

'Around the Hub City'

The annual Dunbar band talent show--held last Friday night in the school auditorium--was as expected. It was a great success!! Each year this auditorium is filled with students, parents and patrons of this school. They come out to see and hear their favorite talent, and, of course, learn about new faces in the field of entertainment, that is, local talent.

"AROUND THE HUB CITY" learned that there were not enough seats for everyone to sit, therefore, many people had to be turned away.

One thing is for sure, this auditorium--which seats 999 students--will have to yield to a much larger one, for this affair is growing in 'leaps and bounds' each year.

I wonder where would be a good place for this annual activity come next year?

Open house for the Caritas House in Carlisle, Texas was held last Sunday from 3 until 8 p.m. The public was cordially invited and entertainment and refreshments were served. Caritas House is a social and welfare center sponsored by Miss Patricia Singleton. The center is supported by public donations and by Miss Singleton.

If there are any of you who are still interested in the jobs which appeared in last week's edition of the West Texas Times, you may still contact T.K. Moore at the Texas Employment Office here in Lubbock.

The other evening, "AROUND THE HUB CITY" noticed that the City of Lubbock has planted some beautiful cedar trees or bushes on Ash Avenue... along the walk way near the railroad track.

Mr. Dit Caro, a member of the Church of God in Christ, is a patient at Methodist Hospital, Room #429.

A special musical will be conducted on Sunday afternoon, March 5th, at 3:00 p.m. in the auditorium of Bethel A.M.E. Church. Special guest will include singers from Texas Tech and local churches in the city.

This special effort is for raising funds for the annual Women's Day Rally which is scheduled to come off during the month of May.

Mrs. Lillian Struggs is the sponsor of this program.

Boy!!! If you missed the Women's Basketball game last Tuesday evening at Dunbar gym between the Teachers and Mom and Dad's Club ladies, well, you missed a treat.

This is to be an annual affair by this organization and the funds will be used for the organization.

Rev. A.L. Butler, president of the Golden Voice District Association, would like to call your attention to the meeting which will be held Sunday, March 5th, at 2:00 p.m. at the Jerusalem Baptist Church at New Home, Rev. Freeman Thompson is pastor.

The president would like to invite you to this new and most talked about spiritual singing affair.

The circulation manager of the West Texas Times, Hubert Alexander, 1501 Avenue C, is looking for newspaper boys in the area of Green Fair Manor and Yellowhouse Canyon.

If there are any boys, between the ages of 8-14, interested in selling this paper to call him at POS-7094.

Heart Patient Credited With Saving Woman's Life During Shooting Scrape

A 33 year old heart patient, C. B. Pearson, of 2921 East 8th Street, who saved a woman's life last Wednesday by wrestling with her assailant until police arrived, told officers last week that there were several others around who could have helped.

"But they all ran when the shooting started", stated Pearson.

Due to the efforts of this courageous man, he probably saved the life of Mrs. Margie McCallister, 1008 East 28th Street. She might have been killed or critically wounded in front of her home about 4:00 p.m. last Wednesday. As it was she suffered a bullet wound in the mouth, but was reported in satisfactory condition at Methodist Hospital.

A 42 year old man was released from jail last Thursday morning, pending an interview and signing of a complaint by the woman.

A policeman found Pearson and the suspect wrestling for possession of a .22 caliber pistol when he arrived on the scene of the shooting. According to witnesses, Pearson had attacked the suspect with a small knife after Mrs. McCallister had been shot once, to prevent more shooting. The suspect had been cut on both hands and bitten on one wrist.

Pearson was taken to West Texas Hospital where he was placed under sedation by his doctor. He was later dismissed.

Mrs. McCallister was shot in the right jaw and the bullet lodged in her left jaw.

CRIME, JUVENILE DELINQUENCY, AND URBAN RENEWAL

Many people think of Urban Renewal as SLUM CLEARANCE. They have the mistaken idea that government can eliminate slums, and in the one stroke of elimination of slums, they will virtually abolish the problem of crime and juvenile delinquency.

