduct the famous N.Y. Philharmonic orchestra, at age 26. AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19
The week will be a fairly quiet one. Thursday is indicated as favorable while Saturday is not, but in a minor way—so don't let anything or anyone upset you. You deserve a break. The number 8 may follow you this week. AQUARIUS BORN: Todd Duncan, actor, singer. Played original role of Porgy of "Porgy and Bess." PISCES - February 20-March 20
Just use this entire week to rest up and relax. It's very important that you do. Should anything exciting happen this week, it will likely be on Saturday. The number 5 may prove to be important. PISCES BORN: Norbert Rillieux—developed the "Rillieux system," an evaporator process to refine sugar.

MEDIA REVIEWS

HEROIC WOMAN

(For Barbara Jordan fans of all ages.)

A review of Barbara Jordan: A Self-Portrait by Barbara Jordan and Shelby Hearon. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 270 pages. Hard Cover $9.95.

One of the great political events of the late twentieth century was the entrance onto the national political scene of Barbara Jordan, now the L.B.J. public service professor in the L.B.J. School of Public Affairs at the University of Texas at Austin.

We shall all miss Barbara Jordan's voice as a member of the U.S. Congress but those who have sensed her fine and intrepid spirit will recognize that Barbara Jordan's impact upon our national life has just begun.

In this self-portrait, written with the assistance of Miss Jordan's associate Shelby Hearon, Miss Jordan traces her life from its early beginnings where her father and grandfather made an indelible impression on her life. Hers has been a life of struggle, and one sees in her emerging self-description the carving out of an heroic figure of colossal stature. The book thus becomes a dramatic event, an exercise in the making of a prophet.

This book is written with simple charm and candor. It is reflective of the warmest side of Barbara Jordan, who in public life appeared as intellect embodied in human form. A fascinating book about a truly heroic figure.

Sheridan's Ride

by Jack Sheridan

Never mind that the calendar doesn't spotlight the official start of Fall until September 20-21 that cooling season, is upon us. When that first kick-off resounds in Jones Stadium, when the Lubbock Symphony goes back into weekly rehearsals, when the curtains part on the first opening of the Lubbock Theatre Center, then Fall is definitely here.

Texas Tech Red Raiders have already gotten underway last weekend and the Lubbock Theatre Center will unveil the first of the 1980-81 season productions, "The Sunshine Boys," Neil Simon's comedy, in performances set Sept. 16-20 and Sept. 25-27 in the downtown Lindsey Center of the Performing Arts. Steve Lillis and Bill Conley have been named to the leads in this amusing piece evolving around a 12-year non-speaking feud between a former vaudeville headliner team being brought together again to reprise a famous skit for television. The Simon plot is based loosely on a real life situation around the famed team of Smith and Dale and their renowned "Dr. Cronkite" sketches. Ticket information by calling 744-3681.

Lubbock Symphony Orchestra is already preparing for the opening pair of concerts set for October 13-14 at the Lubbock Memorial Center Theatre, 8:15 p. m. This concert, with selections by Mozart, Mendelssohn, Borodin and Rachmaninoff, will star pianist Paul Schenly, who scored a walkup reception in his 1979 appearance. He will be performing the Rachmaninoff "Rhapsody on a Theme of Paganini."

The Lubbock Symphony introduces a new program format this year. The guest artist at each of the concerts will be presented at the very beginning of each concert. It is hoped, by this move, to assure prompt audience arrival, eliminating the annoying intrusion by late-comer stragglers all through the first half of the program.

Filling out the remainder of the 1980-81 season for the Symphony will be guest conductor Richard Hayman, November 24-25; pianist William Westney and soprano Emilia Simone, February 9-10; the widely anticipated return of the last season smash, guitarists The Romeros, March 23-24; and the traditional Pops Nite program, April 13-14. Season tickets still are available at the Symphony Business Office, on Broadway and the telephone number is 762-4707.

The ole devil sex is back with us in force at the movies this week with the long-running "Middle Age Crazy" routing forth on the Winchester No. 1 screen in this newly dubbed big house. This is the one that examines the perils of turning that dreaded birthday pit, 40 years old, by leading man Bruce Dern and his insatiable wife, played luxuriously by Ann-Margaret.

