Local Student Selected To Attend National Junior Leaders Conference

Washington, D. C. -- Austin Williams has been selected to attend the 2002 National Junior Leaders Conference in Washington.

Williams, a ninth grader at Cavazos Junior High School, was selected as a student who has demonstrated academic excellence, extracurricular involvement and strong leadership potential.

He is the son of J. Leon Williams, who is a counselor with Lubbock Independent School District and Elise Browne, a nursing instructor at South Plains College.

This summer, approximately 800 academically talented and motivated middle school students from around the country will attend the NJLC in Washington, D. C., Boston, Mass., or Houston, Texas. Through special interactive workshops and activities, they'll learn and practice leadership skills, including effective communication, problem solving, conflict resolution, team building and time management. "They'll develop confidence and maturity while gaining skills that will help them achieve success in high school, college and life," says Dr. Gilbert Morris, Director of Academics.

"Leadership is not just for those in our government and businesses," says Chris M. Salamone, Esq., Founder and Executive Director of NJLC. "Leadership begins with our young people -- in their homes, their schools, and their communities -- as they seek knowledge and understanding and work to improve the world around them."

"The NJLC commits itself to providing youth with unparalleled opportunities for personal growth, leadership and educational advancement. It's my hope that the NJLC will give our young leaders the skills to help them along the road toward a successful and rewarding life of leadership."

This year, students can choose from two academic focuses: Law & Justice and Defense, Intelligence & Diplomacy. They will be immersed in their chosen area of study and engage in real-world simulations. NJLC students will attend special briefings and field trips and meet and talk with prominent leaders such as judges, members of Congress, Ambassadors, White House staff, and other government and military officials. Through discussions and debates, they'll share ideas and be challenged to think in new ways.

Since 1989, Mr. Salamone has developed and administered leadership and academic programs for promising and academically talented young leaders. These programs have given more than 15,000 exceptional students from over 35 countries the chance to learn first-hand about leadership and to explore its role in a variety of educational disciplines.

Further information on the NJLC can be found at www.njlc.org or by calling 1-888-315-NJLC (6552).

Children or Tax Cuts--the Nation Must Decide

The Children's Defense Fund Urges Repeal of Tax Cuts for the Wealthiest One Percent

"Follow the money and you will find what we truly care about and stand for as a nation," said Marian Wright Edelman, founder and president of the Children's Defense Fund. "Budgets represent moral and social choices—not just economic ones. It is time to make better choices to protect our children."

In a new report, The State of Children in America's Union: A 2002 Action Guide to Leave No Child Behind, the Children's Defense Fund (CDF) assesses the state of children in our nation; whether the Bush administration has kept its promises to Leave No Child

Behind—CDF's trademarked mission statement; and calls on the President and Congress to increase funding for quality child care to help more families work and 2 million more children get ready for school.

"CDF's proposed $20 billion child care funding increase is a step towards providing child care for all eligible children at a time when the federal Child Care and Development Block Grant, which Congress must reauthorize this year along with the 1996 welfare law; is reaching only one in seven eligible children," CDF President Marian Wright Edelman said.

"The administration's welfare proposals require poor mothers to work more hours but provide not a single new penny for child care over the next five years. Rather than freezing child care and after-school funding and the number of children in Head Start as the Bush administration budget proposes, the nation should demand that Congress and the administration freeze and repeal the tax breaks for the wealthiest one percent of Americans instead," Mrs. Edelman stated.

The CDF report follows the money and finds the administration's

"BRIDGING THE DIGITAL GAP"

Pictured above are students from the Upward Bound program at Texas Tech University who are shown during a special presentation of a donation of computers from the Southwest Coca Cola, and were presented to them by Derek Holden of Southwest Coca Cola. These computers received will be rebuilt for the utilization of many Senior Citizens in the Lubbock community.

This program is sponsored by the Texas Tech University

College of Engineering and the SBC CLEAR Program

Others present were Eric Strong, executive director of Upward Bound; A. Dean Fontenot, Ph.D., Managing Director, SBC CLEAR Program; and John R. Chandler, Ph.D., Director, Technical Communications, College of Engineering.

City Councilman T. J. Patterson also spoke to the young people and thanked them for their involvement and helping those who were seniors in the community.

Fashion Fun

by Shirley Roberson

Hawaiian Prints

Beautiful, beautiful Hawaii, so many of us will never have the opportunity to visit Hawaii, but that shouldn't stop us from enjoying its fashions.

When we think of Hawaii, we think tropical, sunshine, blue skies, sand, pebbles and clear crystal blue water.

Hawaiian prints are very popular right now, lightweight, cool, fresh, breezy, lively, comfortable with a combination of exciting vibrant colors.

This summer you will see a lot of T-straps with long wrap around skirts, which are called Sarongs.

There are also halter tops with short Hawaiian printed skirts. The designs are palm trees, sea shells, sail boats, ocean waves, surfboards, fish and zodiac signs, if that is not enough you can get the Sarong by itself, which can be worn as a dress. The wrap around skirt can also be used as a cover up.

There are also shorts, capri pants, denim jeans, crop tops, unconstructed blazers, fitted blouses, t-shirts, shells, and mini or long shirt dresses with the same eye catching pattern.

To finalize your outfit, Hawaiian wood crafted jewelry is a must.

So ladies think fashion, think fun and by all means think Hawaiian.

Tip. For your total fashion look, always wear a smile!

As the company grew, so did the size of the dolls, and with training in mold-making and resin-pouring, J&T moved into life-sized Santa figures. The elaborately sculpted and costumed designs have attracted the attention of such notable clients as the Texas Governor's Mansion, where it was occupied by now-President George W. JAY'S CORNER

The New Hope Baptist Church 2002-Birch Avenue, is the "Church Where The People Really Care," and Rev. Billy R. Moton is the pastor. If you are still looking for a church home, then come and visit with us at the New Hope Baptist Church. You will be glad you chose to do so. So come and be with us. Remember, God is able!

Services began last Sunday morning with Sunday School, beginning at 9:30 a.m. All teachers were present and on time. It was Youth Sunday, and our young people did another wonderful thing. Our young people received thirty minutes of instruction and reassembled to the main auditorium at 10:15 a.m. What a time all had in the Lord.

Members of the Youth Department were in charge of the morning devotional period and were assisted by the Praise Team. It was great!

The Youth Choir marched in the morning processional singing out of their hearts and souls. Praise God for our young people. Altar prayer was offered by Rev. Charles Wilson. After the singing of a selection by the Youth Choir, scripture was read by Sister Britany Wilson. Prayer was given by Brother David Williams. Another selection was sung by the Youth Choir. Responsive reading was done with the congregation standing and led by Brother Leonard Wilson. The morning hymn was "In The Sanctuary."

Pastoral observations were given by Pastor Moton who always has something positive to give the congregation. After the singing of another selection by the Youth Choir, Pastor Moton delivered the morning sermon. His subject was "Bloom Where You're Planted." His scripture text was Genesis 39:2-6. It was another great message. The announcements of the morning were made by Sister Elaine Lindsey. Sister Vickie Kendrick welcomed all visitors.

