

Local Woman, Henrietta Clark, Receives IBM Service Award

Ms. Henrietta Leggett Clark, employed by IBM Corporation as a Secretary Specialist in the Data Processing Division, is a recent recipient of the "IBM Means Service Award." Ms. Clark was presented with this honor at a Branch Office Meeting, which included sub office personnel from Abilene, Amarillo, Midland, and San Angelo, by the administration manager, Mr. L.L. Franklin. This award is presented to administrative employees whose job performance is professionally outstanding. Ms. Clark is the Secretary to nine Marketing Representatives, six Systems Engineers, and the Administrative Operations Manager. She was presented with a gold brooch pin with the IBM Means Service insignia, a gold Cross pen and $100 U.S. Savings Bond, and will attend the Means Service Award Conference to be held this summer in Dallas. The conference is attended by all award recipients throughout the United States.

Ms. Clark is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R.Z. Leggett and the mother of three beautiful children, Jon Randolph, Angela Machel, and Shawn Michael Clark. She is a 1963 graduate of Dunbar High School and received a Bachelor of Business Administration (B.B.A.) degree from Texas Tech University in 1969. She is a member of the Mt. Gilead Baptist Church.

Fourth Choice Black, Paul Gibson, Jr., Fills New York Deputy Mayor's Slot

New York — (NBNS) — Paul Gibson, Jr., a 46-year-old American Airlines vice president, has been installed as New York City's first black deputy mayor.

Gibson, who joined the airline in 1969 after three years as legislative counsel to a former City Council president, was the fourth choice of Mayor Abraham Beame for the position.

Beame first planned to name Wilbert A. Tatum, deputy to the powerful Percy Sutton, president of the borough of Manhattan. But some Harlem political leaders attacked the choice on the grounds that Tatum lacked sufficient roots in the community.

Then Beame chose David N.

El Paso Gas Signs Anti Bias Pact

Washington — (NBNS) — The El Paso Natural Gas Co. has signed a conciliation agreement with the federal Equal Employment Opportunity Commission saying it would hire more minorities and women.

The agreement was described as the most progressive "ever to be implemented in the Southwest." In 1971, the agency filed a complaint that there was "reasonable cause to believe the company had discriminated."

El Paso has agreed to hire up to 70 percent blacks, American Indians, women, and Spanish surnamed Americans over the next seven years. It will cover the company's 5,500 employees.

It also provides for back pay and salary increases for 140 minority and women employees who were "below the norm for white males of similar background and training." There will also be training programs and new lines opened for minorities and women promotions.

Richard McConn, administrative vice president, remarked that the company was "very happy" to sign the agreement. EEOC and El Paso have been negotiating for three months now.

The exact hiring commitments will vary generally from the company's offices from Texas to California, but they will insure more representative hiring of minorities and women.

Dinkins, president of the city's Board of Elections. But almost as soon as he was nominated Dinkins withdrew. He had told city investigators that he had not paid federal, state or local income taxes for the past four years.

Next came Joseph L. Galiber, a 49-year-old state senator from the Bronx, who was pronounced "clean" according to Beame by everyone involved in his screening process. However, on the day Galiber was to be sworn in, the city's investigations commissioner said Galiber—a losing candidate for the city comptroller—might have misused some corporate contributions to a fund-raising dinner.

Corporate contributions to political campaigns are illegal in New York. The funds from the fund-raising dinner, according to Galiber, were put in a special account he had to provide services for the residents of his Bronx senatorial district. He said that he later took some money from the account to pay campaign workers in the comptroller race, reimbursing himself in effect for money he had put into the account.

Mayor Beame then turned to Gibson who had previously been considered for the deputy mayor's post and had been through the screening process earlier.

Girl Scout Roving Learning Center Schedule Set

The Caprock Girl Scout Roving Learning Center will be stationed at the following places during the month of January and February. Leaders and assistants are invited to visit at these places to get help with their troop programs.

Guadalupe Neighborhood Center, 102 Avenue P, Thursday, January 17, 3 to 7 p.m.

Agape Methodist Church, 1215 Slide Road, Tuesday, February 5, 9:30 a.m. to 12 noon.

Hodges Community Center, 41st and University, Thursday, February 7, 9:30 a.m. to 12 noon.

Parkway Neighborhood Center, 1701 Parkway Drive, Thursday, February 7, 3 to 7 p.m.

Roy Wilkins Denies Recent NAACP Ouster Reports

New York — (NBNS) — NAACP Executive Director Roy Wilkins has denied reports of his ouster by the organization's board of directors and has said he has no intention of retiring from his post.

The report of the alleged ouster was printed in the New York Daily News following the quarterly meeting of the NAACP board.

At a news conference, the 72-year-old Wilkins said: "I attended the quarterly board meeting all afternoon and there was no action taken which could be called an ouster of anyone. Nor was there any action which could be called 'forcing out' of any staff member."

The 64 member board of directors approved at that meeting a pension plan requiring retirement at the age of 65, but it provided for the exemption of Wilkins and his top colleagues, including 77-year-old Bishop Stephen G. Spottswood, chairman of the board, and 72-year-old Henry Lee Moon, editor of the official NAACP publication, Crisis magazine.

Wilkins said that some "young turks" started to harass him and the aging NAACP hierarchy at the organization's 1962 convention in Atlanta. But, he said, "in 1969, they finally gave up the ghost and presented me with a plaque. Their action was primarily against what they called the older membership on the national board of directors."

Asked whether he might be planning to retire soon, Wilkins

Girl Scout Council to Hold Leadership Training Course

The Caprock Girl Scout Council has planned a basic leadership training course for leaders of the Brownie, Junior, and Cadette age-level troops. It will be held at the First Christian Church, Broadway at Avenue X, Tuesday, January 29, and Thursday, January 31, from 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. each day. Each participant should bring a sack lunch.

