PYTHIAN AND CALANTHEAN CONVENTION IS A SUCCESS

Participants in Annual Princess Revue

One of the most colorful events ever to be seen by Pythians and Calantheans during this year's annual state convention was the Princess Revue which was held last night at the KOKO Palace.

Five lovely young ladies from over the state of Texas added the desired beauty to make this affair one in which those attending will never forget. Each young lady presented to the judges their best of personal appearance, stage deportment, simplicity and grace, and costume.

Each young lady was observed by the committee in judging from the time she entered into view on the stage until she took her seat. The maximum that could have been given for any of the four areas of judging was 25.

The young Texas beauties who participated in the fete were Laurice Sanders, Bartlett, Texas; Maxine Lindsey; Yoakum; Norma Jean Adams, Houston; Cecille Joyce Graves, Lubbock; and Loretta Gray of Marshall, Texas.

In order for such a project to be a complete success, it took women like Mrs. Bernice Evans,

BERNICE M. EVANS

State Director of San Antonio; Mrs. M.E. Sherefield, Assistant Stage Director of Dallas; Mrs. L. S.

The 13th Biennial Convention, Grand Lodge Knights of Pythias of Texas, and the 34th Biennial Convention, Grand Court Order of Calanthe of Texas, which convened June 5-8 here in Lubbock was in two words a "complete success". Pythians and Calantheans from throughout the state of Texas were present by hundreds until the closing minutes of this great convention.

Grand Chancellor, R.A. Hester, was pleased to meet his fellow Knights, Sisters of Calanthe, the Dramatic Order Knights and Princess of Omar, and Juveniles at this fete. He made it known vividly that this was the first time this convention has been held west of Fort Worth and was sure that those who were present found that this Lubbock hospitality matchless.

The Grand Lodge Planning Committee, Oscar M. Iles, general chairman; Mrs. D. C. Fair, Sr., co-chairman; Mrs. L. S. Graves, secretary; Mrs. Nellie M. Ross, member; and Mr. George Woods, treasurer, along with many others were responsible for the blue prints to become a reality.

The convention got underway with a dynamic message by Rev. Benjamin L. Hooks, supreme vice chancellor, Supreme Worthy Counsellor, former Supreme Prelate, and Judge of Criminal Court of Memphis, Tennessee, at the annual Memorial Service of the Grand Lodge Knights of Pythias and Grand Court Order of Calan-

Graves, local committee chairman; and Mrs. Emalene Chatman, assistant local chairman.

Out of the five young ladies participating in this event, one received a scholarship valued at $500 to the college of her choice; while the second place young lady will receive a scholarship of $300 to the college of her choice.

Youth Director At Kermit

MRS. R. B. THOMPSON

Mrs. R. B. Thompson, 3412 E. 17th, was the Youth Director at the annual Youth Rally which was convening this week at Kermit, Texas. Over three hundred young people will be among those attending this event.

Mrs. Thompson expressed her sincerity concerning this program by saying; "Greetings to the West Texas Baptist District Sunday School and Baptist Training Union Congress, little did I realize that a few years ago I would be appointed to serve as the leader of your Youth Division, and that you would cast your influences so far abroad. Congratulations President Montgomery, Dean Sanders, Moderator Dunn, and others, because of your wise leadership, your willingness to share your time, talent, things, money and strength with others".

REV. BENJ. L. HOOKS

the, which was held at the Greater St. Luke Baptist Church, Rev. A. L. Davis, pastor.

Dr. George D. Flemmings, Grand Vice Chancellor, presided over the ceremonies. Special selections were given by Mrs. L. S. Graves and Mrs. Gertrude Lasley. The invocation was given by Rev. A. L. Davis; Rev. C. C. Campbell, pastor of Carter Chapel AME Church, read the scripture and Rev. A. L. Dunn, pastor of New Hope Baptist Church gave the Benediction.

On Monday, which was the second day of the convention, the delegates were busily attending many meetings of great importance. At 10:00 a. m. the opening business sessions were held at the Bethel AME, Greater St. Luke, and Mount Gilead Baptist Churches.

At the public opening program, held at Bethel AME Church, delegates were present to hear the welcome by the mayor of Lubbock, Honorable W. D. Rogers, Jr., who in his own way expressed how happy he was to see this convention held in the hub city.

