

'Around the Hub City'

In looking at the returns in last week's election in Voting Box #20 it was rather heart-breaking to see that less than 300 people participated in the city election.

How do you explain this type of citizen participation? Well, I am sure you'll agree that this type of action on the part of the people who call themselves citizens is hard to believe.

"Around The Hub City" is not trying to tell you how to vote, but we should be concerned about any election which pertains to our city government—whether we are against the proposals or not.

There should have been many more votes than the total accumulated at this box.

Let's wake up people, and do something about this type of non-participation... Get Out and Vote!

I had the opportunity of talking with a young man who graduated from Mary & Mac School last May. In talking with this young man, he was quite concerned about his new endeavor. You see, Mr. James Scruggs, is a student at the Machine Accountant Training Association at Oklahoma City, Oklahoma.

It is always good to talk to someone who has graduated from one of our city's schools and is concerned about their future.

Among the ex-students of Dunbar High School who attended the Homecoming game last Saturday were Joan Newton, Georgia Ann O'Neal, Robertha Ann Johnson, Madeline Travenia, Clarissa Jay, Jo Harolyn Long and others from Dallas.

Mr. Oscar M. Iles is a patient at the Veteran's Hospital at Big Springs, Texas.

Mrs. Joseph Jones, also Mrs. Betty Iles, visited with him last Sunday afternoon and reports him feeling much better.

Mrs. C. Richardson has suffered another slight stroke. She is a patient at the University Home for the Aged.

Those fighting Dunbar Panthers really smacked those eleven from Lakeview of San Angelo, Texas last Saturday night in their annual Homecoming game. Keep up the work fellows, we are all behind you.

Mrs. Ira Belle Williams left Monday for Odessa, Texas where she will visit some friends.

It appears as though the population of newcomers in the "Hub City" is dropping off this past week. Only 21 newcomer families moved into our City Limits last week.

Have you had an opportunity of visiting the new Post Office Building? Boy, it's a real treat. Now we can mail our letters the modern way. How about that?

The Manhattan Heights and West Texas Times, your weekly Negro newspaper which is dedicated to informing you of the latest happenings on the South Plains, will expand into larger depth in the very near future.

CLEO, a rather new organization in our community, will meet tonight at Furr's Cafeteria with members of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce.

It is the hope of this organization that much can come from this meeting in as much as the entire community can benefit from it.

Religious Conventioneers Return

"We're a group of tired, but happy people," said Horace Dove, presiding minister of the North Unit of Jehovah's Witnesses. Mr. Dove stated that he and others of his group had just returned from a three day seminar in San Antonio, Texas.

Mr. Willie Anderson, district supervisor, opened the Friday session with the talk "Walking Orderly By Spirit," the theme of the convention.

One of the highpoints of the seminar came Saturday afternoon when Mr. Anderson delivered the Baptism and Dedication discourse after which 15 candidates received their ordination and baptism, in symbol of their dedication to God's service.

Another highlight took place Sunday when Mr. Anderson spoke on the topic "Will God Intervene in Man's Affairs?"

Mr. Anderson said to the audience, "...Conditions we are now living in can be likened to the eye of a hurricane... the calm... and that the back of the world." However Mr. Anderson stated, "Survival will be possible for those who properly read the signs of the times, and draw close to their Creator in complete obedience."

Since all of Jehovah's Witnesses are ministers, Mr. Anderson concluded the seminar with the discourse, "Instructing with Mildness," with 759 in attendance.

Anti-Measles Drive Fails In Lubbock

Disappointment was expressed Monday in the turnout of only 800 children for free vaccination against red measles Sunday.

Five clinics in Lubbock and one in Slaton were established for the afternoon inoculation campaign for the Lubbock City County Health Department, Lubbock, Crosby-Garza Medical Society and Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Fifteen thousand doses of vaccine were provided for the vaccination campaign by the federal government.

Dr. David M. Cowgill, Lubbock's director of city-county health, said of the campaign, "It's about as bad a failure as we've ever had."

He said the drive had been aimed particularly at children of lower socio-economic families, but it probably should have been stressed that anyone could not afford the vaccination from their family doctors was eligible. Location of the clinics also might have been a factor in the poor turnout, Dr. Cowgill added.

Children of pre-school age, 12 months to six years, who have not had red measles or previous measles inoculation were eligible.

