

Lonnie Hollingsworth - Jack House to Seek Positions on City Council in April 8 Election

With approximately two weeks remaining before the deadline to file for a city council or mayor post, eight Lubbockites have taken that first step to becoming one of the city fathers.

Councilman Lonnie Hollingsworth, 39-year-old owner of several pharmacies here in Lubbock, became the seventh person to file for a seat on the City Council.

A resident of Lubbock for 13 years, Hollingsworth will run for Place One, mayor pro tem seat, which became vacant when Councilman Deaton Rigsby filed for the mayor's post.

The eighth person to enter the city elections was Jack House who filed for Place Two which opened this year with Hollingsworth's expired term. House is president of Credit Consultants, Inc. He became the second person to file as a candidate for the Place Two post.

Bishop College Designated As National Test Center

Dallas—The National Teacher Examination will be administered on April 8, 1972, at Bishop College, Dallas, Texas, which has been designated as a test center.

According to Dr. C. J. Gay, Director of Counseling Center, college seniors preparing to teach and teachers applying for positions in school systems which encourage or require the NTE are eligible to take the tests. In addition, the designation of Bishop College as a test center for these examinations will give prospective teachers in this area an opportunity to compare their performance on the examinations with candidates throughout the country who take the tests.

Last year approximately 116,000 candidates took the examinations nationwide. These tests are designed to assess cognitive knowledge and understanding in professional education, general education and subject-field specialization. The examinations, which are prepared and administered by Educational Testing Service of Princeton, New Jersey, are limited to assessment of those aspects of teacher education that are validly and reliably measured by well constructed paper-and-pencil tests.

Bulletins of Information describing registration procedures and containing Registration Forms as well as sample test questions may be obtained from the Counseling Center, Bishop College or directly from the National Teacher Examinations, Educational Testing Service, Box 911, Princeton, New Jersey 08540.

First Hall of Fame Ceremony Ex Lubbock Athlete to Be Honored Friday by Texas A&I University

Robert T. Rich, who lives now in Wolf-orth, but played athletics in the Lubbock Public School system, will be one of eight former Texas A&I University stars to be inducted into the Kingsville school's Athletic Hall of Fame Friday.

Rich received a secondary education degree in 1941 after participating in football, basketball and baseball for the Javelinas. He was president of the T Association and a member of the Aggie Club.

The former Lubbockite will be inducted with seven other former A&I stars at the annual football banquet. They are Gil Steinke, Don Hightower, Stuart Clarkson, Johnny McNabb, John Mark Dixon, W.L. "Dub" Harbin and Dr. Robert Martin Hodgkiss. Hightower, Clarkson and Hodgkiss will be honored posthumously in this first ceremony.

Hollingsworth, who made his announcement Monday before last, made it clear that there is a job in Lubbock to be finished. He said, "my experience and expertise in the areas of finance and budget would contribute toward the successful completion of the major programs during the next two critical years of their development."

House announced his candidacy for a councilman post Tuesday, February 15. He said, "I feel one of the key issues will be the financial responsibility of the city in terms of increased taxes and expenses." He went on to add that his experience has been in financial responsibility.

March 8 is the filing deadline for those seeking a position on the city council.

40,000 Omega Psi Phi Fraternity Members Launch Attack on National Black Problems

Washington—One of the most complete and dramatic declarations of involvement in Black issues by a college-based fraternity have been announced by James S. Avery, Grand Basileus of Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, Inc. As a result of discussions and panels by distinguished Black leaders and authorities at the fraternity's Houston conclave, the 40,000-man organization moved into nationally significant problem areas.

Among the fraternity members and leaders shaping the destiny of Omega's all-encompassing social program were Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president emeritus of Morehouse College; Vernon Jordan, executive director of the National Urban League; Hobart Taylor, outstanding attorney and legal advisor to Presidents John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson; Judson W. Robinson, Jr., Houston city councilman; James T. Felder, South Carolina State legislator; Edward Lewis, publisher and chief executive officer, Essence magazine; Dr. John L. Cashin, contestant for Governor of Alabama against George Wallace, and Dr. George Wiley, executive director of the National Welfare Rights Organization.