Immediately after church services last Sunday morning, a "Pre-Father's Day Dinner" was held for all fathers and grandfathers. It was held in the New Hope Baptist Church's Supper Club. It was sponsored by the Youth/Young Adult Department and the New Hope Baptist Church women.

Vacation Bible School is being held this week through Friday, June 14, 2002 at New Hope Baptist Church.

The National Baptist Congress of Christian Education is being held in St. Louis, Missouri June 17 through June 21, 2002.

The young people of New Hope Baptist Church will be taking their annual trip June 20 through June 23, 2002 in the Dallas/Ft. Worthy Texas area. These young people are looking forward to this exciting time of the year.

Don't forget the Mid-Week Prayer meeting and Bible study each Wednesday evening. Wednesday, June 19, 2002, the Ola Scott and Burrough Circles will be responsible for the devotional period. It all begins at 7:00 p.m.

Let us not forget our sick and shut in citizens of the community. There are many who are ill at this report. If you know of anyone who is shut-in, why not go and visit or give them a telephone call.

In Cinque

by Renetta W. Howard

The regular school year is over in most school districts now and students who are of age to work are out looking for jobs. Many of these students have completed high school and are looking for career jobs. Some of them do not intend to further their education. They are happy with a high school diploma, which is a blessing for many as there are many students who never felt that they would make it through high school.

Today's high schools generally have courses, which will help students to secure and maintain career jobs. The problem being that there are not many jobs of this nature available now. Many jobs that were available are no longer there due to the recession. The job market has shrunk on budget needs do not match its promises to Leave No Child Behind.

 • The administration hails Head Start as the nation's "premier early childhood education program." His 2002 budget would have cut children from Head Start and its 2003 budget will not give even one more child a Head Start.
 • In January 2002, with great fanfare, the President signed his "No Child Left Behind" (H.R. 1) education reform bill and "vowed to make educating every child his number one domestic priority..." The administration's 2003 budget proposed the smallest education increase in the past seven years.
 • In his inaugural address, President Bush rightly declared "that deep, persistent poverty is unworthy of our nation's promise." His 2002 budget then proposed a $1.6 trillion tax cut that disproportionately benefited the wealthy. It also proposed to double the child tax credit from $500 to $1,000 but only for upper and middle income families leaving 17 million children behind, including a majority of Black and Latino children. In 2003, the administration seeks to accelerate and make permanent the huge tax cuts enacted by Congress for the wealthiest Americans.

 • The Bush administration's budget choices favor powerful corporate interests and the wealthiest taxpayers over children's urgent needs; widen the gap between rich and poor—already at its largest recorded point in over 30 years; and repeatedly break promises and fail to seize opportunities to Leave No Child Behind," said Mrs. Edelman.
 The report states that the money spent for the tax cut for the wealthiest one percent of Americans when fully phased in could pay for almost all the provisions of the comprehensive Act to Leave No Child Behind (S. 940/H.R. 1990) including quality child care, Head Start, after-school programs, health care, nutrition, protections against child abuse, neglect and homelessness, and lift millions of children in working families from poverty. Yet, in the richest and most powerful democratic nation in the world:

 • A child is born into poverty every 43 seconds.
 • A child is born without health insurance every minute—90 percent of the nine million uninsured children live in working families.
 • Seven million children are home alone without adult supervision often after school when they are at greatest risk of getting into trouble.
 "These facts are not acts of God. They are our moral and political choices as Americans," said Mrs. Edelman. "It is time for our great nation to truly commit to Leave No Child Behind and to lead rather than lag many other nations of the world in giving our children a healthy and fair start in life."

all levels. The fall of Enron alone has displaced many gainfully employed people. The domino effect sent Anderson employees to the unemployment office as well. Many of these workers were skilled employees. These people across the United States where the fall of Anderson and Enron had an effect, have been caused to seek the jobs which probably would have been available to entry level employees had the fall not occurred.
 Unskilled workers will have a difficult time securing employment this summer. A few summer or seasonal jobs may be available, but long-term employment will be scarce for unskilled labor. College graduates may find some entry level employment with lower than usual pay scales. Graduates with technical skills may not have as difficult a time as some others in finding work. Secretarial jobs now dictate proficiency in the use of a computer and other electronic devices.

 The job of secretary has more or less showcased the skills needed for most jobs in offices over the years. Long ago, a secretary needed to know how to take dictation in some form; preferably shorthand, and how to type. Shorthand became obsolete when the dictaphone machine was introduced. The computer has eliminated the use of the typewriter in many instances, except for rare form completion, just as the copy machine has eliminated the widespread use of carbon paper. There are in use now, computers that do not require typing. You can write your message in long hand and the computer will translate it into type.

 Students today need to think long and hard about aborting their educational journey upon completion of high school. We need to get "in cinque" and realize that one needs more than a high school education to secure career employment which will give one a decent salary for a decent living.

Juneteenth a Time for Black Celebration

Holiday Commemorates End of Slavery, Beginning of Self-Determination

"Juneteenth," the oldest known celebration marking the end of slavery in America, is observed on June 19. Members of the African-American leadership network Project 21 ask for people everywhere to set aside some time on this day to reflect upon progress already made by black Americans and consider where challenges still remain.

Juneteenth commemorates the anniversary of the day in 1865 when Union soldiers arrived in Galveston, Texas with news of the end of the Civil War the previous April and the emancipation of slaves almost two-and-a-half years earlier. For newly-freed African-Americans, the annual celebration was a time of reassurance and rejoicing. Juneteenth activities range from prayer services to picnics, but education and self-improvement have been a constant theme throughout the years.

In 1980, Juneteenth was made an official state holiday in Texas. Other states are considering their own Juneteenth holidays, but it is nonetheless celebrated across America and is featured in the programming of the prestigious Smithsonian Institution in Washington, DC.

Although absolute racial equality is still elusive in the United States, celebrations such as Juneteenth highlight how far hard-working black Americans have advanced. It also shows how goals are attainable though continued determination and by taking advantage of presented opportunities.

"The Juneteenth holiday gives black Americans the chance to measure our current condition with past struggles and victories," said Project 21 member Ak'Bar Shabazz. "Although it's a day of celebration, we should remember that we pay those slaves a major disservice if we neglect to maximize our opportunities today."

A reason for celebrating this year is increased black financial prosperity. Information compiled by Project 21 shows the median weekly salary for African-Americans rose by 44 percent between 1985 and 1997. In education, the number of black college graduates has quadrupled since 1960, and high school graduation rates of black students have pulled statistically even with their white counterparts.

One cause for concern is property ownership. Initial Juneteenth celebrations were sometimes discouraged through the denial of permits to celebrate on public land. This lead black communities to pool their resources and purchase property for such events. Today, government policies to prevent "urban sprawl" and the perceived threat of overdevelopment are threatening to deny black Americans of opportunities for affordable and convenient housing at a time when black homeownership is approaching a level equal to whites. (A report on how these "smart growth" planning policies are negatively impacting black homeownership will be released by Project 21 later this year.)

