State NAACP President Urges Local Group to "Get Involved"

In a two and one-half hour meeting at the Posey Health Center, 1301 Vanda Avenue, last Sunday afternoon more than fifty members of the Lubbock Chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) heard their state president, Gillespie Wilson of Amarillo, Texas, tell them to get involved and solicit more members.

"Get some money in your treasurer so you can do something in the community. We've got to put our money where our mouth is," he told the group.

Encourages Group to Support Protest

"Whether or not you (local chapter) pass a resolution, I would recommend you send a night letter to the regional office of the NAACP to determine the position your chapter can take in regard to the local garbage protest," he told the group after a representative of the striking workers, Isdrío Gutierrez, solicited the help of the local chapter.

"Let's do it right, and not go off half-cocked. We do care, but we have rules and regulations we have to follow. We cooperate with labor, but we don't encourage strikes," he told the group.

"We have to condemn those persons who are taking the jobs of these persons who are protesting. I wish no man would go down and take these jobs," he made known.

"I would suggest that you pass a resolution and send a night letter tonight (Sunday) and make the outcome of your involvement pending on the reply from the regional office," he continued.

"After a reply has been received from the regional office, I would recommend that Dr. F.L. Lovings (president) call a press conference immediately to let the city of Lubbock know your position on the two week protest," he added.

He made it known to the group of members that it is against the state law for city employees to go on strike. He added, however, "A laborer has but one way to bargain with the city and that is by striking. The situation in Lubbock could be the beginning of a big thing," he continued.

A member of the local chapter, Tom

Burtis, said, "Why not give a resolution to the effect that a 12% increase is necessary? We've earned the title of a 'do nothing' organization if we don't get involved and help these people. If we don't we're saying that we don't care."

The articulate young man from Amarillo spoke positively about the local chapter's efforts since last year. He said, "Your chapter shows interest, because there are 51 persons present today. There are chapters with as many as 5,000 members and only five or six attend the meetings. Your chapter was listed prior to September, 1971, as being inactive."

"Let's continue to get a larger membership and remain active with the local situation, because you've got problems. You need, also, to encourage a strong voter's registration drive here. You need to vote that County Sheriff out of office because of his action on a special day to visit Black prisoners. You can do all of this when you are registered."

Black Virgin Island Governor Named '73 Southern Gov. V-C.

Hilton Head Island, S.C.—(NBNS)—On the heels of a strong anti-busing resolution, Southern governors meeting here have selected a black—Governor Melvin Evans of the Virgin Islands—as vice chairman. He will succeed Alabama's Governor George Wallace next year as chairman of the group.

Evans, chosen unanimously by the 17 governors at the close of the annual conference here, said his selection by his colleagues makes a "maturing" of the South.

"When the Southern Governors elect George Wallace and a Black Republican, then I think we've shown to the world an example of southern unity and progress," said South Carolina's John West, who stepped aside from the chairmanship as a tribute to Wallace.

After Evans selection by the governors, Wallace leaned from his wheelchair and clasped hands with Evans as the other governors applauded.

The resolution on school busing, adopted over the objections of Evans, is basically a restatement of the resolution adopted two years ago by the Southern governors at their meeting at Biloxi, Mississippi.

It says, "the Southern Governors Conference opposes the busing of school children from one neighborhood to another for the purpose of attempting to achieve numerical balancing of the races."

Black Panther Party Paying Calls On Atlanta, Georgia Businessmen

by Paul H. Wyche, Jr.

Washington—(NBNS)—The controversy over hiring quotas has grown to such proportions that former Secretary of Labor Arthur Fletcher wishes the two major Presidential candidates hadn't said anything at all about quotas ensuring a certain number of jobs for blacks.

As a matter of fact, the life-long Republican, is especially bitter at his former boss, President Nixon, for his Aug. 17 directive advising all federal agencies that no quotas guaranteeing minority hiring would be allowed by the Administration.

"I have a reasonable disagreement with the President about his failure to spell out how much enforcement he's for," Fletcher said. He has sent telegrams to both Presidential candidates asking them to "provide specific answers" to questions of education, housing and jobs for minorities.

Currently director of the United Negro College Fund, Fletcher said he believed the lack of support for quotas would lead to the abandonment of programs like the Philadelphia Plan and "leaves the door open for the program to be dropped."

Secretary of Labor James D. Hodgson had informed Fletcher that the Administration had not decided to drop the "quota" plan in more than 55 areas throughout the nation but was merely "reviewing" them.

"Reviewing is just another code word for putting the brakes on," said Fletcher who vigorously enforced the plan during his first two years in government.

Earlier, Fletcher had insisted that sources in the White House and Labor Department had told him that the Philadelphia concept would be eliminated in an effort to win labor-backing for Nixon on Nov. 7.

