Bingo Wins

Citizens for Bingo had the winning numbers Saturday in the vote to legalize charitable bingo. The final countywide vote count showed 13,364 persons favoring the issue and 10,348 opposing it.

Some boxes, such as Precinct 20 at Ellis Elementary School, carried the issue heavily. The final count at Ellis was 352 votes in favor and only 65 against.

Lubbock was only one of 85 counties to vote on the issue this election. Fifty-seven cities and 35 justice precincts were also scheduled to decide on the issue this time.

Kenneth Jones, attorney representing Citizens for Bingo, said that members of the committee promise to run the legal type of bingo operation they advocated during the campaign.

Rev. Kado Lang, president of the Ministerial Alliance, told the Digest that he believes the legislation of bingo will open the doors to more people to become involved in playing bingo who wouldn't be if it wasn't legalized.

Ola Ray appears on the box of Johnson's Classy Curl (TM) Permanent Curl and Conditioning Treatment. She also can be seen in the product's advertising, both print and television.

Ms. Ray is an ambitious and assertive 21 year old woman. Her career, although just beginning, is highlighted by a number of stellar accomplishments. She has an active modeling career and a bright future in acting.

Jones said he was not surprised that he finished well and says he will continue to seek a position on the board.

Mayor Bill McAlister and Mayor Pro Tem Alan Henry easily won re-election in Saturday's election.

Henry topped the Place 1 race with 72.9 percent of the vote, while McAlister drew 80.2 percent.

Meanwhile incumbent M. J. "Bud" Aderton will face a runoff against W. B. "Dub" Rushing for Place 3.

Aderton received 39.2 percent of the vote and Rushing received 29.5 percent. The runoff election will be held Tuesday, April 27.

Police interviewed two persons who were at the scene. Police are searching for two white males in a white-over blue Ford automobile.

Receives Black Endorsements

Ann Richards

Ann Richards, Democratic candidate for State Treasurer, has amassed an impressive list of Black endorsements since she announced her candidacy in February.

She has been endorsed by the Progressive Voters League of Dallas, the Black Voters' Action Projects of Austin, and the Precinct Worker's Council of Tarrant County. In addition, the Texas Coalition of Black Democrats, a statewide group headquartered in Fort Worth, gave Richards a 73 percent vote of confidence in a straw poll.

A former Travis County Commissioner, she has an admirable record of supporting Black candidates for public office. Austin City Councilman Charles Urry says, "To my knowledge, there has never been an Austin campaign involving a Black candidate in which Ann Richards wasn't a factor. One of her most valuable contributions has been building a bridge from East Austin to West Austin. She has helped Black candidates get financial contributions that no Black could have garnered on his own."

Travis County Commissioner Jimmy Snell praises Ann for "her strong and consistent support of affirmative action programs." She worked in Wilhelmina DeLoe's first campaign for an Austin seat in the Texas House of Representatives. Representative DeLoe says, "It is my belief that Ann Richards will be an effective state treasurer and continue to be a diligent servant for the State of Texas."

Tech Law School Recruit More Minorities

The Texas Tech Law School has a new recruitment effort underway in an attempt to bring more minority students to the school.

According to statistics, Tech's Law School currently has 23 minority students in its total enrollment of 828. Included are 19 Hispanics, two blacks and two Asians.

In an effort to improve those figures, the Affirmative Action Committee at the School of Law held a conference last Friday for undergraduate advisors and counselors of minority students.

Karyn Driessen, associate professor of law, says that part of the school's problem in attracting minority students is the fact that many people don't know about the Tech Law School.

"A lot of people don't seem to know anything about the school or town. We should have much more minority representation at the school. Having minorities would add diversity and culture to the school."

Driessen says that the school doesn't have any percentages in mind as to the number of minority students that would make the school more representative.

Driessen says the school is more concerned with trying to get more minorities applicants interested in Tech.

Unemployment Rate Soars

The Labor Department reported last week that the unemployment rate reached 9 percent last month matching the nation's postwar high. Especially hard hit were the nation's blacks. Unemployment among black workers surged to 18 percent in March, a record high. Also in the first quarter, blacks comprised nearly 40 percent of those who dropped out of the labor force.

