Editorial Vote For These On Saturday, May 1st

We, the editorial staff of the Lubbock Digest, would like to encourage the citizens of Lubbock County to vote for the following candidates in the upcoming May 1st Primaries, Democratic and Republican. With more than forty years of experience in the newspaper industry and community involvement, we feel as though we have heard what the "whispering grass" is saying about the candidates in the Black community. We have paid close attention to the candidates, and here are our picks:

STATEWIDE: It is our opinion that the following candidates will be strong advocates for the Black community as well as the rest of the total community.

- U. S. Senate - Lloyd Bentzen
- Governor - Mark White
- Lt. Governor - Bill Hobby
- Attorney General - Jim Mattox
- Comptroller - Bob Bullock
- Treasurer - Ann Richards
- Agriculture Commissioner - Jim Hightower
- Land Commissioner - Dan Kublak
- Texas Supreme Court, Place 2 - Bill Kilgarlin
- Texas Supreme Court, Place 3 - Charles Barrow
- Railroad Commissioner - Jim Nugent
- Courts of Appeal, District 3, Pl. 2 - Bob Gemme
- Courts of Appeals, District 3, Pl. 4 - D. Whitworth
- Court of Appeals, Place 2 - Andrew J. Shuval
- Court of Appeals, Place 1 - Carl Dally

REGIONAL: John T. Montford is our choice for State Senator, District 28. The Lubbock Digest picks Montford because of his aggressive leadership abilities and his positive attitude. Montford, we feel, can work with and not be afraid of his metropolitan peers because they live in a larger city. He will be able to work with them in a diplomatic manner and not cater to them as the case is now. West Texas needs Montford for the good of all Texas.

On the Republican side of the house, our choice for the three running for the nomination will be John J. C. O'Shea. He has guts and backbone enough to stand up and fight for and represent West Texas and not the larger city peers.

STATE REPRESENTATIVE, District 83. Froy Salinas has been doing a good job. He has been open and responsive. At the same time, Mr. Salinas has made many valuable associates and contacts to West Texas. He knows all the current people, trends and decision makers who can be beneficial to all of us in West Texas. Let's keep our friend, Froy Salinas, on the job working for all of us.

LUBBOCK COUNTY JUDGE: Rod Shaw, our present judge, has not always been right as far as a lot of minorities have been concerned. He has not been on the same side of the fence as a lot of us would want him at times. But he has always been open, available, and willing to talk, listen, and discuss any issue. Being an attorney, he is beneficial to Lubbock County. As far as a legal opinion which may pertain to the county, he is able to make a positive decision. On the other hand, if a non-lawyer was county judge, when legal decisions had to be made, an outside person would have to be hired and paid by Lubbock County. Our choice, without any doubt, is Rod Shaw.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS: Place 2, we would recommend Mario Perez. He is a businessman in Lubbock. He is concerned about the welfare of all citizens of Lubbock County. We would urge that he be given an opportunity to fill this position as County Commissioner. Although, this is his first time to seek public office, he is concerned about doing something positive for all of Lubbock County. Let us support Mario Perez!

PLACE 4: C. H. "Choc" Blanchard has been around Lubbock County government for many years. He has been effective. He has worked hard over the years, and still has some energy left to help the entire citizenry. Let's give "Choc" a chance to prove his abilities as was the case when he was Lubbock County Sheriff. Let's elect and experienced and concerned person. Why not C. H. "Choc" Blanchard.

CRIMINAL DISTRICT ATTORNEY: Travis Ware is far more knowledgeable of the functions of the Criminal District Attorney's office. Because of his experience and having an opportunity to prosecute most of the major cases in Lubbock County, and having a first hand feel of the hard tough John T. Montford type of prosecuting of all criminals, Travis will be able to do an outstanding job. He will be able to add this tradition and make even tougher impartial prosecuting Criminal District Attorney for all Lubbock County residents. Vote Travis Ware!

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE, PRECINCT 1, PLACE 2: Leon Davis, by a long shot Leon is the most qualified person for this position. Even at the national level, he has the experience that is equal to none. His FBI training, J. P.'s Constitutional training, his writings, giving opinions on the various laws, legal practice and institutional instruction makes him qualified to help our community. He should, without any doubt, be elected for this post.

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE, PRECINCT 4: In our opinion, Wesley Odegrizzi is our choice. He has

Lubbock Voters Go To Polls Saturday

Lubbock Voters will once again go to the polls on Saturday, May 1st, this time to elect candidates in several state and county offices.

Among the more heated contests are as follows:
County Commissioner, Precinct 2. In this race, Coy Biggs is seeking re-election against an opponent who he has faced before, Paul Enger, longtime Lubbock grocery store and service owner, ran unsuccessfully against Biggs four years ago.

Mario Perez, a print shop owner, is also running.

Criminal District Attorney. This race has centered around the rising crime rate in Lubbock County. Travis Ware, assistant district attorney, and Wanda Wray, a local attorney, will face each other in the Democratic Primary, while Jim Darnell will run on the Republican ticket.

Justice of the Peace, Precinct 1, Place 2. This race has four candidates -- two from each party. Leon Davis, a retired FBI agent, will face Leroy "Bo" Melton, a retired highway patrolman, in the Democratic Primary in the Republican Primary Bill Ross, a Lubbock County juvenile probation officer, faces Eugene Brackett, a longtime legal secretary in the city.

Justice of the Peace, Precinct 6. Democrats will have three candidates from which to choose. This race also includes the only Black candidate seeking a county office.

Among the Democrats running are --

Wesley Odegrizzi, longtime city service station operator; Lorenzo Sedeno, former aide to U. S. Representative Ken Hance; and Shirley Dunlap, office manager for Justice of the Peace Charles Smith. McKinley Shepherd will appear on the Republican ticket. Shepherd, a Southwestern Bell installer, ran unsuccessfully against Froy Salinas two years ago.