Waggoner Carr, Attorney General of Texas, gave the main address. He was introduced by a well-known Lubbock physician, Dr. J. A. Chatman.

Also appearing on this same program were members from fraternal, business, professional, social and federated clubs and groups who expressed how happy they were from the convention to be held in Lubbock and that each and every delegate was welcome.

Mrs. Edna Walker and Julius Graves, III, presented the delegation with two splendid numbers. The introduction of guests was made by Mrs. C. E. Fair. Grand Chancellor Hester and Grand Worthy Counsellor R. D. Harper gave the remarks about the program.

The general chairman of the convention, Oscar M. Iles, served as master of ceremonies; Rev. A. W. Wilson, pastor of Bethel AME, gave the invocation and the program was concluded with benediction by Rev. C. D. Collins, pastor of the New Light Baptist Church.

The annual Leadership Banquet was held at the KOKO Palace on Tuesday evening, at 7:30 p. m. with many prominent Knights and Calantheans present.

The final business session was held on Wednesday morning; and the most colorful event, the annual Princess Revue and Coronation Ball, was held at 8:00 p. m. in the ballroom of the KOKO Palace.

To sum up the convention, the planning committee couldn't have done a better job; the delegates couldn't have been more happier, and the convention couldn't have been better in any part of the state than it was right here in the city of Lubbock.

Rights Battle in Congress Predicted

Sanator Jacob Javits (R-NY) has accused the administration of starting "a very bitter civil rights battle" that President Johnson could have avoided with a simple stroke of the pen.

Javits made the charges as the Senate discussed handling of the administration's new civil rights package that contains sweeping provisions to end housing discrimination.

"It must be crystal clear that the President invited a very bitter civil rights battle that he could lose," Javits said. "It was unneeded when the President could with a stroke of a pen, insure integration of 80 percent of the housing the bill would cover."

Javits said Johnson had acted unwisely in ignoring a simple extension of an executive order to insure the fair housing provisions of the bill.

"The administration has destroyed the opportunity of ending discrimination a lot sooner that it can be done now," he said. "But it has made its choice. If it run into a brick wall with this proposal---and it very well could---the President could still act through an executive order."

Javits' statement followed remarks by Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, III, that clearly indicated the administration would get no GOP support on the new civil rights bill. Dirksen declared the proposal "absolutely unconstitutional."

It was Dirksen's support that provided important votes to administration forces on civil rights victories in 1964 and 1965.

The Senate faced its first skirmish on the bill in a move by Javits to refer the measure to the judiciary committee to bring it back to the floor by a certain committee with orders to bring it to the floor by a certain date.

Both Dirksen and Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana announced their opposition to Javits' motion.

"If between Mike and myself we don't have the votes to knock out Javits' time limitation we're in a helluva fix," the GOP leader said.

As it stand now, the civil rights bill would also end discrimination in state and federal court juries, provide more protection from violence for Negroes and civil rights workers, and permit the Justice Department to initiate school and public facility desegregation suits.

Wichita Falls--This is the year of bright colors for the males. Morris Glenn Harris is a living witness to this fact, he is dressed in a royal blue and black trimmed dinner jacket, black satin bow-tie and black tux pants. This young man would catch any young ladies eye.

YOUR ACHING BACK

Have you ever wondered about the "aching back" problem...and it's really a problem of immense proportions since almost everyone is, at one time is his or her life affected by it.

Is the aching back syndrome limited to such things as strained, or pulled muscles, or are there many causes, or should I say, the result of many different things?

One doctor seems to think that the backache is not attributable to just strained, or pulled muscles alone. In a series of articles in a West Coast newspaper, Dr. Hans Kraus, author of a recent book, "Backache, Stress & Tension," lists among backache causes:

--Muscular deficiencies: Many patients have localized and exquisitely tender spots in the muscles-spots which can occur in different parts of the body, but are frequently in the neck, shoulder, upper or lower back, or the hip muscles.

--Stomach: The correct intake of food can aid if the problem is overweight--and not medical, such as a glandular problem. Dr. Kraus advises, if overweight: "Eat as much as you want. But work off what you eat."

The author, who treated President Kennedy's back trouble, also is of the strong conviction that the answer lies in proper exercise
