Frances holds membership in the National Honor Society as vice-president of the local chapter; treasurer of the student council, was Girl of the Month for October Future Teachers of America and is an honor roll student.

She plans to attend West Texas University next fall and major in English.

Picadors Host Fish in Annual Shrine Bowl Benefit Tonight at Tech's Jones Stadium

The Texas Tech Picadors return to action tonight as they host the Texas A&M Fish in the fourth annual Khiva Shrine Bowl.

The game will pit the undefeated Picadors against a winless Fish team. Tech has beaten New Mexico Military, 55-7, Arkansas, 24-6, and Oklahoma 18-10. The Fish have lost to TCU, 31-7, Baylor, 12-7, and Rice, 31-8.

The game will be the eighth between the two frosh teams, with the Picadors down in the series, 4-3. In last year's game, Texas A&M's Vance Kerbow flashed for 200 yards rushing to lead the Fish to a 35-0 blanking of the Picadors. Tech's last win came in 1967 when they pulled out a 21-20 heartstopper.

Last year's Shrine Bowl proved to be one of the most exciting football games to be played in Jones Stadium. It pitted the Pies against a fine Arkansas team led by Joe Ferguson. The Shoats won 23-22 with Tech kicker Dickie Ingram just missing a 53 yard field goal with no time left showing on the scoreboard clock.

This year's contest will see two of the finest former schoolboy quarterbacks in Texas facing each other for the second time. Tech's Jimmy Carmichael and A&M's Tim Trimmier hooked up against each other in the Texas High School Coaches Association All-Star game this summer with Trimmier and the South coming out on top, 35-19.

Information and Orientation Seminar Scheduled Tuesday

An information and orientation seminar, co-sponsored by the Texas Tech Student Association and the Community Action Agency's Youth Development Program will be held November 10th, Tuesday, at 7:30 p.m. in the University Center Ballroom on the Texas Tech University Campus.

There will be speakers familiar with the youth programs now in operation and those programs being planned for the future by the Community Action Agency's YDP. After the speaker's presentations, the program will be opened for a question and answer period about the problems concerning the youth of Lubbock.

Over 300 people have been invited by special invitation, and the program will be open to the general public.

Services Scheduled Here Tomorrow for Long Time Lubbock Resident, Paul Hemanes

Final rites for Paul Hemanes, 57, of 2311 Fir Avenue, will be held Friday afternoon, November 6, at 2 p.m. at Bethel A.M.E. Church with the Reverend A. W. Wilson, pastor, officiating.

Burial will be held in the City of Lubbock Cemetery under the direction of South Plains Funeral Home.

Hemanes, a resident of Lubbock for 30 years, had been ill for quite some time. He was born in Caldwell, Texas, August 13, 1913.

While a citizen of Lubbock he contributed his talent as a developer and businessman. Several young men were recipients of college scholarships because of his deep concern for better education. He was a faithful member of Bethel A.M.E. Church where he served on the Board of Trustees.

He died Tuesday evening in his home at 2311 Fir about 8:45.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Ollie Hemanes, of the home; three brothers, Jesse Hemanes of 3214 21st Street here, Hubert and Clyde Hemanes of Houston; two sisters, Mrs. Bernice Campbell of San Francisco, California and Mrs. Erma Sparks of Caldwell, Texas; three aunts, Mrs. Gollie Coleman and Mrs. Ida Hardman, both of Los Angeles, California and Mrs. Ophelia Carroll of Caldwell along with a host of relatives and friends.

Honorary pallbearers are members of the Trustee Board of Bethel A.M.E. Church.

Doc Severinsen—Now Generation to Appear In Municipal Coliseum Saturday Night

Doc Severinsen will appear in person with his Now Generation Brass with the Brothers and Sisters for a spectacular show in the Municipal Coliseum Saturday night, November 7th at 8:00. Doc Severinsen is probably the greatest living trumpeter. He is noted for his flamboyant costumes and is, of course, the noted band leader on the Tonight show. His Now Generation Brass is a group of hand-picked members from his own band that appears nightly on the Tonight show. The spectacular to be seen here in the Municipal Coliseum will include the song and dance talents of the Brothers and Sisters. Severinsen and his drummer, Ed Shaughnessy, will also appear with the Texas Tech band at half time during the Texas Tech-TCU football game to be played at Jones Stadium Saturday afternoon.

Tickets are on sale at Furr's Family Center. Telephone reservations may be made by calling 799-7040. Student discounts are available when groups of 20 or more tickets are ordered.