"I found it shocking," said Fletcher of the pending decision to drop the Philadelphia Plan and policy of job quotas in federal employment. "This is an indication that blacks and minorities are being excommunicated from this society. They're moving against the goals and timetables of the Philadelphia Plan, and if it goes, the others will go too."

This is definitely a stop backwards. The legality of the Philadelphia Plan was upheld in Federal District Court and in the Federal appeals court. The Supreme Court refused to review those decisions.

"President Nixon should reaffirm his support of the Philadelphia Plan and some kind of goals and guidelines to assure equitable of blacks," Fletcher continued. "The riots of the sixties were caused by the frustrations of blacks who saw that full employment economy meant whites were working and blacks were unemployed. The same situation is upon us again."

First Annual Gospel Music Extravaganza and Workshop Set Here Saturday

A Gospel Music Extravaganza and Workshop, the first of its kind in West Texas, will be held in Lubbock this Saturday, September 16, beginning at 9:00 a.m. and continuing until 10:00 p.m. The exciting program will be held at the Greater Saint Luke Baptist Church.

Roscoe Adams, coordinator for the first annual affair, told the West Texas Times that the Institutional Gospel Choir of Jarvis Christian College of Hawkins, Texas, will conduct the workshop and will be featured in two special programs, at high noon and at 8:00 p.m.

"The purpose of this presentation," stated Adams, "is to coordinate religious choir singing in our churches and communities."

In order to defray expenses of the workshop, he stated, "Registration fees for adult choirs are $12.50; for youth choirs, $10.00 and for community choirs, $12.50."

All interested choir directors and musicians should contact Mr. Adams at P.O. Box 1684 or call him at Area Code (806) 747-6612.

Jarvis Choir to appear here Saturday in two performances.

Fletcher Wants McGovern, Nixon to Back Federal Minority Hiring Quotas

by Michael D. Petit

Atlanta, Ga.—(NBNS)—The Black Panther Party is becoming increasingly visible here and it's making some local business merchants nervous.

"You name it, they want it," said Ernest Boyce, president of Colonial Food Stores, Inc.

Boyce was referring to face-to-face visits he and other Atlanta business executives have had from members of the Black Panther Party who are soliciting for weekly contributions of food, funds or clothing to carry on work among the city's poor.

Owners of food store and drug store chains, in particular, have been asked to "give in a regular manner so that we can plan the programs around the donations," according to leaflets left with businessmen by Panther delegations.

Many Atlantans have come into contact for the first time with the brash, confident style of Panther Party members and don't quite know what to make of it.

"They plopped down with their hats still on and smokes in their mouths and started telling me about their program," said Fred Brown, an executive with the "Big Apple" supermarket chain.

"When they finished, I asked them how in the world they expected to get anything from anybody acting the way they did," he said.

Neither Brown nor anyone else has charged the Panthers with strong-arm tactics but they are being watched by law enforcement officials.

"Everytime they visit a place, they leave the people there with the feeling that they have been threatened, but when you get right down to it, you can't put your finger on an actual threat," said District Attorney Lewis Slaton of the Atlanta Judicial Circuit.

What the Panthers are seeking, however, is hardly threatening.

The solicitations are to raise food and material goods for the "People's Community Survival Programs" which would cover everything from a free breakfast program for ghetto children to legal aid classes and help in obtaining lawyers.

Long range plans call for such facilities as a free medical clinic, a free home repair service, a free bus program for families of inmates to and from prison and a free ambulance service.

Food chains such as Colonial, Kroger and Big Apple and drug chains such as Rex-all are being asked to contribute cash on a regular weekly basis or free clothing, free food or other articles.

Voting Power Is A Powerful Weapon

Just as the pen is mightier than the sword; voting is a powerful weapon in any given election. Whether we realize it or not, our votes mean a great deal in our community if we will utilize them to our full potential.

We've spent too much time not taking advantage of this important weapon we have. Of course, there have been politicians who have promised us many things, but as soon as they have taken office, we've been completely forgotten.

Although the May primary is behind us, the upcoming national, state and local elections still offer us a great opportunity to show the effect of this powerful weapon. Getting involved at the polls is where the action is in this great country of ours.

Demonstrations and sit-ins are completely out of style. They were most effective in the hey-day of Civil Rights, but this is a new "ball game" and we must take advantage of the important right we all have, regardless of where we live or what color we may be.

Politicians never pay attention to us when we never make a showing at the polls. They merely laugh and never worry about our potential. In the Black community, for example, we've registered in large numbers from election to election, but then we fail to show our strength at the polls.

Those persons running for office never pay attention to any group of people when they do not implement their ability to vote—or to put it another way—when they fail to "stand up and be counted." This has been the case all too often in West Texas. Those politicians who were elected by other groups of voters will never look our way again, until next election time. Of course, there are a few who realize the importance of the Black man's vote and will offer some token attention to keep their image to a certain degree. These people are as bad for our community as the people elected who refuse to pay any attention to the community at all. All that results from tokenism is confusion, non-production and people left in office from election to election who don't need to, and don't intend to, really get involved.