Girl Scouts Plan For Style Show

Girl Scout troops in Robison and East Lubbock Service Units are planning a Spring Fashion Style Show at 7 p. m. on Monday, April 12. Brown and Junior Girl Scouts will model their own fashions in Parkway Mall for their families and friends. The public is invited.

Social Security Tips

Your Social Security And You

James W. Love
Service Representative

In most jobs, the social security tax is taken from your pay automatically. But on some jobs, you should ask to be sure your pay is reported for social security.

If you work in someone's home — cooking, cleaning, doing yard work, or some other job — your cash wages count for social security if you earn $50 or more from one person in a 3-month calendar quarter. Be sure the person you work for has his social security number and reports your pay.

Many employers will offer to pay only cash (no checks) and make no deductions from your pay. This is to the employer's advantage because he or she does not pay the employer's share of social security taxes. It's unfair to the employee because the employee does not get credit for his earnings which earn quarters of coverage for social security protection.

It's important to remember that the exact amount of social security benefits you and your family would get depends on how much you earn. If your earnings are not reported, you would get less social security or you might even not be insured with less than enough quarters of coverage.

Some places of business will offer to let you work for them on a self-employed basis, if your work is supervised by the employers, you are an employee of the business, not self-employed. The employer must withhold social security taxes from your pay and he must match your taxes withheld by the same amount. Self-employed individuals must pay all of their own social security taxes at a higher rate.

If you work for someone in their home or at a business place, be sure your employer has your social security number and reports your pay.

Business Hints

By Louise Blagrove

Yesterday is the past. Yesterday made its big debut in the 1960's. It was then that the All-American dream came true for most minority businesspersons as to owning their own business. We could become rich by working for ourselves. We did not have to know anything about the business world — we could learn as we went along. Thus, no experience was needed. Finance was no problem — it made little difference whether or not we had sufficient money, backers or a good credit rating. No, we did not even have to worry about collateral. The sellers, their lawyers, bankers and the Small Business Administration (SBA) loan officers took care of everything on the legal end. All the buyers had to do was listen to unfamiliar words, ask no questions and sign their names.

What did the average minority person know about operating a business? You have guessed it — nothing. Likewise, we were not versed in business legal matters. We were however, smart enough to hopefully find the "right" lawyer to help us try to beat the rap downtown.

But like when one is in love, most minorities were deaf, dumb and blind. Our dream of being rich was suddenly possible. We had found a true friend in the white man. He was now our friend and 'sincerely' wanted to help us make our dream come true. We did not know nor did we stop to think about what we were getting into. The said part about this is that we have left the 60's, gone through the 70's and entering the 80's in the same fashion.

Tomorrow is the future. It is yet to come.

Today is the present. Today is the now. The now that I am concerned. We can complain, moan and groan all we want to and blame others for our plight but without really trying to help ourselves a lot more the little progress that has been made will be lost. Regardless of how much or how little we receive, it is up to us to take advantage of a situation for our benefit. And the only way that advantage of a situation is make a strategy plan using all the other advantages that we may have.

Only the strong are going to survive because they know their advantages and disadvantages, the friends and the foes, and govern themselves accordingly.

Sheridan's Ride

by Jack Sheridan

Our movie for this week is the film adaptation of a successful Broadway play, still running, called "Deathtrap," by the late Ira Levin, who wrote "Compulsion," also a film success. You may have noticed that the policy here has been to select one movie on the local screens for comment, mainly because of space. The best of this week, might be a good category. Short and to the point - more than can be said in other quarters. "Deathtrap" is the story of a playwright who has had a couple of bad flops in his career and is willing and ready to kill to get a hit on his hands. He has just had another clunker and then gets his chance. A protege from a seminar has come up with a first-time-out script that has winner written all over it. Our playman sees his opportunity. He will "doctor" the script while his now-secretary-companion-lover proceeds with the finished version. The convenient death of the older man's wife does not hinder all this. Against a background of dark interiors, mysterious and lethal situations and weapons and no end of "red herrings" leading to a wild if sometimes confusing finish, Sidney Lumet has directed an absorbing, if sometimes bewildering, thriller. It's good entertainment, though. Michael Caine is the older man, "Superman" Christopher Reeve is suprising and good in the young role, while Dyan Canon is slick and predictable as the soon-to-be-late wife and the distinguished Irene Worth makes her bow as a psychic wierdo and key to the goings-on. Henry Morgan makes a telling bit stand-out. It's not bad stuff for all the complexities and worth your attention.

