'Around the Hub City'

Another interesting meeting was conducted Monday evening, January 9th, in the Mae Simmons Party House, at 7:30 p.m. This meeting, which was sponsored by the Community Action Board, showed a lot of spark in as much as the people of East Lubbock with the assistance of others came out and explained their opinions about the conception of a Neighborhood Center.

It was reported that six agencies were represented at this particular meeting.

Another meeting will be conducted this Monday at the same site in order that the necessary guidelines will be presented by the committee, Harry Stokley, R. A. Wheatley, and Joe Kelly, and voted upon by the advisory group which consists of the people who have attended the previous meetings.

Kelly made mention that the building for which the group was meeting in at this time, Mae Simmons Party House, would be taken to the Board of Directors of the Park and Recreation for approval as a location for the center.

The center would staff three and a possible secretary plus representatives from the various agencies in the city.

"AROUND THE HUB CITY" would like to call your attention that a meeting is definitely needed for the promotion of registration of voters this year.

All clubs and organizations are urged to talk it over in their organizations to tell their members how necessary it is to organize a drive to encourage citizens to register by January 31st.

Former Dunbar Beauty Exchanges Vows Last Week in Norristown, Pennsylvania

Miss Joyce Jean Williams and Mr. William Calloway pledged vows last Saturday, January 7, 1967, at Norristown, Pa.

Miss Williams is the proud daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Mitchell, 2024 Holland Street, Greatbend, Kansas.

She is also a former graduate of the Dunbar High School here in Lubbock, and was formerly employed at the J.C. Penny store.

ALL PARENTS PLEASE NOTICE!

Do you have a doll which looks like of these? If so please contact the Lubbock Fire Department at once in order that your children, home, and community can be safe from these hazardous dolls.

The Lubbock Fire Department is in the process of removing danger dolls from any home or business that has or is selling these dolls. According to Fire Chief Hershel Sharp last week, the Fire Department was receiving "excellent cooperation" from merchants who have been unwittingly selling highly flammable, imported dolls.

The Fire Chief went on to add, "We couldn't ask for better cooperation, the merchants who find

There are only seventeen more days before the deadline for this year's registration of voters.

Voter registration, which opened on October 1 of last year, is preceeding at a satisfactory pace, according to Ralph Thompson, deputy in the county tax assessor-collector's office.

Due to the fact that this is the first year that no Poll Taxes will be sold and the only requirement necessary to vote is to register, it is the hope of The Manhattan Heights and West Texas Times that an organized drive can be set up and put into action before press time next week that will provide transportation facilities to everyone of our readers to get to the tax assessor-collectors office to register.

Last day for securing the registration certificates will be January 31st. The new registration certificates will be good for any elections held between February 1, 1967 and January 31st, 1968.

Put On FBI Most Wanted List

Rockville, Md. --(NPI)-- Clarence Wilbert McFarland, who sawed his way out of the Montgomery county detention center last September, has been put on the Federal Bureau of Investigation's list of 10 most wanted men.

McFarland, a 33-year-old convicted Bank robber, escapee from a detention center which county officials called "as nearly escape proof as design could make it."

He used a hacksaw blade to cut through a three-quarter inch steel bar, punched a hole in a steel mesh screen, and scaled a 12-foot-high concrete block wall.

The convicted man was serving a nine-year sentence on a charge of participating in a $5,900 holdup of the Petworth Branch of the Industrial Bank of Washington in 1963.

He was described as "quick tempered" and "very dangerous." Five feet 6-1/2 inches tall, the escapee weighs 165 to 170 pounds and has brown eyes and scars on his forehead, right temple, the corner of his right eye and inner right forearm.

the dolls on their shelves are removing them voluntarily.

"We've been fortunate that no fires have been started or no one has been injured because of them (dolls). The only thing that worries us now is the possibility of some youngster trying them out, just to see if they really do burn," the chief stated.

