Tribute: Baseball legend O'Neil died last Friday at the age of 94

By Keith Olbermann

The story is legendary. Baseball John Jordan "Buck" O'Neil, then age 93, was walking back to his hotel in New York City about a year ago when he and a couple of friends passed an attractive woman, apparently in her 30's wearing a bright red dress. The friends entered their hotel, which is when they noticed she was no longer with them. He was back down the street exchanging laughs with the woman. When O'Neil returned they asked him if he knew her. "No," he said, "but one thing in life, you never pass up an opportunity to talk to a woman in a red dress."

[The] number one story ... tonight, Buck O'Neil died Friday night from cancer of the bone marrow and congestive heart failure, both only diagnosed within the last month. We were privileged to be on the planet at the same time he was.

The day Buck O'Neil born was in Carrabelle, Florida, November 13, 1911, William Howard Taft was president of the United States and Richard Nixon's mother was not yet pregnant with him.

Enrico Caruso opened the opera season by singing "Aida" in New York with Arturo Toscanini conducting. And baseball fans in Philadelphia were still celebrating their Athletics' World Series win over the New York Giants keyed by the amazing performance of third baseman, Frank Baker, now nicknamed "Homerun Baker" for having hit not one, but two homeruns in the series.

There were, of course no African-American players in the World Series nor on any other major league team, nor in the minors, nor had there been for 27 years, nor would there be for another 36. And in Carrabelle, Florida, and in Sarasota, where he would grow up, African-American children did not go to the same schools as the white children did. And so Buck O'Neil would not have a chance to go to Sarasota High School nor the University of Florida. His chances would have to come on the celerly fields of Sarasota and the baseball fields.

Buck O'Neil was a natural first baseman and a natural hitter, playing ball for a few dollars a game helped him to work his way through Edward Waters College in Jacksonville. And in 1934, he began an odyssey through the segregated Negro Leagues, reaching their big time just in time for their heyday, the Kansas City Monarchs. "Satchel" Paige and Jackie Robinson among his teammates, and black baseball's first World Series championship his accomplishments. But he was already 35 when Robinson was chosen to integrate the major leagues and already player manager in Kansas City. Too late to cross the color line as a player, too soon to cross it as an executive. So instead he became 'developer of player talent. His proteges included Elston Howard, the first black player, later MVP of the New York Yankees, and Ernie Banks, who became Chicago's legendary Mr. Cub.

Buck O'Neil got no little recognition and was denied entry into the Baseball Hall of Fame, but was highly regarded during and after his baseball career.

ERNE BANKS, "MR. CUB": I'm in the Hall of Fame because of Buck O'Neil. I spent many time and many years with him. He's a scout and a teacher. And he saw something in me when first arrived with the Kansas City Monarchs that I didn't see in myself. And he's that type of person. He can really pull the skills that a person has out.

As integration put the Negro Leagues out of business, Buck O'Neil became one of the major league's first scouts with the Cubs in 1956. He had already bought them Banks he would later find them other Hall of Famers like Billy Williams and Lou Brock and later day stars like Joe Carter. And in 1962 after the suggestion of Banks, O'Neil became baseball's first black coach spending the season in a Chicago uniform and a dozen more working with the minor leagues. And there the story might have ended. Buck O'Neil, triumphant, if obscure in overcoming. But he wanted the overcoming to be remembered as one of the founders of the Negro League's baseball museum in Kansas City, he helped open a window to history.

As one of the stars of the PBS documentary, "Baseball" in 1994 he became an overnight sensation at the age of 82. And he was a tireless campaigner to get more and more of the forgotten heroes of the Negro Leagues into the baseball's Hall of Fame.

In 2001, baseball finally announced a special committee would convene. It would research all candidates and five years later, give a simple yes or no vote on each. One vote for all time, you are either in or never to be eligible again.

The election of Buck O'Neil, by now baseball's senior ambassador, with 65 years in the game and a million fans for every year, was a foregone conclusion. Except when the voting was announced last February, 17 men and women, two of them white, had been elected, Buck O'Neil had not.

The experts, some with conflicts of interest, like books they had written about their own favorite candidates, others with grudges against the Negro League's museum, turned Buck O'Neil away through their and baseball's eternal shame.

Seemingly the only man who did not see it that way, though, was bucking O'Neil himself.

He volunteered to speak about all of those who were voted in and their induction in Cooperstown, N.Y., last July. That month he became the oldest man to play in a professional game, drawing two walks in the All-Star game of the minor league, the Northern League. Throughout the summer he continued a tireless schedule, crisscrossing the country to attend Negro Leagues commemorations to speak, to meet fans, and then in August he checked himself into a Kansas City hospital with exhaustion.

I last got the privilege of speaking with Buck O'Neil on March 1, just after that Hall of Fame vote that broke our hearts, but no, his.