If there are some politicians who have previously promised our community something and have not delivered, then this election year is the time to vote them out of office. If there are those politicians who are not working for the community, then it's time to vote them out. More often than not, a negative vote will produce more results than just going out and casting a vote for some person because he belongs to your party, or he offers the excuse that he just hasn't had time to getting around to attacking your problems. Voting people out of office is easier, and can successfully be done if the people of our community will realize how powerful their vote is in any given election.

The West Texas Times has written many editorials and has tried to emphasize to the public how important it is for everyone to get out and vote. We feel we can't overemphasize how important it is for you to get involved at the polls. There is so much going on in your community that everyone must get politically involved, especially by utilizing your right to vote.

What has happened in the past about our voting is over, passed and water under the bridge. We can, however, start anew by voting in November. If each of us would make it our duty—yes, duty—to see that two other persons vote on November 6th, we'd certainly make a powerful impact on the outcome of several of the elections in this area of the state.

Remember, though, to be eligible to vote, you must be registered. So now, in September, make it also your duty to see that yourself, and once again, two other persons, are registered so that you will all be eligible to vote in November.

Voting is a powerful weapon, for all of us.

CHILL IN U.S.—CHINA THAW

By Jack Anderson

Editor's Note:

Readers of the West Texas Times are urged to turn out tonight, Thursday, September 14, to hear the noted columnist, Jack Anderson, who is featured each week in the West Texas Times, speak at the Texas Tech Speakers series. The time is 7:15 p.m. at Municipal Auditorium.

Washington—Warming Chinese-American relations, which weathered the bombing and mining of North Vietnam's supply lines, are chilling again.

The interception of Chinese shipments, according to a CIA report, has soured U.S. relations with mainland China.

The report reveals that Chinese freighters are successfully unloading an astonishing amount of supplies at hidden anchorages up and down the North Vietnam coast.

The supplies are unloaded on small barges and boats, which smuggle the war booty to shore. The ingenious Chinese, we have learned, even use huge waterproof plastic bags to float supplies ashore.

To disrupt Hanoi's supply line, the U.S. Seventh Fleet has intercepted some Chinese shipping. But such action, according to the CIA, has only prompted the Chinese to renew their pledges of support of North Vietnam.

One strongly worded message of support reportedly was signed by Chairman Mao Tsetung himself. Such a rare message from Mao has the force of being engraved on the great wall of China.

The CIA report, furthermore, affirms our earlier report that heavy U.S. bombing has failed to halt the flow of supplies across the network of rail lines, roads and trails that lead into North Vietnam.

The CIA report claims more than half of the war material, which used to be shipped to North Vietnam before the bombing, is getting through. Even the Air Force, which has vested interest in demonstrating its bombing raids are effective, acknowledges that more than a quarter of the former shipments are reaching North Vietnam.

—Nixon's '76 Strategy—

White House aides tell us that President Nixon will not anoint Spiro Agnew as his successor in 1976 if the President is re-elected this fall. The President, say our sources, wants a wide open Republican convention in 1976.

Think!

Fear

Observation: This is not a criticism of Mr. Patterson's statement about the theater's ad, concealing the true title of "The Legend of Nigger Charley," because I feel the same way that he does. However, when the movie was shown in Amarillo, not only was the title condemned, but a few of our educated blacks believed the audience should have been segregated—that is, shown to blacks at one time and to whites at another time. As Reverend Jackson said, we are too hung up on what we are called, thereby losing the true value of what we are trying to do. How many people who saw the movie realized that it was a good portrayal of history?

On August 20, 1972, several unpleasant memories passed through my mind in reflection. I relived a hot summer night in 1952 in West Tennessee. I could see several double barreled shotguns pointing at my head and felt the raw hide ropes pulled tight around my arms and legs, and the odor of stale tobacco juice and sweaty bodies was more sickening than the lashes that were being skillfully applied to my bare back, and southern cracker drawls demanding me to yell. The last voice that I heard said, "That nigger is too big a fool to yell." I recognized the voice because I had been in his drugstore only three hours before. In spite of that I wasn't afraid, because I wanted to vote and was willing to die for the right.

Another incident that flashed through my mind happened in the same town. The sheriff held his 45 revolver in my face and said, "Nigger, if a white woman says that your wife wears a size seven shoe, you had better not say that gal wears a size five." I merely pushed the gun aside and walked away. I was called a "crazy nigger" again.

Sunday, when a pain hit me in my chest, I was afraid. I never thought that I was afraid to die. It wasn't the idea of death itself, but I was afraid because the past few months I had gone into a shell and failed to carry out my promise to God—that if He let me return from World War II I would do everything I could to erase all the injustices

With this in mind, the President intends to give national exposure to several presidential prospects, including New York's Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, ex-Treasury Secretary John Connally, cost-of-living czar Donald Rumsfeld and United Nations ambassador George Bush.