Dr. Cowgill said anyone who can not afford the shots is urged to visit one of the seven free clinics in the city and county. Those who can afford the vaccination are advised to see their family doctors, the health director said.

If an outbreak of cases is in evidence after January 1, another inoculation campaign possibly will be scheduled, Dr. Cowgill said. Until then, efforts to stamp out measles in Lubbock—the goal of Sunday's drive—will be concentrated in the seven clinics.

Heights and West Texas Times, is looking for young boys who would be interesting in selling the 'Times' each week.

For further information, you may call Mr. Alexander at POS-9923.

Approximately thirty truck loads of trash were carried to the city dump grounds Saturday during the cleaning period.

Yards and alleys are the primary targets of the clean up, with East 16th and 19th Streets and Cherry and Quirt Avenues being the designated areas last Saturday.

Boys who participated in the summer's work-study project sponsored by the Community Action Board in Lubbock County assisted in the initial campaign and will continue each Saturday.

VANDALISM

Last week, a resident of the Flamingo Apartments, Wilmer Robinson of Apartment #15, reported to the Lubbock Police Department that someone unknown shot a hole in the right front fender of his purple automobile.

According to Robinson, the vehicle was parked on the west side of his apartment building on Avenue C.

There was no damage estimate given to the fender.

BREAK IN

It was learned from Naomi Matton, 1713 East 15th Street, that someone forced their way into her place of business, Nite-Lite Cafe, 1816 Avenue E, one night last week.

According to the police, entry was gained by breaking open the front door of the establishment. Aside from this, the cash register and juke box were forced open.

The value of the door which was broken open was believed to be about $15.00.

She had no idea who could have broken into the place.

Would you believe that an enthusiastic Panther fan could lose their billfold? Well, it did happen last Saturday night at the Panther Homecoming when M.C. Harkey of 1701 Teak Avenue reported that he had lost his wallet at the game.

According to Harkey, his billfold contained a social security card, driver's license and $25.00 in cash.

Good the Panthers won, but too bad about Harkey's wallet. At least he can feel it was lost in the huge crowd that had come to watch the Panthers clinch a play-off in their district play.

All I can advise you to do, Harkey, is to be more careful about your valuables.

ATTEMPTED MURDER

Jessie Thurman, 232 Cherry Avenue, was found by police lying outside a local cafe with what appeared to be a small bullet wound in the right leg.

Thurman was rushed to Methodist Hospital by a local ambulance and police learned that Thurman had been shot in the leg by a .22 caliber pistol.

Thurman made it known that he would not file charges against the person who was responsible for the wounded leg.

Lutheran Church

Hello!
We're glad to meet you. Thank you for giving us the opportunity to introduce ourselves.

Our Savior Lutheran Church is the newest of Lubbock's congregations affiliated with The Lutheran Church Missouri Synod. Our first services were held in late 1960. The congregation was organized in mid 1961.

Because the Lutheran Church is comparatively unknown here, there is some confusion as to what it stands for. On the one hand, Roman Catholics are inclined to think of it as a new religion organized by Martin Luther. On the other hand, many Protestants are inclined to think of the Lutheran Church as 'too Catholic.'

The Lutheran Church stands committed, historically and confessionally, to the Bible as the clear and sufficient source of all religious knowledge, and to proclaiming all of the Bible. Second only in importance to the truth that man is saved by the grace of God through faith in the redemptive power of the "holy, precious blood and the innocent suffering and death of Christ" is this insistence on the authority of the Bible in all matters of doctrine and faith. The statement, "We believe teach, and confess that the only rule and standard according to which at once all dogmas and teachers should be esteemed and judged are nothing else than the prophetic and apostolic Scriptures of the Old and of the New Testament..." is still and essential description of our esteem for the Word of God.

The Lutheran Church is a broad church, too. It is as broad as Christ allows. Some churches put many restrictions on their members which even the Bible does not demand. There are foods which members of some churches may not eat on certain days. In some churches the clergy are forbidden to marry.

Helen Moss, 1907 East 15th St., reported that two men entered her home and attacked her with a pocket knife. This attack resulted in a cut on her right upper leg, approximately four inches in length.

Aside from wrestling with helpless lady, the aged pair of men, approximately 49 years of age, took the lady's weapon, a .38 caliber pistol.

It was learned that the front door glass had been broken and the men had forced themselves into the lady's residence.
