Black Sorority Getting Started This Year On Texas Tech University Campus

Delta Sigma Theta is beginning its first year on the Texas Tech University campus.

This nationally-known group is the first black sorority to colonize at Tech. While the membership is not restricted by race, the sorority has a history of being for black women.

"We do not want to separate ourselves from the rest of the campus but we do feel that everyone needs some group to belong to," said Ria Blount, president of Delta Sigma Theta. "There are very few black students at Tech now. We hope that our organization will encourage more blacks to come here because they will have a group with which they can identify."

Delta Sigma Theta is "a public service sorority intended to form a closer union among college women and to establish and maintain high cultural, intellectual and moral standards among its members."

"Our sorority is dedicated more to community service than to social activity on the campus," said Miss Blount. Each month the girls have a project which they hope will benefit the community, she said. This month they worked with the Jerry Lewis Telethon.

The national organization of Delta Sigma Theta was founded in the early part of this Century at Howard, a Negro University in Washington, D. C. On the occasion of its 50th anniversary, John F. Kennedy, the late President of the U. S. addressed the convention and complimented members on their service to the nation.

The sorority is based on a five point program to promote mental health, housing and urban development, community and international involvement, educational involvement and economic development.

Since the sorority is new on campus, it will not participate in a typical rush operation this year. Instead, members are planning a

A barbecue honoring all statewide officials is slated for September 26 in Lubbock. Those officials who will attend are Governor Preston Smith, Lt. Governor Ben Barnes, Speaker of the House; Gus Mutscher, Attorney General Crawford Martin, Candidate for Land Commissioner; Bob Armstrong, and Candidate for the United States Senate Lloyd Bentsen. Dr. Heenan Johnson Speaks Out Rightfully

Dr. Heenan Johnson, board chairman of the City-County Library Board, spoke out last week in a meeting of the group. The board, however, voted last Friday to recommend to the Lubbock City Council that a consultant be hired to aid in planning a new central library facility.

Yet, in fairness, overlook the statement made by Dr. Johnson when he stated: "We may be putting the cart before the horse. We don't know if the bond funds include money for a consultant."

Dr. Johnson is definitely right when he is talking about doing what the citizens of Lubbock voted for—and nothing more—in the recent elections. It is time that attention be focused on what is promised the taxpaying citizens, at the time of a bond election, and that advisory and administrative boards provide what is on a ballot, not what they omitted to tell the public.

We hope that the stand taken by Dr. Johnson will continue to come up in the future, even though he was outvoted this time, and that the public's interests will continue to be watched over by members who are appointed to these boards. And we also hope that Lubbock citizens will be more involved in the future, and start supporting the people, such as Dr. Johnson, who take a stand to protect their interests and money.

Time has been passed when we will need to just sit back and be happy with the way things are and accept whatever those professionals bring to our tables for us to digest. We might help Dr. Johnson point out that many a professional has been to Lubbock lately, and we still don't know for sure what shape they have left our schools and city in.

If any decision is to be made in regard to hiring a consultant for the new library facility, let the city fathers make that decision. After all, taxpayers are expecting something for their money, and they would much rather have the physical facilities, something that they can use, than a bunch of reports that seem to only cost money and accomplish nothing more. If we are going to spend money, it would probably be better for elected officials to do it, after all, if we don't get what we want with the money we are paying, we can always replace the elected people at city hall that "didn't get the job done."

The West Texas Times wants Dr. Johnson to know—as well as our readers in West Texas—that we definitely support any citizen who is willing to speak out against spending money when that money was not voted for that purpose. It's good to know that someone "up there" wants to protect the taxpayer's interest.

Dr. Johnson, we wholeheartedly endorse your stand. You have done an important job for the people of Lubbock County. Keep your head high and do what is right for all of the people.

Let's Support Barbara Jordan

Black people of West Texas should be out in great numbers on Tuesday, September 29th, and support the first black woman in Texas to serve in the state senate, as she comes to the Hub City.

This young, 34-year-old, lady has a great deal to offer any young person coming up in the world today. We can be proud of her involvement and we should all help welcome her to our community.

Barbara Jordan should go a long way for the people of Texas. Now we have an opportunity to see and hear her in person, and show her our support at the same time. This lady came here several years ago and those who were fortunate enough to hear her should not forget what she did then.

Let's all come out and support this lady who always has something to say.

MY VIEWS

By Eddie P. Richardson

The chickens always come home to roost, and so will the high class, big shot, high society, high position, good job nigger who forgets his people, the ghetto dwellers he grew up with, and the place of his past.