EZEKIEL 22:1, 2. MOREOVER THE WORD OF THE LORD CAME UNTO ME, SAYING, NOW THOU SON OF MAN, WILT THOU JUDGE, WILT THOU JUDGE THE BLOODY CITY? YEA, THOU SHALT SHEW HER ALL HER ABOMINATIONS.

WE KNOW THE FATHER IS SUPPOSE TO BE THE LEADER OF THE HOUSEHOLD, GOD MADE MAN THE HEAD; AND THAT IS WHAT ADAM WASH IN THE GARDEN WE'RE TOLD.

1 CORINTHIANS 11:8, 9. FOR THE MAN IS NOT OF THE WOMAN; BUT THE WOMAN OF THE MAN, NEITHER WAS THE MAN CREATED FOR THE WOMAN; BUT THE WOMAN FOR THE MAN.

BUT THE DEVIL LIED TO THE WOMAN; TODAY AS IN THE GARDEN TO EVE; YOU HAVE RIGHTS LIKE THE MAN; EVEN TODAY; SHE'S BEEN DECEIVED. (THE DEVIL'S LIES: WOMAN RIGHTS, CHILDREN RIGHTS, RUN AWAY RIGHTS, GAY RIGHTS, BLACKS RIGHTS, WHITE RIGHTS, KILL THE FAMILY RIGHTS, BOMB THE FEDERAL BUILDING RIGHTS, SUICIDE RIGHTS, KILL THE TEACHER AND THE STUDENTS RIGHTS AND MANY MORE.)

PROVERB 14:12, THERE IS A WAY WHICH SEEMETH RIGHT UNTO A MAN, BUT THE END THEREOF ARE THE WAYS OF DEATH.

THE U.S.A. IS HUNGER FOR MANKIND RIGHTS; NOW TROUBLE IS HERE TODAY. THE HOME IS NOW ONE PARENT; FATHER IN THE HOME; NO WAY.

IT TAKES TWO PEOPLE TO GET CHILDREN; "BUT HE WANTED TO MOVE ON, LEAVING THE MOTHER WITH THREE CHILDREN; TO RAISE ON HER OWN.

PROVERB 3:5, TRUST IN THE LORD WITH ALL THINE HEART; AND LEAN NOT UNTO THINE OWN UNDERSTANDING.

HE SAYS, HE IS A MAN; BECAUSE OF THE NEW CADILLAC HE SPORTS, IT'S BEEN THREE YEARS NOW; AND HE HAVEN PAID HIS CHILD SUPPORT.

PROVERB 17:21, HE THAT BEGETTETH A FOOL DOETH IT TO HIS SORROW;

AND THE FATHER OF A FOOL HATH NO JOY.

THIS WHOLE NATION SEEMS TO BE FATHERLESS; AND ITS TRUE ON A WHOLE, WE'RE LOSING OUR CHILDREN VERY FAST; AND YOU DON'T HAVE TO BE TOLD.

PROVERB 28:24, WHOSO ROBBETH HIS FATHER OR HIS MOTHER, AND SAITH, IT IS NO TRANSGRESSION; THE SAME IS THE COMPANION OF A DESTROYER.

THE ARM OF THE FATHERLESS; HAS BEEN BROKEN IN MANY WAYS, THE MOTHERS WHO ARE TRYING TO TRAIN; THEY ARE THE CHILDREN'S SLAVES.

PROVERB 22:15, 23:13, 14, FOOLISHNESS IS BOUND IN THE HEART OF A CHILD; BUT THE ROD OF CORRECTION SHALL DRIVE IT FAR FROM HIM. WITHHOLD NOT CORRECTION FROM THE CHILD: FOR IF THOU BEATEST (SPANK) HIM WITH THE ROD, HE SHALL NOT DIE. THOU SHALT BEAT (SPANK) HIM WITH THE ROD, AND SHALT DELIVER HIS SOUL FROM HELL.

THE HANDS OF THE MOTHERS AND FATHERS ARE TIED; AFRAID OF CHILD'S RIGHTS, WE'RE LOSING THEM TO JAILS AND PRISONS AND GRAVES; AND IT'S NOT RIGHT.

PROVERB 29:18, WHERE THERE IS NO VISION, THE PEOPLE PERISH; BUT HE THAT KEEPETH THE LAW, HAPPY IS HE. I THANK GOD FOR OUR SON KYRON; AND FOR ALL HIS CHILDREN. HE HAS TWO CHILDREN FROM OTHER HOUSEHOLDS, AND THREE IN THEIR HOME;

YET THEY ARE ALL CALLED SISTER AND BROTHERS; NOT HALF SISTER AND BROTHERS. I THANK GOD FOR HIS WIFE CYNTHIA; THEY ARE NOT HER CHILDREN; AND SHE LOVES THEM ALL. KNOWING THEY ARE INNOCENT; THEY DIDN'T ASK TO COME INTO THIS WORLD; THEY NEED LOVE FROM THEIR FATHER ALSO, AND SHE KNOWS THAT; BUT THAT IS WHAT A MOTHER'S LOVE IS ALL ABOUT.

PROVERB 27:8, AS A BIRD WANDERETH FROM HER NEST, SO IS A MAN THAT WANDERETH FROM HIS PLACE.

WRITTEN BY EVANGELIST BILLY B.J. MORRISON. 111. YOUR BROTH IN CHRIST JESUS.

from the Desk of Parson D.A. Smith
"Can You Believe It?"

"Jesus saith unto her, Thy brother shall rise again. Martha saith unto him, I know that he shall rise again in the resurrection at the last day. Jesus said unto her, I am the resurrection, and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live:

And whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die. Believest thou this? She saith unto him, Yea, Lord: I believe that thou art the Christ, the Son of God, which should come into the world". —John 11:23-27

Ripley's Believe It Or Not was a popular feature in many newspapers. The comic panels fascinated comic's readers with unbelievable facts from around the world. Readers were enthralled every day in more than 37 countries including Saudi Arabia, New Zealand, and Norway. The stranger-than-fiction facts intrigued readers.

Some of Ripley's Believe It or Not were "Every year 200 billion gallons of water fall on the earth! In 1800 B.C., men and women in Babylonia powdered their hair and eyebrows with 'gold dust'. The elevators in Tokyo, Japan's Sunshiae 60 Building carry passengers to the 60th floor at a speed of 227 miles-per-hour or 2,000 feet per second. A Black Orpington chicken named 'Princess Te Kawau' laid 261 eggs in 364 days in New Zealand in 1930. The courtroom of Judge Roberto Portugal in Curitiba, Brazil, featured soothing music, aromatherapy scents, walls painted with calming colors."

People, though perhaps less gullible and more skeptical of Ripley's Believe It or Not, are still fascinated by facts that "blow their minds", as it were. The human intellect is titillated by information and happenings that seem to be supernatural or supernormal.

Our future-shock era has been marked by so many wondrous and awesome discoveries and achievements that "incredible" and "unbelievable" seem to be only adjectives to describe them.