The Omega Fraternity has given a national pledge to support and work at the local chapter level, the institutions and programs of welfare rights. The body resolved to push legislation which will secure an adequate income for every family in America, especially Black families. In the same area of concern, Omega Psi Phi pledged support of all its chapters throughout America to fight Sickle Cell Anemia, a disease that penetrates the bodies of predominately Black people. Financial assistance for research and other programs to stamp out Sickle Cell Anemia will be forthcoming from chapter and administrative levels of the fraternity.

Inequities in education were attacked head on by the Omega Fraternity. Quality education for Black children is the key educational issue in the '70's, according to the body before its closing. In the communities throughout America, undergraduate and graduate Omega men are now committed to quality education. Pronounced drives in these communities by Omega men will be felt by Boards of Education, and officials in the quest for quality education.

Becoming adept in politics was high on the list of resolutions. Omega proposes to find, slate and endorse Black candidates and to work with other organizations who do this. The serious problems of voter registration, political education and complete freedom and equality in the political arena will get the full force and impact and support of the sixty-one year old organization.

At the fraternity's election in Houston, James Avery of Scotch Plains, New Jersey, was re-elected grand basileus. Marion W. Garnett of Chicago was re-elected first grand basileus. John H. Moore remains as grand keeper of finance. Jay Franklin Spruill of Cleveland was elected grand counselor. Sam Johnson of Albuquerque, New Mexico, was elected second grand basileus. C.D. Henry of Grambling, Louisiana, was elected grand keeper of records and seals. Appointees were Alvin West of St. Louis, grand marshal and Rev. H. Albion Ferrell, grand chaplain.

President Nixon Presents personal check to United Negro College Fund—Arthur A. Fletcher launched into his new job as executive director of the UNCF as he received a personal contribution to the fund from the President of the United States. It marked the first time that a President in office had personally contributed to the UNCF. In accepting the contribution, Fletcher, former Assistant Secretary of Labor, said: "We accept this check not only as an honor in that it comes from the President, but we are also deeply aware of the significance it holds to have him take the lead in this support drive for the United Negro College Fund. The 40 private colleges and the 40,000 black students who are aided by the Fund are the real beneficiaries of Mr. Nixon's generosity and we thank him profoundly on their behalf."

Night City Council Meetings Would Help

There's no doubt about it, our world, nation, state and city are going through a lot of changes. It is time for our city government to go through some changes also. It would make a lot of sense if we would have city council meetings at night.

One good reason for such meeting would be the upcoming garbage hearing which is being held this afternoon at 1:30 p.m. in the City Council chambers. This is definitely a bad time for all of Lubbock's citizens. Those who will be affected most by the hearing will not have the opportunity to really express their opinion. They'll be working.

We must realize that in a democracy it is a must for citizens from all walks of life to express themselves.

Lubbock is no longer a small country community. Its population has grown and people of many ideas are residing in this community. People have changed and we must accept this change if we are going to continue to move forward in the future.

Not only the garbage situation, but all citizens of Lubbock would have an opportunity to contribute something constructive to the welfare of this 75 square mile city. There are many problems which are facing our community and a majority of its citizens could be a part of solving them if such meetings were held at a time in which many of our citizens could attend.

It is a must for taxpayers, at least those who work for a living, to have an opportunity to know what is going on. Elected officials should welcome the opportunity of citizens being present when important matters are being discussed, which affect all citizens.

No one person, no one group or no one political party should run the business of our community. We are all a part of the system and we should have an opportunity to contribute something to it.

Night city council meetings could be a terrific beginning in our community. It's time for a change and now is just as good as any time to start such a change.

Let's Keep the Kids Out of the Santa Fe Switching Yards

We received word the other day from an official of the Santa Fe Railroad that our young children are being seen playing in the switching yard behind the Green Fair Manor Apartments.

These young people have been advised by the principal of Ella Iles Elementary School that they should use the over pass to go to and from school.

Parents, let's inform our young people to use the overpass for their own protection. It is dangerous for them to use the switching yard in going home.

Let's keep them out of this area, Mom and Dad.

