OEO AND THE RIOTS -- A SUMMARY

IN 32 CITIES IN WHICH there were no riots or civil disorders this summer, most of the mayors and police officials felt that the summer programs of the Office of Economic Opportunity had helped to prevent violence in their communities, a nationwide survey conducted by OEO has revealed. The information was contained in a report, "OEO AND THE RIOTS--A SUMMARY", made public last week. OEO inspectors talked to mayors, police chiefs, juvenile judges, heads of local Chambers of Commerce, and other leading citizens in the cities, which were selected to represent a broad distribution; geographical, political and social.

Not one police chief or mayor said OEO heightened tensions. In 15 cities, local Community Action Agencies calmed down bad situations in special instances. In 13 cities, special groups were formed to patrol troubled areas and serve as communication posts between the police and the slum areas. In 14 cities, municipal police departments and CAAs had joint programs to prevent riots. In eight cities, the juvenile arrest rate went down this summer and there is good evidence this was caused by more summer jobs.

The 32 cities that DID have riots were also surveyed and it was learned that of the more than 30,000 CAA employees in these cities --only 16 have been arrested. There was almost $300,000,000 worth of property damage done in the riot cities, but despite the fact that the poverty program has 244 buildings in the heart of the riot areas, none were burned or destroyed. Total damage to Community Action buildings was $1,840 for seven sets of broken windows.

Specific examples in the report of how CAAs helped in times of tension included Elizabeth, N.J., under the leadership of the mayor and chief of police set up a group called the "Peace Keepers", composed of anti-poverty workers and community leaders. The Elizabeth City Council in a resolution praising the group, said: "(They) contributed a great and necessary service to the health, welfare and safety of the entire population of the city."

DISTURBANCE

Mrs. Anna Johnson, 1602 Avenue C, told police that a 46-year old man came into her apartment without her permission one night last week.

According to Mrs. Johnson, he broke out a window and started hollering at her.

It was learned that he gained entry by the window and then tried to force the door to the apartment while inside.

Mrs. Johnson fired a shot at the man through the door with a .22 pistol.

She admitted that she knew the man and would file charges.

INDECENT EXPOSURE

A 32-year-old man was arrested last week for being drunk and disorderly dressed.

*****

THEFT OF MONEY

Carney Childers, 1008 East 28th Street, Apt. E, told police a lady came to her apartment for a short visit. Childers didn't mind the visit for it was rather friendly, but what Childers did mind was the money stolen.

She told police that the lady sat on a chair on the rear porch-- upon which a purse containing $10.

The lady left and so did the $10. At this point, Childers is unable to locate her visiting friend and has been looking for her.

According to Childers, "When I find her I will file charges."

WHAT'S THIS..... ACCIDENTAL SHOT

Robert Bailey, 1001 East 28th Street, Apt. 28, told police that he had come from a football game, and when he got home he unloaded the weapon, .22 caliber pistol, and it went off.

Bailey was shot in the left hand and was taken to Methodist Hospital where he was dismissed.

It goes to show you that unloading weapons can be dangerous.

My advice to anyone is to be extra careful about a weapon.

MAN HIT IN HEAD WITH TWO BY FOUR

You know everything happens these days. You don't have to take my word for it why not ask Arthur Jackson, 1809 Avenue B, who was sitting on porch minding his own business when out-of-the blue sky, someone hit him in the head with a two by four.

If you don't know what a two by four is, then just ask Jackson, I am sure he can tell you.

Bronze News Editor Shot

Fort Worth--(NPI)--Originally given less than a 50-50 chance of surviving after six .38 slugs had been pumped into his body by an irate grandfather, Freddie Wilson, publisher-editor, Bronze Shopping News, is now recuperating at his home. His near recovery has been so miraculous that he even was permitted to spend a few hours in his office. He lost 60 pounds in the ordeal.

Meanwhile, his assailant, a 61 year-old grandfather of a former BSN employee, was released on a $5,000 bond. The man is said to have escaped conviction on a murder charge some years ago, and currently has two other assault charges pending against him.

Recounting the incident, Wilson said he was seated at his desk in his office late one evening when he heard someone enter the front office. Yelling to the unseen person, "I'm back here," he said, "When I looked up I saw the barrel of a .38 revolver."

His assailant told him, "You think you're smart. I'm gonna lay you with this," and started firing as fast as he could.

Six shots entered the publishers' upper body, two in the arms ar four in the chest. The man turned and fled the office.

Bleeding profusely, Wilson managed to telephone his wife and have her call an ambulance. At the hospital, he said he was given over 75 pints of blood, in a successful effort to save his life. His condition was such that doctors would not attempt to remove the bullets for a few days.

Sis. Mary Ella Newson is ill in Methodist Hospital.

Sis. Nellie Fuller reports, through mail, that her brother is some better. She is asking for your continued prayers. Her address: 1909 Leona Street; Las Vegas, Nevada 89106.

The first Sunday through the second Sunday will be celebrated as the anniversary of Rev. and Mrs. A. L. Davis.

Artist Edaw is now in the process of doing a series of regulation door-size panel paintings numbering 120, for the museum. These panels will depict the history of Africans and Afro-Americans--telling the past history, present culture and struggles, with a projection into the future.

In 1964, he exhibited his works of art in Baton Rouge, and Leesburg, Fla. He came to Chicago in 1965, to work in the public school system, teaching art at McKinley Upper Grade Center.