When Jesus was speaking with Mary and Martha in John 11 and asking them to believe an absolutely incredible truth—that He had power over death. It was hard to believe then, and it is hard to believe now. Our medical miracles and technological advances cannot overcome death. We must still accept faith that Jesus is "The resurrection and the life".

Jesus proved His outrageous claim by raising Lazarus—and Jairus's daughter, and the son of the widow from Nain. His own resurrection is the ultimate evidence.

Martha believed in the resurrection. When Jesus said, "Thy brother shall rise again. He meant, "He shall rise here and now", but Martha's thoughts were of the final resurrection. This she believed. This was her faith. Soon that faith would be expanded.

Martha was convinced and did not hesitate to make the confession that must come from the lips and the heart of every one who would follow Jesus. She believes that Jesus was the Christ. She believes that He had a unique relationship with God the Father.

The question to you is "Can You Believe It?"

The Outreach Prayer Breakfast

The members of the Outreach Prayer Breakfast want all to know "God is Able!" Some might say the Bible is that which is perfect, and because we now have the Bible in its complete form, we might say we don't need supernatural gifts. Of course, the Bible is perfect, but our understanding of God's word is imperfect. Therefore, we still see through a glass darkly. The scripture says when that which is perfect is come, we shall see face to face, and not through a glass darkly.

Since it is quite evident that we still see through a glass darkly, it is also obvious that which is perfect has not yet come. Some say tongues have ceased, but they don't say anything about knowledge having vanished away. Knowledge has not vanished. Prophecies have not failed and tongues have not ceased. One day, of course, tongues will cease. In heaven, there will be no more tongues. Paul stated: "For he that speaketh in and unknown tongue speaketh not unto men, but unto God. For no man understandeth him. In the spirit, he speaketh mysteries." 1 Corinthians 14:2. In the spirit when we get to heaven. There won't be anymore mysteries or secrets. So it will not be necessary to speak with tongues, but long as we are this side of heaven.

Now in the body of Christ and members in particular, God hath set some in the church; apostles secondarily; prophets, thirdly; teachers after that. Miracles, then gifts of healing helps. It is certainly true that the gifts of the spirit may be manifested through laymen, because Paul said "the manifestation of the spirit is given to every-man to prof it." 1 Corinthians 12:7.

Thank God, the churches are catching on fire with power. We also thank God for the word. Those of you who are sick in your body. Stay in the word. There's healing in it. Whatever you ask for, believing in prayer, you will receive it. Mark 11:22-26.

Do you have anything in your heart that need to be forgiven? Do it.

For all of those bereaved families, God can heal a broken heart. Lean on Him!

Keep smiling and loving, people, and praying for them. They don't have to know you are doing it. Do a drive by prayer. "What a privilege.

A thought for the week: "Obeying God will mess up our plans sometimes." Think about it.

"JUNETEENTH..."

Juneteenth is a special day
In Texas history;
It is the day we celebrate
The end of slavery...

Juneteenth is a special day,
A day of eulogy--
It is the day the black folk learned
That they at last were free

Juneteenth is a special day,
A day of dignity--
It is a day for all mankind
To join in harmony...

Juneteenth is a special day,
A day of unity--
A very blessed joyous day
Of life and liberty!

Reading Groups for African American Christian Women Who Love God and Like to Read

PRESS RELEASE

DETROIT - GLORY GIRLS™, the only national book club for African American Christian women, has quickly emerged as one of the most respected and exciting groups around.

"I knew right away that it was something my Pastor's wife and our church ladies would love," said Bobbie R.P. Davis, manager of the Underground Railroad Reading Station Bookstore located in the historic Second Baptist Church in downtown Detroit. "I announced GLORY GIRLS and within weeks I had nearly 50 women," she said.

Davis says she first heard about GLORY GIRLS last summer, while it was still under development by founder Denise Simmons.

Simmons says the formation of the group began in 2000 during a Bible school course.

"I had made a decision to focus my personal reading on material that glorified God," said Simmons who is also a literary agent and President of a Christian publishing company.

While having a ball with just a few girlfriends reading and then discussing Christian books," she said. "We found that we were not only having fun but we were also spending time finding out what God said about the situations the characters in the books were going through.

Through her other Christian website, Simmons began reaching out to like-minded readers and soon there were 36 chapters in the US and Germany with over 70 facilitators. Groups meet every other month and discuss pre-selected books - often using Scriptures, based study guides prepared expressly for GLORY GIRLS™.

GLORY GIRLS™ recently launched their website, www.glorygirlsread.net. There, interested women can learn more about joining a chapter or a facilitator, sign up, ask questions of authors, post their comments, and even do a little verse search.

So many people want to know what books GLORY GIRLS™ are reading that the group was asked by Beth Tappan, the largest African American Christian book store chain, to place their stamp of approval on selected and recommended Christian books they sell.

RELIGIOUS POETRY CONTEST HAS JUNE 30 DEADLINE

A $1000.00 grand prize is being offered in a special religious poetry contest sponsored by the New Jersey Rainbow Poets, free to anyone who has ever written a poem. There are 50 prizes in all totaling almost $5,000.00. The deadline for entering is June 30, 2002.

To enter, send one poem (only of 24 lines of free Verse Poetry Contest) 101 N. Wood Ave., P.O. Box 70, Linden, NJ 07036. Or enter on-line www.njrainbowpoets.com

"We think great religious poems can inspire achievement," says Frederick Young, the organization's Contest Director. "Our desire is to inspire amateur poets and we think this competition will accomplish that. Texas has produced many wonderful poets over the years and we'd like to discover new ones from the Lubbock area."

LUELLA CONWRIGHT

Slaton, Texas — Funeral services were held for Mrs. Luella Conwright on Monday, June 10, 2002, at the Mount Olive Baptist Church with Rev. Randy McCarty and Rev. Leo McCarty officiating.

Burial was held in Englewood Memorial Park under the direction of McCarty Funeral Home of Slaton.

Mrs. Conwright passed away Wednesday, June 5, 2002.

She was born June 14, 1910, in Harrison County, Texas. She was married to the Rev. Freddie D. Conwright on December 10, 1933, in Ore City, Texas. He died June 23, 1989. She attended school in Harrison County and had lived in Archer City, Littlefield, Crosbyton and Floydada. She moved to Slaton in 1967.

A homemaker, she was a member of Freewill Baptist Church of Slaton, and also a member of Eastern Star.

She is survived by seven daughters: Mary Conwright, Mattie Harris and Vivian Janette Cage, all of Lubbock, Texas; Ruth "Mookie" Dreckins, Norma Jean Johnson and Retha Williams, all of Paris, Texas; and Loretta Boiden of Dallas, Texas; three sons: Robert and Samuel, both of Dallas, Texas; and James of Lubbock, Texas; 63 grandchildren, 100 great-grandchildren and 14 great-great-grandchildren.

SYLVESTER "RED" ROBINSON

Funeral services were held for Sylvester "Red" Robinson on Wednesday morning, June 5, 2002, at Bethel African Methodist Episcopal Church, with Rev. Danny Poe, pastor, officiating.