He gets a good education, a good job and a high show-case position and he forgets people he once knew, his ex-neighbors, friends and relations. With his new found position goes a new car, larger and nicer home, and a big head! He suddenly forgets the nickle and dime people, turns his head to keep from speaking, and looks down and off to avoid his ghetto brother's eyes.

If he is a teacher he avoids the people that supply the little snotty nosed, black, ragged children that provide him with a job. If he is a preacher he will ignore the poverty stricken peasant even when he sees them being drawn down further in their plight; and if he has a job, he will cross the street to avoid being forced to speak to certain people rather than have his boss think that he might be familiar with that ragged, dirty nigger. He never wants anyone to know that he is or was ever anything but clean, well clothed and well-to-do.

Now one thing is for sure, not all of our black people are this way, and many, regardless of the status they attain ever forget where they are, or

Austin, Tex.—State Republican and Democratic parties have put their appeals to Texas voters in writing—via the platforms drafted at their separate conventions last week.

Democrats, party veterans said repeatedly, "wrote the most progressive planks ever."

Republicans put the emphasis on attacking crime, campus disorders and drug use.

Highlights of the Democratic statement of party goals include:

+A far-reaching vocational-technical education program, repeal of annual voter registration requirements and substitution of "registration by voting" every four years, opposition to a tax on groceries, a minimum foundation program for policemen with state standards of qualification and pay, state civil service, expansion of unemployment insurance benefits.

+Increase in workmen's compensation benefits, creation of a public utilities regulatory commission, establishment of an office of consumer protection, elimination of the $80 million a year welfare outlay ceiling, an increase in minimum wage, sweeping insurance reforms and creation of a state management research commission to promote governmental efficiency.

Republican platform highlights are:

+Legislation to end discrimination in state governmental employment and to insure equal pay for equal work, creation of single-member legislative districts, realistic technical and vocational courses commencing at junior high school level and offered in nearly all high schools, condemnation of forced busing of students to achieve racial balance:

+Opposition to a tax on groceries, later voter registration deadlines, inclusion of all insurance company income in calculating auto insurance rates, admission of oral confessions in trials, and life sentence without parole for murdering a policeman.

AFL-CIO "Backs" Demos—Following the conventions, Texas AFL-CIO leaders "urged" support by labor of all statewide candidates of the Democratic party in the general elections.

Decision, AFL-CIO President H. S. (Hank) Brown explained, left union members free to do as they pleased, since there was no formal "endorsement" carrying monetary support or mandatory vote.

A New Commission On Phonography?

By Jimmy R. Allen

Minority members of the Presidential Commission on Pornography are working desperately to side-track or delay the Commission's report in the conviction that its recommendations are unobjective and unsupportable.

The report which, according to press releases, recommends the elimination of legal curbs on smut for adults in our society, has been vigorously attacked.

Dr. Victor B. Cline, professor of psychology at the University of Utah, states that the report is "rigged" and ignores much available information. He calls it "a gross mixture of truth and error."

Some religious leaders are calling for a new commission. Dr. Foy D. Valentine, executive secretary of the Southern Baptist Christian Life Commission has urged President Nixon to appoint a commission of his own.

The thesis which emerges from the "Objective research" of the commission staff and their contracting agents is that what one takes into his mind does not affect his attitudes or behavior. It rejects a law as universally demonstrated as the law of gravity and as old as the wise men of Ancient Israel. "As a man thinketh in his heart so is he."

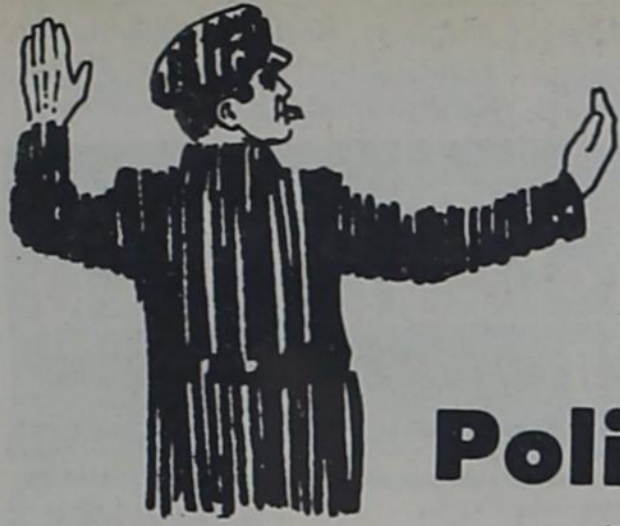

Upon this thesis the whole advertising world invests millions of dollars a month. Motivational responses can be triggered by positive suggestive input. Now the commission comes out with the unbelievable claim that a negative or destructive input will not affect men.