The face and hair of the dolls are made of nitro-cellulose and is subject to spontaneous burning. The remaining part of the doll is composed of saw dust.

The dolls, which have been found in many parts of the nation, can burst into flames when exposed to heat, either from a flame or even intense sunshine.

About 120 dolls with nitro-cellulose heads were inadvertently distributed in GOODFELLOW PACKAGES here during the Christmas holidays. Anyone receiving them can exchange the dolls for another gift when they bring in the inflammable one. Exchanges are made at the Central Fire Station, 6th and Avenue J, and should be turned in immediately.

If any one of you in EAST LUBBOCK, or any other parts of the city, has or knows anyone with one of these INFLAMMABLE DOLLS, please contact the Lubbock Fire Department at once. The doll you report may save your life or the one of a dear friend.

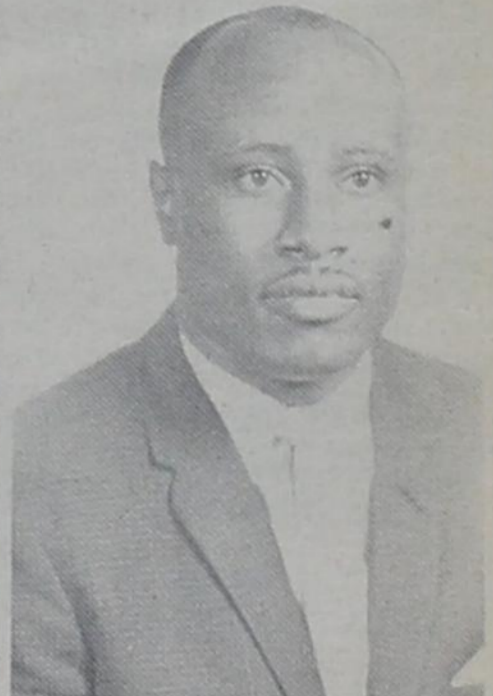

Until January 31, registration certificates issued for voting in 1966 are still good. Thus, voters taking part in the special "wet-dry" election in Justice Precinct 2 on January 14 and in the Lubbock city charter amendment on January 24 will use their 1966 voter registration certificates, poll tax receipts or exemption certificates.

Although no accurate count of registrations for the new voting year are available, Thompson estimated that registrations had passed the 5,000 mark by the end of December.

Registrations in Lubbock County totalled 35,163 for the year of 1965, while for 1965, which, like 1967, was an off-year for elections, registrations totalled only 22,551.

Persons may register to vote either at the county tax office on the first floor of the new courthouse in Lubbock or at the office of the deputy tax assessor-collector in Slaton, Texas.

Spiritual Hour Sponsored Here

Rev. J.E. Judy, pastor of the Jerusalem Temple Church of God in Christ, 1506 East 15th Street, would like to announce that his church will sponsor a Sunday morning program, "Spiritual Hour", beginning on Sunday, January 15th, at 9:00 a.m. on radio station KLLL.

The program will be conducted each Sunday in the church auditorium.

On Sunday, January 22, at 8 p.m. the church will sponsor the Spiritual Kings of Las Crus, New Mexico in an evening of spiritual singing.

Everyone is cordially invited to come out and witness this sensational program.

SPELL IT "CIVIL RESPONSIBILITY"

People sometimes overlook small things while listening to the large "problems" that are often presented as a smoke screen to cover up.

Take for an example the case of Rep. Adam Clayton Powell and his problems this week with finding a place to "work" after his congressional colleagues refused to allow him to take his seat. Mr. Powell claims that this was all brought about because he was a Negro, because the Democratic party had allowed the Negroes of the United States to be dropped, and because the members of Congress that voted against him were just as bad as himself but were more hypocritical than himself.

To set the record straight, let's first and foremost rise to congratulate Congress on its performance. After all, they do represent the people of this country, and by doing so have showed by their vote that all of the voters in the United States were concerned by Mr. Powell's actions. To be quite sure, the people of Harlem were disappointed with the actions taken against their representative, but there is one point that must be remembered; Mr. Powell and his behavior may have been acceptable by Harlem's standards, but most assuredly were not to other people, white and black, across the entire United States.