The background is Houston-Dallas in this sex fantasy and there are likeable people scattered through the cast of the R-rated job. The production is handsome, lush and quick-moving, as Dern moves through his vexing urges and populates his dreaming with titillating beauties along the way.

The language of the film is virulent and strong in the today sense, so watch out. The premise of the film is amusing and, thanks to Dern's usual expertise, even though this is an unusual comedy outing for him, and Ann Margaret's not inconsiderable endowments and talent, the film moves along pleasantly enough. "Middle Age Crazy" is no classic in any sense, but it is amusing if the premise is your sort of thing. Many who have seen it say it is "just like real people," but you may want to question that point of view. It may be so; I live in a mixed neighborhood.

INSIDE TV JOEY SASSO

INSIDE TV — Beautiful "CHIPS" star Randi Oakes has fallen head over heels for Gregory Harrison. Gonzo in "Trapper John, M.D." They are even sharing a spacious home they just bought in Los Angeles. But she admits that Broadway Joe Namath, the man she lived with for five years, will always be the great love of her life. "I met Joey in 1970, just after that year's Superbowl game," Randi told me. "I loved him for years and he loved me, too. We did discuss marriage, but it was hard to reach a conclusion. At moments, getting married seemed the natural thing to do. But it wasn't meant to be."

Phyllis George will be re-joining CBS Sports' Emmy Award-winning "The NFL Today" after a two-year absence. The announcement was made by Ms. George and Van Gordon Sauter, President, CBS Sports. Said Sauter: "We are thrilled that Phyllis will be back. Because Phyllis has responsibilities to her family and young son, who is recovering from surgery, we are not yet ready to announce the precise date when she will rejoin the show, but it will be fairly early in the season."

TV HOTLINE — Greg Evgien is shedding his teeny-bopper image. Women over 30 are flooding NBC with fan mail telling the "BJ And The Bear" star just how sexy he is. And his biggest 30-year-old fan is his wife, Pam Serpe, who's also his manager. She's the woman behind his beefcake posters and she loves knowing women all over the country are admiring her 26-year-old husband. Greg and Pam have been married over a year and he says it's one of the smartest moves he ever made.

TV CLOSE-UP — Popular "M*A*S*H," currently shooting new episodes for its ninth season on CBS, is the show that fooled 'em. Year after year, it's been a solid-gold $*M*A*S*H, delighting millions and making millions of many of its cast members. What's more, since 1973 the show has been in the year's Top Ten every season but one. But at the beginning, in 1972-73, things didn't look so good. The show was clobbered by its com-

Here she stands
So black and beautiful
Capturing you with words
So carefully chosen

UMMM, UMMM GOOD. The delights of old-fashioned "Ronrico Rum Bavarian" and "Sabra Egg Cream." Together, they spark pleasant memories.

A bit of the good ol' days with old-time favorites

Nostalgia is "in." So, bring back the good old days with "Ronrico Rum Bavarian"—prettily decorated—and "Sabra Egg Cream"—frothy and tasty. Add a touch of the corner candy store with bright candy treats.

RONRICO RUM BAVARIAN

- 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
- 2 tablespoons cold water
- 3 egg yolks
- 1/2 cup sugar
- Pinch salt
- 1/4 cup milk
- 1/4 cup Ronrico Gold Rum
- 1 cup heavy cream
- 1 package lady fingers
- Additional whipped cream for decoration

Soften gelatin in cold water. Beat the egg yolks, sugar and salt in the top of a double boiler until light, add the milk and Ronrico Rum. Cook over boiling water, stirring constantly, until mixture is thick enough to coat a spoon. Add softened gelatin and stir until dissolved.

Chill until almost set, stirring occasionally.

Whip cream until it forms soft peaks and fold in.

Dust a 6-cup mold lightly with confectioner's sugar, line the sides with lady fingers and pour in the cream mixture.

Chill several hours, until set. Unmold onto a plate, decorate the top with additional lady fingers, cut in half, and with whipped cream, if desired. Makes 6-8 servings.

