Marriage Vows Read Sunday Afternoon In Double Tom Thumb Ceremony

The live dolls were on parade Sunday at Bethel AME Church as the wedding ceremony was held with about one hundred-fifty children participating.

Mrs. Vivian Cooke furnished the organ music and Patricia Hill was at the piano playing "Ebb Tide" as her little sister, Charlotte, sang. Eric Hill played well his part as the objecting ex-husband of La Wanda Johnson. La Wanda expressed well her desire for a fine home and not a barn, mink stoles and not rabbit fur, and the groom who played the part of a doctor could give her all these things.

La Wanda wore a long white satin gown, with an over skirt of net, studded with stones. She carried a beautiful bouquet of blue carnations and her flowing train was carried by little Miss Wonderful Loud. The groom, Larry Brooks, was fully dressed with his tails.

The shy, baby-bride was Donna K. Inman, who wore a white taffeta dress with matching train studded with pearls. Her long net train was carried by Lorie Kerr. She carried a bou-quet of pink carnations. Little Thomas James Patterson, Jr. played well his part as the groom of Donna K.. He was well dressed for the occasion in his tails.

The Tom Thumb Wedding that was held last Sunday afternoon at Bethel AME Church here in Lubbock drew a very good crowd as one can see from this picture. More pictures of the young people who took part in this annual affair can be found in this week's issue of The Manhattan Heights Times.

Each couple had their own maids of honor, best men, brides maids, ushers, flower girls and ring bearers.

The wedding was very colorful and each child played well his part.

SPECIAL THANKS

Thanks to each of you for the wonderful cooperation you gave by permitting us to use your child, or children in this year's edition of the "Double Tom Thumb Wedding".

You have contributed toward the education of boys and girls; to your community by providing an outstanding "event" for their enjoyment; a historical celebration for Eta Delta Omega Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, which was established December 13, 1958; to the enrichment for presentation of

Beautiful Door Winner Named At Dunbar

Mrs. Jim Loud, of 2408 East 28th Street, was honored this week at Dunbar Junior-Senior High School, for having the most beautiful door decoration in the entire school. She received 1st place for the achievement. Mrs. Loud is very appreciative of receiving this great honor.

Anyone interested in seeing the prize winning door of Mrs. Loud and many other beautiful ones may do so by stopping by the school. Be sure to see this great award and the artist.

Debutantes in Lubbock on December 29th; and most of all, you have made possible an experience for these children they will never forget.

Due to the number of children in the wedding, and number absent at some of the rehearsals, it is impossible to list all of their names. I am indeed grateful to each of them, and to the children also that helped make the flowers.

Special thanks to Rev. A.W. Wilson for permitting use of the church, and sincere gratitude to Mrs. Wilson for her untiring assistance with the wedding. To Mrs. C. F. Cooke for music; to the darling Hill girls for their number; to Rev. and Mrs. Jim Sam Loud; to Mrs. Elnora Brooks, Mrs. J.C. Murphy, Mrs. Katherine Richardson, Mrs. Clarence Priestly, Mrs. Ollie Hill, Mrs. Olivia Bradford, Miss Bobbie Hunter, Mrs. Prenis Williams, Mr. W.T. Garrett, Mrs. Louis Kelly, Miss Lillian Jones, Mrs. James Braxton, Mr. and Mrs. Judie, Mrs. H. Stephens, Mr. and Mrs. Caesar Graves, Mr. and Mrs. T.J. Patterson, and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Johnson; and to all who contributed in any way -- even with your prayers.

presentation of Debutantes, Tuesday, December 29th, at the Caprock Hotel Ballroom.

The Debutantes are the Misses Patricia Booker, Midland, Texas; Cassie Mae Ervin, Littlefield, Texas (pictures not available); Estella Fair, San Antonio; Ocleater McCarthy, Paris, Texas; Gaynelle Porter, Nashville, Tennessee; Cora Roberson, Sweetwater, Texas; Harriette Susan Taylor, Orange, Texas; and Elaine Franklin, Henrietta Leggett, Mattie Rutherford, and Ella Faye White of Lubbock, Texas.

The formal in honor of this season's debutantes is the most outstanding event of the year for the sorority which in 1964 listed twenty-five active members, and still growing..

Reprieve Given

Joe Edward Smith, 22 won a last minute reprieve from Texas electric chair Monday when the Fifth Court of Appeals granted a stay to the young man convicted in the 1959 "Icebox" slaying of twelve year old William Bodenheimer, III. Attorneys James Hippard and Joe Tita had asked for the stay on the grounds that the jury which convicted Smith had been prejudiced over whether admitted confession could be admitted. The Supreme Court of the United States has ruled that admission of the confession has to be ruled on by the judge in advance. Earlier Monday, Judge James Noel of the Federal District Court, had turned down Smith's appeal.

Mrs. L. S. Graves, directress of Mary & Mac Private School, left here last Sunday morning for Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minnesota for a consultation with her physician about the outcome of her ear operation performed last August at Mayo.

Mr. Caesar Graves, her husband, accompanied her to Rochester.

according to the November issue of the national Negro monthly.

Now in his 64th year, the Negro jazz great refuses to join civil rights groups on picket lines. He says he won't march up and down with a sign. But he denies his critics' charges that he is an "Uncle Tom" catering to white audiences.

