

'Around the Hub City'

If you have not had the opportunity to visit the school your child attends during Texas Public School Week—which ends tomorrow, you had better do so now.

You know its rather disgusting to find so many parents who have that "care less" attitude about the educational welfare of their children. It matters what they are doing in school, especially since they are away from home so long during the day. Actually, parents, you should be more concerned about the welfare of your children at school. If you didn't know, they are tomorrow's adults, and the training they receive today will help make a better world not only for them, but you and I also.

I've heard so many of our parents 'pitch a pure fit' about the grades their children come home with each six weeks. My advise to these type of unconcerned parents is that they should visit the school more frequently, not just on this special occasion each year.

I guess if it wasn't for the teachers attending the monthly PTA meeting at most of our schools, there wouldn't be a PTA meeting. Let's get together with our schools Mom and Dad, after all they are making it possible for the future of our little loved ones.

"Around the Hub City" encourages you to visit as school this week and any other week you so desire.

Two of our local principals, Charles E. Brown, principal of E. C. Struggs Junior High School; and George Scott, Jr., principal of Dunbar High School, attended the National Association of Secondary School Principals in Dallas last week. The meeting—which lasted five days—brought together 9,599 principals from throughout the nation.

According to the pair of administrators, next year's national meeting will be held in Atlantic City, N. J.

The Dunbar Alumni and Ex-student Association will meet Sunday afternoon in room 101 of the Dunbar High School. The president, Prenis Williams, urges all members to attend this meeting because of the importance of the business to be discussed.

The meeting will began at 3:00 p.m.

The 99th District Court Grand Jury returned 25 indictments Monday, including one for murder with malice.

According to Judge Victor H. Lindsey, James Lee Marion, convicted slayer of Mrs. Fred Turner of Midland, will be sentenced today to die in the electric chair.

A bench warrant was issued last Monday and Sheriff Grady Harris reported that a Lubbock County Deputy Sheriff would bring Marion to Lubbock for the hearing. Rev. L. C. Fredrick, who became interested in the case while Marion was in jail here, went to Washington, D. C., Monday to "demand a federal investigation" into the conduct of defense attorneys who he claims, violated Marion's right to a fair trial.

Mrs. Margaret Stevenson, 22, of 1706 East 14th Street, was taken to Methodist Hospital Monday afternoon following a collision with another vehicle at Loop 289 and North Quirt Avenue. She was released after being checked for injuries.

Nurses in the City-County Health Department gave 1,200 measles shots during the January-February campaign to prevent an epidemic of the disease this spring.

Pre-school children in Lubbock County may receive measles vaccine FREE from City-County health officials. They may be received at Mae Simmons Community Center or Messiah Presbyterian Church.

Wedding Plans Announced By Couple For March 19th

VIVIAN LETHRIDGE

Mr. and Mrs. Tommie D. Lethridge, 240 Cherry Street, has announced the engagement of their daughter, Mary Vivian Lethridge, to Johnnie Ray Hollis, son of Rev. and Mrs. Kado Lang, 2450 East 30th Street.

The couple will pledge wedding vows Sunday, March 19, in the chapel of the Saint Matthew Baptist Church at 6:00 p.m. The reception will follow at the Greater Saint James Baptist Church.

Miss Lethridge is a member of St. Matthew Baptist Church. She is a graduate of Dunbar High where she received two diplomas and a license for beauty culture under Mrs. Odessa Long, an instructor.

She has been successful employed for several years. Her experience includes a prize winner in the State and District meeting at El Paso, Texas, and another trophy of merit in the Division State Meeting at Austin, Texas.

At present, Miss Lethridge is employed at the Moss Beauty Bar at Dallas, Texas.

Hollis is a graduate of Bethune High School of Crane, Texas. He has attended Huston-Tillotson College at Austin for one year.

Aside from this, he has attended barber college at San Antonio, Texas where he received his license.

Hollis has successful completed a course in IBM, and is a member of the Greater Saint James Baptist Church.

Stationed At Sheppard Air Force Base

A/1st Ronald Royster, son of Sgt. and Mrs. Eugene A. Dill, 2802 East 30th Street, is presently stationed at Sheppard Air Force Base.

Royster, a graduate of the Bok Vocational School of Philadelphia, Pa. where he received a diploma in tailoring, is enjoying his new adventure.

Harlem Globetrotters Meet Washington Generals In Exhibition Game Tonight

Abe Saperstein's Harlem Globetrotters, internationally famous organization known as "The Magicians of Basketball" and "The Goodwill Ambassadors to the World", whose zany antics have entertained millions of fans in the United States and 87 countries of the world, will play the Washington Generals in the feature of a star-studded program here tonight, Thursday, March 9th, at 8:00 p.m. in the Coronado High School Gym.

The fabulous Globetrotters, now in their 41st season and following the pattern originated by the late Abe Saperstein, will present added attractions in six top-flight acts which have been featured in every phase of show business all over the world, and on Ed Sullivan's Show, as well as other TV Network programs.