Burial was held in the City of Lubbock Cemetery under the direction of Ossie Curry Funeral Home.

Pallbearers were Gary Darty, Bobby Darty, T. J. Patterson, Lester C. Brown, and Richard Rollison.

Members of Bethel African Methodist Episcopal Church served as honorary pallbearers.

Mr. Robinson was born in Enterprise, Alabama to Henry and Kathy Bell on January 6, 1927. He was the third of four children. He attended public schools in Alabama, where he professed Christ at an early age. In 1945, he moved to Lubbock, Texas where he met and married Ruth Toler Robinson. He joined Bethel African Methodist Episcopal Church.

A retired truck driver, he was well known and loved by many in the community. He was preceded in death by his mother, father, sister, Rosa Lee; and brother, Franky both of Enterprise, Alabama. Also, a son, Grady of Pensacola, Florida, and one daughter, Rosina of St. Petersburg, Florida.

He is survived by his wife, Ruth Robinson; his sister, Gussie Lee Cornelius, five sons: Richard (JoAnn) of St. Petersburg, Florida, Mitchell (Linda) of Houston, Texas, Jerry (Clarice) of Killeen, Texas, Paul (Wenda) of Allen, Texas and Ruben Willborn (Debra) of Lubbock, Texas; four daughters: Kathy Jones (Willie) Peggy Nicholson, both of Marshall, Texas, Sharon Anderson (Brent) of San Antonio, Texas and Annie Lee Hawkins (William) of Utica, New York; forty grandchildren, fifty-one great grandchildren, one great-great-grandchild, an aunt and uncle, Joe and Betty Collins; and a host of nieces, nephews, cousins and friends.

STRENGTH FOR TODAY; HOPE FOR TOMORROW

Question: Can the church do anything to encourage the children of east Lubbock to appreciate getting a good education?

Answer: I was challenged with this question by a brother, with considerable influence, who has tried to help the children in our community. He has experienced very little success for the amount of effort he has put forth. I might also add that other influential members of our community have experienced similar frustration. In the African-American community it is well known that if you want to succeed in any endeavor the church is the place to start. I would suppose that the brother who challenged me with the question started in the right place.

Let me begin to answer the question with a definition of education and then give an explanation of the church's role in educating the members of the community. Webster defines education as, "the process of training and developing the knowledge, skill, mind, character, etc., especially by formal schooling; or study; teaching; training." This process of education is summed up in one word in the Bible...wisdom. Wisdom means learning how to live skillfully according to the word of God. Godly wisdom gives instruction in every area of life. His word teaches us everything we need in order to live by and how to be successful in the process. The book of Proverbs was written for the purpose of educating people (see Proverbs 1:1-7).

Educating the members of our community is not the primary responsibility of our schools. In fact, our schools should rank third in the educational process. Parents are the first formal education for children (Ephesians 6:1-4). Many of our public schools are failing to educate because there is no discipline in the classrooms. Learning cannot take place where there is no discipline. If parents would begin and/or continue to instill godly discipline in our children, the education process will be greatly enhanced.

The church should be the second institution in the educational process. We are the pillar and support of the truth (1 Timothy 3:14,15). The church should aid parents (not relieve them) in developing moral character, developing proper work ethics and understanding and appreciating the honor of serving one's community.

Our schools (usually government supported) should be the third institution in the educational process. Unfortunately, many parents and churches have given the responsibility of teaching our children how to live skillfully over to the school system.

Well what can the church do to help educate the members of our community? Firstly, let's once again assume the responsibility of educating our children and not leaving it up to the government. Secondly, let's encourage and enable parents to once again engage in the very difficult task of parenting. After all, if the purpose of God's word is to give wisdom, who better to teach this truth than the people who have been entrusted with the word of God (see Nehemiah 8:1-8).

Thirdly, our churches can be more helpful in educating children by developing ministries that support our neighborhood schools. One suggestion is organizing like minded members of our churches who will help develop reading programs for our children. How about opening the church-house doors to provide after hours help for tutoring our children in math or science?

God's people cannot restrict our activities to Sunday morning worship services and mid-week prayer meetings and ignore the need of educating our future generations. The beginning of wisdom is the fear (reverence) for God. The church has a responsibility to aid in educating our children.

The church is filled with talented people who can use their imagination to help educate our children. If we don't engage Satan in the arena of learning, we have no reason to complain when our welfare, roles, unemployment lines and prisons increase. To allow ignorance to spread among our community is no less an evil than the slavery that brought our ancestors here. There is nothing wrong with being ignorant that is for a time. There is something wrong with staying ignorant. Encourage every one you know to get involved in educating our children. Let's help those who are trying to help us.