Lubbock County Judge. Judge Rod Shaw is seeking re-election against Charles Smith, longtime Justice of the Peace, Precinct 1, Place 2. County Commissioner, Precinct 4. Democrat Alton Brazzell is seeking re-election against former Lubbock County Sheriff C. H. "Choc" Blanchard.

State Senator John T. Montford is attempting to unseat the incumbent U.S. Sen. of Tahoka for State Representative, District 28. State Representative, District 83. Froy Salinas, the incumbent, is being challenged by Delwin Jones, a former legislator and local businessman.

The polls will open at 7 a.m. and close at 7 p.m. on Saturday, May 1st.

Women's Protective Week Here

Women's Protective Service was created in 1978 to assist those in need as a result of domestic violence. The staff of volunteers and professionals have trained over 133 women and 165 children since August, 1979. They have handled over 1,371 calls during that time.

At a recent city council meeting, Bill McAllister proclaimed May 2-8 as Women's Protective Service Week. There will be a golf tournament at Treasurer Island May 6 and 7. This tournament will help WPS keep its doors open.

Social Security Tips

Your Social Security And You

by Jewel M. Love
Service Representative

Students 18 to 22 getting Social Security checks are reminded about important changes that will reduce or eliminate future benefits. How students are affected will depend primarily on the type of school they are in and when benefits started:

1. If you attend college (or other post-secondary school) -- Payments can continue until you finish school, reach age 22, marry or through April 1985, whichever comes first, provided you meet both of these conditions: You were entitled to a Social Security check for August 1981 when the law was changed, and you were attending (not just enrolled in) a post-secondary school full time before May 1982. However, be aware of these changes:

* You will receive no checks for May, June, July and August even if in school full time.

* You aren't eligible for cost-of-living increases that are given most Social Security beneficiaries each summer.

* Your benefit will be reduced 25 percent each year, starting with the September 1982 check (due October 3).

If you attend post-secondary school and first became entitled to a Social Security check for a month after August, 1981, benefits can be paid only for months of full-time attendance through July 1982 (including May, June, and July if you are in school or intend to return to school). You are not eligible after that.

2. If you attend high school -- Starting August 1982, payments generally can continue only up to the month you are 19 or until the end of the semester or quarter in which you reach 19, if later. If your school is not on a semester or quarter basis, checks will be paid until you complete the course or for 2 months after the month you are 19, whichever is first.

By now, you should have received an end-of-school-year report from the Social Security Administration. If you have not already completed the top of the form, do so right away. Then ask your school registrar or other officials to complete the bottom and return the form. If the form is not promptly returned, benefits will stop.

If you have any questions about changes in student benefits or about completing the form, contact the Social Security office. The number is 762-7381. The people there will be glad to help you.

Adolescent Pregnancy is A Crisis

Adolescent pregnancy is a crisis affecting our present and future. One million teens become pregnant each year in the United States. Anyone involved may be affected: the young mother, her unborn child, her parents, her partner and his family. In the last five years, nearly three million babies have been born to girls under 20 years of age. Over eight hundred babies were born to girls under 19 years of age in Lubbock last year.

In addition to the social and economical hurdles accompanying unwanted early pregnancy, there is a considerable health risk to the adolescent and her baby during pregnancy. The death rate caused by complications of pregnancy is much higher for girls who become pregnant before age 15.

Toxemia is a specific danger of young pregnancy. The cause is unknown but contributing factors may be the immaturity of the mother's endocrine system, malnutrition and inadequate prenatal care. Nearly half of all pregnant teens receive no pre-natal care.

Marilyn Mitchell, R.N., coordinator of the Teen Maternity Clinic at the Lubbock City Health Department explained why adolescents wait to begin prenatal care. "The teen may deny the condition to herself, refusing to believe it could happen to her. Shame, fear of parental reaction, or not being aware of the pregnancy are common reasons for the delay in seeking medical help early," said Ms. Mitchell.

The very young mother often suffers premature or prolonged, dangerous labor.

Death rates for babies born to mothers under 18 years of age are nearly twice the rate for mothers ages 20-29.

The intense demands placed on her still-growing body by the fetus may result in serious depletion of the teenage mother's own nutritional reserves.

Cesarean section deliveries are often necessary when teens give birth due to the mother's small sized pelvis. The baby's head may be too large to pass through the pelvic bones of an adolescent mother.

Many of the health problems can be prevented with early pre-natal care. Care is available at a variety of places including the Lubbock City Health Department. For further information or to schedule an appointment in the Maternity Clinic, call 762-6411, extension 2918.

Minorities Complain About System

by Denise Kinner

Last week, the Lubbock Memorial Civic Center was the site of the Law Enforcement-Community Relations Workshop.

The workshop was part of a local effort at preventing what is perceived by Justice Department officials as a statewide undclared war between minorities and the law enforcement community in Texas.

Gilbert Pompa, director of the Community Relations Service of the Justice Department, said minorities are antagonistic against police because of the perception of unequal protection and service.

Pompa said the goal of the workshop was to increase the understanding between law enforcement and minorities, enhancing the minority community's perception of law enforcement officers as allies in their fight against a common enemy -- crime.

However, enforcement personnel and minorities did agree on one issue -- both complained of being denied the opportunity to serve on juries in Lubbock County.

Marta Rosas, a representative of the Lubbock Criminal District Attorney's office, emphasized that the office has no set policy against having minorities on juries, indicating that more often it is defense attorneys who strike minorities from the jury list.

One police officer noted he resented showing up for the selection, knowing he would never be chosen.

Judge William Shaver urged minorities to register to vote and provide the county with a bigger pool of people to choose from in the jury system. He noted that many minorities are reluctant to serve on juries because they will miss work and the $6 a day compensation is simply not enough.