If there was some degree of "civil rights", "black power" or discrimination involved, which is doubtful, it would still bring to Mr. Powell's attention very quickly the point that most people in this country have tried to point out for several years now. Civil Rights is "C-R" which should begin in its first step with another "C-R"; Civil Responsibility. Perhaps if Mr. Powell had discovered this first, he would have had less trouble returning to his old desk in Washington this week.

DADS BE CAREFUL

Fathers, one of the most tragic stories of the Bible is related in five chapters beginning with Second Samuel chapter fourteen, you Fathers certainly ought to read it. It is the story of Absalom, one of the sons of David. Here we read the heart cry of David when he says:

"O my son Absalom, my son, my son Absalom! would God I had died for thee, O Absalom, my son, my son!" These words are found in Second Samuel chapter 18 verse 33. These words are among one of the bitterest cries ever to fall from the lips of a human heart. They are full of pathos and concern, they are words that might have come from the anguished heart of a mother divested of her only child. But these words came from David as he poured out his deep feelings of failure and frustration in one of the darkest moments of his colorful life. David was remarkable in so many ways. Starting in humble surroundings with modest occupation of tending sheep on the hillside. He ultimately became king of his people; he was blessed with unusual gifts of leadership and qualities of inspiration to inspire and motivate the people of God. He was a strong soldier and his mighty men wrote a new and illustrious page in Israel's history. The shepherd boy took his harp and strummed the songs until he became known as "The Sweet Singer of Israel." The Book of Psalms contains many of his songs that stir the heart and emotions all the way from the serene confidence of the twenty-third Psalms to the depth of despair in the thirty-first Psalm. He is referred to as a man after God's own heart. At his worst, he was a great sinner, but at his best he was a great saint. Poet, leader, singer, king and man of deep spiritual insight, YET HE SEEMS TO HAVE BEEN A FAILURE AS A FATHER.

Mr. J. Edgar Hoover is one of his more recent FBI law enforcement bulletins gave some alarming statistics concerning the increasing crime rates in our country including the fact that 16 per cent of all major crimes are committed by young people under voting age. He concludes by saying, "I am convinced that there is little likelihood of our diminishing crime by studied efforts to reform habitual criminals. The House has already been burned down--it cannot be re-erected from the debris and ashes. The only possible way to strike a telling blow at crime is to strike it before it gains momentum through the affiliations and through the cunning technique of law evasion acquired so quickly in association with the underworld. The time to strike is during youth, when our boys and girls are being molded into manhood or womanhood, to follow one of two courses--the tangled path of crime or the straight one of honesty and decency. (Notice parents that the time to strike a crime is during youth!) It has been reported that a few hours after the birth of a certain woman's first son, the doctor came to her room and said something on this wise: "Mrs. ---, I came back to your room to tell you that I never deliver any bad babies. This baby is a good baby today. Whatever goes into him that is undesirable, this is unsocial, that might make his life a life of regret, will get into him AFTER today. Kepp that in mind and bring him up right!" (Do you get the point?)

Back in David's day, there was no doubt about the role of a father, he was in full and complete control. But now children often find difficulty finding the role of the father (with his being mother's helper), and mother clipping her hair short and wearing slacks (literally wearing the pants in some cases). And father letting hair grow long, so that he may have long beautiful processed curls, as he walks the street. (Mother being the breadwinner of course.)

In most areas of life it is possible to make a mistake and later return to try again. But in the experience of rearing children it is not possible to go back and start all over again. A child cannot go back and become a child again, he must, of necessity, continue to grow.