OLBERMANN: There are a lot of us in the Buck O'Neil fan club who are or who were really angry or really broken hearted that the election turned out the way it did. But you very obviously and very publicly are not. Why aren't you?

BUCK O'NEIL: Well, you know, I'm a little disappointed that I didn't get in, but I think the people that was on that committee, that did the voting, they were voting just what they thought it should be and I can't hold that against anyone. I did have a chance, you know. If I hadn't had a chance, now I would have been bitter, just like, oh, I couldn't attend Sarasota High School. They didn't give me a chance, but with this, they gave me a chance to get into the Hall of Fame at Cooperstown. I just didn't make it.

OLBERMANN: What do suggest those of us who admire you do about our disappointment?

O'NEIL: Well, I do not know what you can do, really, as far as me going into Cooperstown. But I thank all of you that you feel the way that you feel. And I feel that I could be in Cooperstown. I think that put the numbers down. I put the numbers up that would lead you into the Hall of Fame, not on the fields. Now, a lot of people they are talking—they were talking about other things I accomplished off of the field, which is wonderful, but, listen, I play, you know, I played a year and made one error and I hit the ball, I just happened to be a line drive hitter, not the homerun hitter. But I drove in the runs; I could do all these things.

But I think, you know, with me, my greatest accomplishment might have been starting the Negro League Baseball Museum, here in Kansas City, which tells that story. So, if it's to be one day I might be in the Hall of Fame. But I just want to thank all of the people that felt the way that they are feeling right now. But don't weep for Buck. No man. Just feel happy, just like I am, being thankful, just like I am, that I can do and have done the things that I did do.

OLBERMANN: I'm not going to try to talk you out of being OK with this. If this cup is half full, god bless you we could learn a lot of that from you. But I do want to ask you this, Ernie Banks said last night that he thinks the work of that special committee is not done yet, that it should not be disbanded, that it has more people to elect and honor from the Negro Leagues and whether it is Cannonball Dick Redding or it's John Donnellson or it is Minnie Monsoo or it is Buck O'Neil should there be another vote next year?

O'NEIL: Well, now, had I been had I been elected, I was going to preach, because I think everybody was on that list was qualified should be in the Hall of Fame, really. And that's what I was going to preach if I had been in. But now I can't preach that because they would be thinking I'm just preaching for Buck O'Neil.

OLBERMANN: Well, I don't think anybody would ever think that. I have been asking for three nights now if the voters who did not vote for you or for Minnie Monsoo, would identify themselves and at least explain what they were thinking. The voters all say they've been asked by the Hall of Fame to keep their voting confidential. Hall of Fame spokesman told me that's not true. They can talk if they want to. Do you have an opinion about that? Should they explain why they did or did not vote for anybody in particular including you?

O'NEIL: They should if they wanted to. If they wanted to explain why they didn't vote for Buck, yes, they should, they should have that privilege to do or not to do. But, I don't see why they wouldn't explain why they didn't. I don't know why they would or wouldn't. But we'll see. Maybe somebody will come and say something after while.

OLBERMANN: Buck I said this 10 years ago when we sat down to talk about Jackie Robinson, I'll say it again, it's an honor just to know you, sir, and thank you for everything you've done for baseball, thank you for everything you've done for this country.

O'NEIL: The pleasure's all mine and I thank you very much for having ol' Buck on here to talk a little. Thank you.

OLBERMANN: And by the way, I'm still going to push to get you into the Hall of Fame anyway.

O'NEIL: Hey, don't stop. Keep it up.

OLBERMANN: Thank you, sir.

O'NEIL: You're welcome.

That we can promise Buck. I'm not so sure about the not weeping and flights of angels sing thee to thy rest.

Thompson reaches 101st birthday

With the help of God, James Thompson will celebrate his 101st birthday on Friday, October 13, 2006. A special gathering will be held Friday afternoon, October 13, 2006, beginning at 1:00 p.m. at his residence 2512 Globe Avenue.

Thompson

All of his friends are asked to attend. Come on by and wish him a very special "Happy 101st Birthday!"

He was born in Bell County, and attended high school in Milam County. Mr. Thompson is the son of a slave, Ned Thompson, who was born in 1856 and died in 1922.

Mc Thompson moved from Littlefield in 1940 to Lubbock. He is a member of the New Zion Baptist Church.

Early Head Start receives recognition

The Texas Tech University Early Head Start Center, 515 North Zenith Avenue, held an open house in celebration of its newly received national accreditation on Tuesday, October 10, 2006.

The National Association for Education of Young Children (NAEYC) recently recognized Texas Tech's Early Head Start as an accredited program. NAEYC is the nation's largest organization of early childhood educators.

Texas Tech's Early Head Start program has been operating for five years and has reached capacity with 32 center-based children and 24 home-based children.