Why Not??

Vote! Vote! Vote!

by

If you don't vote, you don't count. Your one vote could mean the difference. With the Voting Rights Act not sealed in concrete, we must vote to show we still claim this right. Go to the polls and vote. Politicians claim to represent all people, but believe it or not, their preferences are those who vote.

Politicians respond to voters. You can hoop and holler and not vote and be left by the wayside. Work with and for politicians while they are candidates. Help them get elected and hold them to their commitments. When they get in office and become unresponsive, then replace them with someone who is responsive.

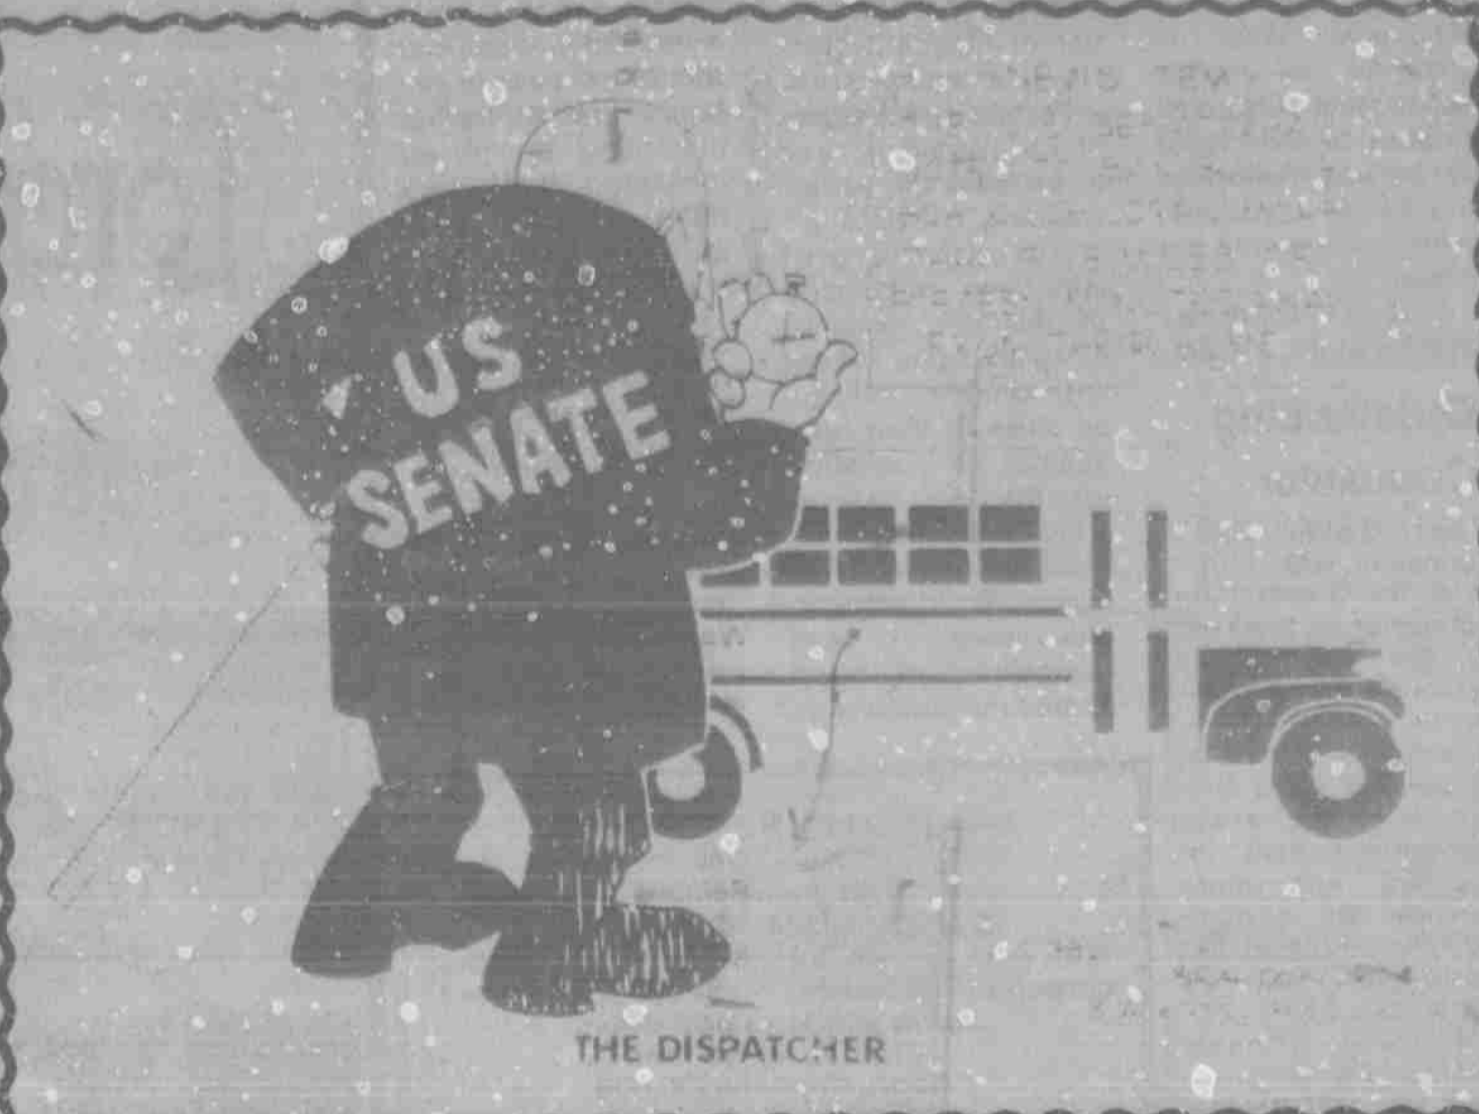

One sad situation is the Voting Rights Act, which as mentioned is not sealed in concrete, and we are not voting as we should. This adds fuel to the red neck bigots fight of why extend it (Voting Rights Act) if they don't use it anyway. Let's give the supporters and sponsors some fuel and ammunition to fight with. They are using it, at present time, to their fullest extent. This is a good positive reason for extension.