While the truth is, slums do not breed crime and juvenile delinquency. It is the other way around. People make slums. Slums do not make people the way they are. If you tore down all of the old houses in America; and replaced them with luxury homes and apartments; and gave those luxury dwellings to criminals, juvenile delinquents, bums, and improvident, lazy ne'er-do-wells and provided the occupants with lavish pensions—the places would soon be slums again.

Billions of tax dollars have been spent on public housing and federal urban renewal in America. In support of every one of the thousands of such projects, the same argument was used: eliminate the slums and you will eliminate the causes of crime and juvenile delinquency. Put up something that looks good and the people will be good.

But the public housings of America have not eliminated any crime or juvenile delinquency. On the contrary, many have become concentration centers for criminals and juvenile delinquents.

"Slums don't make delinquency, delinquent people make slums. Public housing projects don't wipe out juvenile and adult delinquency by eliminating slums. Delinquents are more plentiful in the projects, because they move into the projects from scattered areas and thereby become more concentrated.

Ohyes, we admit that Government can make slum dwellers move elsewhere, but government simply cannot remake people. Hence, no matter how much power it usurps or how much tax money it spends, government will not and can not eliminate slums.

Right now, under the guise of slum-clearance, our tax money is financing a frightful amount of snobbery which injures many people. We have all personally known low-income neighborhoods which were charming living areas. Where practically everyone in the neighborhood owned his home, and they were paid for. They were small wooden-frame houses, yes; but they were clean and attractive. Their principal virtue was that the people who owned them and lived in them and cared for them, loved them.

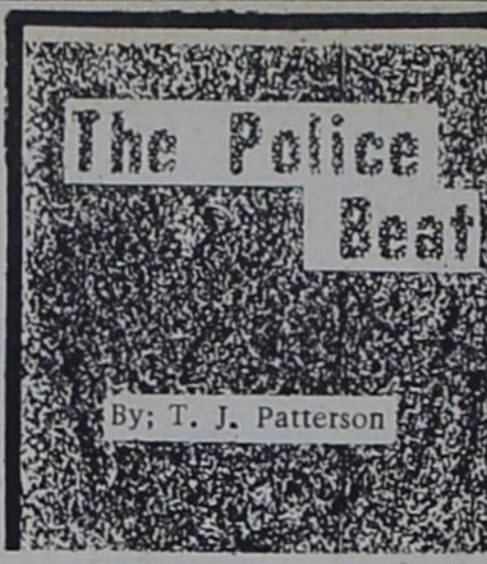

The people were proud of their neighborhood, which believe it or not produced relatively little crime or delinquency; and these same people were astonished and hurt when their area was declared "blighted". Their homes and businesses were confiscated, and the neighborhood became a public housing project. The original home owners in many cases are not project-dwellers by nature. They went elsewhere, some to other cities and towns, while many who remained became afraid to buy property for fear that if they do, something like this might happen again, and some who took a chance and tried to buy another home found that it was too difficult for them to do so. Buying a new home would have been easy for some, except many painfully discovered that they weren't as young as they use to be. Hence after paying on the new home for four or five years or less, they lost it. Now they don't have the money or the home. Meanwhile the project filled with tenants who quickly started to convert it into an eyesore and a concentration center for human flotsam and jetsam.

City governments have adequate, legal power to do something effective about a slum, if, by slum, one means inhabited buildings which sanitation experts can prove to be injurious to public health; or which capable engineers can prove to be dangerous to the general public.

The city can order owners to make minimum improvements necessary to public safety. If the owners refuse, the city can have the work done and add the cost to the owner's tax bills. If the owners do not pay, the city can sell the places at public auction for the taxes.

One astonishing argument made for tax-financed slum clearance and urban renewal is that wealthy people own much of the slum property; that they pay a very low tax on the property; and that city services which their slum properties require (police and fire protection, principally) are much greater than the services required on good properties in good neighborhoods, where tax rates must be higher in order to make up for the low tax on slums. If all of this is so, why give the owners of slum property the special privilege of low taxes? If they get more city services than other property owners, why not make them pay more taxes? People could not then afford to own rent property which is dangerous to the public. They would either improve the property to make it comply with minimum requirements of public safety, or they would sell it—to escape the high taxes.