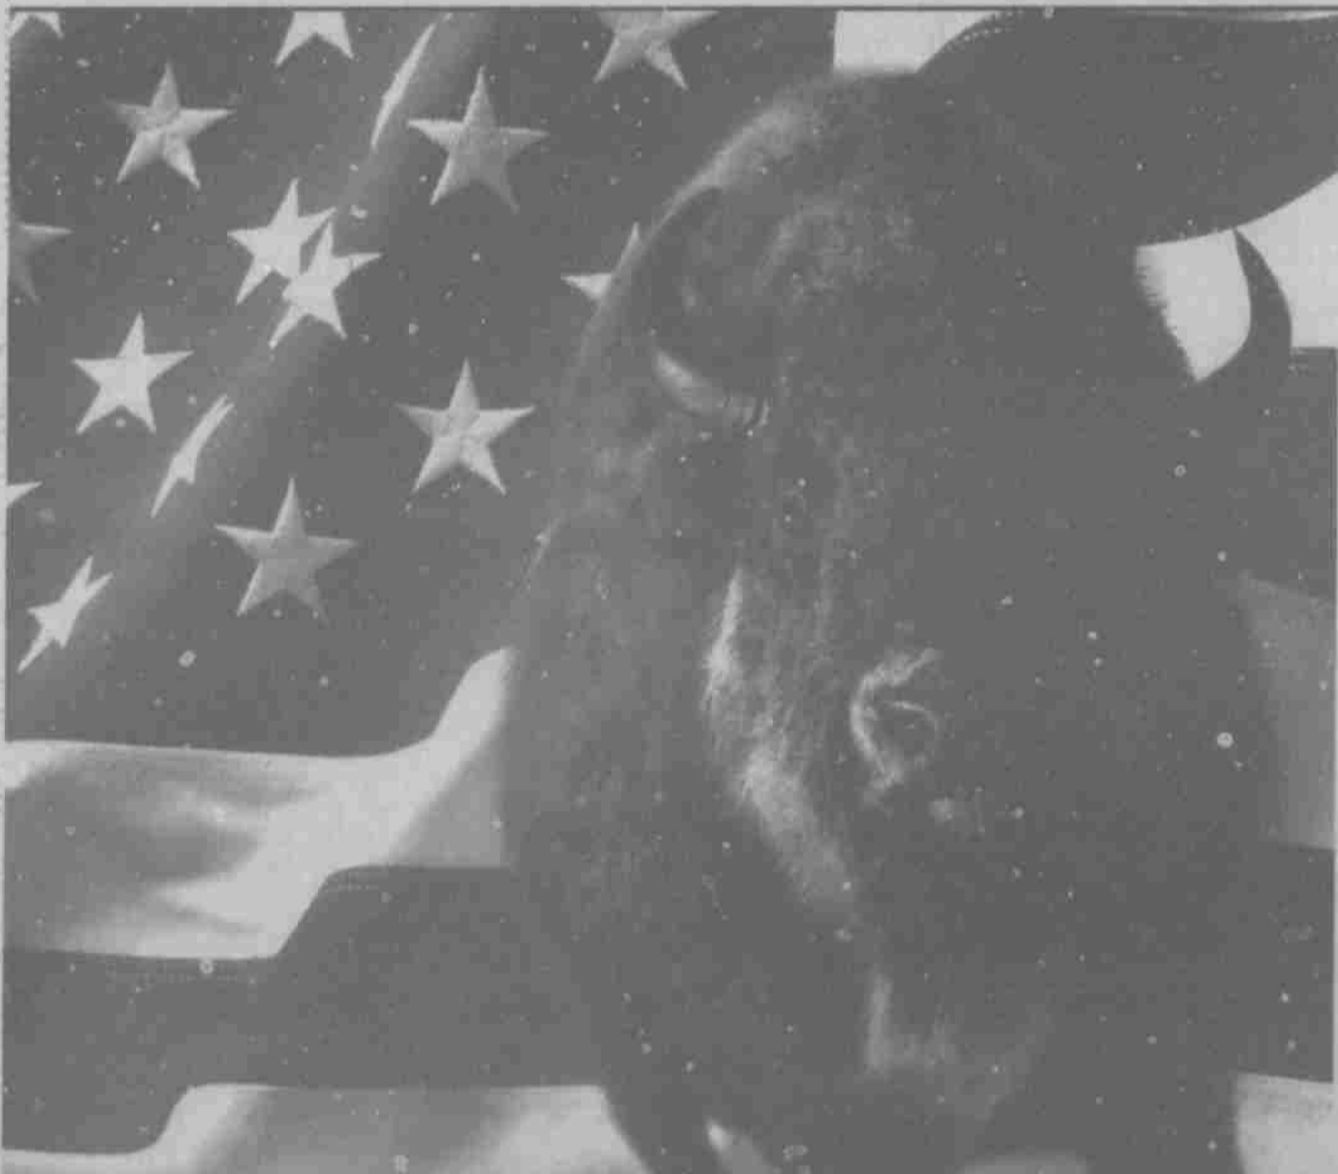

Grace and peace

Homeowners' Associations

Q: My homeowners' association is threatening to sue me because they claim I am violating deed restrictions. They say that if I don't pay the fines and attorney's fees, they can foreclose on my house. Is this true?

A: Many subdivisions are governed by a homeowners' association that has the power to collect dues to pay for the upkeep of common areas such as pools and set up rules about property maintenance. These associations generally have the authority to enforce rules and property covenants. Enforcement measures can include foreclosure on a property.

However, a new law went into effect on January 1, 2002, that provides homeowners with some protection when dealing with their homeowners' association. The Texas Residential Property Owners Protection Act applies to all residential subdivisions where the homeowners' association has the power to collect fees or dues and where most or all of the property owners in the subdivision are required to join the organization. The Act does not apply to condominium associations.

Under the Act, a homeowners' association is not permitted to foreclose on a house when the debt owed to the association consists solely of assessed fines and attorney's fees associated with the fines. The association may still foreclose on a property for other reasons.

If the association does foreclose, and the home is sold at an auction, the former owner has 180 days to reclaim the property. To do this, the former owner must repay all outstanding property assessments, foreclosure costs, interest, and other fees owed to the association, less the amount the association received from the sale.

The former owner must also pay the new owner the purchase price of the property plus taxes, interest, and fees paid by the purchaser. When a home is sold at auction, the purchaser may not resell the property until the 180-day period has expired.

Q: I think our homeowners' association is mishandling member dues. I have asked to look at the books, but my request has been denied. Do

I have the right to know how my dues are being spent?

A: Generally speaking, homeowners' associations are not subject to the Public Information or Open Meetings Acts. There are, however, some exceptions. Homeowners' associations in a defined geographic area in a county with a population of 2.8 million or more or in a county adjacent to a county with a population of 2.8 million or more are subject to the Public Information and Open Meetings Acts. This definition includes homeowners' associations in Harris County and the counties adjacent to Harris County. In addition to the county population requirement, homeowners' associations must be authorized to make certain assessments.

Under the Texas Residential Property Owners Protection Act, the associations are required to make their books and records, including financial records, reasonably available to owners of property within the homeowners' association. In addition, the association must also file a management certificate with the county.

While the Office of the Attorney General does enforce the Public Information Act, we do not have oversight of the administrative policies and procedures of homeowners' associations. If you have a complaint about your homeowners' association, you should consult with a private attorney.

The Open Meeting Act is enforced by the district or county attorney. If you have concerns about the way an association meeting was conducted, you should contact your local prosecutor.

Unique Partnership Garners $3 Million for Nursing Education

LUBBOCK — A unique partnership of the South Plains Workforce Development Board, educational entities and business has been awarded a Department of Labor grant in the amount of $3 million for the enhancement of nursing education and nurse educators in the South Plains area. The title of the grant is "Nurse Education: Recruiting For a Healthier Tomorrow."

The South Plains Workforce Development Board has teamed with agencies such as the South Plains Nursing Education Coalition, the Community Workforce Partnership, school districts of the South Plains Region, University Medical Center, Covenant Health System and the City of Lubbock. The South Plains Nursing Education Coalition includes Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center School of Nursing, Covenant Health System, Covenant School of Nursing, South Plains College School of Nursing, Lubbock Christian University Department of Nursing and University Medical Center. Community Workforce Partnership includes organizations such as the South Plains Workforce Development Board, Market Lubbock Inc., Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, Lubbock Hispanic Chamber of Commerce, Lubbock African-American Chamber of Commerce, Texas Workforce Commission, Texas Workforce Centers, LISD, South Plains College, Wayland Baptist University, LCU, Texas Tech University, South Plains Association of Government, the Small Business Administration and the Education Service Center Region XVII. Participating school districts in the South Plains Region include Bailey, Lamb, Hale, Floyd, Motley, Cochran, Hockley, Lubbock, Crosby, Dickens, King, Yoakum, Terry, Lynn and Garza.