As Operation PUSH director said recently at a preparatory meeting for the march from Tuskegee to Washington on April 19th: "This is no hullabaloo. Our lives are at stake." How right you are, Rev. Jesse Jackson, with the Klu Klux Klan (KKK) running and getting their members into political office at all levels. We had better get the lead out, get up, get off and get out to the polls in numbers, and stop saying they will all do the same thing, or they all promise and do nothing as my vote didn't count anyway.

Apathy and complacency have got to go. We must become involved and informed, and check out the candidates records. As Rev. Jesse Jackson says: "Our lives are at stake!" Become involved, vote and encourage your family, neighbors and friends to become involved, and vote and use your American right to the ballot. There are usually two forms of government, either the ballot or the bullet. We must retain the ballot. We see too much of the bullet in South America and other countries. Boy, what would they give for the ballot. Think about it! We have it and don't properly use it.

After Saturday, the election will be over for some, run-offs for some, and the general election for others. Make your voice heard every step of the way, even if your candidate does not win. In every case, regardless of who wins, you will know you are a voter and they (politicians) will try in the future to win you over for the future. As the old adage says: "Vote the choice is yours; fail to vote and the choice is theirs."

breath was taken. My eyes awoken, my brain burning. But it was a buffet dinner party. For people. For pleasure. Please, Jan, not now. "If you cannot dazzle them with brilliance then baffle them with bullshit." I read the sign on the front door of a 3rd Street store in San Francisco's Black and beautiful Hunter's Point community. Congregations of colored men and women of every minority ethnic groups gather in greater numbers as the unemployment rolls rage upward. One out of every six jobs in the United States is affected by the American automobile industry. Now clearly 25 percent of what new car sales there are, go to Japanese importers. This translates into taking away about 300,000 directly related auto industry jobs.

Jobs in other non-auto related areas are also being threatened if not already taken by Japanese manufactured products. Policies to revitalize and protect America's lead in electronic technology are being placed before Congress. Considering Japan graduates four times the number of electronic engineers per capita as the U. S., it may be useless in the long run. In the short run, Reagan's administration has to address the question of open and "fair" trade with Japan.

Japan's economy will grow at an average inflation-adjustment pace of 4.5 percent a year between fiscal 1983 and 1987, according to the Japan Economic Research Center. For fiscal 1983, beginning in April, the economy will grow 35 percent with the pace accelerating to 4.7 percent in fiscal 1984 and 5.3 percent in fiscal 1985 and 1986. By contrast U. S. economic projections are so dismal as not to be discussed, except by a President's political pipe dream. Americans' personal income fell in December for the first time in nearly seven years. Dangerously close to the "severe recession of 1974-75."

Japan which enjoys a $18 billion trade surplus with the U. S. last year has sent up a trail balloon to divert the attention of the depressed group.

A Japanese-American businessman told the National Governor's Association that Japanese businessmen with the backing of their country's ruling establishment including government leaders are preparing to set up a $10 billion "recovery fund" to finance job-creating projects in the United States. See second paragraph for possibility. Pretending to over-look the real cause of the Japanese-American trade imbalance is ridiculous.

Japan does not practice fair trade with the United States. Automobile restrictions on U. S. made cars make it verily impossible for U. S. auto manufacturers to sell cars in Japan while it is open season here on U. S. manufactures and jobs. Japan also has "unjustifiable and unfair" import quotas on 27 categories of products, 22 of them agricultural and marine, according to R. E. Anderson, assistant administrator of international trade policy for the U. S. Agriculture Department. Do you mind passing the salt and pepper, Jan?

"Prof" Will Be Missed!!

Lubbock lost a great citizen last week, who came to Lubbock years ago to accept a challenge as an educator in the Lubbock Public Schools. He was Damon H. Hill, Sr. who served as in the public schools for thirty-seven years. While participating in the public schools, he served as teacher and football coach. Many times, he served as "father" to many young men who needed a male image.

During his tenure in the Lubbock Public Schools, hundreds and hundreds of young people came his way. He made an outstanding contribution in the classroom and the world in general. Many will never forget him, and are thankful to God a man of his stature came this way.

Know as "Prof" to many, he will be missed. A gentleman, educator, husband and father - our friend Damon H. Hill, Sr. is gone, but his many ideas will remain with us.

Thanks, "Prof" Damon H. Hill, Sr. for coming our way.

Bob Ticeul

A Bellringer Writes: Dear Bob -- Needless to say I miss the old friends that we made while living in Hobbs and those we met from many parts of West Texas. Father Patrick Ryan (who was killed Dec. 22, 1981) was a man of God, a man of the cloth, full of love and compassion for those who suffered. His unassuming, simple manner hid a superior intelligence that had enabled him to master the Spanish language in a very short time.

That is how much he valued those of us of Mexican ancestry. He wanted us to shout our heritage from the housetops through the use of our native tongue, our customs, our music, our faith; in essence, he wanted us to wear our culture like a badge of honor. He was baffled by those who rejected it through refusal to use the language. He exhibited a fierce determination to make us aware of our limitless potential. He encouraged the parents of his parish to share childhood stories and traditions with their children in an effort to help them appreciate the richness and fullness of their heritage.