The dates for Texas Tech University Theatre's "Hamlet," directed by Ronald Schulz, are set for April 23-27 on campus. The title role goes to Derek Horton, with Ophelia played by Larissa McClung and Freda Williams and Harlan Reddell as Gertrude and the King, Claudius. Information call 742-3601.

The Lubbock Symphony Orchestra is preparing for the annual musical treat, its Pops Nite program, to be given at 8:15 p. m. Monday and Tuesday, April 19 - 20 at the Civic Center Theatre. The guest star group this year is the exciting "Dukes of Dixieland" who will hold forth with a generous program, interspersed with such light music fare by the Symphony as the William Tell Overture, a musical "picture" of "The Sound of Music" Anderson is "The Typewriter" and the beautiful Meditation from "Thais" by Massenet. Why Not??

When Will We Stand On Our Own??

by
Eddie Richardson

Over all, our response at the polls Saturday, April 3rd, was a much needed improvement over the last couple elections. With the Voting Rights Act still not signed in concrete, we must use this tool more than ever to make sure we have people in office who will keep the Voting Rights Act a reality.

Along these same lines, we had a big negative during this election. Some of our Black ministers exercised their American right by opposing bingo which is good. Support or oppose anything you want to, but do it on your own. Don't be a patsy to the white man. Make your own decision. Buy your own advertisement or whatever, but be men and stand on your own and don't be used. This has been detrimental to Black people for years.

As stated earlier, it would have been good for our Black ministers to show concern by supporting or opposing any issue, but let it be them, by them, for them, for us -- and not white fronted, Black folk, let's stand on our own, for our own.

One down three to go. We have one election down and three more to go. Let's not slow down.

We have a very important run-off city council seat on Tuesday, April 27th. Let's get up and get off and get out and vote. A lot is at stake, the future of Lubbock. Then there is the May 1st Primary and the General Election in November.

With all of these elections, there needs to be a lot of encouragement and voter's education. Perhaps the concerned citizen can depend on the newly organized Progressive Voter's League. It should have its hands full with all of these elections coming up. We all need to do our part to urge our neighbors to go to the polls. The Lubbock Digest will do everything possible to get people to the polls including printing names of non-voters.

Sunday is Easter. Let's all go to some House of Worship and give thanks and pay honor and tribute to the Christ Child who came into the world to save the world. He died, was buried to take away the sins of the world, rose and ascended into heaven to prepare a place for us. Happy Easter from the publishers and entire staff of the Lubbock Digest. May you have a blessed Easter to you and yours. HAPPY EASTER!!!

Confronting the Undersupply of Black Physicians

The onslaught of Reaganomics in the health care area has compounded an already critical problem facing black communities all across the nation: an undersupply of black physicians and little hope that more will be trained.

Back in 1970 a number of prestigious medical schools promised to strive to increase minority enrollment to 12 percent, a level reflective of the

by

Dear Bob -- Racial prejudice is still a social disease of epidemic proportions. Legislation may be partially controlling the outward expressions of intolerance, but our natural instincts still make us hostile. We normally sort out everything we see. That's a free, a bench, a post. We categorize people the same way: male, female, tall, short, young, old, fat, thin, and -- inevitably -- brown, yellow, pink, black.

Our hostility is triggered by our insecurity. It is not the person of the other race that we hate; it is the situation of proximity, with the dissimilar and the unfamiliar, that raises our anxiety. Prejudice means to prejudice, to form an opinion without due examination, one based on fancy or feeling. It means being down on what we are not up to.