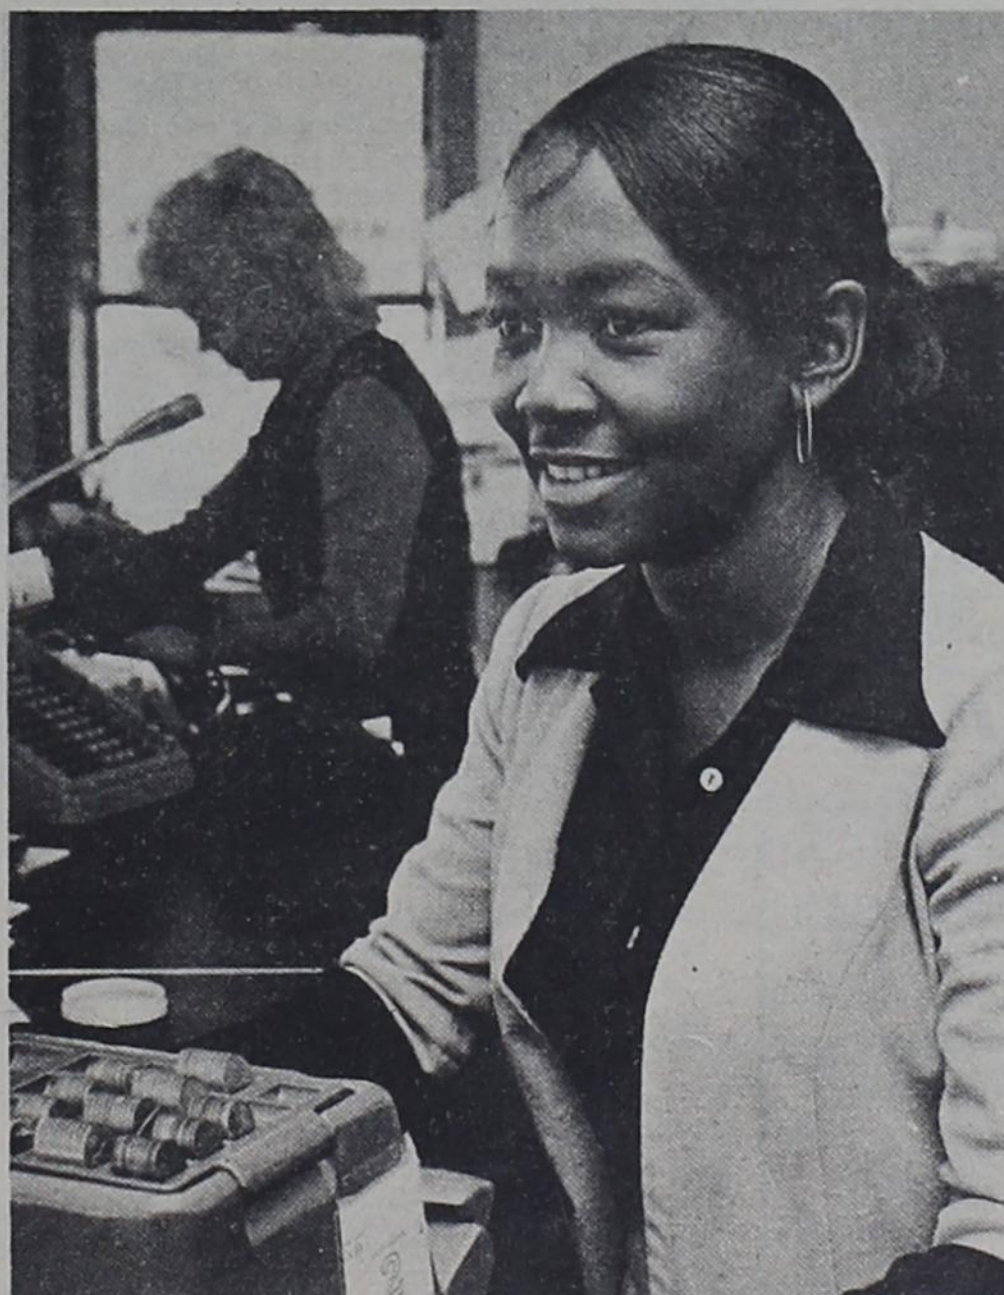

Local OMEGA Brothers Honor Two

Twenty-two brothers and wives of the Epsilon Tau Chapter of Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, Inc. paid a special tribute to two of their brothers, for a job well done during the initiation of four brothers in the local chapter, at a dinner at Furr's Cafeteria, Town and Country, last Monday evening.

Brothers Frank Melton and T.J. Patterson were thanked for their effort by the brothers. Theodore Phea, Jr., basileus of Epsilon Tau, gave brief remarks to the brothers; while the four new brothers, Danny Brown, Lionel Aaron, Charles Johnson and Edward Newsome, presented plaques to the brothers.

"We need to have more dinners as this one, it shows the unity we have as brothers of Omega," said Brother Phea. Melton and Patterson expressed their appreciation for the special effort on the part of brothers of Epsilon Tau.

Poor Pregnant Woman Can Receive Aid, Judge Says

New Haven — (NBNS) — The Connecticut Welfare Department has to provide welfare assistance to a poor woman as soon as she becomes pregnant, a federal judge has ruled.

U.S. District Judge Robert Zampano said the state's ruling that a woman could become eligible for Aid to Families with Dependent Children only after the child's birth was in error.

School Lunch Rate Increased

Washington — (NBNS) — The federal subsidy for school lunches has been increased from the previous level of 8 cents to a new rate of 10 cents.

Following a Congressional mandate, the Agriculture Department announced the hike which will be retroactive to last July 1. The increases in federal assistance are designed to help hold down the sky-rocketing costs of school lunches and breakfasts programs.

U.S. Sues Housing Law

Washington — (NBNS) — The Federal Government has charged that a Wisconsin law, which prohibits tests used by fair housing groups to determine discriminatory practices against blacks by landlords, makes it difficult for home seekers to detect discrimination.