Early Head Start is a federally funded program for low-income pregnant women and families with infants and toddlers up to age three. The program promotes healthy prenatal outcomes for pregnant women, enhanced development of very young children, and healthy family functioning.

Texas Tech's Early Head Start program is a division of the TTU Child Development Research Center in the College of Human Sciences.

In last week's column, it was reported about the landmarks being changed in East Lubbock. Specifically, it was mentioned about the name of the oldest Black Church in Lubbock County, Mt. Gilead Baptist Church. It was reported the name has been changed to "The Mt. Gilead Full Gospel Church." The pastor, Rev. J. Jerome Johnson, advised that the name has not changed. It is still the Mt. Gilead Baptist Church, which is located at 2511 Fir Avenue. This writer has seen the church name on a recent anniversary program which noted the name has changed. This writer, however, acknowledges what Pastor Johnson has said, the name has not changed. It is still the Mt. Gilead Baptist Church.

A special "Happy Birthday" to one of our longtime resident, Mr. James Thompson, who will be 101 years young, on Friday, October 13. He was born in Bell County, Texas in 1905. What a blessing! May God continue to bless you, Mr. Thompson!

Let us continue to pray for our sick and shut-in citizens of our community. Among them is Brother Caviel who is at home after being released from Covenant Medical Center last Saturday. There are others who are on this list. If you know them, then offer a prayer for them. If you have an opportunity, why not visit them if possible or call them on the telephone. It means so much when we show our concern for those who are shut-in. Today, it is them and tomorrow it could be you.

While we are offering prayer for our sick and shut-in, let us not forget those who have lost loved ones. Among those families who have lost a loved one are the families of Sister Barbara Elaine Mitchell, Sister Charlene Morris and Sister Carolyn Powell-Smith. Remember, your prayers mean so much to these families.

Let us keep in mind the monthly meeting of the Federation of Choirs which will be meeting Sunday afternoon, October 22, 2006, at the Community Baptist Church, Rev. Larry Brooks is the proud pastor. Sister Bennie Sims is president of the Federation of Choirs.

The New Hope Baptist Church will be special guest at the Bethel African Methodist Episcopal Church, 2202 Southeast Drive, on Sunday afternoon, October 15, 2006, for their Men and Women's Annual Day. Rev. B. R. Moton will deliver the message.

Services at the New Hope Baptist Church were well attended last Sunday morning, October 8, 2006, where Rev. B. R. Moton is the proud pastor. If you are looking for a church home, then come and visit New Hope. It is the "Church Where The People Really Care!"

Morning worship got underway with meditation and prayer. The Praise Team sang some very inspiring selections. The morning scripture was read by Minister C. McCutcheon, and prayer was offered by Minister C. Wilson. The New Hope Choir sang out of their hearts and souls.

Pastor Moton delivered a splendid sermon. His subject was "Don't Miss Jesus This Time!" His scripture was John 20:24-29. It was a message which made those in take note to what's really important. Praise God for the word!

After the invitation to discipleship was extended, the morning announcements were read by Sister Linda Henderson. Brother Billy Dailey welcomed all visitors.

It won't be long before the upcoming General Election which is set for Tuesday, November 7, 2006. There's no need to stay home or have an excuse as to not vote. Remember, there were those who gave their lives so you could vote. Please do so! Voting is so important! While you are going to the polls, why not take someone with you!

"Our government must reflect the people of Texas—strong, proud, courageous, and caring. To guarantee prosperity for Texas, we must lift all Texans."

That's the Texas I want my granddaughters to inherit. That's the Texas I believe all of us are committed to creating.

— Carole Keeton Strayhorn

Carole Keeton Strayhorn is a proven leader. She was the first woman in history elected Texas Comptroller of Public Accounts. Often called a trailblazer, Carole Keeton Strayhorn was the first woman elected to the Texas Railroad Commission—and re-elected in 1996 with the highest vote total in a statewide contested race; first woman mayor of Austin and served three terms; first woman president of the Austin School Board, and first woman president of the Austin Community College Board.

Comptroller Strayhorn's lifelong record of achievement and public service is rooted in her passion for education. She began her career as a public school teacher, before being elected to the school board. Comptroller Strayhorn is as an "education watchdog" for the people of Texas. She has been endorsed by the Texas State Teachers Association and the Texas Federation of Teachers.

Church News

We Thank God for Jesus Better To Obey Than Sacrifice

Written by Evangelist Billy "BJ" Morrison, III - Your brother in Christ Jesus always.

1 Peter 5:8 - Be sober, be vigilance, because your adversary the Devil as a roaring lion roaring about seeking whom he may devour.

In the book of Ecclesiastes 1:9 tells us there is nothing new for us to see. Satan is yet doing his job lying as he did in the Garden with Adam and Eve.

God told Adam what to do. He told him the tree in the middle of the Garden, "Don't eat. Then Adam told it to Eve his wife. You can read it the Bible, Genesis 3:3.