Now don't be misled by these ideas. These legal procedures would

UNWANTED GUEST

A young lady in east Lubbock told police of a young man who had taken her out for the evening, but there was only one thing wrong with the entire date. The man refused to go home after returning the lady home.

She told police that she asked the man to leave several times. It just might be possible that love at first sight does exist.

HOUSE BURGLARY

Mrs. Jessie Davis, 1702 East 13th Street, told police that she was returning home from a shopping trip when she caught a 13-year old, and a companion, age 12, coming out of her storage house which is located at the rear of her home.

The boy had a costume jewelry box in his hands that did belong to her. She told police that this was the second time her storage house had been looted. On another occasion, a green and gold color spread had been taken.

The two boys were taken to the juvenile home for further questioning.

THEFT

Leport Davis, 2802 Juniper, told the police that someone had taken his brown leather billfold. It contained about $46.00 in cash, drivers license, and miscellaneous papers.

It was strongly believed that a not eliminate all buildings that liberal planners-of-other-peoples-lives do not like; but they would eliminate most places that are a menace to public safety; and they would leave Americans secure in their personal GOD-GIVEN RIGHT TO OWN PROPERTY.

woman living in the area is responsible for the theft.

DISTRUBANCE

Another lady called the police this week in regard to a man, her husband who was drunk. When the police arrived at her address, they found her husband in a drunken state, and the house was in a bigger mess. The lamps were broken along with lots of the dishes. To top it all off, the man was lying in the middle of the floor on cloud 13.

She told police that she had a fight with her loved one, but did not want him to remain at home. However, she admitted that the reason she wanted him departed was that she was scared of him.

Some say that love is also a hurting game.

VANDALISM

At 2407 Fir Avenue in the rear one night last week, someone cut the tires of C.R. Rich's two door car.

The value of the tires was $25.00, he said.

THEFT
Jenny Lee Johnson, 3609 Ute Avenue, told police that her house at 2901 East 19th, which burned three weeks ago, was looted. She did admit that she moved most of her furniture after the fire, but someone unknown had entered the house and took a half size bed mattress.

She had an idea that one of the neighbors might be responsible for this type of action.

CAR THEFT
J.W. Ausbie, 3505 Teak Avenue, reported to the Lubbock Police Department that someone broke into his "T Bird" and took a record player which was mounted under the dash board.

Entry was gained by merely forcing open a vent window on the passenger side of the car. Why not return J. W.'s record player and make him happy?

BISHOP COLLEGE NEWS

Milton K. Curry, Jr., President of Bishop College in Dallas, Texas was presented with the 1967 Luther Holcomb Award for the Propagation of Brotherhood Tuesday, February 21. Dr. Holcomb made the presentation to Dr. Curry on behalf of the Dallas Advertising League, at the special noon meeting of that organization held at the Crystal Ballroom of the Baker Hotel in Dallas.

President Curry was cited for his efforts on behalf of the propagation of brotherhood on many counts. President of a predominantly Negro, Baptist-affiliated College, he makes it his personal responsibility to assure that there are absolutely no racial, national or religious lines drawn at the college. His many services in the public interest have equally no racial or religious lines. As a member of Dallas Mayor Erik Johnson's "Goals for Dallas" Committee, Dr. Curry has shown his completely impartial concern for the entire Dallas area. He is secretary to the Board of the Community Council of Greater Dallas; he is on the Dallas Housing Authority; he holds the Silver Beaver Medal and is a Board Member Circle Ten of the Boy Scouts of America; he is on the Board of the Metropolitan YMCA—in addition to his activities in many other fields on behalf of the overall social structure of his adopted city of Dallas.

The first Luther Holcomb Award was made in 1966. At the time, it was known simply as the award for the Propagation of Brotherhood, and it was awarded to Dr. Luther Holcomb, a former Dallas clergyman who was appointed by President Johnson as the Vice-Chairman of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, a post he now holds, although he is currently the Acting Chairman. Because of being the first recipient of the Award, it was finally named in Dr. Holcomb's honor.

The Advertising League program Tuesday was one of the four being held in observance of National Ad-