Assistant Attorney General J. Stanley Pottinger, head of the Civil Rights Division, said the suit is challenging a portion of the state's 1965 Fair Housing Law that makes it unlawful to obtain evidence of housing discrimination by "testing" and "checking" procedures.

Civil rights groups use it to compare the experiences of blacks and whites in seeking to rent or buy the same apartment or home. The U.S. said the Wisconsin prohibition has a chilling effect on the exercise of homeseekers rights to equal housing opportunity.

Court Orders School Plan in Springfield

Boston — (NBNS) — Supreme Judicial Court Judge Francis J. Quirico has ordered the Springfield School Committee to submit a plan immediately for implementation of the state's racial imbalance law, which is scheduled to go into effect in September.

Green-Fair Manor Problems Remain Unsolved Still

After spending an hour last Sunday afternoon, a representative of the West Texas Times found that the Green-Fair Manor Apartments remains in a bad situation. Although there has been some surface adjustment at this complex, the situation remains as it was last summer.

During our brief walk, the appearance of filth is quite prevalent; the dumpsters are hazards and could lead to the death of a child running across the street; the dumpsters are left open and this sight is rather unsanitary.

Kids are seen playing in the streets of this complex area while speedy motorist cruise about thirty miles per hour in a close knitted community. It wasn't hard to identify at least eighteen broken windows out of some apartments and the un-rented apartments are a pitiful sight.

We don't mean to just "nit-pick" the efforts of Green-Fair Manor, but we believe that something more positive should have been done since the evaluation made by Federal officials in the Housing Urban Development (HUD) department since early last fall. We can't believe that the Local Housing Authority Board really cares about this terrible situation which is an ugly sight to our community.

Actually, there hasn't been a program set up to fulfill the evaluation set forth by the HUD officials evaluation. In other words, the local board apparently could care less if something is done about this housing problem at Green-Fair Manor.

Recently, the Lubbock Housing Board failed to meet because of lack of a quorum. This meeting was to have been one to elect officers for this year. We hope those elected will do something for the benefit of all public housing programs (Hub Homes and Cherry Point) in our community. Housing is a rather large problem and it will take concerned citizens to do a job which will put us in the right direction.

If Green-Fair Manor remains as it is, this newspaper won't have to worry about news to report in our "Police Beat" section, because complexes like this one will continue to breed crime. Not only will crime become plentiful, but welfare will become the number one priority of its tenants.

Our local Housing Authority Board will have to do some things which will correct this situation. It doesn't make sense for this type of situation to continue. We didn't run any pictures in this edition. We guarantee you that they are x-rated when it comes to living in a housing complex as this.

Of course, this is an off-year election and we would encourage those of you in the political arena to look closely at public housing projects which cost taxpayers money and local Housing Authority Boards seem to have a careless attitude about spending taxpayers' money.

If we had to evaluate the situation at Green-Fair Manor since last summer, we'd say the local Housing Authority Board has once again fought symptoms and not gotten down to the causes of this dreadful problem which confronts Green-Fair Manor. We'd advise something to be done as soon as possible, even if it means moving those out who refuse to cooperate with the guidelines. Or even close down the complex if we're to remain as it is at the present time.

Reese Group Ignored by Some!

A splendid program was sponsored by the Black Cultural Club of Reese Air Force Base last week in memory of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., a leader in the non-violence movement in America. The program was beautiful; and those in attendance will agree.

What has bugged this newspaper is why was there no electronic media people present to cover this dynamic program. Since this is the year when some of our electronic media people (television and radio) will be renewing their licenses with the Federal Communications Commission (FCC), we would have expected some of them to be present.

Never-the-less, what has happened has happened. We would ask all news media—regardless of their classification—to be concerned about programs as the Dr. King Memorial. Not only was it a memorial service for a great American, but it educated many West Texans about the man. We're sure with the address given by Dr. Emory Davis, associate professor of Sociology, many West Texans could have learned a lot if it had been seen on the tube.

We hope the electronic media won't forget important programs as the one held last week at Reese, especially those who are filing for their new licenses with FCC.

As I See It

by T.J. Patterson

The bond election is over and now Lubbock can continue to move in a positive direction. Lubbock is on the move, but what bothers me is that residents of the East Lubbock community are not involved as they should be when it comes to making decisions which will effect all of us.

If the election returns last Tuesday (January 15) is any indication on how east Lubbock feels about the political situation in Lubbock, then we've got a great deal of education to do. I know, and you too, that there are far more votes in east Lubbock than those who went to the polls last week.

It was good to see East Lubbock give their approval to the $3.5 million additional dollars needed to complete our Memorial Civic Center. This is quite refreshing and it tells me that there are those who would like to contribute something to Lubbock's effort. Although, I know that there should have been more people going to the polls.

I hope the "powers that be" realize that East Lubbock supported this effort with only a small vote. I hope the powers that be realize that every vote counts when it comes to making any decision in our community. I also want every citizen of East Lubbock to know that their votes are very important. The East Lubbock vote does more than just cancel out the negative vote in other parts of our community.

Lubbock will get its Memorial Civic Center and this effort will enhance our growth. I hope, with all sincerity, that this gigantic step will also enhance the entire citizenry of our community. We all are citizens of the Hub

City and maybe one day we'll be treated the same. Of course, this is apparently a long way off, but I feel as though this day is coming.

Anyway, let's strengthen our numbers at the polls in all the remaining elections of 1974, and I'll guarantee you that a lot of things will happen.

The Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Memorial Services held at Reese Air Force Base last week was apparently the only one in West Texas. I would like to commend the members of the Black Cultural Club at Reese and Col. W.H. Baxter for a job well done in letting West Texas know about the birthday of Dr. King.

