

EASTERN LITTLE LEAGUE ALL-STARS NAMED

The Eastern Little League All-Stars were announced on last Saturday evening. Each all-star, who will play in the Area Tournament tomorrow evening, Friday, was chosen by managers and coaches of the Eastern Little League.

Those chosen to fulfill the various positions were as follows: Lee Earnest Badgley, Jr., David Childs, Henry Easter, Jr., Connie Ray Harris, Alvin Harris, Larry Don Isaac, Garner Jordan, Jr., Robert Earl Kindred, Lemuel Levels, Olda Dene Louis, Kenneth Ray McGee, Donnie Ray Moore, Louis Van Witherspoon, and Charles Kelsie Hobdy.

Jackie Clark, manager of the Dodgers, will pilot the squad of little leaguers while Baldwin Wilson, manager of the Monarchs, will coach the all-stars.

The Eastern Little League All-Stars are scheduled to play the winner of the Northwest Little League of Lubbock and Ralls Little League All-Stars tilt tomorrow, Friday, at 5:00 p.m.

There are six teams in this years area contest, and the Eastern Little Leaguers are out for the big win tomorrow evening.

This contest is scheduled at Slaton, Texas, according to the director of the Eastern Little League, Dr. F.L. Lovings.

The winner of the Area Tournament at Slaton will represent the district in a meet at Lubbock the following week.

The final games of this particular tournament will climax on Saturday evening.

In looking back at the standings in the Eastern Little League, the score books show that the Dodgers have attained the first place position with a record of 15 wins and only three remaining games. Not far behind them are the fighting Monarchs.

Why not drive down to Slaton tomorrow evening and watch our Eastern Little Leaguers in action. With the support you can give them, they can surely go over big.

Off to Tres Ritos

For the past three years, Troop 136 of the Boy Scouts of America, Mary & Mac School, left last Sunday morning for one week of outdoor camping in the beautiful mountains of New Mexico. The camp, Tres Ritos, which lies on a section of the beautiful New Mexico mountains, is nearly 300 miles from the city limits of Lubbock.

The experiences shared with each scout this year will be new, for it is the first time that they will have an opportunity of preparing every meal without the assistance of a supervised "chow hall". Each patrol is given enough rations to supply each scout for one week. It is necessary for each patrol to have the experience for preparing a hearty and tasteful meal.

Scouts who are at Tres Ritos from Troop 136 include: Charles

TOWER TO SPEAK HERE

Sen. John Tower will make a "Report to the People" at 8:00 p.m. Friday, July 22, at Lubbock's Coronado High School.

According to Jerry Friedhelm, press secretary to Sen. Tower, the senator will discuss the Viet Nam situation, inflation, the cotton Research Promotion Act and wheat prices during his Lubbock visit.

'Around the Hub City'

Have you noticed the construction of the new Community Center? It is in its completion stage, and boy isn't it attractive...

You had better be aware of the one-way street on Railroad Avenue. It became a new means of safety several weeks ago.

Mrs. Earnestine Davenport has recently returned from Meridan, Texas where she has been spending sometime with her mother and other relatives.

Mr. Fred McQuinney lost his sister last week. She expired while she was in the hospital at Seagraves. Burial was held at Lemesa, Texas. She is survived by a husband, three children, and two brothers.

Mrs. Ada Bell Jackson and her two children and Mrs. Birdie Hall and her three children left last Thursday evening for Yellowstone National Park.

Plans are under way for a new program for four and five year old boys and girls this fall at the Mary & Mac Private School, 902 East 28th Street. This new program, "Kiddie Paradise", will be constructed with many new ideas for the child.

"Kiddie Paradise" will have activities that will be well supervised by qualified instructors. Among these activities will be those that will enable the child to cooperate in fair play and get along with others.

Mrs. L.S. Graves, principal, would like to answer questions and relate information concerning this new program to begin this fall. You may call her now for enrollment.

Don't forget the "Mr. and Miss" Mae Simmons Pageant to be held tomorrow evening, Friday, July 22, 1966.

Read the "TIMES" next week and get the results of the pageant.

Lubbock Man Held In Auto Mishap

A 27 year-old Lubbock man remained in custody last Friday morning in connection with an accident which occurred on Thursday night. It was learned that the man received six separate traffic violations including failure to report an accident and failure to stop and leave information.

According to the Lubbock Police, the man was involved in two traffic mishaps involving three cars other than his own a few minutes apart on East Broadway at about 4:00 p.m. last Thursday afternoon.

Three persons were injured in the second collision, a head-on crash involving a car driven by Henry Lee Hollins, 2730 E. 7th.

Hollins and Willie Earl Tipton, 2730 E. 7th, were admitted in Methodist Hospital in serious condition.

According to investigating officers, it was learned that a witness, who claimed he was nearly hit by the fleeing car, that the vehicle struck the rear of another car at Broadway and Quirt, causing it to collide with a third vehicle.

The witness told the police that the driver sped away from the wreck scene, running a red light in the process, before running into Hollins.