This show will be a benefit performance with all profits going to establish a scholarship fund for Texas Tech band students. The performance is being underwritten by the Downtown Kiwanis Club. Harold Jones, General Chairman of this project, states that the purpose is twofold: first, scholarship money will enable a greater number of fine high school band students to continue their education, and secondly, the availability of scholarships for band students will help maintain the quality of the Texas Tech Big Red Goin' Band from Raiderland.

Uncle of Lubbock Woman Dies at Austin, Texas

Mrs. Willie Lusk, Jr. received word Sunday afternoon that her uncle, Rev. Ira Cavanaugh, passed away in an Austin hospital after several weeks of illness. The only other family survivor is a brother, Fred Cavanaugh of Fort Worth.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete at Austin at the present time.

In what may prove to be an off-year election record vote, Democrats turned out enmasse to push their state-wide candidates into office.

At last report, Lloyd Bentsen of Houston, Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate held a decisive lead over Republican hopeful George Bush, while Governor Preston Smith won re-election with relative ease over the Republican hopeful Paul Eggers of Wichita Falls. Also in a late report, Lt. Governor Ben Barnes held the most commanding lead over his opposition, Byron Fullerton, in his bid to return to Austin.

In an expected twist, for Lubbock County politics, hometown Preston Smith won handily over Eggers with Lubbock voters giving the Governor a 23,711 to 11,217 vote margin; while George Bush passed his Democratic opponent here with a 17,998 total to Bentsen's 16,632.

A larger than expected turnout across the state was the major key to the Texas Democratic victory, with most observers speculating that a small vote would benefit GOP hopeful George Bush.

Statewide, U.S. officials announced early Wednesday that ballots in three South Texas counties would be impounded because of alleged voting irregularities.

Houston based U.S. Attorney Anthony Farris charged that the violations occurred in Star, Jim Wells and Duval counties.

Local voting in selective boxes showed these results: Alderson Junior High School, Bentsen 672, Bush, 194, Smith 758, Eggers 188; Barnes 673, Fullerton 107, and Amendment No. 2, Liquor for 328, against 431; Ella Iles School, Bentsen 347, Bush 22, Smith 353, Eggers 21, Barnes 345, Fullerton 9, and Amendment No. 2, for 180, against 161; and Washington Legion Hall, Box 30, Bentsen 30, Bush 6, Smith 30, Eggers 4, Barnes 26, Fullerton 1 and Amendment No. 2 for 15, against 18.

In the Amendment Votes, which created some interest in the state, late tallies show:

1. Judges' Retirement:
For 1,210,340—Against 442,492.
2. Liquor by the Drink:
For 900,787—Against 846,200.
3. Farm Assessments:
For 725,177 — Against 908,589.
4. Building Commission:
For 782,908 — Against 734,844.
5. Road Bonds:
For 795,576 — Against 725,711.
6. Homestead Exemptions:
For 983,296 — Against 597,058.
7. Consolidating Offices:
For 772,386 — Against 735,132.

State-wide the Democratic Party retained complete control of Texas Politics, dimming GOP hopes that Texas would gain the distinction of becoming a two-party state in 1970.

Nationally, the argument will probably continue for several more weeks concerning who won and who lost in both parties' attempt to control the national Congress.

We Must Get Out of Prison

by T. J. Patterson

As black people in West Texas, we must realize that we should free our minds from all of the obstacles which are coming our way from day to day. In other words, we are in prison and many of us in prison are in solitary confinement. We must find a way to release the bonds which are grasping us daily.

To really look at the local situation and everything that is going on, one can't help but think that it reminds him of being in prison. Yes, prison! The only thing we can ask ourselves as black people is: "Is this type of prison better or worse than an actual prison?" Truly, this is debatable. For it is a tortuous prison, an anti-social prison, the prison without, the prison which has been created inside our community through many frustrations, hiding behind locked doors and walking away from the realities of life, making the image of the black community shrink in size and stature to that of a vegetable. Will there be anything on the order of a parole in the future that we may someday become free?

As intelligent people, we must grab hold of ourselves and start erasing some of the obstacles which are in our path if we are to liberate ourselves. We must quit fooling ourselves by saying that everything is alright. This just ain't so, for everything is not alright.

Since the recent bond election, the city fathers are saying that everything is being put back together better than it was before the winds came May 11th. Is this really true?

This writer would like to submit to you this day in November that we have the potential of a prison break if we get ourselves together and start doing something now to free ourselves from the many obstacles which are gradually spreading over our community like an ugly cancer, effecting all of us.