The program was to the point and made a lot of sense. Dr. Emory Davis, associate professor in the Sociology Department at Texas Tech, did a marvelous job in explaining the other side of the life of Dr. King. Those young people from Texas Tech, "The Black Voices", did a splendid job in singing some good old gospel music.

All in all, the program was terrific and this should be a continued effort. I realize that the man is dead, but his (Dr. King's) philosophies are still living in the minds of men. Dr. King was truly the author of non-violence in America.

Thanks to Reese for letting us relive, for a few moments, the life of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.

Housing is a terrific problem in the eastern part of Lubbock. According to a recent study, there are 49,089 housing units in the City of Lubbock. Of that number, there are 6,498 units in East Lubbock. The median value of property of houses in Lubbock is $13,400, but houses found in East Lubbock are valued (average) at $7,600. The greatest value is found in Tract 9 (Cherry Point) where houses are valued at $9,900.

The lowest valued of housing units in East Lubbock is found in Tract 11 (Thunderbird addition). These houses are valued at approximately $6,400. Tract 12 (including the properties of a boundary of Avenue A, East 19th St., Santa Fe Railroad tracks and Yellowhouse Canyon) has the largest population of blacks in Lubbock with a median value of housing units of $7,700.

With 606 vacant lots in this area (Tract 12), it should suggest that the housing industry would be a profitable one for those interested.

JACK ANDERSON'S WEEKLY SPECIAL

ATTENTION WILBUR MILLS:

'NEXT YEAR' IS HERE!

by Jack Anderson

(Copyright, 1974, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Washington—The powerful House Ways and Means chairman, Wilbur Mills, has been promising tax reforms for two years. In 1972 and again in 1973, he promised to make this his first priority—next year.

Two next years have now come and gone without any noticeable improvement in the tax laws. On the contrary, each Christmas during the scramble to adjourn, new tax benefits have been hung on the Christmas tree for the special interests. Each new benefit has cost the rest of the taxpayers a few more million dollars.

But now the taxpayers are up in arms. They have discovered that President Nixon paid no more taxes on a $250,000 annual income than an ordinary worker with the same size family pays on a $7,500 income. Other millionaires are using loopholes and shelters to avoid paying their fair share of the taxes.

The oil companies, for example, are paying only token taxes in the United States on soaring profits. Some of the oil giants get away with a tax rate less than three per cent, compared to 50 per cent for other corporations.

Probably no other group in America collects more benefits from Uncle Sam and passes out more favors to politicians than the unbelievably wealthy oil barons. We were able to trace $5 million from oil sources into President Nixon's re-election campaign. Millions more went to congressional candidates, including members of the House Ways and Means Committee which writes the tax laws.

The little taxpayers don't have the money to make big campaign contributions. But they have the votes. Now they are letting their congressmen know their votes this year will go to those who fight for tax reforms.

Impeachment Deadline: House Judiciary Chairman Peter Rodino has privately assured House Republican leader John Rhodes that the presidential impeachment inquiry should be concluded in April. My own check with committee members and staffers indicates Rodino will have trouble meeting that deadline.

The committee hasn't yet obtained the special subpoena powers necessary to secure important evidence. Meanwhile, committee sleuths have been spending their time studying the work of other investigations. Little or no independent digging has been done.

In some cases, documents turned up by other committees haven't even been requested by the Judiciary staff. Some of Rodino's investigators have been passing the time playing cards.

In order to meet the tentative April time schedule, the staff would have to complete all of the necessary background work during the month of February. Hearings would have to begin no later than March, with the conclusion in April.

Realists on the committee doubt that a verdict can be reached in April. The timing, they say, will depend on how much independent investigating the committee staff can complete. Chairman Rodino, meanwhile, is more committed to a thorough investigation than a tentative deadline.

Professional Amateurs: The public will probably never learn the whole story behind the whistles, rattles, and hums on the Watergate tapes. The President's spokesmen and lawyers have tried to give the impression the people in the White House are amateurs at tape recording.

But there is evidence that the White House communications experts are far too professional to have produced the garbled mess they eventually turned over to the courts.

We recently reported, for example, that the White House is preparing to spend $200,000 for a recording system to tape the crooners and comedians who appear in the East Room. The specifications provided to bidders were prepared by the President's communications men. These specifications are incredibly detailed and highly sophisticated.

Nearly two years ago, Nixon's communications men installed a sophisticated sound system in hangar six at Andrews Air Force Base, where the President's plane is kept. Contractors worked around the clock to get the job finished before Nixon returned from his Moscow trip. They built a completely portable, highly professional loud speaker system—complete with back-up units—and they did it virtually overnight. (Incidentally, it cost the taxpayers $70,000. Yet Nixon didn't use it when he arrived home from Russia.)

Every other sound system the White House has constructed, in short, works perfectly well. Why, then, do the Watergate tapes reveal little more startling than the clatter of the President's coffee cups?

Too Many Frills: There has been an almighty howl from the Pentagon about the need for more millions to meet the rising cost of defense. Ominous warnings have been issued that the Soviets are overtaking us in strategic power.

But a comparative study of the American and Soviet military budgets shows that a far greater share of the U.S. expenditures goes for frills. Most Soviet soldiers are combat troops. Most American soldiers are engaged in providing services to make military life cozy.

The U.S. armed forces have also become top-heavy with brass. The number of flag officers has actually gone up, as the number of fighting men has gone down. At the height of World War II, a mere 20 four and five star generals and admirals commanded a total military force of over 12 million men. Today, the armed services have 39 generals and admirals of this rank commanding only two million men.

The brass hats complain over cutbacks in missiles, planes, ships and tanks. But they scream much louder over cutbacks in their chauffeur driven cars, golf courses, swimming pools, club facilities and other privileges.

The loudest howl has been over the squeeze on military fuel. This is vital, they say, for national security. Yet the generals and admirals continue to be driven and flown around in government cars and planes.

They also don't mention one of the chief causes of the oil shortage. During the height of the Vietnam bombing, our B-52s alone guzzled nearly two-and-a-half million gallons of fuel a day.