The President is not likely to embrace liberal Illinois Senator Chuck Percy. But even if a Percy bandwagon begins to pick up steam, the President is expected to remain above an election fight.

—POW Preparations—

The date remains uncertain when the 528 American prisoners of war in North Vietnam will return home. But the Nixon Administration has made sure it won't be caught unprepared when the prisoners are finally released.

A special government task force—using the code name "Operation Egress Recap"—has already set up medical centers around the country to receive the POWs. Once they arrive, each will be assigned a special counselor who has been thoroughly briefed on the prisoner's background from his eating habits to his sex life.

The difficulty of readjustment is expected to vary widely. A team of doctors, who have made exhaustive studies of POW problems, have told the Pentagon that some POWs may be surprisingly healthy despite their ordeal. Others, say the doctors, will suffer from what is called the "concentration camp syndrome." The symptoms include fatigue, fits of depression, memory loss and temporary impotence.

The Defense Department has begun to brief families on what to expect when their imprisoned loved ones come home. Wives are warned to expect a tremendous emotional letdown a few weeks following the return. This will come once the wife realizes that her husband's presence does not solve all her problems.

At the medical centers, care will be taken not to force the prisoners to readjust to American life too quickly. Each prisoner will be allowed only a few phone calls, and his immediate family will be kept at a distance until the prisoner has been thoroughly examined.

Even after the prisoner is pronounced fit, the doctors will try to discourage a big homecoming. Studies show these affairs can be traumatic and impair the readjustment of an ex-prisoner.

—Political Potpourri—

George McGovern has received more lip service than campaign funds from the unions that have endorsed him. The labor committee, which is trying to raise money for McGovern, has collected only $125,000 so far. Security around the President is so tight that the Secret Service now routinely excludes all casually dressed, long-haired young people whenever the President makes an appearance in public. The Secret Service says it is purging the long-hairs to protect the President, but the action also insures that the President is free of the young protesters who dogged his campaign in 1968.

and help change things as much as I could. The irony of the entire thing is that I was reminded of my promise while sitting in church. I seemed to hear a voice saying, "Why think of what others say and do now, or what they think of you?" I have been reminded of my promise and will fulfill it, and as Gordon Parks said, "We must choose the weapons that are best for us." I have chosen mine.

We dare not keep quiet, but we must also listen to the vibrations that are constantly around us and not pass them off as mere whispers of the wind. We must be like the good watch dog that barks at the least shadow, because we know not what lurks in those shadows.

This is an election year. We must remember that every man has a right to choose but, in spite of this, I think more of the Negro who says he is conservative than one who will say some candidate is too liberal for the black people.

First dart from the new weapon. The black citizens complain about the hiring policies of the city. They blame the City Manager and the personnel manager of the city, but have they thought that these people are responsible to the City Commissioners? Lest we forget, there is one commissioner, Houston Deford, that the black community helped a great deal to be elected to the Commission. What is his stand? Mr. Deford's memory is very short, because he must have forgotten who came to his rescue during his first runoff when there was a rumor about to be started about his character. I must also add here for the benefit of Mr. Deford that he made a remark to a friend of mine that he was not going to get involved in an altercation between another friend and me, and did not have the courtesy to return a telephone call I left for him. I would like to inform the commissioner that the call was a business call connected with a mail order company of mine and I would also like for him to know that I am not one of those people he bought and I never have anyone to fight my personal battles—especially white folks.

Mr. Deford used the influence of his office to stop the showing of the computerized fight between Muhammad Ali and Rocky Marciano. By so doing, he took a percentage of the gate from Operation Breadbasket and indirectly took bread from the mouths and clothes from the bodies of hundreds of needy children. I would like to end this article by asking Mr. Deford to examine himself and see if he measures up to Muhammad Ali physically and morally. We must all think of these things in 1973.

As I See It

by T.J. Patterson

Our readers are becoming very much concerned in the welfare of the West Texas Times. Many have begun to ask me, from time to time, of the problems we are having with the business community in regard to advertising.

It's a healthy sign when we have those of you who really care about what is happening to your media. As Brother Gillespie Wilson, state president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) said last Sunday afternoon at a local meeting here; "The West Texas Times is the voice of the Plains and it makes a lot of sense. It's on your team, so use it." Although he is resident of Amarillo, Texas, he speaks real loud and says he keeps up with what's happening on the South Plains each week through this media.

Another member of the local NAACP chapter wanted to know from Wes Byers, representative of the Equal Opportunity Office of the local Housing Urban Development (HUD), who was a special guest at the meeting, why the West Texas Times didn't have the same advertisements about housing opportunities as the Avalanche-

Journal. Although Mr. Byers said he would find out what the developments are in this regard, our readers want to know these type of answers. As you can see, not only are they asking me and Brother Williamson, but they are asking those in other places.