Time will give us opportunity to examine the validity of the Commission's research methods. The idea that the commission is divided and slanted in the direction of greater permissiveness is disturbing in a society deeply concerned about sexual permissiveness and sex-oriented crimes.

Thoughtful Christians reject the idea of returning sexuality to the distortions of yesteryear; however, Christians should also be eager to see sexuality understood as part of God's good creation. It is a divinely-given privilege for human beings to express the loving oneness in every dimension of life through sexual channels. Smut robs sexuality of its truly human and divine dimension.

Since social legislation is designed to curb destructive forces on the young and the weak, strict restrictions on smut should be exercised. Proponents of pornography pander to the lowest level of sexual interests in the name of freedom of expression. They contribute to a deterioration of the moral fabric of our society.

While biased commissions may recommend less restrictions on smut, it is highly possible that thoughtful Americans will stand by the reasonable inference that what one views and thinks has some connection with what one is and does.

Police Beat

Attempted Burglary at Struggs

The principal of E. C. Struggs Junior High School, Charles E. Brown, reported to the Lubbock Police Department that someone attempted to break into the school one night last week.

It was learned that a screen was slashed and a window broken out.

Assault

A Lubbock man, James Johnson of 702 Avenue D, Apartment 11, reported to the Lubbock Police Department that someone did hit him on the head with a bottle.

He told police that the people involved did not take any of his money, but a knife was also apparently used in the incident.

Theft of Purse

Leola Jackson, of 2710 East 19th Street, was an unhappy young lady last week. You see, the Lubbock resident reported that someone did take her purse from her. Mrs. Jackson told police that she left to get off the bus she was riding when she discovered the purse was missing.

It was learned that the purse, black in color, contained $3.00 and some valuable papers.

Perhaps we could learn by the mistake Mrs. Jackson made. Let us be extra careful when riding public vehicles or attending public affairs. Be careful in what we do. It'll pay off, won't it Mrs. Jackson?

House Burglary

This is an unusual one. But, perhaps some of you would say it can happen to any of us.

You see, a Lubbock housewife reported to the police that someone came into their apartment and took $12 worth of meat, including pork chops, steaks and other selected cuts of meat.

What made the matter even worse was the fact, according to the lady, that her husband was asleep on the couch when all of this happened. He was taking a nap. How about that?

It is believed that the unknown person came in by the open front door or through the bedroom window.

Aggravated Assault

A Lubbock woman told police that she was entertaining some of her "good friends" one night last week when everything went wrong. Yes, everyone was popping their toes when all of a sudden hell broke loose.

A Lubbock man, not her husband, came in to the house without knocking, and started an argument with the lady. He slapped her around several times and threatened her with what she believed was a pistol he had concealed in his pants pocket.

Yes, you guessed it, this broke up the party in a big way. Every-

B. B. King, left, was joined on stage by Little Robert, drummer, when King appeared at Cal Expo in California last week. Little Robert is the leader of his own group, Little Robert and the Fondells, and they are doing big things in the Sacramento area. King and Little Robert did their thing for a crowd of 2,500 persons who enjoyed the whole set.

Little Robert is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brookins of Sacramento, California, and the nephew of Mrs. Pearl Mitchell of 1107 N. Washington in Amarillo, Texas. Mrs. Mitchell is an agent in Amarillo for the Atlanta Life Insurance Company Agency in Lubbock.

ABC officials expressed concern that the liquor-by-the-drink law, if approved by the voters and Legislature, be tightly enforced. Meanwhile, "Texans for Enforceable Liquor Laws," sponsors of the liquor-by-the-drink amendment, announced a statewide publicity and advertising campaign to put over its amendment.

Oil Allowable Up—Texas Railroad Commission bumped the state oil allowable for October to 87 per cent of potential.

This would be the highest since January, 1949. Increase was granted on the understanding of strict compliance with the order directing record allowable.

In the usual American business system, a man's own ingenuity and ambition determines his success. How well he produces determines how far he will go . . . so he serves you better. Think of the neighborhood boy selling lemonade . . . he's on his own with an independent business just like Southwestern. Both the boy and Southwestern have to provide the type of product and service that will make you want to be a customer. When you choose your electric service . . . remember this . . . Afro-American History Notes: One of the greatest treasure hunts in the world is for the millions in gold and diamonds buried by Lobenguela, King of the Matabeles of South Africa.

Errol John of Trinidad, British West Indies, won first prize against two thousand competitors in a 1957 nation-wide contest staged by the British newspaper, The Observer, for the best full-length play.