The result? Look at the history of the century. If Jesus had been in Germany in 1935, he would have been remoted instead of crucified -- after being murdered in a gas chamber. Look at the news headlines recently. Blacks and browns in this land of the free are still ostracized in the job market and social circles. More than skin color hides the dark bruises of the heart.

It is not enough to appeal to our common humanity. There are too many differences. Nor is it enough to appeal to enlightened self-interest. Too many people believe that safety is best guaranteed by isolation, a sort of underground apartheid. If natural instincts make us hostile, only supernatural inspiration can make us peaceful. The shalom of God can come if we will let Him show us the only true security and we keep praying. You will be done on earth as it is in heaven. Fraternally yours, John Anderson -- Dallas -- A longtime bellringer.

Boley, Oklahoma -- one of the larger black communities (towns) in the U. S. A. has a new publication. It is called Dawn and is published by M. Harshbarger, a long time civic and charitable worker in Boley. This publication is in addition to the regular Chamber of Commerce Newsletter. In a front page editorial Dawn said: "We do not limit our definition of the Boley community to the Town of Boley. Rather we feel it is a spiritual community which extends world wide, and includes all folks who have an interest in Boley. We regard New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, and other cities as Boley suburbs." end of quote.

Dear Bob -- I am pleased that the Boley community again has its own newspaper. This will enable the Town of Boley to keep Boleyites in the local area and across the nation informed of our problems and our progress, our goals, and what we are doing to reach these goals. I would like to take this opportunity to invite business and industry into Boley. We are rich in country living, with plenty of room for growth. Our present water and sewer system is adequate for three times our present population. We are making plans to have one of the greatest homecoming and rodeo shows in history during the latter part of May. For further information, have bellringers contact: Boley Chamber of Commerce, Boley, Oklahoma 74829.

Alphonzie Wellington, resident of Wellington Group, Inc. a research firm in Haddon Heights, N. J., has revealed that 54 percent of the blacks he polled said they buy Tide over other detergents. A higher percentage of blacks, than whites also buy Coast soap, Uncle Ben's Rice and Colgate toothpaste. Blacks also continued to spend 23 percent of their dollar on meats when the percentage by whites dropped from 24 percent to 20 percent.

The national study included 24,000 black consumers with test groups in Houston, New Orleans and some 12,000 from other states. The study concluded that Blacks make a significant impact on the local economy. Dallas area black and Hispanic consumers spent $4 billion on retail goods in 1981, about 15 percent of the $27 billion all Dallas area consumers spent on retail goods, according to a recent Dallas market survey.

Letter to the Editor

"Good News"

Dear Editor:
For a city who people said weren't ready, Lubbock has responded greatly to the few things I asked them to do. About eight months ago, I talked to black business men, asking them to try and employ more of our young people. The first to respond was the Lubbock Digest. The owners of the Digest has assured me that in their expansion, they will try and hire more young people. You, the readers, can help get more jobs if you will support the businesses in this area. Everybody who you see who don't buy the Digest, help me get them to start buying it.
Mr. Almo Sedberry of Sedberry Funeral Home said to me, if we can find a young person interested in funeral business, he will be willing to pay for the schooling.
Jacqueline Woods, our youth representative, has assured me that there will be five caissons of young people voting from the campus of Texas Tech. This marks the first cooperation for Tech.

$7.3 Billion Deficit for Dependent Workers

They are about to run out of money in Washington, or at least refuse to release anymore for unemployed workers. Before the year is out another issue will surface which will slash the budget of many a minority workers' household. Heaven help the federal-state unemployment insurance trust fund. The fund, which collects employers payroll taxes and sends money back to states for benefit payments to previous workers, had a cumulative deficit of $7.3 billion at the end of last month. Currently taking up the slack is the Treasury. It will probably continue taking up the shortage until after the November elections!