The other day I had an opportunity to sit in a barber chair and relax for a few minutes, and I thought of the time when there was traffic in the black community, but to my deep concern, this is no longer true. We appear to be drying up like prunes which have been in a box for years.

There is a need to break away from this prison; break away from the ordinary if we are going to start something which we can benefit from; as well as something that our children will have when we pass on the baton. The time is now if we are going to do something about it. Let's begin being men and start standing up for what we believe and know is right. Unless we do this, we will wind up being sentenced for life. This will be a most unpleasant situation for us to be in, and one I'm sure we don't want to see happen.

As an individual, let's ask ourselves, who are we? Keep in mind that we are in prison. On the other hand, can we be free from the dead weight of this society? This is what the problem is all about, as I see it.

Remember, brothers and sisters, we must get out quick while we still have the time to free ourselves, Right on!

Likely we have heard a lot about the word unemployable, but we just do not have that many illiterate people here. Even if we did, there are unskilled jobs and on-the-job training which will help some of these problems.

In a lot of instances, an uneducated or unskilled person who really wants to work if given a chance to prove himself, will make a better worker than a skilled or educated person. We have been labeled as lazy, shiftless and welfarish, but given a chance to get a job, this will be a lie. Let us become producers, we are tired of being consumers.

One thing which hurts me is to know that some of our black leaders condemn my views. I am sure they do not understand my views. I don't believe in violence, but I believe in exposing the truth and finding ways to solving the ills. Even a doctor has to find the problem before he can cure it. I think some of the money spent by our government studying black militancy and its origins and the researchers who so willingly study the behavior of black people should convert some of that energy to studying the behavior of white people.

A study of riots during the '60's prepared by Dr. Robert B. Hill, assistant director of research department of the National Urban League, and Dr. Robert M. Fogelson, associate professor of history and urban planning at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, revealed that whites were more widely involved in civil disorders than was previously known and that despite wide-spread publicity given to so-called nest of black snipers by news media, it was whites who were arrested more for shooting and sniping during ghetto riots.

The study, a project of Columbia University's Bureau of Applied Social Research, found that four times as many whites than blacks were arrested during riots and many did reside outside the city where the riot occurred. So let's face it, we all know why we have the situation we have. Stop spending money studying blacks and use that money for jobs and the blacks will not have time to riot, just work.

The late Dr. Martin Luther King is a good example. He set out to find brotherly love and harmony. He loved America and believed in America. He loved America as if he had sewed the first flag. He articulated a dream for America, more forcefully than any man since Thomas Jefferson. This man King is now dead. He was condemned for his thoughts and actions up until the time of his death. His death brought out the guilt and the hate and oppression that had been a product of our society.

I share the same desire Dr. King so practically articulated. But, before his dream can come to pass, the truth will have to be admitted. The bitter truth of why we have today's problems must be understood by all. Then history will be able to show that Dr. King's dream is a true picture of the American dream.

STATE CAPITAL
Highlights
 AND Sidelights
 by Vern Sanford
 TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin, Tex.—With the next legislative session just two months off, a blue-ribbon speakers' committee has set out to evaluate the jobs of state lawmakers and how they can better perform their duties.

First meeting of the 150-member panel named by House Speaker Gus Mutscher and headed by Waggoner Carr, former attorney general, was held at the capitol last week.

One of the first things Mutscher suggested was a study of the work load heaped on officials who draw only $400 a month base pay. Committee is expected to come up with a recommendation and support for legislators' pay raises.

Mutscher asked the group to give special attention also to legislative facilities, ethics and internal security.

He further suggested a look at steps now taken to assure protection for orderly conduct of the state's business at the capitol and "physical protection" of state officials, employees and the public.

Mutscher said both houses of the legislature will hold a pre-session conference at Lyndon B. Johnson School of Public Affairs at the University of Texas.

Carr ruled out the study of such matters as annual legislative sessions and abuses by joint conference committees, since the committee was named by the House speaker and was not authorized by the Senate. "Timing of sessions and joint conference committees are matters of concern to both houses," he noted.

Four sub-committees were named and immediately began work. Sub-panels will work in areas of duties, responsibilities and compensation; ethics and standards of conduct; physical facilities and internal security.

Baptists Release School—Baptist General Convention here approved the request of Baylor Dental School at Dallas to be released from church control so it could accept government financial aid. Baylor Medical School in Houston was released two years ago, permitting it to seek state funds for enrollment increases.