A popular refrain during the Revolutionary War was "The right to be killed I'll divide with the Naygur (Negro) and give him the largest half."

Problems of the Black Senior Citizens To be Aired: What are the special problems and popular frustrations of Negro senior citizens in the Permian Basin?

Grants totaling more than a million and a half dollars have been made to several church related colleges, including Bishop College and Paul Quinn in Texas, operated by the A.M.E. Church.

"Elimination of the Ghetto-Goal for the Seventies" was a fitting theme for the 64th anniversary celebration convention of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc., which met in Philadelphia at the Sheraton Hotel.

Chimes: Dr. Ralph Waldo Sockman, United Methodist minister who died recently, served as pastor of Christ Church for 44 years.

South African Speaks on Problems: Settlement conflicts between rich and poor and whites and non-whites is the business of the church, according to Rev. D. W. Timm, president of the South African Methodist Church.

Dear Bob: There is a radio program heard in my area called Life Line conducted by Melvin Mund out of Dallas.

I hear the program often and have on several occasions asked for radio time to disagree with many of the man's views. We rate him ultra-conservative, yet, as an American he has the right to his views just as the Muslims, with whom we most heartily disagree on most issues.

Dear Bellringer: "The First Baptist Church in Birmingham, Alabama, is considering the admission of the first black members in its 98 year history.

Simply, "In Christ, we are one." We recall some pretty hot debates with Dr. W. A. Criswell of Dallas some years ago over segregation. Today, he too, has found the light.

Whitney M. Young, Jr., recently voiced opinion expressed by this column here several months ago. Young is Executive Director of the National Urban League.

Mr. Young said that although some previous actions of the Nixon administration may have appeared "anti-Negro", he did not believe there was "a conscious deliberate policy of hating black people."

Washington D. C. was selected as the national capitol in 1792.

Pima College Security Chief

Tucson police officer Don Allen, son of Mrs. Katherine White of Lubbock, has been named head of security at Pima College.

College president Kenneth Harper said the 33-year-old officer will head a six man staff and will assist in some law-enforcement instruction courses.

Allen, who was with the city police for five years, had just completed a year's leave of absence to attend the University of Arizona, where he is a junior.

Kinner and Davis Exchange Wedding Vows Friday

In a beautiful setting at the Mae Simmons Community Center last Friday evening at 7 p.m., Miss Brenda Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Davis, became the bride of Ronald Chester Kinner, son of H. C. Kinner of Lubbock and Mrs. Lettie Furlow of Abbott, Texas.

Ronald is a graduate of Dunbar High School and Brenda is still a student at Dunbar.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Brenda Alexander, cousin of the groom, sang, "I Love You Truly," accompanied by Mrs. Edna R. Walker.

Rev. A. W. Wilson, pastor of Bethel A.M.E. Church, officiated at the single ring ceremony.

A reception followed the ceremony.

The couple left Sunday morning via Braniff Airlines for St. Petersburg, Florida, where Ronald is finishing initial training with the St. Louis Cardinals. They plan to make their home there temporarily.

Revolution And Fight For Freedom Sustained By The Printed Word

By Robert M. Shaw, Manager
Minnesota Newspaper Association
(Second in a Series)

Editor's Note: This is a four part series reviewing the history of "the public's right to know"—"freedom of information" and "freedom of the press" in the United States. Current problems and future problems of the press are reviewed in the final articles.

What caused the American Revolution? How did it happen that American colonists, outnumbered and outgunned by one of the world's "superpowers," were able to tear themselves away from European rule and set out on a new course in a free world?

Obviously, there had to be a revolution in men's minds. Not all colonists wanted independence. There were strong forces in colonial America which wanted to stay with England. What was it that fanned the flames, which set fire to the smoldering revolutionary movement?

Some historians believe the Revolution was largely brought on by skillful writers and propagandists such as Tom Paine and John Quincy Adams, men whose words echoed what most men knew but could not articulate. These propagandists, writing in a small number of newspapers, converted men into fiery patriots and helped to weld the far-flung colonies into one great social movement.

James Franklin, publisher of the New England Courant, was one of the first of these editors to kick up the traces. About 1720, he resisted censorship by the colonial governor, and was thrown in jail. When released, he kept up his sharp criticism of government until the Colonial Court put an abrupt end to his newspaper publishing career. But his example stayed; it remains to this day: "Nobody, especially government officials, is going to see my copy before it's printed!"