Police Beat

House Burglary

Margaret Ervin, 3402 East 14th Street, was pretty warm last week when persons unknown broke into her house and raided her refrigerator. With all the problems we are having in this day and time, we can easily see why she is so upset.

She reported to Lubbock police that someone gained entry to her house by forcing the kitchen door open. Apparently this is where they stopped, because missing from the refrigerator were two packages of hamburger meat, valued at $3.00; two round steaks, value $4.00; two dozen eggs, value $2.00; and three pounds of shortening, value $2.00.

Approximately $15.00 worth of damage was done to the house.

House Burglary

Edward Bogus, 2711 East 2nd Street, Apt. B, reported to Lubbock police that persons unknown broke into his residence one day last week and ripped off some coins from his bedroom.

Entry was apparently gained through a garage door by using an instrument which looked like a screwdriver.

He told police that the unknown persons took from $3.00 to $4.00 worth of money from his billfold; and approximately $15.00 from his wife's purse.

House Burglary

In another house burglary in the same apartment complex, Pink Hawkins, 2711 East 2nd Street, Apt. A; reported that someone gained entry into his apartment

LaDon Motel at 2419 East Broadway, reported to Lubbock police that two men came to the motel last Saturday morning at approximately 4 a.m. and asked if they could use the telephone. He said: "The two men knocked at the door and wanted to use the telephone". I told them that this was a heck of a time of the night to wake a guy up just to use the phone. He told police that he let them use the phone and had problems afterwards.

According to Thompson, after they got through using the phone, they told him this was a "stick up". "I opened the desk drawer and told them that I didn't have any money," he said. They insisted and he went into another room and got four $20 bills from a refrigerator. He told police that the men had a small caliber pistol. "I was slapped around several times," he told police. It was learned that he wasn't hurt from the ordeal, but was quite unhappy over the inconvenience of being woke up and lost $80 in the deal.

Vandalism

Lucille Davis, 2608 Weber Drive, Apt. C, reported to Lubbock police that someone unknown broke out a window in her bedroom one day last week.

A beer bottle was found on the ground in front of the window.

Attempted Burglary

Alfred Caviel, owner of Caviel's Pharmacy at 1719 Avenue A, was summoned by police one night last week in regard to an attempted break-in of the business establishment. After checking the business out, nothing was apparently missing from the pharmacy. There was some rust found on the floor of the business, under the air conditioner. It is believed that the unknown person or persons attempted to lift the air conditioner for entry, but was halted by the alarm going off.

There was a wire found torn loose which caused the alarm to go off.

Sports of The Times

by Joe Kelly

Events in the first two weeks of the Southwest Conference basketball scramble indicate that the unexpected probably will be the rules. Texas batters TCU by over 50 points and A&M drops favored SMU. So? So, TCU trims the Aggies.

That's the type of stuff that makes the conference unpredictable and one of the big reasons why every road victory is important in the extreme.

So far, the home team has won five of seven times. Only Tech and Texas have won away from home and those are big pluses. Every year it's sad that the team that can win on the road is the team to beat for the championship, and every year it's true.

The Raiders get their second big test when they take on Texas Saturday in Austin. But first, there was the Aggie game Tuesday night. And their loss to TCU didn't help Gerald Myers' frame of mind.

"They have a tough team and that loss will make them even tougher," he said. "They always seem to play well out here."

Indeed, it was A&M that delayed Raider victory celebrations in Lubbock last year, following Tech's win at College Station. "All we did was delay them," Aggie Coach Shelby Metcalf predicted accurately.

However, an Aggie victory Tuesday would more than delay a celebration.

Some of the assistant coaches here to scout Tech and Baylor, along with George Davidson, pretty much agreed that a team with a 10-4 record had an excellent chance to win all the marbles.

"Shoot, 8-6 might win it," Davidson declared. But on one thing all agreed; the conference has better balance and the winner undoubtedly will have more than two losses.

"SMU may be hurt right now over the loss of Hervey," Myers snorted, "but you watch, they'll come back strong."

As for the game against Baylor, Gerald was pleased with the defense. "At least in the second half," he agreed. "Yeah, it probably was our best defensive effort of the year."

Any changes at the half, which found Tech leading, 36-33, but with Baylor in command of the backboards by eight, 23-15. Tech wound up with a 35-31 edge.

"No, maybe the ball wasn't bouncing right for them the second half," Gerald said, "or maybe our fellows just did a little better job. If they had held that first half edge, they might have won."

William Johnson did a tremendous job on Charlie McKinney, who wound up with 12 points, only two the last half. And William canned 15 points, split about 50-50 for the two halves.

Along with that defense, the Raiders shot an amazing 63.6% the first half, then a staggering 70.8% the last half. And, for almost 16 minutes, Tech held the Bears to 17 points. In that period, the Raiders put the victory on ice, pulling steadily away.

When I was an aspiring athlete, I failed to see why a pro in one sport couldn't compete as an amateur in others. The fact that he was a pro in one didn't make him outstanding in another.

Then, typically, I changed my mind and for many years I agreed that pro in one sport, pro in all.

Now I'm back to thinking that the NCAA has done the right thing. If the truth were known, the shoddy treatment accorded the great Jim Thorpe may have caused the change, belated as it is. Thorpe, maybe the greatest all-around athlete of history, was stripped of his Olympic medals because he had once played semi-pro baseball.

That great injustice later was rectified, but too late for the great Thorpe to enjoy it.

It finally was snapped, that great UCLA winning streak, but if you think that the Bruins are going to crumble, forget it. They have a great team, albeit they beat themselves, much to the amazement of basketball fans.

UCLA lost its poise. The Bruins panicked in the final 28 seconds, when they could—and should—have won. Their mistakes cost them a game they had won and they deserved to lose.