Convention called on the University of Corpus Christi to repay a $500,000 loan it received from the federal Small Business Administration to repair Hurricane Celia damage and borrow from a non-governmental source.

Delegates adopted resolutions commending national leaders for their spirit of peace to end the Vietnam hostility; urging courts to use discretion in dealing with each marijuana case on merits; and opposing grants of tax funds to parochial schools.

Insurance Ad Rules Proposed—State Board of Insurance set a November 30 hearing on proposed new rules governing advertisements by health insurance companies.

One rule would require a clear and conspicuous statement in ads of any waiting periods between the date of the policy and the time it actually provides coverage.

Another rule would make the same kind of clear disclosure necessary where coverage is limited for illnesses caused by conditions existing before policy date.

Suggested rules would apply to all newspaper ads, as well as radio-tv, billboards, leaflets, form letters and recurring representation by agents.

Companies would have to maintain a file of ads for inspection by examiners representing the State Insurance Board.

High Cost of Campaigning Told—U.S. Senate candidate George Bush topped all spending by general election candidates, according to required reports filed with the Secretary of State. Bush said he has spent $696,008 and received $665,708 in contributions. Bush's Democratic opponent, Lloyd Bentsen, itemized campaign spending of $419,332 and contributions of $424,563.

Gov. Preston Smith said he has spent $652,860 and received $534,651 in contributions. His Republican opponent, Paul Eggers, reported spending $409,028 and receiving $312,661.

my views

by Eddie P. Richardson

One of the most pressing situations we are now faced with is employment. There are so many tools used to shut blacks and minorities out. Tests which create a psychological fear just with the word "test". Most of the time the test is of no value, just a formula and you are not hired from its results anyway.

Another weapon is experience. How in the hell can one have experience when you can't get the apprenticeship? Another weapon has been the hiring of bilingual persons at a disadvantage to themselves by paying them almost nothing and taking advantage of their language barrier and in a lot of cases cultural background being different and not being familiar with the American dollar in comparison with the dollar of their former homeland.

Once these people become familiar with the situation, they are also thrown into the group of unemployed if they do not go along with the status quo. Another weapon we hear a lot about is vocational and technical training. This is good, but what do you do until people can acquire this training?

AMARILLO

From My Scratch Pad

By George Parrish

My family and I, along with Gail Scott, motored to Lubbock Saturday night to witness the football game between the Dunbar Panthers and Brownfield Cubs, and I am proud that we did because it was the best game I have seen this season. Panthers, we are proud of you up here in Amarillo, you really did look good Saturday night.

We were happy to learn upon our return home that the Palo Duro Dons won their game. I think I had a pretty good day of football.

Did any of you have a chance to go by any of the schools last week? The North Central Lions Club, of which I am a member, was invited to Hilltop Elementary School Friday by Mrs. Lorenzo Person, and I must say that the program was very good. The theme was; "Shape Schools For the '70's." Thanks for the invitation Mrs. Person, we would like to come back again some time.

Do any of you readers in Lubbock know this man? His name is Joe Edward Smith, and he is the nephew of Mrs. Ruby Johnson of 1910 North Washington here in Amarillo. If you know him please have him call or write here.

Afro-American History Notes: A 1930 British translation of Columbus' writings says Arawak Indians in Haiti told Columbus of black traders "from the south and southeast" with spear points made of "guanin". In the world of the late Prof. Leo Wiener of Harvard University, "Guanin" was a gold alloy made in West Africa.

Several Mexican and Spanish scholars also rely on the testimony of ancient Mexican sculptures with Negro features.

"I believe Africans got here but they could have been traveling with the Phoenicians," states anthropologist and free lance writer, Sharon McKern of Lawrence, Kansas. "There is also evidence that Egyptians, whom we have to classify as Africans, got here. Thor Heyerdahl proved it could be done."

Legrand Clegg, historian, writes recently: "Few Western scholars have been able to accept the fact that Africa had a past, not to mention the idea that Africans independently crossed any ocean." Another reason, says Prof. Ibrahim Abu-Lughod, associate director of African Studies at Chicago's Northwestern University, is that few European historians could read Arabic.

14th Century Arabic records reveal that Mali West African Emperor Mansa Kankan Musa said the previous emperor disappeared in a two thousand ship transatlantic expedition. Many of these East and West African archives are now being edited for publication. What revelations could be in store?