There's no doubt about it, we're here to do a job and we want to inform our many readers on the South Plains, the State of Texas and this nation, as well as some across the Atlantic and Pacific, of what is happening.

As I See It, with readers such as we have, we'll continue to "do our thing." True, we do have an advertisement problem and only you can help the West Texas Times with your concern and interest. Remember, this media belongs to you.

Thought of the Week: "Pain and pleasure, like light and darkness, succeed each other."

As I See It we need to take a long, hard look at the protest being displayed by persons of the sanitation department for the City of Lubbock. It comes to mind that if we can continue to build civic centers, lake projects and the like, we certainly can do something about human development within the City of Lubbock.

As a member of this community, I'm concerned about this type of situation. It appears as though we've forgotten that people make this city go, and not all the material things which we can build or develop.

If we are to continue to grow and live up to the new bumper stickers recently passed out by the Chamber of Commerce, we've got to do something about our human development aspect in city government.

There needs to be some type of development now—we certainly can't continue to wait and see what is going to happen. If we can invest monies in other things, surely we can invest money in our citizens and city employees.

With all sincerity, this matter has to be looked into now. We need everybody in this city. Evidently there are problems, or we wouldn't have this type of protest.

If this matter is settled before this column is read by you, that's good. But at the same time, there still needs to be something done about it. We can't solve this problem by hiring new people to fill the places of those who are protesting. We certainly need to get to the bottom of the problem. Once again, a plea by this writer for the city fathers to stop fighting symptoms and get down to the nitty gritty of things.

Letters to The Editor . . .

Dear Mr. Patterson:

We appreciated the mention of "TEXAS" in Carla Snell's graduation recognition. It was a pleasure to have her in the show and we looked forward to her singing every evening.

The news should have been sent earlier that Jerry Moore whose picture we sent during the season—added appearances with the chorus to his responsibilities on the crew, and appeared on the stage from the first.

Mildred Moore also was a member of the costume crew for several years—and also served on hospitality, as did Karmyn Lott.

We have been disappointed that there have been so few blacks in our tryouts. In spite of the fact that we have sent special appeals to Negro publications, schools and churches, only four or five have ever tried out.

Mr. Green was very interested in the role of the Negro cowboy in the early west and set aside a solo to be sung which is especially appropriate, but we have never been able to fill the part.

When auditions come, perhaps you can encourage more blacks to try out, so that we can find some whose talents will add to the production as Carla's did, and who will be recognized for their professional skills as she was.

You will receive our audition materials late in December or early in January.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Ples Harper

Dear Sir:

May I thank you for the generous use you have made of the public service advertising on the Texas Travel Trails which we offered you earlier this year.

We have received a significant number of requests for the Trail pamphlets from your valued family of readers. Hopefully, they are using them to explore the fascinating byways that the routes open up.

Your assistance in helping more Texans enjoy holiday travel "at home" means a great deal to them. And to us.

Austin, Texas—About 20,000 on Texas welfare rolls may lose their eligibility next month due to increased federal Social Security benefits.

Probably 110,000 more may get a cut in state Old Age Assistance as the federal benefit goes up.

However, Department of Public Welfare Commissioner Raymond W. Vowell emphasized that total income will still be higher even where state benefits drop.

Federal law requires the state welfare agencies to count Social Security income in figuring financial need for welfare grants.

Vowell said the Welfare Department is trying not to lower or deny welfare grants wherever possible.

He advised welfare recipients to notify their local aid offices of any recent changes in their need or other income.

Budgetary revisions in welfare procedures will permit continued assistance to about 4,700 old folks who otherwise would have had their welfare grants denied, Vowell said.

Death Sentences Commuted—Some 28 prisoners sentenced to death have had their sentences commuted to life imprisonment following a high court decision that capital punishment as now applied in Texas is unconstitutional.

Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin August 2 held the U.S. Supreme Court decision (now on appeal) meant sentences must either be commuted or prisoners given new trials.

A Board of Pardons and Paroles member said he did not know when inmates whose sentences have been commuted by Gov. Preston Smith actually will get the official news. He said there are 45 on death row in Texas prison and that the Board may wait until all sentences are commuted before informing either prisoners or the public.

Before action can be taken on commutations, prosecutors who do not want to start new trials must make formal written requests to the Board. In nearly all cases, local prosecutors are expected to request commutation rather than retrial.

The Board plans a meeting within the next month to take formal action.

Rate Cuts Take Effect—That 11 per cent average statewide auto insurance rate cut went into effect September 1 as scheduled.

They will be available to auto owners when they purchase new policies or renew existing coverage in the next 12 months.

An additional 10 per cent is possible after passing a National Safety Council-prescribed defensive driving course. Total reductions amount to about $70 million.