HEED THESE HOME SAFETY TIPS

To prevent accidents in the kitchen, always use a sturdy step-stool or ladder if you climb to reach high shelves and cupboards. Faucets and water make a good ground for electricity, so keep electric appliances away from the sink. To protect yourself and small children when cooking, make sure pots are always turned with handles away from the front or sides of the stove.

You can make the glass in your home visible and also decorative by marking it with attractive decals. Aluminum patio doors should also contain safety glass; if broken under heavy impact, safety glass crumbles into granular fragments instead of large, jagged pieces, reducing danger of serious injury, while preserving all of the fuel-saving and appearance advantages of aluminum sliding doors.

The National Safety Council estimates that 80,000 to 100,000 people incur injuries each year from bathroom accidents. Suction-type bath mats or non-slip adhesive strips in tubs and shower stalls, wall-mounted grab bars or hand rails help prevent falls. Avoid using accident-dealing scatter rugs. Instead, use skidproof mats on the bathroom floor.

To increase your home's protection against fire, make periodic fire inspections of your entire house. Get the family together for a fire drill and make certain everyone knows alternate escape routes in case of fire. A wise investment is a small, inexpensive fire extinguisher for each danger spot in your home.

The Negro as a Human Being in America

By Joseph L. Turner
 Negro Press International

(Editor's Note: This is the first in a five-part series analyzing the Negro as a person, a people and as Americans—a series that seeks to explore the history nature and complexity of an oppressed people in a land of abundance, who strive to gain equality of opportunity, dignity and respect.)

The prevailing irony of American life is that the Negro is still not regarded as a human factor in the society.

In spite of all the so-called gains in his struggle for first class citizenship and equality of opportunity; in spite of all the loud and angry voices of frustration and discontent; in spite of all the evidence of the plight of the Negro as manifested by the living conditions of the lower class, his educational lag, and the proof of social and economic restrictions, the Negro is still regarded and made to feel that he is a "sociological problem," an alien, or thing apart from the normal life of American society.

Few whites, and fewer Negroes, look at the Negro as a human being, as a person with feelings, with rights, and with an inherent natural quest for happiness. Negroes are always discussed, referred to or analyzed collectively.

They seem to have no character, no virtue. All that is said of them are those stereotype descriptive phrases that have been handed down for generations.

Ask any white person or middle class Negro—whose education or fair skin has given him some economic status—and the reply will be... "most Negroes are dirty, lazy, ignorant, shiftless, irresponsible and possessing few morals. They have to be driven, but when driven properly, they make damn good house-boys, athletes."

"On the other hand, if they are left alone, they fuss and fight, drink, and create slums in every major city—slums and slum conditions that federal and local governments have to try to eradicate with our tax dollars..."

The only thing the Negro has contributed to this country, they will tell you, is music. Foot-stomping, light-hearted and light-headed music; music about their sorrows and their suffering.

It is also ironic that this music, often colloquially referred to as "soul music"—meaning the expression of the feeling of hurt and frustration that has been the history of the Negro's stay in America—is waxed or recorded and sold as the product of a creative people. Sold for pieces of gold and silver, just as Judas sold Christ, his friend and Saviour.

In his book "The Invisible Man", novelist Ralph Ellison came closer than any one has ever done in stripping bare the feelings and reactions of the Negro in relation to his existence in America.

He describes the experiences which a young Negro boy undergoes, who so full of hopes and dreams about the future, makes one mistake and finds himself kicked out of a southern Negro college. His journey through "hell" makes the experiences of the white boy "Caulfield" in Salinger's "Catcher in the Rye", seem like sissy stuff.

Biologically the Negro is made of the same physical stuff as his white counterpart. He has the same thoughts and feelings as an individual; a sense of pride, individualistic love, hate, joy, sorrow, and the constant quest for happiness.

He would like to look back at his historical past with pride, and point to the famous people and accomplishments of his race, just as any other racial group.

He loves his family, and feels a certain kind of failure when he can't meet all of his obligations regarding them. He believes strongly all he is taught about his country, about religion, and God, and he grows up strong and full of hope, dreams and ambitions.