SABRA EGG CREAM

- 2 ounces Sabra Liqueur
- 1-1/2 ounces half-and-half
- Seltzer, Club Soda or Perrier Water

BLACK EMPOWERMENT

By Dr. Nathaniel Wright, Jr.
Human Rights Activist

ARE YOU GROWING

A black scholar and activist visited a small community college to give a convocation address. Before his main speech for the day, he met with a classroom group and spoke informally with them. He began by stating, "This morning before six o'clock, I had to use the dictionary six times..."

After the class was over, the professor, whose class had been visited, beamed broadly and said to the visiting speaker, "You did not have to say anything more than your very first sentence. In it you reminded students, by your impressive example, of two ways in which we must discipline ourselves: first, in terms of time and, then, in that crucially important habit, the daily and perhaps hourly use of the dictionary."

The two disciplines are basic for younger and older people alike. At another time we may speak about the discipline in the matter of time. The dictionary habit—which every person who seeks earnestly to grow must develop—is the focus of our immediate concern.

It has been said that Abraham Lincoln's intellectual growth and his highly disciplined moral character were developed largely by his possession of one of the very best libraries that any person might have. It consisted essentially of 67 books: The 66 "books" of the Old and the New Testaments... and a dictionary!

Regardless of how many hundreds or even thousands of books a person might have in one's library, the fundamental core of books that Abraham Lincoln possessed—the books of the Bible and a dictionary—cannot be beat.

Both books deal with "words," which are an expression of the power and the stature that we have. The words in one book—or set of books, the Bible—represent the most extensive and profound collection of stories and essays about life's meaning that the world has ever known. But the words in the dictionary hold the key to the meaning of the words in the Bible.

A dictionary and whatever book of any kind we want to read and understand must go hand in hand.

Young people need to get into the dictionary habit early. One of the best ways to do this is ideally to have parents who use the dictionary each day themselves and who make appropriate and adequate dictionaries available for every member of the family.

Words have power. It has thus been observed throughout history, that "the pen is mightier than the sword." A helpful rule concerning words is that whenever we read the newspaper or a magazine or when we listen to anyone speak, every word whose fuller meaning or spelling we may not know should be looked up in the dictionary.

It should also perhaps go without saying that we should never use a word in writing or in our speaking without first knowing its proper meaning and how to spell it.

Those who get into the dictionary habit find the dictionary filled with all kinds of exciting "hidden" information and ideas, in addition to the precise meanings and spellings which we seek. As a case in point, why not look up in your very best dictionary two words: "jubilee" and "enthusiasm"? You may learn a dozen or more perhaps unexpected things almost sufficient for you to write or at least outline an essay... or perhaps to preach a sermon!

If we are to grow in the full-st possible way through the use of the dictionary, just what kinds of dictionaries are the best to meet our needs? Here are a few for you to consider, with some very brief observations about them.

One basic dictionary, which is available in a serviceable plastic cover as well as in a hard cover, is Webster's New World Dictionary. It is handy for ordinary use and is inexpensive. Every household should have one dictionary like this nearby or accessible for quick reference and in frequent service every day.

For students and typists who need to hyphenate words, Webster's New World Speller-Divider is an excellent source. It is also a quick reference for spelling, pronunciation, verb forms, irregular plurals (like "fish," "fish," and "fishes") and punctuation. This handy reference book has a plastic cover that comes off. It is thus easy to keep clean.

The American Heritage Dictionary of the English Language contains helpful photographs, including pictures of all the American presidents. It has other drawings and locator maps of all the countries in the world which should be of tremendous assistance to students.

For families who want to build their growth resources in terms of finding all reading and speaking far more rewarding at a bargain price, the large Random House Dictionary of the English Language with over 2029 pages has sold at discount prices recently for just about Twenty Dollars. It also makes a handsome addition to one's home. But use it!

The more definite and quite large Oxford Dictionary on Historical Principles is among the world's best dictionaries. It has the British spellings. Otherwise, it is almost incomparable.

Everyone should, if possible, carry a dictionary or have one handy at all times. Pocket-sized dictionaries can get you over a hump but are not good for the long haul.

If you would grow into a few fuller and richer understanding of the world about you and its meaning, a dictionary is crucial. Use it every day and so grow in the power that only words and their meaning give.