Dam Hearing Postponed—Texas Water Rights Commission recessed hearings on feasibility of rival damsites for the next reservoir in the Nueces River watershed until September 28.

At the same time, TWC Chairman Otha Dent hinted neither the proposed R&M nor Choke Canyon sites may be acceptable for the immediate future. Corpus Christi officials favor the R&M site (above Calallen on the Nueces River) which is closer to the city, while many other potential water users favor Choke Canyon which would be smaller and cheaper.

Nueces River Authority has filed as sponsor of the Choke Canyon project on the Frio River west of Three Rivers. TWC said the Federal Bureau of Reclamation, which would build the reservoir, did not consider water rights already granted when it made studies of the sites.

Texas Sixth—Texas is sixth among destinations of vacationing American families, according to a national survey cited by Texas Tourist Development Agency.

Texas also ranks fifth in visitor spending, as well as sixth in family visits last year, according to the study commissioned by Better Homes and Gardens Magazine.

Did you know:

- That there are 14 black Members of the U.S. Congress?
- That blacks are mayors of Gary, Ind., Newark, N.J., Chapel Hill, N.C., Highland Park, Mich., Fayette, Miss., Kalamazoo, Mich.? That, in all, there are 81 black mayors and vice-mayors in the U.S.?
- That there are black sheriffs in Alabama, and Mississippi and other southern states? And in New Jersey and other northern states?
- That there are 198 black members of state legislatures?
- That more than 1,800 black men and women are serving on city councils, school boards and other important elected positions—north, south, east and west?

Did you know:

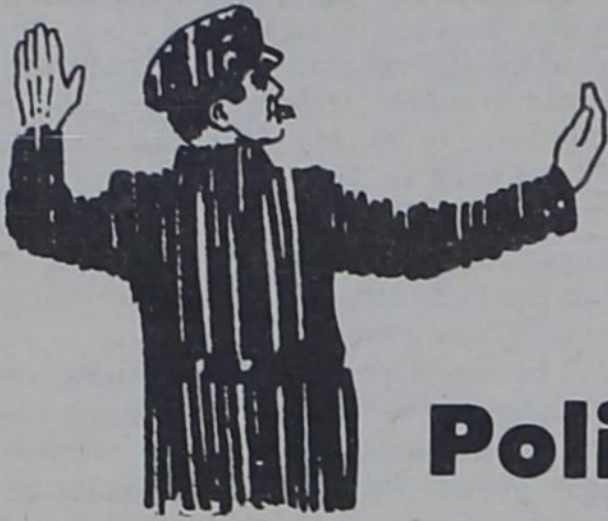

- That, more and more, the racists are being run out of office?
- That they're being replaced by candidates who go out and seek votes from black citizens? And consult with them? And listen to them?
- That the time will soon be past when candidates can race-bait their way into office . . . anywhere?

Police Beat

House Burglary

Julian Vella, 1819 East Auburn Avenue, reported to the Lubbock Police Department that a man broke into his house. It was learned that entry was apparently gained by breaking out a window in the garage door and crawling through the opening.

Julian's youngest daughter was at home at the time and saw the intruder and screamed.

She reported that she could not identify the man in question.

Assault With Intent

Larry Freeman, of 2503 Weber Drive, Apartment D, reported to Lubbock police that while he was crossing the railroad tracks in the 2900 block of Southeast Drive (near the Coronado Apartments) he was shot in the left calf of his leg.

He told police that he did not see anyone, nor did he hear anyone or even see where the shot came from.

It's getting pretty tuff when we can't walk down the streets or cross railroad tracks in our community. We'd better check those persons who live in our neighborhood carefully. Don't you think so?

Assault

Mellisa Jones, 1001 East 28th Street, reported to the Lubbock Police Department that a 21-year-old female did cut her on the arm, making a cut approximately one inch long. She also received a cut on the right hand, on her finger.

She went on to tell police that the incident took place at the corner of East 28th Street and Juniper Avenue. Some of her friends took her to Methodist Hospital for treatment.

Stabbing

Brenda Lee McKenzie, of 1701 Avenue A, reported to the Lubbock Police that she had problems one night last week while at a local cafe in the same block.

She said that a woman, who apparently was from another community in West Texas, ran up behind her and hit her on the shoulder.

After being struck by the unknown lady, Brenda told police that she sat down because she was getting weak. She had told a man with the lady about the unprovoked attack.

After being looked after, it was learned that Brenda had been stabbed in the back. She was taken to Methodist Hospital. The lady responsible for the stabbing and the man with her sped away in a white car.

Enters McMurry College Recently At Abilene, Texas

Sharon Elaine Sparks, 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Sparks, recently enrolled at McMurry College at Abilene, Texas.