The $3 million funding from this grant will be directed toward the following:

- Training nurse educators to ensure an adequate nursing workforce for the future
 - Providing 240 more Registered Nurses, 20 MEd graduates and 100 new nurse-doctors for the South Plains
 - Increasing awareness of nursing as a profession through an annual nursing invention contest for elementary, junior high and high school students and a summer health camp for high school students
 - Extending nurse training with enhanced distance learning
 - Providing over $1 million scholarship funding for undergraduates, graduate and summer health camp students
 - Filling nine new nursing faculty and two new recruiter positions
 - Providing transportation for South Plains area students to visit nursing schools, and
 - Working with rural communities and school districts through the South Plains Regional Workforce Development Board.
- Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center's (TTUHSC) School of Nursing is the largest member of the consortium and has the only advanced degree program. TTUHSC School of Nursing will be the primary contractor for the grant and is responsible for the oversight, implementation and subcontracting to the three other nursing schools.
- The fact that many rural communities in the South Plains will benefit makes the security of the $3 million grant a monumental event. Alexia Green, Dean and Professor, TTUHSC School of Nursing states, "The awarding of this grant is so exciting! The grant funding is designed not only to benefit our area nursing schools, but also to benefit the entire South Plains area by providing more nurses and nurse educators to serve the area. This grant will be important in the improvement of the quality of health care for South Plains residents. It's proof once again that when individual entities join together as a team, great things can be accomplished."

The Best of Luck on the 26th Annual Juneteenth Celebration 2002.

We appreciate the many contributions of our African American citizens who have stood up for what is right and equitable for all of God's people.

We appreciate your trust over the past 21 years and look forward to your trust & support in many years to come!

“As We Reach For Higher Ground”

By Eddie Richardson

We look around us, we see young children graduating from kindergarten to elementary schools, all preparing for the next set of challenges their new class levels will bring.

Then there are our high school seniors who graduated recently and will be making plans to attend a college or university. Hopefully, one day they will graduate and enter the workforce and enter into their career or profession. Also, there will be some who unfortunately will get lost on their way in life. That's the way life is for all of us.

But each of us can make their own difference by having a positive mental attitude and developing the “Yes, I Can” attitude and living by it. Anyone can be or do anything if they are willing to do so and pay the price. The key, however, is to pry the price no matter the obstacle, set backs, down turns, etc. No matter what it may be. The old saying is: “If it is worth having, it is worth working for.”

When you earn whatever it is — respect, money, fame or whatever, you have a greater appreciation for it if you earn it. When you get something for nothing, that's the value you place on it. But when you earn it, it has a greater value.

To all the graduates out there, remember the sky is the limit. You must reach for it and figure out how you can reach it yourself. Success is yours, and you have to make it a reality. No one can do it for you. The key is don't let anyone or anything stand in your way.

Shakespeare said: “Be great in act as you have been in thought.”

Thought for the Week: “It is far better to be free to govern or misgovern yourself, than to be governed by anybody else.” (Kwane Nkrumah)

Mirroring Evil and the Cause of All Cruelty

By Ruth Oron and Julie Jensen

The controversial exhibit, Mirroring Evil: Nazi Imagery/Recent Art, at The Jewish Museum in New York City moved us tremendously. I, Julie Jensen, was born and grew up in Nazi Germany. And I, Ruth Oron, born in Israel and having lost a large part of my family in concentration camps, saw the Holocaust as incomprehensible and as totally unrelated to anything else. We respect the Jewish Museum for its courage in exhibiting works that, while often causing discomfort in the viewers, show how much the fascist state of mind is in everyday life, in fashion, toys, pornography, Coca-Cola. The Director's Preface states [the artists] “ask us to examine what these images of Nazism might mean in our lives today.”

Julie Jensen and I now colleagues in the study of Aesthetic Realism, the education founded by Eli Siegel, feel passionately that Jews and Germans alike—and everyone—need to know what we are grateful to have learned: that the cause of the Holocaust, and of all cruelty, is contempt. “There is,” Mr. Siegel states in this landmark principle “a disposition in every person to think he will be for himself by making less of the outside world.” Contempt makes other people less real, takes the life out of them. It is, Mr. Siegel showed, the “greatest danger or temptation of man.” For the seeing that is in Mirroring Evil to be sustained and to grow, we have seen that contempt, and the relation of it in an individual to a nation must be studied.

We feel it is tremendously important that this show is at the Jewish Museum. Though we're still looking at the artistic quality of all the works, we're moved by the existence of these works of art, and the intention behind them. We value the desire of the artists, most of whom are generations removed from the Nazi era, to keep the subject alive, to have us, the viewers, engaged and see that that Nazi evil is not only in the past but is dangerous and real in the world right now, including under our skin.

James E. Young writes in the Catalogue's Foreword, that [The works] bring “us face to face with the killers themselves. Rather than allow the easy escape from responsibility implied by the traditional identification with the victims, these artists challenge us now to confront the faces of evil—which, ...look more like us than do the wretched human remains the Nazis left behind.”

What exactly is that evil? In the international journal The Right of Aesthetic Realism to Be Known, Elien Reiss, the Class Chairman of Aesthetic Realism explains:

What people need to see is: the contempt of humiliating someone, tormenting, even killing him, arises out of the quiet lessening of people which “average” citizens of any country take part in every day. Contempt can be anyone's inward quiet sneer, “Look at those dopes—I'm better than they are!” ...And this same contempt can be the ugly satisfaction which is prejudice: “I'm better than all those people with accents—or darker skin.”

“The Holocaust, while particular,” Ms. Reiss continues, “has to be related to cruelty anywhere. What is it in every person that makes him or her unkind and could make him or her immensely cruel?”

I, Julie Jensen, remember as a child throwing kisses at SS Officers as they strolled through our neighborhood in Berlin. My parents thought it was cute, and applauded me, saying “good girl.” I am so grateful to Eli Siegel for explaining what was going on in the people of my country as we were cheering Hitler: the choice so many people of Germany made represents the ugliest possibility in the unconscious—to own, and to be ferociously superior to the world. I learned that is contempt, and it is this state of mind in ordinary people that welcomed and sustained the Nazis and Hitler. When I learned how to be a critic of my contempt, the tormenting feeling of shame and guilt I thought I would have as long as I lived, changed into a source of knowledge that had me respect myself, and made for happiness.

I, Ruth Oron, was once asked in an Aesthetic Realism consultation whether I thought there was any relation between the tremendous scorn I had for my father and the contempt Nazis had for Jews. At first, I couldn't see any relation.

Then, I cringed, thinking about how I gave myself the right to speak to my father any way I pleased. The fact that he was a pioneer, working with others to build the country, had a deep care for history and languages, I made like nothing. And my consultants explained further: “Evil, Mr. Siegel showed, begins in every person. The ruthless behavior had by the Nazis is akin to the contempt an individual may have.” With kindness and urgency they said, “The only thing that will help the people of Israel make sense of the Holocaust is the study of contempt—where it begins. The Jewish people, with all they were made to endure, need to see themselves in relation to other people, including the Arab people.”