I was privileged to be his Spanish teacher during the fall, 1980, and spring, 1981, semesters. What he learned from me was very little, compared to what I learned from him. His claim that faith in God and the Spanish language are inseparable was borne out when he asked me to speak to his parish on that topic. How much he enriched my life through that simple assignment! Those of us who claim Mexican ancestry would do well to remember "Father Paddy" and his never-ending love and high hopes for us. We will miss him." end of quote. Signed Ms. Alice Proctor, Mount Pleasant, Texas.

CHIMES: Toronado Alford was the winner of the recent Little Miss Black Awareness pageant, sponsored by Delta Sigma Theta Sorority in Odessa. Naidra Bennett was first runner-up. Kimberly Price, who played "It's My Turn" on the piano, was the talent winner. Alford was also winner of the sportswear event. The newly organized Bronze Limited Civic Club in Odessa held a luncheon recently at Terry's Steak House. Club officers installed include Mary McCullough, president; Mattie Wilson, secretary; Alene Taylor, treasurer; Veronica Sanford, parliamentarian; and Gloria Murry, business manager. Guest speaker was Mrs. Lillian Deaver. The club's purpose is service to the community. The club will also sponsor a trip to Washington, D. C. for members of Ector's Black History Club.

The U. S. Supreme Court recently refused to hear the appeal of a Baptist seminary in Fort Worth that contends the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission has no right to keep records on the school's employees. The part of the 5th Circuit decision that drew the appeal requires the seminary to file reports on employees who perform tasks 'not totally ecclesiastical or religious' ruling they were not ministers and therefore not entitled to First Amendment protection.

Church leaders also fear the court decision may lead to employment quotas being set by federal agencies without regard to moral practices and lifestyles in the context of a 'Christian community involved in theological education.'

"This is not another Bob Jones University decision where we're dealing with racial and sexual integration," said Dr. Ken Chaffin, past president of the board of trustees of Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary. "Southwestern is racially and sexually integrated," he added. It's whether the government has the right to say these people are performing religious duties and these are not."

Job Training Can Pay Its Own Way

A recent study by a major university on the impact and benefits of Federal job training efforts is indeed timely. Hopefully this data will find its way to open minded individuals within the Reagan administration.

The study strengthens the contention that Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) employees are not on a form of "welfare," as the Reagan administration maintains. In fact, the report affirms that job training can pay for itself and that such projects are investments in the future economic growth of our nation.

These are among the conclusions reached when the University of Kansas School of Business recently examined the effect of CETA training programs on participants' income. The researchers conducted their study during several three months test periods in 1979 and 1980.

Another conclusion was that the average earned income of persons trained under CETA was 65 percent higher than the income of similar individuals who had failed to secure such training.

In this connection, the study projected that training costs for CETA employees trained in 1980 will be repaid to public treasuries within seven years, as for those trained in 1979, when the nation's economic climate was better, the investment in job training will be repaid in three years. Such quick returns on the job training investment will be realized because of increased tax revenues, lower unemployment insurance outlays, and decreased welfare benefits, all stemming from the trainees improved employment status.

These findings come at a time when unemployment continues to soar to record levels. Joint House-Senate Labor Subcommittees are grappling with the issue of job training and unemployment. Hearings are being held on the question of job training and how to mount assault against joblessness among Blacks and the urban poor.

One method the Reagan administration feels will combat unemployment is the institution of Urban Enterprise Zones in selected depressed areas. However, this approach will create more ills than it cures, unless efforts are made to humanize the Urban Enterprise Zones concept and broaden the participation of minorities as employees and employers.

As the Urban Enterprise Zones are now proposed, businesses will be allowed to hide under tax shelters until the fiscal blizzard blows over. However, there is no sign that the economic uncertainty is lessening. The Urban Enterprise Zones proposal is receiving opposition in the Black community because the issue of targeted job training remains a whisper, when the issue should be noted in unmistakable terms.

Without job training, urban centers will become expanding pools of black tension, frustration and discontent. The only way to humanize the Urban Enterprise Zones plan would be to spell out how many jobs will be created for residents who reside within the zones. To further stimulate economic development, Black owned businesses must be given a key role. Black enterprise must be allowed to sit on the sidelines while other firms move in to reap all the benefits.

In addition to the creation of jobs within the Urban Enterprise Zones, existing firms outside of these areas should also be encouraged to begin intensified job training programs.

It is rather disturbing to note that at a time when Black unemployment stands at 18 percent, many large scale firms are turning to the use of robots instead of residents. From 1979 to the current year, the level of research dollars being allocated towards industrial robots has climbed from $60 million to $250 million. Few persons are opposed to automation for its own sake, but automation must be utilized to enhance rather than curtail employment opportunities.

Job training must be woven into any industrial revitalization thrust, so that when expansion and modernization result, those persons most in need of jobs will be prepared to accept them.

The seminary's suit is being monitored closely by religious institutions nationwide as a landmark case involving the issue of the separation of church and state.

The Grace Of God

Many a person sings that great song of the church that expresses the goodness of God, "Amazing Grace, how sweet the sound, that saved a wretch like me. I once was lost but now I'm found, was blind but now I see."

The immortal words were penned years ago, with a heart full of mercy of God. Today, however, many who call themselves Christians only sing from their lips and not their hearts, because their lives are still bound by sin; and we know that Jesus Christ who is the grace of God came into the world to deliver us out of the hands of Satan.

The Grace of God is presented into the world by a great and shining light. "For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men. Teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly in this present world. Looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour, Jesus Christ, who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto himself a peculiar people, zealous of good works. These things speak, and exhort, and rebuke with all authority, let no man despise thee." Titus 2:11-15.

Because Christ is in our lives, we should live victorious over the pitfalls of Satan; and because of Christ's power in our lives, it should bring understanding toward all men insofar as God will give us favor or acceptance because of his Grace.