Proverbs 25:12 - As an ear-ring of gold and an ornament of fine gold, so is a wise reproach upon an obedient ear.

It was Adam who brought sin upon this world upon every man, woman, boy and girl. That's why God sent Jesus to be born on earth. The Savior of the whole world!!!

John 17:8 - Jesus said, for I have given unto them the words which you (God) have given me, and they received them and have known surely that I came out from you (God), and they have believed that you (God) did send me.

When God told his disciples, go and preach the gospel all over to this dying world. The good news of Jesus dying on the cross for every man, woman, boy and girl.

Luke 4:18-19 - Jesus said, the spirit of the Lord is upon me, because he (God) has anointed me to preach the gospel to the poor. He (God) has sent me to heal the brokenhearted to preach deliverance to the captives, and recovering of sight to the blind, to set a liberty them who are bruised to preach the acceptable year of the Lord.

But deliverance happened again in the 60's when man wanted to do his own thing, and the leadership and the disobedience was led by one man - Martin Luther King!!!

John 10:3-5 - Jesus said to him (The Good Shepherd) the porter opens and the sheep hear his voice, and he calls his own sheep by name, and lead them out, and a stranger will they not follow. But will flee from him. For they know not the voice of strangers.

 Did You Follow The Devil's Voice??? *****

And Martin Luther heard of Jesus. In St. Matthew 4:19, he said to him, follow me. Jesus was not a trouble maker or law breaker, leading a mob of people into the streets!!!

Matthew 4:8 - The devil took him (Jesus) up into an exceeding high mountain, and showed him all the Kingdom of the world and the glory of them, and said unto him (Jesus), All these things will I give you if you will fall down and worship me.

He is known all over the world now that has happened to Martin Luther King, but to put his hand to the Gospel plow. Then do the Devil's work. Shame!!! Shame!!! Shame!!!

Luke 9:62 - Jesus said, no man, having put his hand to the plough, and looking back is not fit for the Kingdom of God.

With riots in the streets, fighting and hating the White man. It didn't accomplish a thing. Jesus said, let your light shine that it won't bring God, the Father. Shame!!! Shame!!! Shame!!!

Matthew 5:9 - Jesus said, blessed are the peacemakers (not troublemakers) for they shall be called the Children of God.

 Were You One Of The Troublemakers Or Peace Makers??? *****

And from that disobedience March of Man's Right: Trouble is all over America's land, and as I read my Bible. The word of God says "America is cursed upon every hand!!!"

Deuteronomy 28:15-19 - The Lord said, "It shall come to pass. If you will not listen unto the voice of the Lord, your God, to observe so all his commandments and his statutes which I command you this day. That all these curses shall come upon you, and over take you. Cursed will you be in the city, and cursed shall be in your basket of your cattle, and the flocks of your sheep. Cursed shall you be when you come in, and cursed will you be when you go out.

Outreach Prayer Breakfast

Speaking To Our Mountain

Do you know why so many Christians are oppressed? They don't understand the grace of God. You may have missed it, and thank God is holding it against you. Especially when you miss it in the same area more than once. You think surely God's grace can't cover four times in the same area. Well, it can! This writer can say that because the word says so. Mark 11 and Ephesians 2:8.

"For verily I say unto you, whosoever shall say to this mountain, be thou removed, and be cast into the sea, and shall not doubt in his heart, but shall believe that those things he saith will come to pass. He shall have whatsoever he saith."

This is good, but do you really know what to say? We could be saying something and it could be the wrong thing to say. What we do know from the scripture is that we have to say something. If we say the right thing, the mountain is not a literal mountain. The mountain is an obstacle, an opposition. It is something that is preventing you from being blessed. It is something in your way that preventing you from walking in a greater degree of blessings of God. It is something in your way trying to prevent you from doing what God have you to do. It would be safe to say that if you had bills you couldn't pay. It is a mountain if you're sick and have spent all you have. On doctor bills and are still not any better. It's a mountain. Don't start complaining! Don't get a bad attitude and don't doubt in your heart like the world does. Shout Grace to that mountain. Putting the power of the word of God on the matter.

Shout It Out! God's Grace is sufficient. You might say you don't deserve to be healed, but Grace says Yes! You might have opened the door for sickness and disease to get in, but the way out of it. It is Grace! God Grace! Something you and I have nothing to do with it. It's a precious gift. Don't Doubt, Saints! Speak to your mountain, and tell it to "Move!"

We were unable to meet last Saturday morning because of conditions beyond our control, but we will see you next month, November, 2006.

Keep us in your prayers. Also, continue your drive by prayers for all mankind, regardless of their color!

For all those who are sick and shut-in as well as our bereaved citizens, we're praying for all of you. You see, God is able!