Secretary of the Treasury, Regan, revels in the idea that an increase in consumer spending will save the economy from a depression. He believes "the tax cut will result in $30 billion being pumped into the economy and furthermore Social Security cost-of-living increases will add $14 billion to $16 billion. Put it all together and it should mean increased savings and consumption. This year the consumers will lead us out," echos Mr. Elite of the Treasury Department. It depends upon who is willing to spend what where, Mr. Treasurer. Take the registered unemployed 17.3% of the Black American community in America's desperate group. They got to get their house back in order with whatever funds they can find first -- not go on a spending spree for heavy appliances and autos which employ large numbers of people. President's current tax cut is curved for upper crusters, not down and outers!

Without this lower level buying surge, some heavy industries cannot come back. Industry will not come back to lead the economy unless consumers or capital spending is sailing in every which way. McGraw-Hill Publications Company survey of 500 companies reports that American industry this year will spend an increase of a mere 6.9% over 1981, a downward revision from last fall of 28% from 9.6% and well below even the most optimistic inflation rate projection by people around the White House. In short, less increase than if there was no growth in the economy. In fact, McGraw-Hill's capital spending survey indicates an increase in only the rubber (11.5%), Petroleum (3.2%) and communications and other (7.8%) industries for faster growth in the 1982 economy.

Inflationary fear is likely to end this year, but so are many opportunities for employment in the unskilled, semi-skilled and even skilled job categories. Consumers who could contribute to any creeping of the economy on the upside will in all probability be employed in the service industries. Consequently, women who are congregated in the service industries are not likely to feel the severity of cuts in employment as men and minorities. Many people, male or female however who find themselves unemployed by November of this year, may also find they "no where to turn and no where to hide."

nation's minority population. Since then, however, they have managed to take a giant step -- backwards.

Consider by 1980, of the 375,000 plus doctors in the U. S. only 2 percent were black and more recently the Association of American Medical Colleges reported that new black enrollment in the nation's 126 medical schools has slipped from 6.6 percent in 1981 to 6.2 percent this year. Out of the 2,000 new seats in medical colleges, blacks secured eight. And moves are being made to reduce the number of medical school chairs from 17,000 to 14,000 because the Graduate Medical Education National Advisory Committee feels there will be a glut of doctors by 1990 so fewer professionals need to be trained.

This will have an adverse impact on blacks who had more black doctors per black citizen in 1935 than today. While the black community is reeling from an array of chronic health problems such as an abnormal infant mortality rate, it would seem that the best direction to take would be to beef up the supply of black doctors who have normally practiced in inner cities. Instead, the Reagan Administration marches in the other direction. Not only is affirmative action being assaulted at every level, but fewer student loans are being made available. Dr. C. H. Ruhe, senior vice president for medical education for the American Medical Association, predicts that government cutbacks will shut down one out of every 13 medical schools.

What is also disheartening is the fact that the pool of eager young blacks ready to enter medical school with higher entrance exam scores is growing by leaps and bounds. Yet, the level of admissions is either stagnant or depressed for blacks. We must be involved in a process that determines whether we live or die.

Remedies have varied along with preceptions of the problem. One particularly encouraging sign deserves attention and praise. The governor of New York, Hugh Carey, plans to ask the legislature to withdraw a portion of state aid to medical schools that fail to adopt a workable plan to attract and retain black and Hispanic students. Black officials in New York were stunned by a recent report that said black and Hispanic enrollment in the state's medical schools has fallen by more than a third in the last five years.

Our black medical schools are doing more than their share to eradicate the undersupply of black doctors. (Out of the nation's 126 medical schools, 30 percent of all black students are enrolled at three institutions -- Howard University; Meharry; and Morehouse. And these schools are hurting for money).

We have waited too long for solutions. Direct action is needed. Blacks must act to insure their own survival. We can no longer wait to cash in on hollow promises and meek assurances. We should support health care activists who are trying to direct more scholarships to black medical school students and monitor the enrollments of white medical schools (such as the University of Chicago which only managed to enroll one black medical student last year despite the fact the university abuts the largest concentration of middle class blacks in the world).