SURPRISE PARTY

Little Miss Vera Mae Daniels, 618 Avenue C, was honored with a going away party several weeks ago. This affair was given in the home of Mrs. Emma Winn, 1324 East 17th Street, Eastridge Apartments.

enroute to Phoenix, Arizona where she will live with her cousin, Mrs. Iola Lamb.

Some of her many friends who attended this joyous affair included the following: M. Lewis, S. Lewis, Debra Perry, K. Moore, Jackie Ellis, W. Lewis, Eula Farris, Rena Ross, Joe K. Stevenson, Jacqueline Easter, Cynthia Ross, Janet Easter, and Gladys and Greg Perkins.

Mrs. Jeremiah Yates and Mrs. Conoway Moore, Jr. were the hostesses to the party. Mrs. Iola Lamb of Phoenix was special guest.

Verna received many lovely gifts and the refreshments were most enjoyable.

DNBAR'S SNEED ON YOUTH JURY

Linday Kay Sneed

Linday Kay Sneed, 1503 East 15th Street, a junior at Dunbar High School, was one of the five jurors who appeared on the Youth Jury on last Friday afternoon, July 15th, at 3:00 p.m. in Corporation Court. Judge Gene Blair presided over the six cases.

The Youth Jury system, operating on a three-month trial basis, has heard six cases in two sessions, according to Van McVay, executive secretary of the Citizens Traffic Council and jury system coordinator. All six were pleas of guilty and five of the six defendants accepted the Youth Jury penalty instead of the monetary fines set by Judge Blair.

DEFINITION of a college draftee: "One who's been awarded a McNamara fellowship."

MAN AS AN INDIVIDUAL

Every human being is born an individual--a bit of plastic material distinct from every other thing on earth. That body of plastic material a product of heredity and physiological environment, is his very own. Being a living thing, the body comes into the world with great potentialities for growth. If it could be kept within four walls, entirely apart from all external influences, but at the same time adequately nourished, it probably would grow into a mature biological organism and would function as such. What would it be like in other respects, no one can imagine. No such human being has ever existed. In other words, no human being has ever grown up as a solitray and absolute individual.

We may start, therefore, with the fact that there are no total individuals except newborn babes. What we call an individual is in reality a creature shaped both physically and mentally by the surroundings in which it has developed. That does not mean that it is wholly the product of its surroundings. Nature implants in every newborn babe certain capacities for action, especially capacities for the kinds of action which will be most likely to serve its basic needs. The same basic capacities are found in every infant, but not in the same degree. The infant begins life by exerting its inborn capacities as best it can, and these exertions bring it into contact with its surroundings. Including, as they do, persons and things of many kinds, these surroundings constitute a sort of frame work on which the native capacities of the infant exert their powers. Just as a vine growing on a wall is not a shapeless and unfettered tangle, but a growth following the contours of the wall, so the infant growing up in a certain environment is not a totally detached being, but a person shaped to the environment in which he has grown. Like the vine on the wall, he retains his native capacities, but they tend to manifest themselves in patterns fashioned by his environment.

Accordingly, when we speak and think of man as an individual, we should be careful not to be deceived by our imaginations. Abstractly, it is easy to imagine a human being detached from any relationship with other human beings, but such a creature probably never has existed on this earth. The foregoing counsel--against assuming an imagined thing to be a real fact--is very important, because in political science it is frequently necessary and useful to speak and think of man as an individual. But we should realize that wrong conclusions will be reached if we start with an assumption that man as an individual is a being such as can exist only in abstract thought. Man is an individual but he is an individual in society. He does not wish, and probably is not fitted, to be an individual outside of society. Nature has endowed him with qualities which sometimes bring him into conflict with society, but what he desires, in such conflicts, is not to get out of society or do away with it, but to relate himself to it in ways that specially satisfy him but are not equally satisfying to the prevailing opinion and usage of society. He still clings to the wall and conforms to its contours, but also strives to pull portions of the wall to himself and make it conform with his way of being.

FEMALE TOPS

Santo Domingo--(NPI)--One place where the women are the bosses is in the Dominican Republic. Under the new regime of Joaquin Balaguer, the governorship of the 26 provinces will be held by women. Though this does not constitute a first for women, it does mark the first time in history that all the provincial heads are women. The selection of women is said to be Balaguer's Reformist party's recognition of the role the femmes played in catapulting the party to victory in the recent elections.

CARIB INDEPENDENCE

Bridgetown--(NPI)--Barbados, the 168-square-mile sugar-producing Caribbean colony populated by almost 250,000, is the next British possession in the mid Western Hemisphere to be in line for independence. Agreement was made last week between British and Barbadoan officials, that the island would gain its freedom next November 23.

NEW KING

Kampala--(NPI)--With King Freddie (Kabaka Sir Edward Frederick Mutesa, III) safe in exile in Britain, plans are afoot to appoint a new king to rule over the two million Bugandans--but the new appointee would be under the direct control of the central government. Meanwhile, no plans are being made to extradite King Freddie, and his wife, sister and sister-in-law have been freed from detention.