The article details how Satchmo gives generously of his money to civil rights groups. He also gives away $500 to $1,000 each and every week in handouts to friends and strangers. He enjoys giving away money, the article relates but he prefers to "grease a few palms" rather than set up a foundation and thus get tax benefits from the largess.

"I figure you lay a little here and a little there and everybody's happy", Satchmo says in the Ebony article. "That's how I get my satisfaction".

It's not generally known, but millionaire Armstrong still lives in a modest house in a working man's section of Queens, L.I., about a half hour from Times Square. He won't move because he likes the neighborhood and the neighbors. When he's not on the road, Satchmo is likely to drop into the corner saloon for a glass of beer with his mixed lot of neighbors.

Financial aides won't say how much Armstrong is worth, but admit he's never made less than a half million dollars in

Born in the slums of New Orleans, Satchmo started working for 15 cents a day. He's never been impressed by money, Ebony relates and this may help explain his own contributions to the Negro's fight for total freedom in America--a contribution many Negroes can't understand.

"If my people don't dig me the way I am, I'm sorry," Satchmo says in says in the Ebony article "If they don't go along with me givng my dough instead of marching, well---every cat's entitled to his opinion. But that's the way I figure I can help ott and still keep on working. If they let me alone on this score, I'll do my part in my own way."

The FIRST CHRISTMAS SHOPPER on STATE STREET

"Tomorrow being Christmas, I left Ft. Dearborn at sunup, repaired to the wooded prairie southward and shot 6 turkies as gifts for Maj. Whistler & the off'cers of the Ft."*

So wrote John Kinzie, pioneer Chicago settler, on December 24th, 1803. Chicago was three months old, and this was the first recorded "Christmas shopping" in what is now the famous State Street shopping area. Cost of the powder and ball to secure six "turkies" could not have exceeded twelve cents.

This month, on State Street, Market Street, Fifth Avenue, Wilshire Boulevard and thousands of Main Streets from coast to coast Americans, are spending more than a billion dollars just to buy Christmas presents alone. Over half of this enormous volume of goods will be purchased as a direct result of reading a local store's advertisement in a newspaper. (This does not take into account goods purchased as a result of "brand advertising" in newspapers throughout the year.)

MB307-12/55-MF6

*Major John Whistler, commander of Ft. Dearborn, was the grandfather of the famous artist, James Abbott McNeil Whistler.

In spite of every other form of advertising medium, U.S. merchants in overwhelming numbers continue to spend the bulk of their advertising budgets in their local newspaper . . . at Christmas and all through the year. They know that newspaper advertising reaches more people at far less cost, gives every shopper a chance to compare values and prices at leisure before she shops, saves American shoppers countless millions of hours of precious time and brings news of the world's finest merchandise into nearly every American home.

RECEIVED GRANT: United Negro College Fund President Dr. Fred Patterson (right) receives a check for a $25,000 educational grant from the Standard Oil (Indiana) Foundation, represented by John H. Lind, Executive Secretary. The grant is the latest in a series of educational contributions annually over the past 20 years amounting to nearly $250,000.

Founded in 1944, the United Negro College Fund is a federation of 32 independent, fully accredited colleges and universities in 11 southern states.

U.S. BOWLERS PROVE CHAMPS ON AND OFF LANES IN WORLD PIN TOURNAMENT

Even more important than winning seven of eight titles, United States bowlers captured the respect and admiration of tenpin stars from around the globe with their good sportsmanship and conduct in the Federation Internationale des Quilleurs 5th World tenpin tournament in Mexico late last year.

Displaying a keen and avid interest in the style of the American stars, both men and women, European and South American bowlers kept the U.S. team busy asking hundreds of intelligent and searching questions.

The phase of the U.S. bowlers' game of special interest to the British, French, German, and Venezuelan conti-gents, to mention a few were the hook balls thrown with much more strike power than the straight deliveries of these other nations.

FALL BROKEN: Mrs. Dawn Hartsfield, 28, is attended by nurse Janet Fisher at Los Angeles, California's Central Receiving Hospital after she fell three stories from her apartment while tuning her TV set, police reported. She was adjusting the aerial when she noticed a window screen within reach of the TV set was unhooked. Aerial in one hand, she reached for the screen hook when her feet slipped out from under her. Officers said a wire mesh fence broke her fall seven feet from the ground. She suffered a possible spinal fracture.

US BOWLERS
 national balls were being tested. Making its first official appearance in an FIQ tournament, the U. S. team, sponsored by the American Bowling Congress and the Women's International Bowling Congress, did an excellent job of advancing FIQ's purpose of fostering good will and peace between nations through bowling competition. One exciting example of this camaraderie came at an impromptu victory celebration staged by the U.S. squad in Cuernavaca Mexico, scene of the opening events in the international tournament. A member of the Swedish team played the piano, the group singing of traditional U.S. songs such as "Down by the Old Mill Stream" was led by the British group and on the dance floor couples of all nations glided smoothly in their own versions of the fox trot and waltz.

And when the U. S. players proudly marched to the Olympic style podium to receive their championship awards, with the strains of the Star Spangled Banner filling the crowded El Bowl Polanco lanes in Mexico City, the other nations gave forth with a standing and rousing ovation, a tribute for a job well done -- on and off the bowling lanes.

They are the daughters of Mrs. Betty Hastings of 2439 East 28th Street.