Thought For The Week: "Prosperity builds buildings; Prayer builds people!"

St. Matthew's Baptist Church News

Church services were well attended last Sunday morning, October 8, 2005, at the St. Matthew Baptist Church, 2020 East 14th Street, where Rev. Edward Canady is the proud pastor.

Services got underway with Sunday School, beginning at 10:10 a.m. with Superintendent Sister Luella Harris was in charge.

The morning lesson was taught by Sister Harris, and was reviewed by Pastor Canady. The subject of the morning lesson was "Leadership Counts." The lesson passages were Judge 4:4-10, 12-16. What a wonderful lesson it was.

The morning worship services got underway with the morning devotion led by Deacon Edward Williams and Brother Vincent Bailey. The spirit was very high! The St. Matthew Baptist Church Senior Choir sung from the depths of their hearts. God is able!

Pastor Canady delivered a powerful sermon. His subject was "Pray For The Preacher." His scripture text was Acts 12:5. It was a most rewarding message for all who were in attendance. Praise God for the word and our Pastor.

Let us continue to pray for our sick and shut-in citizens. Our own, Sister Barbara Johnson, Sister Annie Stanley, Sister Lorene Conaway, and Sister Ethel Williams, are on the sick list.

The Missionary Society will sponsor a 'Lemon Squeeze' Saturday morning, October 14, 2006, in the Fellowship Hall, beginning at 11:00 a.m. Everyone is invited to attend. If you come, you will be glad you did come.

Pastoral Month is October. Remember your Pastor this month, and every month!

Thought For The Month: "Revenge imprisons us; forgiveness sets us free!"

Hugo Chavez's Anti-Bush part 2

This week we continue with another part of the "Anti-Bush and American Speech" made by Hugo Chavez at the United Nations and on American soil. The speech is printed to solidify Americans and especially Blacks and Latinos on the game plan of one of our neighbors south of the equator. Hugo Chavez, in a sense is a larger threat than the leaders of Iran or North Korea because of his political and financial persuasion of our neighbors to the south.

CHAVEZ (THROUGH TRANSLATOR): Yes; you can all us extremists, but we are rising up against the empire, against the model of domination.

The president then - and this he said himself, he said: "I have come to speak directly to the populations in the Middle East, to tell them that my country wants peace."

That's true. If we walk in the streets of the Bronx, if we walk around New York, Washington, San Diego, in any city, San Antonio, San Francisco, and we ask individuals, the citizens of the United States, what does this country want? Does it want peace? They'll say yes.

But the government doesn't want peace. The government of the United States doesn't want peace. It wants to exploit its system of exploitation, of pillage, of hegemony through war.

It wants peace. But what's happening in Iraq? What happened in Lebanon? In Palestine? What's happening? What's happening over the last 100 years in Latin America and in the world? And now threatening Venezuela - new threats against Venezuela, against Iran?

He spoke to the people of Lebanon. Many of you, he said, have seen how your homes and communities were caught in the crossfire. How cynical can you get? What a capacity to lie shamefacedly. The bombs in Beirut with millimetric precision?

CHAVEZ (THROUGH TRANSLATOR): This is cross-fire? He's thinking of a western, when people would shoot from the hip and somebody would be caught in the crossfire.

This is imperialist, fascist, assassin, genocidal, the empire and Israel firing on the people of Palestine and Lebanon. That is what happened. And now we hear, "We're suffering because we see homes destroyed."

The president of the United States came to talk to the peoples - to the peoples of the world. He came to say - I brought some documents with me, because this morning I was reading some statements, and I see that he talked to the people of Afghanistan, the people of Lebanon, the people of Iran. And he addressed all these people directly.

And you can wonder, just as the president of the United States addresses those peoples of the world, what would these peoples of the world tell him if they were given the floor? What would they have to say?

And I think I have some inkling of what the peoples of the south, the oppressed people think. They would say, "Yankee imperialist, go home." I think that is what those people would say if they were given the microphone and if they could speak with one voice to the American imperialists.

In the next part of Chavez's speak he challenged the United Nation for not letting his country be a member and called it worthless. He talked about the immoral veto of the United States allowing Israel with impunity, to destroy Lebanon.

Chavez goes on saying "We have to strengthen ourselves, our will to do battle, our awareness. We have to build a better world."

Venezuela joins the struggle, and that's why we are threatened. The U. S. has already planned, financed and set in motion a coup in Venezuela, and it continues to support coup attempts in Venezuela (writer note: this statement could not have been true for he was alive and speaking at the U. N.) and elsewhere. Chavez alleged that the people who led the coup against him were in the U. S. and were protected by the American government. He said he accuse the American government of protecting terrorists and having of having a completely cynical discourse.

Chavez expressed his deep ties with Fidel Castro of Cuba. He also suggested that there should be a change of the United Nations to somewhere else; maybe a city of the south. He proposed Venezuela (Note: the United States pays the majority of the cost of the operation of the United Nations).