Sharon, who is known as "Penny" to her family and friends, was a member of the May, 1972 graduating class of Dunbar High School. She has taken private music lessons in piano for four years under Mrs. Cecil C. Meskimen. Mrs. Rose Lincoln was her first music instructor.

Sharon gave her services as musician to her church, Mount Vernon United Methodist Church.

She received a $100 scholarship from the Delta Sigma Theta Sorority of Lubbock because she had been developed in sight singing, sight reading, theory, ear training and piano. The Lubbock student passed a test at McMurry which entitled her to a four year music scholarship.

The youngest of the Sparks children and the last one to enter college, she has a brother who is serving in the U.S. Army and a sister who is teaching nursing at Cape Cod, Mass. She has an older sister at home.

As Sharon said last week-end while home on a brief break, "I'm anxious to return," although she first wiped a small tear from her eye.

NAACP Official . . .

he knows that you can put him out of office with your votes. A block vote will tell him he's not treating you right. . .so register and vote," he continued.

"Another thing," he continued, "you must put your money where your mouth is. Noise doesn't mean a thing, it's money that counts. How can you help the protesting workers of the Sanitation Department of Lubbock without money? Suppose you had a riot here, you don't even have money to get them out of jail," he said.

Hits Local Preachers
"By the presence of only three ministers this afternoon, it appears as though they are not concerned about the NAACP. They plan their anniversaries a year in advance and don't even respect the second Sunday of the month when you meet.

United States is the world's oldest existing republic that began with a President as its chief executive.

Now, you can do something about that, for you pay their salaries. Every Negro minister should be a member. If he chooses not to be long, then quit paying his salary, just as simple as that," he continued. "The West Texas Times, voice of the Plains, informs the public when there is a meeting. It's your newspaper," he added.

Dr. Lovings, who attended several meetings, including the National meeting in Detroit, Michigan, showed the group a copy of the organization's charter. Also a copy of a training certificate he received was displayed.

Mr. Wilson made it known to the group that Dr. Lovings can replace any chairman who is not functioning as he should, regardless of who the person is.

Representative from HUD Present
Wes Byers, representative of the Housing-Urban Development Equal Opportunity Office, was present and discussed several programs with the local chapter.

He told the group that HUD must relate the position of the agency with local organization. One of these efforts is the Affirmative Fair Housing Marketing Plan which develops all people who do business with HUD. Also the special Site Selections of Projects which will not approve a project unless it creates minority opportunities.

Another effort of HUD is to make available forms which persons may fill out in regard to discrimination.

Mr. Myers was introduced by Sidney Hall, chairman of the Housing Committee of the local NAACP Chapter.

A member of the local chapter asked Mr. Myers why the advertisement of Housing in the Avalanche-Journal was not advertised in the West Texas Times.

In answering the question, Mr. Byers stated that something is being done about this type of advertisement and that something would be done. "Mr. Williamson, publisher, and I had a talk about this very thing recently," he concluded.

Other business discussed at the monthly meeting included:

+Franklin Mathis, chairman of the Labor and Industrial Committee reported on the progress of those persons who made application for firemen positions with the City of Lubbock. Five Blacks took the recent examination.

+Heard a report from the membership committee chairman, David Sowell. He reported that six adults had renewed their membership.

+Gave moral support to the local sanitation workers who are protesting against the City of Lubbock in a motion from the floor at the suggestion of the State president. Sent night letter to Regional Director for position in local matter.

+Suspended the rules and appointed Mrs. Willie M. Washington as chairman of the Public and Press Committee; and +Gave their president, Dr. F.L. Lovings, an ovation for a job well done during the past year.

Welcome

Sports of The Times

by Joe Kelly

Austin, Texas—It happened with millions looking on. It was unbelievable, but there it was. The U.S. basketball team had staged a magnificent rally and won the game.

Then one official, whose ancestry must be questioned, to say nothing of his political leanings, declared that the final three seconds had to be played over.

This time the Russians scored, despite the player who made the winning basket, obviously knocking an American defender out of the way. That was in itself, an offensive foul.

And then, to add to the spirit of the whole thing, the Olympic committee disallowed the U.S. protest. Would you believe it? Well, yet. In light of everything else, it was expected.

This has been a wierd Olympics, although tragedy obviously overshadowed everything else. The foul, loathsome act of the Arab terrorists is enough in itself to make the 1976 Games uncertain.

While athletes were meeting in what seemed to be a high degree of mutual respect and, in some cases, friendship, further exemplifying the Olympic spirit, a small group of terrorists destroyed that spirit.

For the U.S., the 1972 Olympics will go down as a tragedy that even the magnificent Mark Spitz couldn't save, nor the wrestlers, nor the other swimmers, nor the smattering of others who won unexpected gold medals.

It started with the failure of two sprinters to reach the track on time, continued through the miserable showing in track and field, had fuel added in boxing and reached a climax in basketball.