But there comes a time in his life—maybe when he is still quite young, or when he is older—that he is taught a very shocking lesson, one that is the basis of all he feels, thinks and does for the remainder of his life.

That lesson—sometimes cold and brutal, sometimes nearly fatal—puts an indelible mark and mood on him for the rest of his days.

That lesson is, "YOU ARE A NEGRO LIVING IN AMERICA!"

"And in America, we regard Negroes as something less than human. There are many things you will not be able to do, many places you will not be able to go, many feelings and thoughts you will not be able to express."

"You must never ask why, or protest against them, because you are black and a minority, and we are white and in control and that's the way we want things."

"With this thought, this understanding, we expect you to grow up and to go out into the world—always remembering this one lesson. We will provide some limited means of support for you, but you must create your own world, a separate world, and live in it without ever showing any signs of discontent."

To be a human being means to be free; free to think and feel, to hope and dream, and to know you can work toward a goal and have a fair chance of attaining it. It means meeting every man and every situation face to face, without bending, scratching or shuffling in your tracks.

It means having beliefs, and the courage to express them anywhere, and if necessary, to fight and die when this right is abridged.

The human being without these elements to his character is incomplete. Ellison described him as "invisible" because without them, people have a tendency to look right through you, to imagine you are not there, that you don't exist.

And since you don't have anything with which to express yourself, they convince you you are inferior, that this is your place in life. Many unlimited means and efforts have gone into these convincing tactics and to a large degree, for many years, these efforts have been successful.

No one seems to know exactly if it was the Negro's final recognition that he was not being treated as a human being, or the explosive effects of the dreams deferred, or some accident in time, but the Negro has gathered unto himself an amazing awareness of his history, his plight, himself and the continuing tactics of the oppressors, and has begun to take actions that even now frightens him and his oppressors alike.

In the two decades since the last World War, the Negro has launched what seems to be the campaign that will overcome his oppression and bring about all that he has dreamed of—equality, respect and dignity.

(Editor's Note: Though some of the ideas presented in this article do not meet with our views and theories as we present them, we still feel that all of the ideas deserve notice and for this reason we will run all of the author's series.)

A bevy of beauties surround MGM recording artist Johnny Nash at a lavish press party in his honor hosted by Press Clippings Limited when they announced commencement of operations in Chicago, Detroit, and Cleveland recently. (IPS)--When you are publicity director of a large corporation, business or social club and constantly send out press releases to newspapers and magazines, how do you know which publications are using your material and which ones throw your efforts directly into the wastepaper basket?

It's difficult to ascertain unless, of course, you subscribe to all of the publications on your mailing list and hire an army of readers and clippers to find your releases.

Last week, in Chicago, announcement was made of the formation of a new press clipping service aimed at the needs of publicity personnel who desire coverage in Negro-oriented publications.

Press Clippings Limited, with production offices in Cleveland and Detroit, signed MGM recording artist Johnny Nash to a long-term contract and hosted a lavish press party in his honor.

"This is just what I and my associates have been looking for," said the well-known singer-actor, "and it's a service I know others in and out of the entertainment field will utilize."

Bob Jackson, a vice president of the firm, will head up Detroit operations while Shirley Roberts will be in charge of the Cleveland office. The Chicago office is located in the Madison-Western building.

Harry Dale, a prominent Chicago businessman, has been appointed national promotion director, and Earl Watson, a Chicago real estate salesman, is the firm's general manager.

WOMAN BEATEN
A 24 year-old woman told police that she had a fight with her 47 year old husband. She went on to add that the fight started from an argument.

The man picked up a small table and beat her in the head.

HOUSE BURGLARY
David Joe Lambeat, 1711 East 2nd Street, told police that someone entered his home and took an 1876 model rifle from his gun rack. He told police that there was no force entry and that the house was seldom locked.

BURGLARY
Leon Smith, 2117 East 37th Street, told police that someone broke into his building and pried open the juke box. An undetermined amount of money was taken.