Chavez's closing statement was "You know that my personal doctor had to stay in the plane. The chief of security had to be left in a locked plane. Neither of these gentlemen was allowed to arrive and attend the U. N. meeting. This is another abuse and another abuse of power on the part of the Devil. It smells of sulfur here, but God is with us and I embrace you all. May God bless us all. Good day to you." Chavez fails to mention that his security is from the Cuban government.

Our prayer is that Black and Latino American leaders are not overwhelmed by the macho mannerism of Hugo. Remember that he is buying arms from China and Russia. It is highly possible his army is trained by enemies of the United States. Whereas Charley Rangel from New York and I disagree on a great number of things and we are on different sides of the curtain, we do agree that it is an insult for a foreign leader to come on American soil and disrespect our leader. Heaven blessed Mr. Chavez that neither one of us were President. Nuff said!

Microchips free for companion animals

The City of Lubbock Animal Services Department is offering microchips for companion animals for a donation to benefit the 2006 City of Lubbock United Way Campaign. The event will take place October 18, 2006, at Animal Services, 102 Municipal Drive from 9:00 AM - 5:00 PM. The microchip is safe, permanent, takes only seconds to administer, and is available to dogs and cats only. The chip allows Animal Services and veterinarians from around the nation the ability to scan lost animals and return them to owners.

A minimum $15.00 donation per animal is requested, with a maximum of four animals per household. A large portion of all donations will benefit the 2006 Lubbock Area United Way Campaign. Microchipping will be available to the first three hundred animals.

All Lubbock residents must purchase a city registration tag (cash or check only) for five dollars. Please bring rabies certificates for all animals four months or older, cats must be in pet taxi or other carrier, and dogs must be on leashes. Microchipping is made possible from a grant from the Lubbock Area Foundation to Lubbock Animal Services.

Alpha Kappa Alpha meeting this weekend

Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority members from the West Texas - New Mexico area will meet in Lubbock on Friday, October 13 and Saturday, October 14 to participate in a retreat being hosted by Eta Delta Omega, the Lubbock Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority Incorporated. THIS 'N' THAT

by T.J. Patterson

IT HURTS TO SEE BLACK BUSINESSES CLOSED! THIS N THAT was driving on Idalou Road one day last week, and noticed that one of our Black businesses, WILLIAMS CHICKEN has closed until it will move to another location. THIS N THAT was shocked to what is happening, but that is life, and life continues with or without. No matter what their distinction, THIS N THAT wishes them the very best in life, and hopes they continue to grow. The record will always reflect that at one time, WILLIAMS CHICKEN got started in East Lubbock on Idalou Road.

IT REALLY HURTS! THIS N THAT, when passing the corner of MLK & East Broadway Avenue, can't help but wonder why the CHURCH'S CHICKEN was closed. According to our information, it was not losing any money. Some have said they closed because of the changing of ownership and the lease had expired. Regardless of the reason, it's just a bad feeling when you drive this area and see the closed businesses. This kind of action makes one really begin to think. Just think what would happen if we would SUPPORT OUR BLACK BUSINESSES and encourage those owners to hang in there, because we believe there's help on the way! There are others, but there is no need to cry over what has happened.

PENNY HASTINGS THE BARBER SAYS, "THE PERSON who refuses to HEAR CRITICISM has no chance to LEARN FROM IT!"

HAPPY BIRTHDAY TO BROTHER JAMES THOMPSON! THIS N THAT wants to take this time and opportunity to wish BROTHER JAMES THOMPSON a HAPPY 101ST BIRTHDAY! His birthday will be Friday OCTOBER 13th. He is a good man and loves GOD! May God continue to bless you, and may you have many more!

CONTINUE TO SUPPORT PARK MEADOWS VILLAS & STONE HOLLOW VILLAGE! THIS N THAT is hoping all of us will continue to support the newly developed apartments, PARK MEADOW VILLAS & STONE HOLLOW VILLAGE, which are outstanding living quarters in East Lubbock. It is just great to see this kind of development in East Lubbock. So if you are looking for a living area, why not go by and become a renter? THIS N THAT believes you will be glad you did so. CONTINUE TO SUPPORT PARK MEADOWS VILLAS & STONE HOLLOW VILLAGE!

FEEDING OUR YOUNG PEOPLE AT CHATMAN PARK! THIS N THAT has learned that young people in the area of J. A. CHATMAN PARK at Juniper Avenue & East 28th Street, will have a noon meal on Saturday afternoon, October 14, 2006. This is a special effort on the part of HOLIDAY INN, CHEF TYRONE WILLIS & EACH ONE, REACH ONE. The SOUTHWEST DIGEST will co-sponsor this special effort. All young people in the area are invited to attend. The affair will get underway at NOON.