No longer defeated, no longer, but desiring to be filled with God's Spirit and because of His Grace our lives have been made whole. Call today, 747-6892.

WORDS OF LIFE

Biblical Inspiration For The Week

"Every man to whom God has given riches...and power...this is the gift of God."
— Ecclesiastes 5:19

1 — We are all made to prosper. We are sometimes told, in a kind of superficially catchy way, to "think rich." While this may tend to turn many people off, it still points to a fundamental truth. St. John (at III John 2) says, "I wish above all else that you may prosper...even as your soul prospers." Think about that!

2 — We are made for power. Some groups who are oppressed simply have given up on the creative, imaginative, clever and determined or relentless use of the power resident within their groups. Some individuals do likewise in reference to the life force or power in them. St. John tells us: "To as many as believed, to them gave He power to become..." We are made for power possession and its use.

3 — We have all that God has. "All that the Father has shall come to me," so we are reminded in the Scriptures. Everyday is a "glory day." Every day, God's riches are made available to us fully. Have you been missing out on them?

Business Hints

By Luanna Blagrove

WHAT IS A "SMALL BUSINESS"?

What is the true definition of a small business? If one would ask a thousand people, legal and otherwise, no one would give the same answer. From research and statistical reports they normally use as a guideline a gross sale figure to $200,000 and upward or by the number of employees -- fifty and upward as a frame of reference. Even they do not know. Thus, it is understandable why such little study and research have been done on both the self-employed individuals and the small business per se. No one knows what he is looking for, nor where to start looking. How can anyone find something that is not in existence? How can one find a business structure that does not exist? There is no such business structure as a small business. A business must be a proprietor, partnership, or corporation. The word "small" have no bearing on a business at all.

The negative effect of the word "small" has put limits on many people in business. They have come to accept this word of limitation and live within its confines, thus lessening the motivation to grow and expand. This is the type of negative wording that people write and talk about. There is no room for positive thinking. In other words, subconsciously one blocks out growth. From the sages of all times: "As a man thinketh so is he."

The first thing that should be done with all businesses that are at a point of standstill or decline, the owner(s) should bury the word "small". They should detach this word from their association and refuse to have anyone else give them the title as small business. At no time does the self-employed smart businessperson refer to his business as "small". Big businesses show themselves big and keep getting bigger. They place no limitation as to size on their business nor do they give others the privilege to do so.

First Black Navy Officers Return To Sea

In March 1944, a significant step in history was taken when 13 Black men were commissioned as officers in the United States Navy at the Officers Candidate School in Great Lakes, Illinois. On April 13th, 1982, 38 years later, the eight surviving members will return to sea. Self-named the "Golden Thirteen" -- the first Black men to wear the gold stripes of the U.S. Navy officers -- these men will embark on a short cruise aboard USS KIDD (DD 993), a modern destroyer from Norfolk, Virginia. During the cruise, they will receive extensive briefings and observe ship exercises in shiphandling, navigation, seamanship, engineering and gunnery.

In World War II, they served with distinction aboard small craft and at Navy shore stations and like many Americans were discharged at the conclusion of the war. Thirty-eight years later, each surviving member can claim exceptional success in his chosen civilian profession. Among the "Golden Thirteen" members are educators, businessmen and a Justice, Illinois Appellate Court. This marks their first time on board a United States warship since World War II.

Former Grambling Prexy Succumbs

By Colie J. Nicholson

Dr. R.W.E. Jones
1905 — 1982

Grambling, La. - One of the great joys of life is to know a man whose personal qualities are so enduring that they will influence generations yet unborn.

Such a man was Ralph Waldo Emerson Jones, former president of Grambling State University. "Prez" as he was universally known, died Friday following a brief illness at Lincoln General hospital in Ruston, La. Over 2,500 paid final tribute to the noted leader Monday in the college auditorium. Dr. Jones was 77. He retired in 1977 after 51 years of service, 41 as Grambling's president.

The pioneer educator never tired of talking about his beloved Grambling. His unwavering allegiance to the traditional values of diligence, sobriety, hard work, loyalty and discipline are well-known.

In an age when fundamental values are often deserted for the new or expedient, his life was a sermon by example.

Dr. Jones' achievements in building Grambling from a few tattered frame buildings into a foremost landmark institution are legendary.

He was the single, most important force in moving the university into international prominence.

Dr. Joseph B. Johnson, who succeeded Jones as president, said "the nation has lost a great friend."

"President Jones was an extraordinary, distinguished, humane giant who turned Grambling into a household word."

He was characteristically kind and courteous, though quick to censure injustice or deviation from principle. Grambling was open to anyone willing to work during his years at the helm. "Nobody was turned away," Dr. Johnson recalled. "Prez" felt education was the salvation for our people.

State representative Alphonso Jackson, Jr. called him "a great educator and humanitarian and a legend in his lifetime. He possessed a wonderful heart and spirit that was used to uplift humanity all over America. President Jones asked so little and gave so much."

Dr. Jones understood that the potential for good and evil exists in every man; that intelligence and education are not synonymous with honesty and integrity; that the logic of emotion is often stronger than the logic of reason; that men must live by principles, yet achieve social goals.

Thank God For Jesus Forget The Dress Code & Save The Soul! (Especially For The Saints)

There are some people, who preaches the dress code.

When their message should be, about saving one's soul. (Let's preach)

John 3:16: "For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten son that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life."

(Don't Preach) Lipstick This & Lipstick That. Having lipstick on is not where the sin's at. (Let's Preach)

Ecclesiastes 3:8: "A time to love, and a time to hate: a time of war, and a time of peace. (Because God don't have an ugly church).

(Don't Preach) About short dresses, skirts and blue jeans.