Gillespe C. Wilson, state president of the NAACP, who spoke the past Sunday before members and friends of the Midland County chapter at St. Luke A.M.E. Church in the Tall City, is an ardent bellringer, he states, but chided us for calling the branch, "Permian Basin Chapter." Mr. Wilson is an enthusiastic worker and a challenging speaker and worker as indicated by his three terms as state leader of this civil rights organization. Nonetheless, this column believes that any black or white person or brown, living in the Permian Basin would be welcome to join the "Midland County Branch" with payment of dues of only four dollars per year or six dollars and get the Crisis magazine (official publication) for one year along with membership. Am I right, Mr. Roy Johnson?, branch president.

To Bellringers Who Inquire Often: This correspondent is a member of the Christian Methodist Episcopal Church, a trustee on the Midland County Library Board, a registered voter in Midland County, member of the Texas Library Association and an ex-member of a lot of organizations. We like to tell it like we see it, even though we make some of our readers scream bloody murder sometimes. Governor Preston Smith has appointed 57 delegates to the White House Conference on Children and Youth in D.C., December 13-18, 1970. How many blacks Governor?

Bellringers Write: Dear Bob—Those who decry busing in schools or anything else that seeks to remove the narrow walls of isolation and exclusion are sleeping through a technological revolution. The world has now been transformed into a "neighborhood" and perhaps within a few short years, we will find neighbors on the far-flung planets of endless space. Should not the "neighborhood" include every human element, and by interaction and joint learning, teach us all how to live with each other on earth, before we seek dwelling place on the moon and Mars for example? Signed Rev. Ben Hill.

Our thanks to Mrs. A. B. of Colorado City for the editorial from the Ft. Worth Star Telegram. It is entitled "Total Free Choice Might Be Answer". We quote in part: "The great peril in adopting arbitrary busing as the ultimate nationwide solution to the school problem is that it is a device which will forever remain artificial, and over the long run, insupportable. It is too coercive, too contrived, to solve the problem at hand."

"Let the courts say that no pupil shall be required to attend a school which he does not choose to attend. This would mean, of course, the complete elimination of school zoning within each system. It would mean a pupil could attend his neighborhood school four blocks away if he—or his parents choose, or he could enroll in a school 12 blocks away or 12 miles. No reason need be given."

"This is true freedom of choice, in the same sense in which it applies to one's use of branch libraries or parks. . . This plan deserves more attention than it has received."

To J. L. of Stanton: You are right. Until the days of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt, the majority of blacks in this country voted "straight" Republican. Until then, a Democrat was "a devil with horns" no matter who he was or thought. Now the tide has turned. It will be up to leaders in the Republican Party to prove that "all Republicans are not rich devils with horns" in-so-far as blacks and some other ethnic groups are concerned.

Best Editorial Quote: "The present situation in regard to rising prices and taxes and pressure for more pay is causing great frustration and unhappiness in our country. How obvious it is that Man's economic systems are not working for the benefit of all. Imagine the plight of the old, poor, the sick, the black and those who are on low of fixed incomes and who get little or no pay increases. There is too much selfishness and too little concern for the welfare of others in our land today. Unless there is a turning point soon, we face even greater turmoil and perhaps catastrophe." From The Black Eagle.

HOME ON LEAVE this week is Richard A. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben E. Smith of 2003 Elm Avenue. Smith, a 1970 graduate of Dunbar High School has just completed 13 weeks basic training at San Diego, California in the United States Navy. Richard is scheduled to leave here Saturday for 22-weeks of intensive training in aviation at Memphis, Tennessee.

Dear Editor,
I am reluctant to write this letter but I feel there is a serious problem in our poverty program. And this problem exist simply because there are so many people involved in the poverty program that are not even closely associated with the problem, and have no idea what they are doing. You cannot feel the problem of hunger, job frustration and any of a number of problems encountered in the poverty area unless you have lived this life. We need poor people in all these programs. Someone who can identify with the problem, not just someone who has a great idea. Ideas don't work, only proven methods. We must encourage total integration of staff (including poor) in all our Poverty Agency. Not a tokenism position, a position of decision making.

Texas Tech University Students Promote Program to Aid Local Small Businessmen

Two members of a four man team of students who have worked this past semester in a Texas Tech University's Small Business Administration sponsored program with George's Maintenance Service are Don Powell and Jerry Pickering, in the rear; along with three employees of the local firm, from left, B. A. Russell, L. Y. Mickey and John Howard.

A program instituted to give Tech students majoring in Business Administration an inside look at business is being expanded this semester.

"This school year," said Bob Kerber, part-time instructor in business management, "we have enlarged our program of small business evaluation by students to include more businesses and, for the first time, feasibility studies."