If these schools remain callous towards the health care needs of the black community and hide under the cloak of political conservatism now being woven by the Reagan Administration, then we should seek to establish medical schools where the need is the greatest: in our inner cities. As a first step toward giving the problem the attention it warrants blacks in Chicago this month will be meeting with Dr. T. Fuop, director of the division of health manpower development for the JN World Health Organization. At last, the correct comparison is being made. Blacks here are no better off than their brothers and sisters in many underdeveloped countries who are also lacking proper care and facilities. Hopefully, an international spotlight on the issue will bring results.

Celebrate Easter

Last Sunday was Palm Sunday and many people waved palms as they did some 1,982 years ago. Only then when they said "Hosanna, blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord," little did they know that before the week was over they would be saying "crucify him".

The high priest and his brother-in-law turned the hearts of the people against Jesus during that week because Jesus refused to go along with their misuse of the House of God to get unjust money. He proceeded to overturn their tables.

This Sunday we will celebrate the resurrection of our Lord Jesus Christ as He arose from the grave to be the first fruit of them that slept. The redemption of man was finished and Jesus had completed the task of reuniting man and God. The power of Satan over mankind was ended. Man was again free to serve God without being under the domination of sin.

"Therefore we are buried with Him by baptism into his death: that like as Christ was raised up from the dead by the glory of the Father, even so we should walk in the newness of life. Likewise reckon ye also yourselves to be dead indeed unto sin, but alive unto God through Jesus Christ our Lord." Romans 6, Verses 4 and 11.

Easter Sunday is victory day for all believers! Do you have the victory over sin and Satan? If not, call today (806) 747-6899.

Rev. Locke Speaks Here This Week

The Rev. Drother Roy Locke, son of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Wilkerson of 1521 East 2nd Street, will be guest speaker at New Jerusalem Baptist Church this week. He will speak on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights. He will close out his effort on Sunday morning at 11 a. m.

Rev. Roy W. Locke

A native of Lubbock, he graduated from Dunbar High School in 1967. He is presently living in Dallas with his lovely wife, Mrs. Madean Locke.

They are members of Hope Well Baptist Church, and grew up in Lubbock. He united with the St. Luke Baptist Church and was a member until 1968 when he was drafted to the armed services. He served two years, with one year in Vietnam.

He is presently working for the United States Post Office in Dallas.

Rev. Locke was called to the ministry last October and is now attending Southern Bible Institute.

"We are proud of this young man, and are asking your prayers for him," says Rev. Adolphus Cleveland, pastor.

"We hope many of you will come out and hear him this week," concluded Rev. Cleveland.

Carter Chapel C. M. E. Church News

A beautiful spirit filled service was held at Carter Chapel C. M. E. Church Sunday morning with Rev. J. Galbreath leading the devotion. A most inspiring message, "Jesus Wept" was delivered by Pastor Rev. Raymond McKeever.

All present expressed having been blessed by the message.

The Pastor and members ask you to remember the "Pass-over Feast" on Thursday night, April 9th, the "Seven Last Words" from the cross on Friday night. Sunrise services will be held Sunday morning.

Come let us show our love for "Him" as "He" did for us on Calvary.

The Outreach Prayer Breakfast

Members and friends of the Outreach Prayer Breakfast met at 9:00 a. m. in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt Carroll last Saturday. This meeting was special.

Presiding over the meeting was the president, Mrs. Mary Ward.

The morning devotion and business began the meeting. The scripture was taken from II Corinthians 3:1-5. Participating were Mrs. M. Bogus, Mrs. C. E. Brown and Mrs. Ward.

Morning devotion consisted of a quite nothing. All the people present Saturday were super terrific.

Thought of the week: "Wisdom is seeing things from God's point of view." Think about it.

Breakfast was served by our special cooks, with Mrs. Carroll as host cook. This lady, along with the breakfast cooks, knows what to do with food to keep you coming back. See you Saturday.

Our guest list last week included: Mrs. Joe Ann Cook, Mrs. Christine Hyson - who is back with us - and Beatrice Anderson.