It wouldn't be surprising to see UCLA start another streak, although it will be tougher this time. Their loss has given hope to every other team in the nation that has anywhere near comparable material.

Streaks are good for sports. So are defeats that snap them. Even though the two teams play again Saturday night, and the results are radically different, Notre Dame's upset will be talked about for weeks to come. The Bruins finally proved that they are, after all, human.

Tommy Duniven, who has yet to play a varsity down, is being boomed as the heir-apparent to Joe Barnes' quarterback position. And many are predicting great things for him. At the same time, some are worrying that he hasn't had true game experience yet.

Have no fear. Tom Wilson called the majority of plays for Barnes. It's likely that he will do the same for Duniven. So, it comes down to a matter of execution and Duniven appears to have all the equipment necessary to take up the slack immediately.

Farmers and hunters may be scanning the skies with anxiety, hoping to see rain clouds on the scene. You can bet that those canny fellows who like to fish aren't in that group.

The January warmth, and lack of rain, has made lake levels lower. And lower lake levels have made fish get closer together. And togetherness breeds better hauls for fishermen.

South of here, in the Lake Coleman-Hubbard Creek area, fishing is better than a year ago this same time. And some good crappie and black bass catches are being reported.

The vegetation in Oak Creek has subsided, leaving about four feet of clear water—and the bass are responding. Colorado City and Stamford also report good catches, thanks to the power plant outlets that pour hot water into already warmer than normal lakes.

I was talking with Jim Carlen one day about recruiting football players. There's a feeling, in some quarters, that unless a high school player gets newspaper raves, he'll go unnoticed.

"No, sir!" Carlen replied. "We don't pay any attention to newspaper clippings. We go on what we see, what the coaches tell us, what alumni tip us off to, things like that. In the final analysis, we take a boy because we have studied films, seen him in action and talked to his coach. Newspapers don't make prospects for us."

Mr. Almo Sedberry is still recuperating, but slowly. Mr. Jim Thompson is doing nicely at home and getting stronger.

Word has been received here from Mrs. A.W. Wilson that her sister, Mrs. Ellatha Burns, is improving slowly at Malvern, Arkansas. Mrs. Wilson is at her bedside.

Mrs. Juanita Simmons is home again after spending a week at Methodist Hospital. She is improving slowly. Mrs. Maude Whitefield is a patient at West Texas Hospital. Mrs. Estelle Pierce is improving also. Rev. A.L. Davis is home from the hospital after being injured in a one car wreck. He was driving his own truck and a wheel ran off.

Mr. "Cap" Blewitt is doing nicely at the home of his sister, Sug Johnson. Mrs. Minnie Jackson is confined at home.

Mrs. Ruby Neal is still at Tyler caring for her father who is in the hospital. Mrs. Bessie Mason was able to attend Sunday School and church services at Bethel A.M.E. Church last Sunday morning.

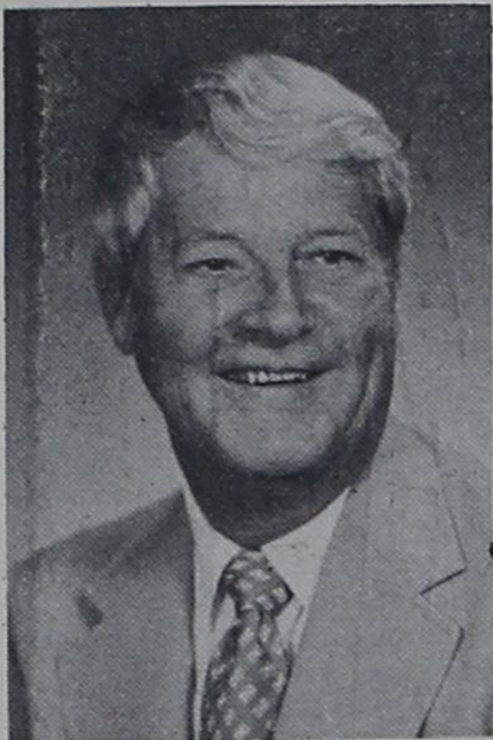

Mrs. Carrie Young, Mr. and Mrs. Donnie Nelson and daughter, Jean; Mr. James Barnes, Mrs. Maxine Wilson, Mrs. Lynn Young and a friend, Mrs. Bessie Cox, returned from Mansfield, La. after attending final rites of L.J. Barnes, their brother and son of Mrs. Young. L.J. was killed in a car wreck near Houston while enroute home.

To Seek Re-Election Texas Boys Ranch of Lubbock to Begin Construction Northeast of City Soon

Max Arrants, 58-year-old Slaton resident, and County Commissioner for Precinct 2 of Lubbock County, has announced his candidacy for re-election to the post for the third term. Arrants was first appointed to her present post to fill the un-expired term of Commissioner George Green, and has since been re-elected to the office twice.

A formal statement will be made by Mr. Arrants at a later date.

No greatness exists unless it's based upon principle and not upon profits.

Texas Boys Ranch of Lubbock, a new boys ranch, is being built Northeast of Lubbock. The Ranch will accommodate 100 boys that are homeless, dependent, neglected or pre-delinquent.

Over the past two years the Lubbock County Juvenile authorities have handled over 1,600 boys under 16 years of age. The Lubbock County Child Welfare Department has informed ranch officials that on any given day their office is working with between 35 and 50 boys. Many of these boys are placed in state supported correctional institutions, because there simply is no other place for them.

Many of these boys do not belong in a correctional institution but are sent there because there is a lack of boys ranch type facilities. The president of the national association of homes for boys has stated that the need for this type of facility will increase 20 percent by 1975. This is the reason Texas Boys Ranch was created.

This week the ranch announced that the land has been donated for the site to be located on Liberty Road, one and a half miles north of the Idalou Highway. The land donated by Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Forrest of Sun City, Arizona, and Lubbock. The ranch is irrigated land and improved grass areas.