"There will be 20 projects handled this semester with about 65 students participating. Our three main objectives are: to provide the community with assistance and counseling through the expertise of college students, to give students practical experience in dealing with real business and real problems, and in involve students of many departments in a combined team effort to solve management problems," said Kerber.

Working with the students will be the Service Corps of Retired Executives (SCORE). These people will be called upon to help with management problems, management counseling and management evaluation.

"Once the projects are begun," said Kerber, "the teams of students will make weekly progress reports to my office and the Small Business Administration."

"Through these reports, we can get immediate feedback on what the students are doing, their reception by the businessman, their proposals for a better operation and the action that has been carried out."

According to Kerber, this "pilot project," directly involving students with small businessmen, is being watched closely by a number of universities in Texas, Louisiana, and Oklahoma. "If this program is a success," he said, "other institutions will probably adopt similar projects."

Kerber added that the program has received excellent participation from Dr. V. P. Luchsinger, chairman of the department of management and from other related business departments at Tech such as advertising, marketing, finance, accounting and management.

"All the work with the small businesses done by the student teams," said Kerber, "is conducted outside the classroom on their own time."

One business in the local community that has benefited from this program is George's Maintenance Service. One team of students has worked with the company for the past several months.

Anyone interested in receiving help or suggestions for their business from this Texas Tech University program is urged to contact the Times office or talk to Mr. Patterson.

The school features courses in nurses' aid training and key-punch. Mrs. Young received six months of training and is presently employed at Edward's Nursing Home.

Veterans Day Observance Planning Complete For National Participation Next Wednesday

Washington, D.C.—Donald E. Johnson, Administrator of Veterans Affairs today praised governors in all 50 states for their planning and cooperation for the nation-wide observance of Veterans Day on November 11.

Mr. Johnson said that state chairmen have been selected in each of the 50 states to coordinate plans for the annual observance, which is highlighted by ceremonies at Arlington National Cemetery in Washington, D.C.

Administrator Johnson also stated that the VA, which is designated by Congress as the Federal agency responsible for the President's National Veterans Day Committee planning, will again this year emphasize Veterans Day hospital visits on November 11 by public figures.

The VIP—Very Important Patients—program was inaugurated in 1969 and, Mr. Johnson said, "met with immediate response across the country from patriotic Americans who flocked to veterans hospitals on November 11 to visit and pay tribute to those who defended their country."

He said that hundreds of individuals in the entertainment, sports, religious, judicial and public service fields "responded with heart-warming enthusiasm and made VIP visits at each of the 166 hospitals in the VA medical system."

Mr. Johnson praised the National Association of Broadcasters for urging all radio and TV stations in the nation to broadcast the National Anthem at 11 a.m.

He said that Civil Defense has instructed all local Civil Defense officials to "sound-off" their sirens at 11 a.m. and that the Coast Guard, Merchant Marine and the U.S. Navy have issued similar instructions to "all the ships at sea as well as those in port." He said that the International Association of Fire Fighters and the International Association of Fire Chiefs are urging their affiliated members to participate in the "sound-off" for Veterans Day.

Mr. Johnson said that 80,000 Veterans Day kits have been distributed to schools across the nation.

The kits include material designed to assist teachers and students in preparing programs of tribute to the Nation's veterans on November 11.

Again this year, the Administrator said, those in attendance at the National observance at Arlington Cemetery will be asked for a "show of flags" during the ceremony and he urged state and local officials participating in the annual observance "to show the colors in tribute to our veterans and our country."

Agricultural Laborers Housing Complex Opened in Plainview

James V. Smith, administrator of Farmers Home Administration, Washington, D.C., will be among guest speakers for the dedication of the Date Street agricultural labor housing project in Plainview November 7th.

The dedication ceremony and open house activities will begin at 2 p.m. at the site of the 128-apartment complex at Date and 16th Streets in northeast Plainview.

The complex, located on a 29-acre site, was constructed by the 100-member Hale County Agricultural Association to provide modern housing facilities for agricultural laborers in the Plainview area.

The housing project includes 26 buildings with four, three and two-room apartments for permanent and semi-permanent residence. The complex will also contain a laundry and equipped playground areas. It is the second complex of its type. The first was constructed in Dimmitt in 1967.

Funds for construction included a $539,890.00 loan and a grant of $537,880.00 through the Farmers Home Administration. Construction was completed in September.

The housing project was fostered through the FHA housing program to encourage development of improved living conditions for America's farm laborers.

Other FHA officials are expected to attend the ceremonies.