As I See It

by T. J. Patterson

This writer has written several editorials in the past about the importance of the Black market to businessmen in West Texas. Last week I was fortunate to hear Percell Johnson, vice president for advertising for Tuesday Publications, Inc., of New York, as he delivered the luncheon address for Advertising Day on the Texas Tech University campus Thursday.

The young executive from New York, who made known of the 2 million copies distributed each month of "Tuesday," said the "nation's Blacks have begun to establish their own identity and represent a powerful buying market which can no longer be ignored by advertisers who aim their programs at traditionally white, middle class markets."

These words were sweet to my ears, for this media has been saying the same thing, for a long time now. Just the other day, one of our advertisers made it known to me that the advertisement in our media got him more results than the same one he had run in the daily media.

As I See It, we're a weekly media and we serve as a supplement media in the West Texas community. We could care less about selling any merchant space. Rather, we'll use the space to sell your products, Mr. Businessman. We get results and we know it. Thanks Mr. Johnson, for your input to our community.

Thought of the Week: "Today is the first day of the rest of your life."

As I See It, it's time for us as parents to start doing our job with our Parent Teachers Associations (PTA). After hearing of an incident in one of our schools last week, it'll make good sense if we would be more concerned about the welfare of our young people.

I would like to encourage you as parents (this means me also) to pay close attention to the activity of our young folk. It doesn't matter if they are in elementary, junior high or senior high school, we should be most concerned about their daily activities.

On the other hand, let's make something out of our PTA meetings. We can't afford to stay home and let the principals and teachers conduct these meetings. If you look real closely, you'll quickly discover that we've neglected our responsibility as members of the local organizations.

In talking to a president of one of these organizations last week, she was rather concerned about what could be done to improve the PTA activities of her school. With tears in her eyes, she explained how non-involved the parents of the school children of her school were. I can appreciate her sincerity, but as I told her, she can't do it herself.

You know, we never get excited about the activities of our children until they are in trouble. Why not start with some preventive programs for our young folk?

We've got the time now, if we get our thing together. Our school board of trustees, school administrators, principals and teachers can't do it by themselves. They need every parent's help. Help your child now. It's a serious thing in our community. Let's not forget it!

As I See It the evolution and development of Black political power and its impact on the 1972 presidential election should be rather interesting this year. If you haven't registered to vote, you'll miss a tremendous opportunity this year.

Register so you can get a piece of the action this year. Don't be a party "pooper."

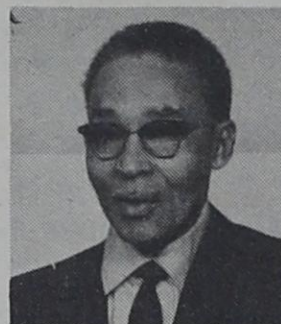

Many of our readers again this week will be disappointed to find that their news, and pictures, did not make this week's issue. To go back to the same old record, "there just ain't enough ads to make the paper large enough." There's always next week, but, while we're on the subject, be sure to tell the advertisers we have that you saw their message in the "Times", that'll help!

Think!

by Dr. R. W. Jones

My Fate

Here, lately, my articles seem to be filled with anger, gloom, and doom and criticism of the insignificant nimcompoop. However, now our fate is seriously threatened by our President and the results will depend on how effectively he can manipulate anti-Negro senators and emotionally aroused Blacks and Anglos using the guise of anti-busing.

It has been of no real concern to me when Blacks have gotten on the band wagon for anti-busing, but when they are lobbying for something that might place me behind the plow, or even in front of the plow, I am concerned.

When I hear people talking approvingly about the President wanting an amendment to the Constitution to ban busing, I know they aren't thinking. The bigoted Anglo is thinking, because he knows if an amendment can be added to the Constitution to do away with busing, the same procedure can be used to eliminate the 13th and 14th Amendments to the Constitution. The Vice-president, as well as the majority and minority leaders of the Senate are against an anti-busing amendment.

"More power to the people", the Blacks say. Well, in my opinion, the majority of the people have too much power now and my family and my fate are threatened.