Let's preach love -- Then ways to be clean! About God's everlasting love, and not about wardrobe!

Luke 5:31-32: "And Jesus answering said unto them, they that are whole need not a physician: but they that are sick -- I came not to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance. (Teach Love)

Love is telling the young lady, something she should know, those bluejeans look good on your soul, but God's coming after it. Haven't you been told.

(Teach Love -- All God's Children Look Good) Say Young Man, your hair looks good, it's -- OKAY!

I'd like to see under your scalp, think a different way!

(Teach Love) Say that lipstick looks good on your lips. Will you say get behind me Satan, and don't let the bad words slip. You see I once was blind, but thank God I now see!

Satan is deceiving you, just like he was n. 3. Being raised in the church, I remembered something from long, long time ago! Something about standing and knocking at the door. (I let God come in)

Revelation 3:20 "Behold, I stand at the door, and knock: if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will support with him, and he with me."

(Pray and ask him to come in) AMEN

National Hospital Week

Highland Hospital joins with hospitals all across the country in celebrating National Hospital Week, May 9-15. This special observance is built around the theme slogan, "You've Got A Friend In The Hospital."

To promote employee, patient and community involvement during the week, your 315 friends at Highland Hospital will be sponsoring a blood drive in cooperation with South Plains Blood Services on Tuesday, May 11 from 8 a. m. to 12 noon. The community is invited to give the gift of life and help ease the area's shortage.

Highland would also like to remind the community to be a good friend to themselves by inviting the public to a National Hospital Week Health Fair on Wednesday, May 12 from 9:00 a. m. to 4:00 p. m. The hospital lobby will be transformed into an area of exhibits offering health screenings and information throughout the day.

Blood pressure and diabetes screenings, height and weight measurements, respiratory testing, vision, hearing and speech screenings, developmental education screenings for infants through age 3 and computerized cancer risk testing are among the many services being offered at Highland, located at 50th Street and University.

National Hospital Week is sponsored each year by the American Hospital Association and its 6,000 member hospital to foster better communication and understanding between hospitals and their patients, employees and the communities they serve.

It was Homecoming Day at the New Hope Baptist Church. It was a great day as well as the 55th Church Anniversary. Yes, it all happened last Sunday, April 25th. Services were usual, beginning with Sunday School. Speaker for the day was Rev. A. L. Sneed of Austin, Texas.

During the morning worship services, devotion was led by the Deacons of the church. Rev. Sneed chose as his text St. Mark 5:25-29. His subject was "The Lord's Medicine Chest".

It was good to see Rev. S. S. Scott come back to New Hope. He is the oldest member in the congregation.

During the afternoon services, at 3 p. m., climaxing the anniversary services, devotion was led by Deacon Swain. The choir was at their post of duty. Scripture and prayer were offered by Rev. Roy P. Davis. A lovely was given by Linda Polk. The church history was given by Deacon R. J. Givens. Roll call of members from the 1920's to the 1940's was read by Mrs. Joan Y. Ervin.

A special recognition was done by Deacon Ulysses Kelly. Introduction of the Homecoming speaker was done by Deacon Ernest Swain.

During this service, Rev. A. L. Sneed brought another power message. His text was Joshua 1:7-8. His subject was "Only The Strong Survive." He commented that anything that last must have lasting power. Rev. and Mrs. S. S. Scott were the honored guest.

The members of New Hope were glad to have Mrs. Mamie Black back. She hasn't been too well. It appears as though she enjoyed the anniversary services.

Special remarks were made at the services by the Chairman of the Deacon Board, George Francis.

Among those present at the anniversary were the mother and aunt of Mrs. Dempsey Taylor. They are from Ballinger, Texas. They worshipped all day with the members of New Hope.

Let us continue to whisper a prayer for our sick and shut ins.

Girl Scouts On "What's Going On"

Several members of Caprock Girl Scout Council were guests on Channel 11's "What's Going On?" TV program Sunday, April 25, at 12:30 p.m.

Interviewed on the show were Mrs. Rick Childers, Brownie and Junior Girl Scout troop leader and also a member of the Community Organization Team and the Personnel Services Committee of the Board of Directors of the council, and Mrs. John Mallory, 1st Vice President of the council board and also a leader of Junior and Cadette troops.

These members of the council cited a need for more volunteer workers within the Caprock Girl Scout Council area. The women said that leaders and assistant leaders, as well as troop organizers, day camp staff and other positions are open for those who would like to work with this worldwide organization. They urged persons interested in such volunteer positions to contact the Caprock Girl Scout office by calling 745-2855.

During the program, girls from Troops No. 3, No. 44 and No. 184 gave demonstrations of interest projects in which they've been involved.

Troop No. 3, comprised of Junior Girl Scouts in grades 4 through 6, showed examples of applying clown make-up. The girls even used the program host, T. J. Patterson, as a subject to demonstrate the application of clown make-up. Troop No. 44, a Brownie troop made up of second and third graders, illustrated the use of "lemon" sticks. The sticks are used in a game of skill and dexterity in which certain routine movements are performed by partners to the accompaniment of music or a rhythmic chant.

Troop No. 184, a Brownie troop from St. Luke's Baptist Church, showed craft projects which they've worked on in troop meetings. Some of the crafts shown were purses made from placemats and ceramic toothbrush holders which have been painted by the girls.

Girls and their leaders who participated in the TV program were Cheryl Nichols, Troop No. 3 leader with Sheila Sprowis, Charlotte Skief, Lakacia Wilson and Stephanie Skief; Mrs. Pat Paul, leader of Troop No. 44 with Mary Louise Lopez, Denise Moody, Coloma Almager, Shirene Johnson, Bennette Miller, Angela Williams, Amy Paul, Marcy Lopez, and Angel Moody; Mrs. Sandra Stewart, Troop 184 leader with Candra Stewart, Donna Carr and Tanya Johnson.