NEED TO VISIT OUR PUBLIC SCHOOLS! THIS N THAT is asking all of you who will, to VISIT OUR PUBLIC SCHOOLS. Our young people need our presence and support. If you get an opportunity, why not go by and visit. Our young people would love to see you on their campus!

Think About It! Who's watching the watcher?

by Eddie P. Richardson

Recently some disturbing facts have been brought to this writer's attention which made one do some serious thinking. We have some disturbing information about some of our institutions which are designed to help some of our people which are our most valuable and are in need and assistance badly.

We have been informed about one of half way houses for young women in downtown Lubbock appears to be practicing racism, non-supervisory tactics, open lesbianism, and, most of all, one of the counselors or supervisors apparently brags about liking the party, drank, and use drugs. Now if this really the case, then who's watching the watcher. If this is the case, this place needs investigating.

The sad thing about this apparent matter is this is the worst kind of abuse, neglect, or just plain wrong kind of an environment for these young ladies who are already suffering with a problem and are seeking some kind of assistance. They need to be in a caring, safe, wholesome environment as this seems not to be the present picture. This, if true, is bad, and a terrible situation which is very detrimental to the recovery of these young ladies.

Along the same note, we allegedly have nursing homes who are allegedly operated or owned by a person or persons who have been convicted for alleged nursing home abuse and now are owners of various nursing homes. Believe it or not, guess who are hired to take care of our senior loved ones who need loving care more than ever. It has been reported of an apparent rumor that a person died at one of these nursing homes after an apparent amount of drugs were found in his body. In defense of some nursing homes, this writer has had the experience of being a resident in a local nursing home several months ago, but it was not one of the group. The experience was not bad, but the idea and surroundings were not the best of our idea of idealism.

Closing Thought: "We are born with our eyes closed and our mouths open, and we spend our lives trying to reverse the mistake of nature."

Letter to the Editors

Saying Thank You

Thank you for the great three part editorial comments concerning Park Meadows Villas, Stone Hollow Village and the proposed demolition of the remaining units at Green Fair Manor. These tax credit developments were much needed in our community and will allow for affordable housing to low and moderate income earning families who have difficulty qualifying for a home mortgage loan or who opt to live in multi-family settings.

It should be noted that aside from the other real Home Investment and Developers Group, the other real unsung heroes who are making these housing opportunities available are the Board of Commissioners of the Lubbock Housing Authority. This volunteer seven-member board of dedicated men and women appointed by the Mayor and chaired by Max Tarbox, an attorney, who tirelessly, for hundreds of hours in planning sessions with the Hance Group; Housing and Urban Development, City of Lubbock Officials and the Texas Department of Housing and Community Affairs to bring these developments to fruition. When Max stepped down in 2005 to expand his legal business, Chuck Key was elected chairman and has continued to focus on building affordable units in East Lubbock despite a serious reduction of Federal Funding to Lubbock Housing Authority by HUD over the past four years.

It should also be noted that those units will ultimately be totally owned by the Lubbock Housing Authority and will generate future revenue that will allow for less dependency on federal funding to house Lubbock Housing Authority's eligible applicants.

A tremendous debt of gratitude is owed to Kent, Ron and Aubrea Hance for their efforts and dedication to East Lubbock. Please remember to say "Thanks" to some of Lubbock's finest citizens who have served or are currently renting serving on the Lubbock Housing Authority Board of Commissioners. Among these are Dr. "Bess" Halsey, Stephanie Hill, Freddy Reyna, Attorney Calvin Davis, Robert Pratt, Dr. Juan Munoz, Pat Colby and Charles Anderson.

As you have stated in your articles, these units are state of the art designed with all the amenities found in Class-A Multi-family dwellings across America. We encourage the entire Lubbock Community to refer potential renters to these developments as a show of support for all the hard work on interested parties who saw a need in East Lubbock and adequately addressed it.

Sincerely,
Oscar Jones, Lubbock

In Cinque

by Renetta Howard

Is there any wonder that fewer graduates from college are prepared to teach school? The first wave of students eliminated from the teaching curriculum were those students who could not or did not pass the entrance test to major in some area of education or they failed the exit examination. The second wave of students more or less have eliminated themselves because the field of teaching has become a high risk area.

It seems more and more apparent each day that school business is risky business. In one week, there have been four violent incidents which have taken place in schools and the casualty lists numbers nine and growing. Colorado, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, Maryland and Nevada have all experienced school-related violence in the last seven days.

Each time school violence occurs, the media quickly points to the past incidents of Columbine, Colorado and Pearl, Mississippi; sad cases of 'good minds gone wild'

These states and cities are not alone. There have been other incidents of violence in many states, but they are not all classified as massacres as the last two were characterized. School is not the place for violence of the nature that we are hearing about now. Years ago, it was violence when a student actually hit a teacher or other faculty member or even threatened to do bodily harm. Most parents did not condone that type of behavior and the average child was punished at home for being disrespectful, as violence was not tolerated. That was 'back in the day' when parents parented and children obeyed. Gone are the days. There are children now who will not obey anyone. They tell their parents what to do and those parents will tell the teacher what to do or not to do with their child.