She went on to add that she jerked loose and he hit her in the face with the weapon.

Carver Foundation Gets Weed Study Grant; S. U. to Study Meat Preparation

Washington D.C.--(NPI)--The U. S. Department of Agriculture has awarded the Carver Research foundation, Tuskegee, Ala., a $65,100 grant for the study of weed control, and has asked scientists at Southern university, Baton Rouge, La., to conduct a study on the preparation of ready-to-eat meat products.

Scientists of the Carver Research foundation will study the effects synthetic chemicals have on the tolerance of weeds to freezing and drought. Information developed in the study will be used to improve weed control methods.

At Southern university, Dr. William Blaine Robinson, Department of Chemistry will head the research, aiming at developing ways to prepare barbecue-like meats using pork spare ribs.

UN WITHOUT BUNCHE

United Nations--(NPI)--What will the United Nations be like without Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, is the query making the rounds of the headquarters of the international organization. It has been rumored that if U Thant goes through with his plans to resign as UN Secretary-General, Dr. Bunche will bow out. The veteran UN trouble shooter is two years past the retirement age of 62.

DAM TRIO

Malpaso, Mexico--(NPI)--It's the end of a dream (of deposed Kwame Nkrumah) in Ghana as work on the $90 million Volta Dam project has been stopped and the Soviet technicians ordered out of the country. In Mexico, a dilemma has arisen on the Net-zahaulcoyolt hydro-electric dam. Nearing completion, it will, in addition to providing electricity for the whole southeastern part of the country, create a lake which will destroy an important chain of ruins in the Grijalva river basin. However, no problems have arisen for the 960,000 kilowatt Kainji dam on the Niger river. One of the largest in the world, it will have 12 generating units of 80 megawatts each.

HOUSE BURGLARY

A 19 year-old man was picked up by police in regard to a house burglary which occurred in the 1800 block of East 24th Street. It was learned from authorities that the same young man was responsible for a theft which occurred in the 3200 block of East 15th Street during the month of May.

In his confession, he told police where he sold the merchandise he stole and the exact price he received for the loot.

HOUSE BURGLARY

Virgil Haney, 2810 East 16th Street, told police that someone had broken into his house. It was learned that entry was gained by breaking the latch off the front door. After entry was gained, the glass was broken out of his telev-ison. Aside from destroying his television screen, twenty dollars worth of groceries were stolen from his kitchen cabinet. Virgil has no idea who could have done such a thing.

GUNSHOT

In one of the apartments of the Tampico Apartments last week, a patrolman saw a female who was crying and bleeding under her left eye. After stopping her and asking her as to what the trouble was, she told police that a man came into her room while she was asleep and woke her up. The most terrible thing was when he held a .22 caliber pistol in her face. She said at this point that she grabbed his hand and the gun went off hitting the wall furnace and glanced off.

Mary & Mac Receivis Gift

Mary & Mac Private School's library, 902 East 28th Street, became 1000 volumes richer last week when it received this gift from the Fort Sheridan Historical Museum, Fort Sheridan, Ill.

Mrs. Mary D. Jones, 3304 20th Street, Lubbock, who was attending the National Association of the American Museum Convention which convened in Chicago on June 14th, received word from the curator of the museum, Mrs. Mary Ellen Sonntag, that the museum was in surplus of many books.

Mrs. Jones, a friend of Mary & Mac, told Mrs. Sonntag of a private school in Lubbock that was doing a marvelous job with young people that could use the books.

The 1000 volumes--consisting of literature, textbooks, and the like--will be used immensely by the students of Mary & Mac.

Mrs. L. S. Graves, principal, admitted very happily: "We are grateful and appreciative to Mrs. Jones and the museum for being so thoughtful of sending us this unforgettable gift."

to visit her husband, daughter and other relatives.

Mr. Charles Powell also left for Houston last Thursday evening to visit his sister.

The troop motored to the camp site by the use of Mary & Mac's school bus.

PAINTING ON EXHIBIT

The teachers in the Lubbock public and private school systems attain many types of skills.

Mrs. Vivian Cooke, 1835 Manhattan Drive, a teacher at the Paul L. Dunbar High School, has contributed one of her talents to the Municipal Arts and Garden Center.

Mrs. Cooke, who is the art instructor at Dunbar, enjoys painting oil paintings in her leisure time. One of her latest oil paintings, "Field and Sky", is among the many lovely oil paintings hanging in the gallery at the center. This collection of fine art will appear at the center during the remaining month of July.

Mrs. Cooke has completed many more lovely pieces of art and is hoping to be the author of many more creative oil paintings.

The "Times" hopes that Mrs. Cooke will continue to display her talent in the field of oil painting, who knows, maybe one day, some of her works will be in some of the major galleries in the world.

A boy brought home his report card and explained to his father why his marks were so poor: "Remember, Dad, I'm just an ordinary son of ordinary parents, and