CRIMINAL DISTRICT ATTORNEY
For Tough, Aggressive Prosecution & Leadership in the 80's Continue the Tradition...

MEMBER:
State Bar of Texas
Lubbock County Bar Association
Greater Lubbock Rotary Club

In the 1978 election for Criminal District Attorney, the citizens of Lubbock County overwhelmingly committed themselves to an all-out battle against crime. Since that time, we have seen tougher, more aggressive prosecutions in our courts of law, enhanced teamwork on the part of all law enforcement agencies and an increasing level of public awareness and involvement in fighting crime.

All of this has been the work of a team whose only commitment is to making Lubbock County a safer place in which to live. In these 1982 elections, we must choose a leader, a new Criminal District Attorney, who is committed to the policies that have served us well in the past and who is willing to bring new ideas and energy to our continuing fight against crime. We need someone who has played a principle role in establishing the tradition of tough, aggressive law enforcement that has come into being in Lubbock County.

Travis Ware is the candidate who will give us the continuity in leadership and policy we must have. Travis has been on the frontlines since the beginning of this effort. As Chief Felony Prosecutor, he has not only built a record in the courtroom second to none, but he has also played a key role in the policy making of this administration. Travis Ware can give the citizens of Lubbock County the experience and commitment we need to continue our fight against crime. Since making our commitment to law and order for Lubbock County in 1978, we have set a tradition that is looked to by others throughout the State of Texas. We must not turn back now!

Black Caucus Challenges Administration

Washington, D. C. -- Congressman Walter E. Fauntroy (D-DC), Chairman of the Congressional Black Caucus, has notified President Reagan of deep CBC concern about recent developments at the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC). According to Congressman Fauntroy, recent policy and personnel changes imperil an agency that is vital in protecting the rights of Black, Hispanic and female citizens. The treatment of career personnel, in particular, appears to violate civil service laws, and to raise a presumption of Title VII violations, in that they have had a disparate effect on minorities.

In a letter to President Reagan, requesting ... P. O. BOX 1223, LUBBOCK, TEXAS 79408 ... As they would say ... "COME AND SEE!"

ing an immediate meeting. Congressman Fauntroy cited five (5) recent developments within EEOC that he says "harken back to the days when the agency suffered from internal chaos, charges of racial motivations for hiring, placement or promotion, inadequate, politically-motivated management, and lackluster professional performance." Congressman Fauntroy noted that this past chaos hampered productivity in processing legitimate complaints of discrimination. After vast improvements and procedural reforms in recent years, it appears that the EEOC once again is experiencing increased backlogs and dramatic decreases in litigation and policy development.

Specifically, the CBC is concerned that: The only regional attorneys adversely affected by interim management decisions were Black males; and experienced Black male office director was removed in favor of a GS-14, white female without management experience.

This same Black male and others have been denied the 120-day notice required by the Civil Service Reform Act, and have been made offers which management knew were untenable. An effective and experienced Hispanic employee was stripped of his job with three (3) hours notice and assigned to a previously non-existent job in the Office of General Counsel.

Other highly-placed Black and female career employees have been threatened with similar treatment, and

Previously, personnel actions affecting Senior Executives were reviewed by a highly-integrated Executive Resources Board. The Board is now completely white.

MONTFORD

John T. Montford, candidate for the Texas State Senate, District 28, has built a strong record of public service to the people of West Texas. He has been recognized for his accomplishments by being named Man of the Year in Law Enforcement, 1979, Executive of the Year, 1981, Boss of the Year, 1980, and Headliner of the Year, 1979. As Criminal District Attorney for Lubbock County, Texas, he has kept his commitment to his constituents in Lubbock, as he will to the citizens of District 28 as their Senator in Austin. As he stated in his announcement of candidacy, "A legislator's strength lies in his commitment to the people who elect him. I intend to keep my word and the commitments I make to you during this campaign in order to continually keep your trust."

John Montford ... On the Issues

Water: Unless we quickly come to grips with the water shortage problems we face in West Texas, the social and economic environment of this area will rapidly deteriorate. The water problem, however, is not isolated to West Texas. Dallas, Houston and other areas of Texas which have traditionally voted against water program referendums face serious problems also. The key then to passing a water program that will benefit us in West Texas is to incorporate such a program into a comprehensive plan that will address the serious needs of all Texans. John Montford can provide us with the statesmanship and leadership necessary to make this a reality. John can give us the effective voice we need, not only to voice our problems, but to help make other Texans aware that they have water problems and thereby bring about a unified effort on the part of all Texans to resolve our mutual water problems now.

Education: The most important asset we possess is our children. We must give them an excellent education. This means hiring and retaining the highest quality teachers, paying them a decent salary and providing them with the tools necessary to do their jobs effectively. We must stop the exodus of quality educators from the classroom to the private sector for our children's sake. John is committed to doing no less, for our children's futures are at stake.

Agriculture: Commodities, such as cotton, sorghum and corn, have provided us with the dollars that have fueled our economy for years, but today the farm community is facing a crisis forcing many farmers out of business. We must support our farmers, open new markets and assist in implementing new, orderly marketing concepts. John is committed to taking positive action now, for without strong action the farmers' demise could very well be our own.

Crime: As a Criminal District Attorney, John Montford has first hand knowledge of the crime problem. As a Senator, John is committed to introducing a tough anti-crime package that will attack our spiraling crime rate. This package would include tougher penalties for DWI offenders, preventive detention for criminals caught "red-handed" committing a serious offense, reexamination of our juvenile justice system and opposition to any attempt to repeal the Texas Habitual Offender Statute. John Montford is committed to keeping the criminals off the streets and protecting the rights of the law abiding citizens.