It is no coincidence that the amount of school violence has a high correlation with the increase in juvenile delinquency and the need for detention centers. Too many teenagers are 'doing their thing' with the help of their parents in approving what they do and giving them the finances to do whatever it is that they want to do. That includes purchasing fire arms and ammunitions. Parents also stand behind their children in their wrong doing and support their efforts to make school what they want it to be, not what school boards, teachers and other educators attempt to make it.

Arming teachers would not be a good idea, but big city schools with uniformed policemen and plain clothes officers have a much lower rate of violence than schools without such security. Security officers without arms are like 'play cops' and the students know it. We must get 'in cinque' and protect our schools.

Junior Ambassador program accepting applications

The City of Lubbock is now accepting applications for the 2007 Junior Ambassador Goodwill Program. The mission of the Junior Ambassador program is to foster the development of friendship, understanding and education through International Ambassador Exchange. The Junior Ambassador Program provides a unique opportunity for students to learn first hand about the Japanese culture.

Area students in the 7th, 8th, or 9th grade are eligible to apply. Interested students must turn in an application, three reference letters and a one page essay on why they want to travel in Japan. Scholarships are available based on school district participation. The deadline to apply is December 1, 2006.

Approximately sixteen students will be selected to participate this year. Upon completion of the interviews, selections are made and the Junior Ambassadors will meet weekly in order to learn about the Japanese language, culture, and customs. Meetings provide students a chance to become familiar with each other, as well as to prepare for their upcoming journey.

The Junior Ambassadors travel to Matsuyama, Japan in the summer of 2007 for eight days. This once in a lifetime opportunity will enrich the Ambassadors' understanding of the social, political, and economic aspects of Japan and will increase their global competitiveness in the job market of the 21st Century.

Applications are available at area middle and high schools and at City Hall. The deadline to apply is December 1, 2006. Applications may be submitted to counselors at area middle and high schools or to Junior Ambassador Program, P.O. Box 2000, Lubbock, TX 79457.

Old fashioned sheet cakes: Easy to bake and take

NASHVILLE, Tenn., October 2006 - Families have such busy schedules these days that when they do find time to get together, the host may throw some burgers on the grill or cook up a pot of chili and ask their guests to contribute side dishes and dessert. Not really much different from a "covered dish dinner," "potluck," or "dinner on the ground" - all popular and easy ways for large groups to get together for a celebration or simple camaraderie.

"If you're looking for the perfect dish to take to a gathering like this, you can't go wrong with an old-fashioned sheet cake," suggests Linda Carman, baking expert. "Sheet cakes are simpler to make than layer cakes, much easier to carry, and everyone will love to see you coming!"

If baking a cake seems intimidating, a sheet cake is a great choice. Making one layer means you don't have to portion batter into several pans. And since the cake can be frosted and served right out of the pan, you don't have to worry about getting it out of the pan, stacking layers, and frosting evenly.

A Few Baking Tips

Sheet cakes are almost always baked in 13x9-inch pans, and there are several kinds - basic aluminum, non-stick, disposable aluminum or glass baking dishes. They will all work fine - just remember to reduce the baking temperature 25 degrees when using dark nonstick or glass pans. Dark surfaces and glass absorb heat, so they cook more quickly than a shiny pan. Oven temperature is important when baking a cake. If you don't have an oven thermometer, get an inexpensive one at the grocery store, and check the temperature of your oven.

It's a good idea to measure out all the ingredients before you start. It makes mixing much easier, and you're less likely to leave something out.

For easier slicing, chill cakes with creamy icing and cut with a thin knife. Sometimes a wet knife will make a cleaner cut through the icing. And if you like to prepare ahead, all these cakes with creamy icings may be frozen for 3 to 4 months.

Recipes to be published in the coming weeks.

HELP SAVE A LIFE . . . YOURS.

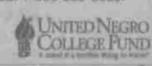

In the United States, 1 out of 7 women will develop breast cancer during her life, but early detection can significantly increase the chances of successful treatment. With the generous sponsorship of the Susan G. Komen Foundation, the Southwest Cancer and Treatment Center and Dimensions are proud to provide free clinical breast exams and mammograms to uninsured women on the following dates. For more information or to schedule an appointment, please call 806.775.8600.

EASIER FASTER MORE SECURE

If you thought voting was too much of a hassle, think again.

Voting in Texas is now easier, faster and more secure because the power of the vote has been combined with the power of technology. Be ready for the November 7 general election by getting all the facts about voting convenience and locations.