DAD'S AWARENESS BREAKFAST WELL DONE! THIS N THAT ... attended a very informative ... DAD'S AWARENESS BREAKFAST ... last Saturday morning at the Community Baptist Church. ... There important subjects were discussed by three well known local physicians. ... The physicians and subject matters were as follows: PROSTATE CANCER ... speaker was ... DR. DONALD E. WESSON, M.D. ... Chief of Nephrology & Internal Medicine Chairman at Texas Tech University Health Science Center ... HYPERTENSION ... speaker was ... DR. DAMON H. HILL ... Covenant Medical Family & Community Medicine ... and ... COLON CANCER ... speaker was ... DR. EUGENE A. TROWERS ... Texas Tech University Health Science Center ... Gastroenterology ... Much information was discussed ... and ... hopefully ... BLACK MALES ... will take advantage of the knowledge that was given to them ... on last Saturday morning ... THIS N THAT ... believe there is no need to say there is no help available ... because there is a lot of information available. ... For example ... during the annual ... JUNETEENTH CELEBRATION ... there will be an opportunity for ... BLACK MALES ... to have their prostate checked for cancer ... at the Mae Simmons Community Center ... This is scheduled for ... SATURDAY AFTERNOON ... June 15th ... So check this out ...

GOOD START FOR EAST SIDE CLEAN UP! THIS N THAT ... wants to say ... CONGRATS ... to the ... AFRICAN AMERICAN CHAMBER OF COMMERCE ... for an effort to help ... CLEAN UP EAST LUBBOCK ... last Saturday ... by working with the ... 2ND SATURDAY CLEANUP ... sponsored by the City of Lubbock. ... It was just good to see people involved in the ... East Lubbock Community ... by picking up trash and rubbish ... Hopefully ... come later this year when the African American Chamber of Commerce will do the same thing again ... and ... hopefully ... there will be many more people involved in this effort. ... Oh ... yes ... AFRICAN AMERICAN CHAMBER OF COMMERCE ... it was a good beginning and you will see it grow!

CONGRATS TO MISS AFRICAN AMERICAN QUEEN! THIS N THAT ... wants to take this opportunity and salute all the contestants who participated in the ... 2002 MISS AFRICAN AMERICAN PAGEANT ... last Saturday night at the Alderson Academy auditorium. ... Only one could be crowned the queen ... but all of these young ladies were ... WINNERS! THIS N THAT ... however ... wants to salute the winner ... B SHATAVA M. SCOTT ... who is a senior at Estacado High School ... is the daughter of ... Delaine Scott and Matthew Scott. ... First runner-up was ... NATALIA JOHNSON ... who is the daughter of Lenious and Doris Johnson. ... She is a ... 2002 graduate of Lubbock High School ... and ... second runner-up is ... CHANDRESS WILLIAMS ... WHO IS THE DAUGHTER OF Mary and Sammy Williams. ... She is a senior at Estacado High School. ... This event was sponsored by the ... AFRICAN AMERICAN CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

GOOD TO SEE DR. HILL ON PANEL! THIS N THAT ... is elated over the presence of ... DR. DAMON HILL ... who is a member of the citizen panel ... who will be making a recommendation as who will be chosen as the ... NEXT POLICE CHIEF ... for the City of Lubbock. ... One thing ... for sure ... DR. HILL ... will make a lot of sense ... and his input will be very valuable.

PETE LANEY HAS DONE HIS JOB WELL! THIS N THAT ... has heard and read about about an effort ... which has been proposed by the ... REPUBLICANS ... in the State House ... that is ... House of Representatives ... on how they want to elect the ... NEXT SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE ... with an all out war to get rid of a man ... PETE LANEY ... who has been doing a good job for both parties ... REPUBLICAN AND DEMOCRAT PARTIES ... THIS N THAT ... is hoping that ... PETE LANEY ... will remain as Speaker of the House ... which will be his fifth term. ... No doubt about it ... his record proves he is the ... MAN FOR THE JOB!

PENNY HASTINGS SAYS: “HAPPY FATHERS DAY ... TO ALL OF OUR ... FATHERS

AND GRANDFATHERS. ... May you continue to be good dads and fathers.”

In an emergency,
what matters most?

Does it really matter that UMC has the region's only Level I Trauma Center? Or West Texas' only Burn Unit? Or a caring team of specialists on-site 24 hours a day? You bet it does. But it's not how we treat injuries that matters most. It's how we treat people. Your best hope is here - UMC.

The Thurgood Marshall Scholarship Fund, Inc., named for the late U.S. Supreme Court Associate Justice, is the only national organization of its type that provides merit-based scholarships and programmatic support to students attending the nation's historically Black public colleges and universities. The organization also provides capacity building support to its 45 member schools. It was founded in 1987 in cooperation with Miller Brewing Company and the Office for the Advancement of Public Black Colleges, a unit of the National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges.

Since its inception, the fund has awarded more than $14.2 million in scholarships and programmatic support, enabling 4,400 students to attend public historically and traditionally Black colleges and universities. Those Thurgood Marshall Scholars are making valuable contributions to areas such as science, technology, government, human services, business and education. They also are providing contributions to the various communities in which they live and work.

The not-for-profit organization additionally provides internship programs and joins corporate and foundation partners in providing leadership training and support to students preparing for undergraduate and professional schools.

FREE PROSTATE CANCER SCREENINGS

Saturday, June 15th
Noon - 4 p.m.

Mae Simmons Community Center
402 23rd Street

A few facts and figures about prostate cancer:

- Next to skin cancer, prostate cancer is the most common cancer in American men.
- There will be an estimated 180,400 cases of prostate cancer diagnosed this year.
- More than 75% of all prostate cancers are found in men over age 65.
- Annual PSA blood tests and digital rectal examinations are important tools in detecting prostate cancer early, before it has a chance to spread.
- The earlier prostate cancer is caught, the more options for treatment there are, and the greater chance for a cure.
- The American Cancer Society recommends that men age 50 and over talk to their healthcare providers about annual PSA and DRE examinations.
- Men of African-American heritage and men with a family history of prostate cancer should consider beginning annual PSA and DRE examinations younger than 50.

(Sources: American Cancer Society 6/99 website and prostate cancer fact sheet)

Participating Physician:
Damon Hill, M.D.

Members of 100 Black Men will be available for transportation from Juneteenth festivities to screening site.

Reservations are required.

AOIP is an organization engaged in an overall community-building approach to addressing the root cause of all ills among Black and similarly-situated minorities. AOIP's overall objective, via this interorganization coalition, is to begin immediately to transform the discrete communities within Black America, through pride-installing "togetherness," into a Shining Oasis of hope that all therein will not only be motivated to learn and become productive parts of our wonderful communities, but also there will be less desire to abandon support for Black-led organizations that have opened economic and other doors for Black-owned businesses, professional entities, Black churches, etc. By inordinately integrating the communities and social and other institutions developed by (and for) other ethnic groups, AOIP has a redemptive mission of completing the "unfinished work of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr." The information listed below about your organization should, as best possible, be focused on what your group is doing to help completed that "unfinished work."

This is a public service courtesy of the Southwest Digest. We will list your meeting dates, time and place; special activities, annual meetings, etc. Anything else will be considered advertisement and will be charged as such. This applies to items such as hand-bills, brochures, promotion, etc. This is necessary, because of the inflated cost of doing business. We have to pay our expenses. There will also be a charge for photos, other than news events. For more information about getting your announcement on this page, call Eddie B. Richardson at 762-3612.