Later, other colonial editors printed an increasing volume of material which challenged British authority and crystallized public opinion, giving it a clear and positive direction. There were only a handful—about a score—of these newspapers. They were all weeklies—and their total circulation was about 40,000—but they were passed from one hand to another until they literally fell apart. They were read aloud to small groups and to large ones. They carried their revolutionary ideas into every hamlet and frontier village. The news of the Declaration of Independence was first published in the Pennsylvania Post on July 6, 1776. First came communication—news of complete rupture with England. Then came action—ringing of the bells, organizing of the militia, and war.

During the battles which followed, it was the force of words printed on paper which greatly contributed to the morale of the fighting colonial soldiers. Tom Paine's "Common Sense" was enormously popular with the troops, and his views on independence were known to every literate American. It was in the form of a colonial newspaper that his stirring words were published in the Pennsylvania Journal on December 19, 1776:

These are the times that try men's souls. The summer soldier and the sunshine patriot will, in this crisis, shrink from the service of their country; but he that stands it now, deserves the love and thanks of man and woman. Tyranny, like hell, is not easily conquered; yet we have this consolation with us, that the harder the conflict the more glorious the triumph. What we obtain too cheap, we esteem too lightly; it is dearness only that gives everything its value. Heaven knows how to put a proper price upon its goods; and it would be strange indeed if so celestial an article as freedom should not be highly rated.

When George Washington read these words he ordered them read to each corporal's squad of his tiny, bleeding, army. He reported that "It worked a powerful change in the minds of my men."

Words printed on paper can have powerful effects. When words are printed, they remain. They are not lost in the wind, not subject to the distortions which occur when they are passed along by word of mouth. They can be handed from one reader to another, without change. And those persons who put words on paper are peculiarly conscious that they may be called to account for what they do.

Newspapers have always provided the best means for the accurate expression of complex ideas. It was true in colonial times, and it is true today.

CHURCH NEWS

Mount Vernon United Methodist Church

We are happy to have Mrs. Carolyn Gilbert join the church school staff as the teacher of our kindergarten class. We are still in need of more teachers. If you can give the time, see Mr. Roby Roberts or Rev. M. T. Reed, pastor.

Last Sunday morning Mrs. Evelyn Luckey presented her little daughter, Sherry Annette, at the Altar for Christian Baptism. Thank God for mothers who still give their child to Him.

Young people attending our services last Sunday were Jimmie T. Walker, Merry Jo Walker and Renee Priestly, all of West Texas State University at Canyon, Texas; Eric Strong of Prairie View; Bryant Strong of South Plains Junior College at Levelland; Linda Rutherford of University of Texas, Austin and Michael Roberts of Lubbock Christian College.

Greater Saint Luke Baptist Church

The members of Eunice Circle will meet tonight, at 8, in the home of Sister Margie Simmons, 3610 David Street.

Sunday school and B.T.U. Promotion will be held on the fourth Sunday in September. Parents and well wishers, let us come out and help celebrate the on-going of our Sunday school and B.T.U.

Prayer meeting is held each Wednesday evening at 8. Prayer gives power to weakness and opens to poverty the world's wealth. It puts fruits and flowers where thorns and briars flourish.

Let us pray for and visit our sick and shut-ins. Brother Wilmar Wilson is shut-in at home. Sister Annie Hinton is also ill in her home.

Mount Gilead Baptist Church

There were thirty-eight members present at Sunday school last Sunday. The topic of the lesson was "A Spiritual Pilgrimage."

The message for the morning was brought by our pastor, Rev. R. J. Dixon, entitled, "The Danger of Leaving God Out". He used for his text St. Luke, 12:16-21. The parable of the rich man who saw no need of sharing his riches with the poor, but rather he elected to build larger barns. My Views . . .

Continued From Page Two what they are or where they come from. They never forget that we all are brothers and sisters, and in many cases, "But for the Grace of God, There go I."

The problem is that too many of our people, once they reach a "black, big nigger" status, want to be the only one around when they go downtown. They want to speak for and represent people that they will not even speak to!

But, as the opening statement said, "the chickens will come home to roost." Just let these same people miss a promotion, loose a job, or not get the kind of recognition they think they deserve, and they always turn to the same people they were too good to speak to before, and cry to them to help right the wrong. It never fails that the person who was riding high, refusing to speak, help, or worry about the little people, always comes home to those same little people asking and begging for help.

One would wonder how much longer it is going to take for black people, who have worked their way out of poverty, to realize that regardless of what they think they are, they still may someday have to fall back on the relief people they refuse to associate with can give them. Why can't they just stay at home and be good people while they are improving themselves and acquiring status?

Closing thought: Be "yourself and accept your own."