The big salaries in business always go to those who have what it takes to get things done. That is true not only of those executives who guide the destinies of a business, but it is true of those upon whom those executives must depend for results.

"Spotlight on Sports" By Lloyd Wells Morgan State's Earl Banks Top Pick

San Diego, California--NPI--With one quick guess, you would no doubt pick Bear Bryant of Alabama, Duffy Daughtry of Michigan State, or Ara Persegeian of Notre Dame as the college coach with the best past two-year record in football... Well, you would be wrong... EARL BANKS of little Morgan State College, Baltimore, holds that distinction.

Earl's Morgan Bears have won 22-straight games in the past two seasons, with the Orange Blossom Classic ('65) and Tangerine Bowl ('66) games included. Add the Central Intercollegiate Athletic Conference championship and UPI and AP small college rankings and you get the guy who has won'em all over the past two seasons.

Thus, Coach Banks of Morgan is our pick for the Negro college Coach-of-the-Year, edging out John Merrett of Tennessee A&I on the basis of the Tigers having to fight back against Ball State last year in the Grantland Rice Bowl to gain a tie, making their two year skein read 21-0-1.

What makes our selection of Coach Banks so easy is the fact he has done a tremendous job with very little to work from and limited physical facilities... Morgan only gets about 40 or 50 boys out for its football team every fall, against the other major college powers having usually over a hundred eager aspirants turning up from high schools with All Star credentials, over 200 pounds and having been handpicked by qualified recruiters.

Few if any All Staters turn up at Morgan and to attend the Orange 'n Blue, a boy has to finish in the upper half of his class and be able to support his way through the institution.

Coach Banks hails from Chicago where he played on the same high school team with the great Buddy Young at Wendell Phillips--started in college at Iowa and later earned a masters degree at New York University. He was a two-year All Big Ten guard and made several All American's as an Honorable Mention.

An associate professor at Morgan, in addition to being head grid coach, the affable mentor started his career at the Maryland college in 1950. Prior to coming to Morgan, he served nine years as line coach at Maryland State, where his son is now a member of the Hawks varsity football team.

Some of the greats Banks developed in college are Roger Brown, Detroit Lions; Johnny Sample, New York Jets; along with huge Sherman Plunkett and Leroy Kelly, the great Cleveland Brown star.

Banks has won three CIAA titles and the NCAA College Division of the ACC, tacked on to two great undefeated seasons, highlighted by this year's great victory in the Tangerine Bowl--the first Negro college to ever play in a major post season bowl--and the Bears great Orange Blossom Classic victory over the proud Florida A&M Rattlers of Coach Jake Gaither.

To say this young dedicated man is a builder of champions, is an understatement indeed.

The Sports Parade By Negro Press International

TWO NAMED

New York--NPI--Kid Gavilan, ex-welterweight boxing champion, and Archie Moore, former light-heavyweight champion, have been elected to the Boxing Hall of Fame. Moore won his title in 1952, when he whipped Joey Maxim. He retired in 1956, when he was in his early 40s. Gavilan, now 40, won his title in 1951 by defeating Johnny Bratton and Billy Graham in elimination bouts. He now lives in Cuba.

UNBEATABLE

San Francisco--NPI--A three-star combination named to the East All-Star squad for the National Basketball Association's annual All-Star game is expected to make the East team unbeatable. Philadelphia's Wilt Chamberlain was the only unanimous choice in the balloting from the East squad. Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati was to be among the starters, along with Chamberlain. Bill Russell of Boston, who will back up Chamberlain, was also selected. The game will be played Jan. 10.

ANSWER

Niagara Falls, N. Y.--NPI--Calvin Murphy, 18, of Norwalk, Conn., is fast becoming a little man's answer to Lew Alcindor, towering center for the University of California of Los Angeles, who himself is destined for professional basketball fame. Murphy, a five-foot, ten-inch guard, is averaging 54 points a game for the Niagara University freshmen. He is one of the most talked-about players in western New York State.