We rejoice too soon, and deceive our friends too easily without thinking. We join up with all kinds of movements with the idea of getting our freedom—we already have freedom. We need methods to implement the laws that guarantee our freedom.

We must remember our goal now is to obtain quality education for our children. Those of us who were educated prior to 1954 are products of black schools—public schools, colleges, graduate schools, and Medical colleges. On careful scrutiny, if we are honest, we will admit that all of these schools, in comparison, were inferior to the white schools with the possible exception of the two medical colleges—Meharry Medical College in Nashville, Tenn. and Howard University in Washington, D.C. That inferiority was the reason for the Brown decision that there are no separate and equal schools. It is possible to have equal Black schools if the school districts or regions would appropriate the funds equally. We know that has not been done and will not be done. It seems as if we are struck with busing for that quality education. We should accept it because as long as there is one white child in a school, that school will be up to par with the others in the district, because the administration will see to it that he gets quality education that he is supposed to get.

I don't want to hear anything from those cats who have gone to white Seminaries, white graduate schools since 1954—that includes me—and deserted the one institution we must keep alive financially and supplied with qualified instructors—the Black college.

Don't let people play on your emotions with statements like, "They are closing our schools." Check their backgrounds before going off half-cocked, because we have people who took advantage of white money and white institutions to better their education, but will fill the air with lucubrations encouraging you to deny your child a quality education because of a bus. I hate busing as much as anyone because that is one way the man keeps his finger on me, but I'll be damned if I cut my nose off to spite my face. Quality education is the goal, so let's reach it and then decide after we have plumbers, electricians, brick masons, and other vocations in abundance where if necessary we can demand, and succeed, because we will have green power.

I would like to urge everyone to read The Selling of a President, 1968 by Joe McGinniss, and you won't take Mr. Nixon's suggestion of an anti-busing amendment lightly.

We should examine very seriously all labels in our environment and see what they mean and how they affect us. If there is something suspicious yell to the high heavens so we all will know there is no place for secrecy or embarrassment now. Everyone can offer something and, please believe me, I don't want to spend the rest of my days looking at the south part of a mule going north.

Sports of The Times

by Joe Kelly

It wasn't too long ago that a lot of the self-styled pundits were looking at the Texas Tech athletic situation and saying: "J.T. King has to go." Now, a short two years later, a lot of those "experts" are having second thoughts. As time goes on, Jake looks better and better.

It must be remembered that Jake inherited a world of no talent when he assumed control of Tech football. Gradually he built it up until the Raiders became contenders. True, Tech didn't win, but the Raiders moved the ball, scored and lest anyone forget, scored the only victories Tech has managed over Texas and Arkansas.

Before that Jake was recognized around the Southwest Conference as the sharpest judge of potential college talent on the scene. If he predicted stardom for a young man, the chances were good that he would reach that plateau.

Jake is no longer active in the recruiting wars, but he keeps a sharp eye peeled for the results. After all, he's the athletic director and Tech's success does make a difference in his position.

So, being curious, I had a couple of questions for him. The first had to do with this spring's recruiting. What did he think of the Tech crop? "Average," he replied, "No Blue Chippers (this was before Harold Buell signed). You need to get quality athletes to be successful."

Okay. That's an honest answer. Now, freshmen will be eligible for varsity lineups this fall. How many freshmen will make it to varsity squads in the conference?

"Maybe five," Jake replied. "Probably not more than that. And they probably will be specialists—punters, kickoff men, people like that."

Doak Walker made it as a freshman. Would it take someone like Doak to break into a starting SWC lineup?

"Don't forget, Doak came along at the right time. Not that he wasn't a great football player, but he played as a freshman when there was a war on and there weren't the number of football players available. By the time the war was over, he was an established star when the players began returning in droves.

"No, I don't look for many freshmen to make it. Look at the situation here last year. We had two Blue Chip athletes, Joe Barnes and Jimmy Carmichael. They were supposedly super athletes and how much did they play?"

John Conley, formerly in charge of the offensive line and now head of recruiting and assistant with the offensive line under Jim Carlen, looks at the recruiting haul a little differently.