Construction will begin on buildings at the site in 1974. Texas Boys Ranch is projected to be a state wide system of five ranches with the Lubbock site serving as headquarters. TBR will be an approved facility, licensed by the State Welfare Department. TBR is a private, non-profit corporation governed solely by a board of directors made up of West Texas people.

The ranch is supported by contributions from people that want to help boys. No gift is too small or too large and all donations are tax deductible. For more information, contact Texas Boys Ranch office, 3610 Avenue Q or write Box 6575, Lubbock, Texas 79413 or telephone 747-8324 or 799-2777, area code 806.

Elmer Tarbox Seeks Re-Election

Elmer Tarbox, State Representative, District 75, Place 1, released the following statement. "It is with respect to the people of Lubbock County that I ask you to re-elect me to another term in the Texas Legislature. My family and I appreciate all the interest, cooperation and encouragement shown us during the past eight (8) years.

I am presently serving on the Agriculture and Livestock, Liquor Regulation, and Business and Industry standing committees. If re-elected I will continue to work to serve my District in every way. I have co-signed a statement asking the Legislature to authorize garnishment of up to 25 percent of wages for court ordered child support. I will fight to keep the right-to-work laws, to aid education to the fullest and always keep in mind the desires of the people of Texas Tech, Lubbock, Lubbock County, West Texas and Texas as a whole. My number one (1) interest and thoughts shall be directed toward making Texas Tech Medical School the leader of the United States concerning the field of Neurology, with special emphasis directed toward Multiple Sclerosis, Parkinson, Cerebral Palsy and other nerve related disorders.

I am presently serving as a delegate to the Constitutional Convention in Austin and am a member of the committee on local government, which leaves very little time for campaigning.

Please accept this announcement as my request for your continued support in behalf of my candidacy.

Home is what the family makes it.

Mount Olive Baptist Church

Snyder—The members of Mt. Olive held a Dedication Service last Sunday, January 20 at 3 p.m. to dedicate the new church pews.

The Rev. C. Crayton, pastor of Friendly Will Baptist Church, was the speaker. The Rev. F. Nelson is pastor at Mt. Olive.

We appreciate all our members and friends who attended the service.

Bethel A.M.E. Church

Services were well attended last Sunday morning with Rev. Jack Robinson, assistant pastor, delivering a splendid message, "Feed My Lamb; Feed My Sheep." Youth Choir #1 rendering music for the morning. Youth Choir #2 also sang a selection, "I Have A Father Who Cares."

The Adult Sunday School Class presented a special food basket and money to a needed family in our community last Sunday afternoon.

Birthdays for the week include Brother M.C. Coleman, Jo Ann Louis and Mrs. N.E. McGowan.

Let us continue to pray for our sick and shut-in members. Those on the sick list include Mrs. Estelle McClintock, who is a patient at West Texas Hospital; and Mrs. Bennie Whitfield.

Christ Temple Church of God In Christ

Three nights this week, Tuesday, Wednesday and tonight (Thursday), were set aside for fellowship in our new Fellowship Hall. We are asking that all pastors and congregations come out and help us fellowship tonight, January 24.

Twentieth & Birch Street Church of Christ

The young ladies of the church will host a salad supper for the entire congregation Friday evening, January 25, at 7:30 p.m. There will be plenty of good singing, food and games. This is an effort to promote more love and unity between us as sisters and brothers in Christ. Please come, you'll enjoy it.

Sisters M.L. Harris and Arlene Harris have taken it as more or less a project to get the necessary information for a new and well needed church directory. Let's all cooperate with these sisters.

Don't forget that a young lady will be in the nursery for the purpose of taking care of your children, (birth to age 3). This is a splendid effort.

Memo From Mac

By Representative R. B. "Mac" McAlister

Does Freedom of the Press Mean the Right to be Irresponsible?

As we returned home after the first week of the Constitutional Convention most people were surprised to hear me say, "Everything ran very smoothly, we are right on schedule, and I believe we have an excellent opportunity to come up with an acceptable constitution, possibly in 90 days." The people mused, "uh," from what we read all you did was to argue about smoking, whether to call the head man chairman or president, and how much pay you were going to get." All of which points up the real problem of getting the story of the convention to the entire state. There are some politicians who are looking for every chance to get a headline, and some news reporters who overlook the basic thrust of the convention to pickup up some side story that has a bit of flair to it. What is the solution? 181 delegates who will take the time and effort to supply local media with accurate information on the convention and their activities in it. Just as important, we need capable and responsible reporters among the Capitol press who will dig down deep enough for the real meat of the convention and report it colorfully enough that it will be read. There were at least 150 positive stories last week that were not touched by any reporter.

Good News To Roy Pope: For years, Roy Pope and other members of the Curb eliminators have been striving to get legislation that would help the handicapped have accessibility to public and private buildings. Now comes, Senator Lloyd Dogget of Austin with a special proposal for the Constitutional Convention which will guarantee: No person shall be denied any right benefit, or opportunity on account of a physical, or mental handicap; this guarantee shall include housing, access to public services and facilities, education, employment and government action."

How Old The Governor? The present recommendation of the Revision Commission is that the Governor of Texas must be at least 30 years of age. Illinois is one state, where one as young as 25 could claim the head job, if elected. One letter I have suggests that no man or woman over 50 should be Governor because of the physical strain. My Horseback opinion is that age is a matter of mind. If one enjoys a job, 18 hours a day can be fun, whether it be at the age of 22 or 62.

I have never forgotten what my silver haired bible teacher told me at Daniel Baker College in 1930. "Everyone loves surprises and wonderful promises. Start each day with the exciting feeling that something great may happen, and it will if I keep a sensitivity to see and receive." Incidentally, if the New Constitution follows the CRC recommendation, 21 year olds can run for the House seats. Some may want to lower it to 18 to match the new 18 year old law.