$100,000 OFFER

Washington--NPI--New light-heavyweight boxing champion Dick Tiger has been offered $100,000 to defend his title against Washington's Bobby Foster, who ranks fourth in the World Boxing Association's 175-pound division. Vince McMahon, a local wrestling promoter who also stages boxing shows, has offered the money to Tiger, who won the light-heavyweight crown last month in a unanimous decision over Jose Torres. Tiger twice won and lost the middle-weight championship.

Dunbar Drops Plainview Dragons 87-45

Number 30, James Johnson, is shown scoring two points from ten feet out in a game last Friday night in Panther Gym against the Dragons of Plainview in a non-district tilt. Panthers won the tilt 87-45.

Johnson has been contacted by one of Southwest Conference schools. It is the natural feeling of all local fans, scholastically and athletically, that he will qualify for one of these schools.

The fighting Dunbar Panthers defeated the Booker T. Washington Dragons of Plainview last Friday night in a non-district tilt by a score of 87-45.

The Panthers, who recently defeated Abilene the week before in a district tilt and was third in the Midland Tournament, was really charged up in this contest.

Coach Curtis Gipson substituted freely from the first quarter until the remaining minutes of the game.

The high point man of the game was Jerry Phillips who added 19 points for the winning Panthers while another gun of the squad, James Johnson, hit the net for 16 tallies.

The Panthers will enter district competition this week when they meet the Hornet of Midland.

Aside for the Panthers scoring a victory, the "B" squad under the leadership of Coach Kelly went on annual Diamond Dinner on Jan. 15. Frank Robinson was voted the World Series Hero award of the Chicago Baseball Writers Association, and Brooks Robinson won the Ken Hubbs Memorial trophy for "exemplary conduct on and off the playing field." The Association will present the awards to them at the dinner.

YANKEE, NO!

Frankfurt, Germany--NPI--Brazilian soccer star Pele has turned down offers to become a coach for a new soccer league in the United States. "I told them to come back in 10 years," said the 25 year-old star, who is negotiating a contract for a second edition of his book, "I Am Pele."

to stay in the winning column by knocking off the "B" squad of Plainview.

Your Good Health

By SAMUEL L. ANDELMAN, M.D., M.P.H. (Negro Press International)

LEFT-HANDEDNESS

Some children are born right-handed; some achieve right-handedness, and some have right-handed thrust upon them. Why some are left-handed is not known, but fortunately parents today are less determined to change them than they were 50 or 60 years ago.

Also, for reasons that are not too clear, left-handedness was associated with the bar sinister which in heraldry was used to designate illegitimate birth. This unwarranted association led parents to punish children for preferring to use their left hand.

We now know that handedness—whether right or left—is an inherent characteristic like the color of one's hair which, incidentally, is also subject to change when such a change is deemed desirable.

To change a child's natural preference for the left hand by persistent force has been thought by some to cause stuttering, slowness in learning to read, and assorted emotional disturbances. Further study of this problem indicates that these undesirable results are due not to altering the child's left-handedness but to harsh methods of accomplishing this change.

If you try to alter the left-handedness of a child between 1-1/2 and 3, his resistance may be the natural negativism of that stage of his development. A person who is naturally left-handed will fold his hands with his left thumb on top even though his parents may have succeeded in changing his preference in other uses of his hands.

One aspect of this matter that has not yet been explained is that some right-handed boys naturally kick a football with the left foot. Similarly mixed dominance has been observed in persons who have better vision in the right eye but better hearing in the left ear.

More important than which hand is the establishment of one dominance or the other. So-called ambidextrous children have, as a rule, poorly developed muscular co-ordination.

A parents' best plan is to try gently and without emotion, to set a child to use his right hand. If, in spite of this, he persists in using his left hand, console yourself that this is no longer a handicap, and he will find many others with the same trait.