Mrs. Raymond Peppers, Jr. of the Faith Bible Mission, has a story to tell. She is a great Bible teacher, and the people of this group love her. As well as those who were with us last week.

Our sick list this week include Elle D. Swisher, Rev. J. B. Harris, Mrs. Artie M. Washington, Mr. D. C. Fair, Sr., Lenale Tates, and Cassie Washington.

Thank God For Jesus The Resurrection of My Recycled Soul!

I once was dead in the world of sin & shame. Satan had me swearing and cursing in God's name.

Money, women & cars were some of my gods. I had forgotten all about the Lord.

Gambling and clubs I always had time. My own "lovesones" were not on my mind.

I would buy friends beer, wine, & scotch. But when my children needed something, I'd blow my top!

I'd wear the finest of clothes & shoes on my feet. Now about the RESURRECTION I can't keep.

I was going down?? For the last time. Drowning in sin?? Satan controlled my mine.

John 11:25 - Jesus said I'm the resurrection, and the life. He that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live.

Revelation 3:20 -- "Behold I stand at the door and knock: if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and support with him, and He with me.

I called on Jesus on life's highway. He recycled my soul.

Thank God, I've been saved. I Corinthians 15:42-44: "So also the Resurrection of the dead.

It is shown in corruption; it is raised in incorruption; it is shown in dishonor; it is raised in glory; it is shown in weakness; it is raised in power; it is shown a natural body; it is raised a spiritual body.

All the worldly things I've traded for a "NEW HEART"

It was real easy with the help of the Lord. From swearing and cursing to praising His name!

Everywhere I go I'm not ashamed. Thank You Jesus!

From inhaling smoke and damping my lungs. The Lord has recycled them with a new song. Thank You Jesus!

From eyeballing at the shapes of the ladies. The Lord recycled them - I close and pray daily. Thank You Jesus!

John 3:16 - "For God so loved the world that He gave his only begotten son that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish but have everlasting life.

May God keep on blessing us all. Directed - Arranged - Produced - Guided by My Lord Jesus Christ

Written by Billy "B. J." Morrison, III Your brother in Christ Jesus

Let's pray for one another always. HAPPY EASTER TO ALL!

— Thank You —

To all the Churches and friends, we would like to take this time out to "Thank You" for your kindness shown during the loss of our loved one. Your visits, cards, food, flowers, letters, and most of all, your prayers were most appreciative. We are most grateful.

Mount Olive Baptist Church

Last Sunday morning, Sunday School was opened with Supt. Bolton in charge. The lesson was taught beautiful.

Our morning service was very inspiring with the choir singing: "Where Do We Go From Here," "I'm Not The Same Because The Name of Jesus is So Precious."

Our Pastor, Rev. C. C. Peoples, preached a wonderful message ending with these scriptures: II Corinthians 9:6-8; Psalm 78:1-7, and Matthew 22:36-40.

During the 7:30 p. m. services, the youth department presented a skit entitled: "Who Am I?" Sister Gracie Scott is the youth director. The program was enjoyed by all in attendance.

April 9, 1982 is Good Friday. A program will be presented on the last seven words of Christ.

Sunday at 6:30 a. m., Sunrise Services will be held at our church. Following the services on Easter morning, we will have breakfast for all in attendance.

We will celebrate the 12th anniversary of our Pastor and Wife, Rev. and Mrs. C. C. Peoples.

Remember you are always welcome to visit us at anytime. Come by and enjoy our services. Our doors are always open. Come let us reason together for Jesus is the way.

Rev. C. C. Peoples, pastor; Mrs. Myrtle Smith reporter.

Letter to the Editor

You have until April 1st to be able to register for the May 1st Primary, if you have registered yet. This is a must because you don't have a friend in the White House. So everybody, you see who is not registered, help me get them to the polls to vote. For a see a greater and brighter day in Lubbock. If you have a car to help get people to the polls, contact the Lubbock Digest by calling 762-3512.

Still remember that more money we spend with our black businesses, the more people we can get hired.

Thank you,
Rev. Harvey Robinson