"We had a good year," he declared. "What we haven't gotten is that super football player, the great running back. If we had come up with him, we'd have a great year. But then, you can always make a place for the super running back. You need them every year."

So there you have it. Based on the college grade point scale, where 4.0 is perfect, Tech probably falls between 2.0 and 2.5. To be labeled outstanding, a real contender, the average should fall between 3.5 and 4.0.

Dunbar Coronation Scheduled For Friday Evening

The Dunbar Coronation will take place February 25, 1972, at 8:00 p.m. in Dunbar High School Auditorium. The theme of the occasion is "The Garden of Venus."

There will be a ball afterwards at Mae Simmons Community Center. The musical group, "Cleos Funk Express" will provide the entertainment, featuring Mrs. Emma Jackson.

The candidates for the highest honor of the school are: Mr. Dunbar, Larry Rollison; Anthony Bryant and Donnell Bailey. Miss Dunbar, Marilyn English; Marilyn Peppers and Elsa Gaitan.

The committee chairman for the coronation is Margaret Fisher.

The admission price, 75¢ for students and $1.00 for adults, will admit the ticket holder to both the coronation and the ball later.

Your Weekly Astro Forecast

By D. MODIN

LOCATE YOUR BIRTHDAY IN THE SECTIONS BELOW, AND SEE YOUR PERSONAL OUTLOOK ACCORDING TO THE STARS.

(ARIES Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) ... Your watchword this week, Aries is "OUTSPOKEN." Communication's up for re-writing, re-phrasing to better an opportunity that could be in need of technical-perfection. A trend this week toward up-dating improves earlier stalemate.

(TAURUS Apr. 20 to May 20) ... Your watchword this week, Taurus is "BACKWARD." Correct old records, mistakes and chronic conditions, errors or documents this week, Taurus. Review of past prevents any similar problems in near future. Cycle lifts earlier burden.

(GEMINI May 21 to June 20) ... Your watchword this week, Gemini is "THANKS." PERSONAL-DESIRES are within sight, this week, Gemini! Prove points with tangible evidence of own worth. Thanks to self-improvement or help from others, you're due for good change.

(CANCER June 21 to July 22) ... Your watchword this week, Cancer is "MORE." You're carrying more burdens than usual. Split-timing irritates you, throws organized schedules out of balance, Cancer and sooner you get orderly, the better, this week. Be calm.

(LEO July 23 to Aug. 22) ... Your watchword this week, Leo is "FRIENDSHIP." Circulate, friends promote your abilities or introduce some new friends, Leo. Your leadership could "head-up" club act-group interests or membership-drive. Little rest this week!

(VIRGO Aug. 23 to Sept. 22) ... Your watchword this week, Virgo, is "PARTNER." Live a little this week with business or marriage partners... do something different. Change of pace stimulates adventure which makes you alluring, Virgo this week. Tempo speeds up.

(LIBRA Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) ... Your watchword this week, Libra is "TRAVEL." A lot of "coming & going" this week could lead to success if you're willing to do your share on both ends of the partnership, Libra. Don't be uncooperative then gripe about results.

(SCORPIO Oct. 24 to Nov. 22) ... Your watchword this week, Scorpio is "PHASES." You've set lots in motion prior to this week, Scorpio. Firm-up purposes, contracts, negotiations for "phase-two" with an eye on long-range plans soon to gather momentum in your life.

(SAGITTARIUS Nov. 23 to Dec. 21) ... Your watchword this week, Sagittarius is "TWO." You work best in double-harness this week, Sagittarius but a compromise between you and partners VS your independent FREE time must evolve for future success. Eliminate confusion.

(AQUARIUS Jan. 20 to Feb. 18) ... Your watchword this week, Aquarius is "DETAIL." Attend to details, records and trivia (so boring to you) this week, Aquarius. "Thank-you notes" consolidate old friendly ties. Sentiment plays key part in future relationships now.

(PISCES Feb. 19 to Mar. 20) ... Your watchword this week, Pisces is "DELAY." Annoying delays on earlier plans can leave you disgruntled! These are temporary and allow you time to gather facts needed in future major decisions. Retrace thinking-processes!