In view of the way the Iron Curtain country judges broke it off in democracies, principally the U.S., one wonders why continue the Olympics as they are run today.

In view of the way the Iron Curtain uses "professional" amateurs, one wonders why the U.S. and others don't lower the bars, or else have a team selected, trained for a year or two and subsidized.

If we are going to try and win, why don't we do what the nations such as Russia do—subsidize the athletes? Pay their expenses to train, let them compete in pre-Olympic meets throughout the year.

Or are we going to be content to see our athletes beaten? It's time that we did something about things. Maybe we need sweeping changes in selection of coaches, too.

We lost the sprints, We lost the pole vault. We lost the shot put. We lost the 1,500 meters. It seemed that everytime you looked up, an American was coming in second—or worse.

Our divers didn't perform well. Our boxers lost out after they got by the patsies. We spluttered, stumbled and fizzled. It was an Olympics to remember—simply because we must do better.

Before it is too late, a word about the Texas Tech football season. The Red Raiders open against Utah and if you are planning to pass this game up, you may be missing one of the better offensive shows of the year. Utah had an explosive offense last year, while lacking a stout defense. The Raiders apparently will have a sturdy defense this campaign and an offense that is a question mark. Against a Utah defense that may not be strong, the Tech attack might be good.

Anyway, the season opens in Jones Stadium Saturday night and it should be an interesting contest. Personally, I want a look at the new attack and the three quarterbacks Tech offers.

It promises to be a hard fought game and, if it has the thrills that Houston and Rice provided last Saturday night, it will get the season off to a great start. You'd better plan to see it.

Next week it's New Mexico in Albuquerque and then come Texas. I haven't had a chance to see the Longhorns yet, but I plan to visit the "enemy" camp some day this week.

Saturday, Sept. 23, I'll watch the Steers against Miami and get a better idea. Word in Austin is that the attack is coming along well and Alan Lowery looks sharp at quarterback.

Now, a baseball note. No, not the major leagues, but at Texas, where there is talk that Clark Field has seen it last game and that the Longhorns will be playing in a new location, probably to be built at 19th Street and Inter-regional Highway.

The present Clark Field site will be used to construct one or more university buildings in the continued expansion here.

Cleopatra Henderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fay Henderson of 2612 East Auburn, spent the Labor Day week-end in Cloudcroft, New Mexico with the David R. Hester family of 2003 46th Street. She admits that she had a wonderful time in the mountains. It was also a birthday trip as September 4th was her 15th birthday.

Afro-American HISTORY

Dr. Ralph J. Bunche (1904-1971)

Dr. Ralph Johnson Bunche's forty-odd honorary degrees and one Nobel Prize are eloquent testimony to the contributions he has made to America and to world peace. High school class valedictorian at Los Angeles' Jefferson High School; Magna Cum Laud graduate of the University of California; winner of the Tappan Prize at Harvard University for the best doctoral dissertation in the social sciences in 1934; post-doctoral study at Northwestern University, the London School of Economics and the University of Capetown, Johannesburg, South Africa: such is the academic background of one of America's most honored Negroes.

After a career at Howard University which paralleled his academic advancement, Dr. Bunche was named chairman of Howard's Political Science Department in 1937, and a year later he joined the Swedish economist, Gunnar Myrdal, to begin the comprehensive study of the American Negro, published in 1945 as An American Dilemma.

By 1942 Dr. Bunche was at work in the Office of Strategic Services as a research analyst of material relating to Africa. By 1946 he had advanced to the position of Associate Chief of the State Department's Dependent Areas section. Already a foreign affairs adviser of growing reputation, Dr. Bunche left the State Department for the Trusteeship Division of the United Nations. In quick succession, he was head of the United Nation's Trusteeship Department and personal representative of the extremely dangerous Arab-Israeli dispute. Following the assassination of the United Nation's Palestine Mediator in 1947, Dr. Bunche was named Acting Mediator and achieved a historical settlement of the Palestine question.

In 1949, Dr. Bunche was awarded the Spingarn medal. In 1950 he received the Nobel Prize for Peace. Other honors and offers came to him, including a professorship at Harvard University, the presidency of the City College of New York and the post of Assistant Secretary of State. However, Dr. Bunche remained with the United Nations as its Under Secretary-General. He went to the Congo in 1960 as the United Nation's special representative during the height of the turmoil there.

The achievements of Dr. Bunche are based on an extra-ordinary personal ability and hard work. His father was a poor Detroit barber, his mother an amateur musician. Both parents died before Bunche reached his teens and he found himself living in California with his grandmother and several aunts. When he won an athletic scholarship to the University of California, he paid his other expenses by working as a campus janitor. Friends and neighbors raised money for his living expenses for one year after he won a tuition scholarship to Harvard. From this point onward, Ralph Johnson Bunche depended upon nothing but his brains to carry him the rest of the way.