The Speakers Race: As some eight of us vie for the position of leadership in the House in 1975, the alarming number of Representatives who profess they are not returning next session point up that the votes we need to win are among the 50 new people who will be here. Where reform was the key note in 1973, now and from now on, responsibility is going to be the 13 letters on which a speaker will rise or fall.

Parent Teacher or Vice Versa: Paul Bower who teaches in the Glenside School doesn't worry about parents of his students coming to see him. He makes it a point to visit in the home of every student in his class, 24 in all, and he does it as many times as the year will allow. What is his major problem? Keeping his weight down. Families are so grateful for his interest, they feed him like oldtimers use to dine the circuit parson. Today, educators and parents alike are recognizing where the student knows the parent and teacher are mutually interested in his behalf, the students interest in school is heightened, and so are his grades.

One legislator wants to introduce a bill abolishing the exclamation point. He maintains people are not surprised at anything anymore.

be held tonight at 8 p.m. New members are invited to join.

General Mission will be held Monday evening, January 28, at 7 p.m. All women are asked to attend.

Federation of Choirs will meet Sunday afternoon, January 27, at 2:30 p.m. at St. John Baptist Church.

The West Texas District Congress Board will be held with the South Union Baptist Church of McCamey, Texas on January 30 and 31.

Let us keep in mind about the "Miss New Hope Pageant" which will be sponsored by the Music Department of our church on Sunday, March 17. All members are asked to give your support.

Whisper a prayer for the sick and shut-in and send cards of cheer. Mrs. Vivian Williams is a patient at St. Mary's Hospital; Mrs. Margaret Campbell, a gospel singer for the West Texas Association for a long time is a patient at Parkway Manor. Others on the sick list include Mr. Joe Snell, Mrs. Alberta McBriar, a sister of Mrs. Joan Y. Erwin; and Rev. R.S. Stanley.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

To The Editor:

Thanks to the generosity of the people of Lubbock, Meals On Wheels has received the local financial support to continue providing hot meals for citizens of limited physical activity. The year end campaign for funds proved that people in Lubbock care about their fellow citizens enough to match needed Federal Funds. This guarantees a sustained program of meals, delivered every week day by volunteers to scores of elderly and people of limited activity.

Meals On Wheels takes this opportunity to thank the media, dozens of volunteers and the benefactors of the Meals On Wheels program. Bless you! You showed you cared and saved a most worthy cause.

Telephone Dental Campaign Opens Here

Beginning the week of January 21st for five consecutive weeks the South Plains District Dental Society will be running a Community Dental Health Education Campaign. It will be called "Dr. Dial". People in the Lubbock area can call 792-6176 and hear a recorded message concerning dental diseases.

The following information may be heard on your telephone by dialing "Dr. Dial", at 792-6176.

January 21-27—"Susceptibility to Periodontal Disease is High".

January 28-Feb. 3—"A Smile is a Woman's Chief Beauty Asset".

February 4-10—"Lack of Oral Hygiene is Like Environmental Pollution".

February 11-17—"Need For Regular Dental Care is Like the Need For Seasonal Check-Ups For Automobiles".

Feb. 18-24—"Preventive Maintenance is as Important to Oral Health as Material Possessions."

This community campaign will provide the telephone listener with information on the prevention and control of disease, and prompt the listener to self evaluate oral hygiene practices. Free informative pamphlets will be available at all participating pharmacies.

Mount Vernon United Methodist Church

Our Sunday School needs a young married couples class. We are asking that names be secured for each class and create class pride and love. Our goal is 100 strong in Sunday School.

Our sick and shut in this week include Mrs. Susie Moore, Rev. T.B. Reece, Rev. S.R. Stanley and the father of Mrs. Ada Mitchell. *****

Greater Saint Luke Baptist Church

Members of the Eunice Circle will meet in the home of Sister Laura Jamison tonight at seven.

Members of the Queen of Sheba and Sarah Circles met in the homes of Sisters Carrie Mims and Donna Bunton this week.

The St. Luke Ushers will sponsor the next effort in our bus project. We are asking for your support.

Men's chorus meets at the church each Wednesday evening at eight. Prayer meeting is held each Wednesday evening at seven. Man's extremity is God's opportunity. When the outlook is dark, try the uplook.

Let us pray for and visit our sick and shut in. Those on the sick list are Sister Rosa Hill, Sister Florence Guyton and Sister Laura Jamison. Rev. Samuel Swisher is still shut in. *****

Friendship Baptist Church

Brownfield—Mrs. Ethel Williams was at her post of duty Sunday as school superintendent. The lesson was turned over to the teachers for deep discussion. Mrs. Ewel Gray brought a review of the lesson.

Our pastor, Rev. S.N. North, brought the morning message. His subject was "Make Up Your Mind", text I Kings 18:8, "Elijah went unto the people and said 'Why ye halt between 2 opinions?'"

BTU was deeply expressed by our pastor. The evening service was "The 2 lights shine, the natural and the spiritual". Text Matt. 5:14, "Ye are the light of the world. A city that sets on a hill and cannot be hidden".

May we pray for the sick and shut in both far and near.

Drug Seminar Set Here Jan. 27 - 29th

A seminar on Drugs in American Society will be held at the Westminster Presbyterian Church on January 27-29 from 7 to 9 p.m. each night. Sponsored by the Lubbock Area Presbyterian Council, the seminar will begin Sunday, January 27, with Dr. Orene W. Petticord of the Texas Tech Medical School speaking on Drugs-their usage and effects.

On Monday, January 28, Drugs-Law and Authority will be discussed by Attorney Barbara S. Benson, Jim Lewis, Assistant Criminal District Attorney, Rebecca Mahan, Adult Probation Officer, and the Rev. Kenneth Clark, Rector of St. Christopher's Episcopal Church.

Tuesday evening will be spent discussing Drugs-Values in Conflict. A number of community leaders will lead small group discussions of actual case studies of various drugs.

The public is invited to attend.