Robert "Showboat" Hall, zany Globetrotter comedian now in his 16th year and without question the funniest man in basketball as well as being the greatest ball handler in the game; heads a group of funny men which include veterans J. C. Gipson, 6'8", dazzling dribbler Leon Hillard, 5'11", Ernie Wagner, 6'1", Ron Jackson and Andy Stoglin 6'4", Dave Wright, 6'3", and rookies Ray Lothery, Tri-State College, Angola, Ind., and Joe Cunningham, Winston-Salem State College, 6'6" and Bob Hunter, 6'4" of Tennessee A&I University.

The Washington Generals, an array of ex-collegiate stars, include Bob Stoermer, Oklahoma U.; Harold Putnam, Fullerton College, Californai; Willie Anderson, Oregon Tech and Bill Leedom, California Poly. Tech.; Billy Crowe, Westminster; Tike Karavas, Elcamino College, Californai and Robert Akeo, U. of Hawaii. Owner Art Kim also introduces a newcomer from Australia in 19 year-old Ray Tomlison, a star at Melbourne University where he led his mates to the Victoria State title in the "down-under" conference.

The program for the evening includes the Globetrotters vs the Washington Generals; table tennis stars Robert Ashley and Bernie Bukiet; trampolinist Mike Pickering; Anita Vargas, balancing act; Gus and Ursula, sensational jugglers; Dieter Tasso, whose diversified presentation develops into two acts, adds up to two and one-half hours of entertainment geared to please fans from 4 to 94.

The Globetrotters, as previously mentioned, have visited just about every city and town in the United States, all Canadian Provinces and 87 countries of the world, including Russia and others "Behind the Iron Curtain".

The Globetrotters have always sent fans home laughing during their 41-year span, and an indication of their Story-Book success—have always been invited to return to each city, town, hamlet or country they have previously visited.

Nine Injured In Two Car Mishap

Included in the fourteen people who were injured last Saturday night in the Hub City, nine were hurt in a two car collision at Southeast Drive and East 50th Street about 8:30 p.m.

Those admitted to Methodist Hospital following the multi-injury crackup were Wanda Le Grande, 18, of Slaton, who was reported in fair condition; Nadine Slay, 18, and her sister, 17 year old Albertine, also of Slaton; Lillian Cruse, 22, of 2502 Weber Drive; Carl Dixon, 19, and Lonnie Caraway, both of 1515 Avenue C, were treated and dismissed by the hospital.

Less Than Four Weeks Left Before Car Registration Deadline

There are less than four weeks remaining in the annual registration period before the deadline at midnight, April 1, when new 1967 license plates must be on all vehicles operated over public streets, roads and highways.

Although lines at registration windows and waiting time is still relatively short at the county tax office, Russel S. Hardin, County Tax Assessor-Collector, has warned that the usual last minute jam of persons seeking to beat the deadline will be worse this year than usual.

The greater jam will be caused by the normal annual increase in the number of vehicles to be registered and by the problems caused by construction on the addition to the new courthouse and blocked off parking spaces nearby.

Up until last Friday, when 1,107 vehicles were recorded—bringing the yearly total thus far to only one-third of the total. 20,421 had been registered so far while last year 74,757 vehicles had been registered through March 31, 1966.

Panthers Track And Field Team Reach For New Marks

Those fighting Dunbar Panthers ripped off a blazing 41.8 in the 440 yard relay last Saturday in the Brownfield Invitational to high-light area prep school track and field activity last week.

According to the clocking—posted by the quartet of Claudell Morgan, Sidney Hall, Roy Davis, and Robert "Rocket" Medlock, it is the fastest in the state to date. This clocking came in the preliminaries. Dunbar ran a mere 42 flat in the finals.

Medlock remained undefeated as he won the 100 yard dash in a record-tying 9.8, outstepping his teammate Morgan and then came back to win the 220 in 22.7 after having established a new meet record of 22.3 in the preliminaries.

Coach Prenis Williams' chargers won the meet easily as they rolled up 162 points to Herefords' 77.

Aside from this, the Panthers cracked the mile relay record with a 3:24.3 clocking for the only new mark of the day.

Already producing 17 per cent of the world's supply of uranium, the African continent is seen as being rich in other nuclear raw materials—especially in such places as Senegal, Tunisia, Egypt, Upper Volta, Niger, Centrafrican Republic, Ghana and Congo-Kinshasa.

Urban Renewal: Items You Should Know

An American's home is supposed to be his castle. A substantial portion of the Constitution of the United States of America is devoted to the specific aim of protecting citizens in their right to own property and to be secure in the ownership and use of it.

But there is a certain organization at work in the United States and right here in the city of Lubbock which seems to ignore all of those very Constitutional protections. If you just happen to live in a pleasant well kept residential neighborhood, which city planners think should be wiped out and rebuilt, then brother you're out of luck, because the city government can condemn the whole neighborhood if they want to and convert it into a public park, or sell it to some out-of-town developer who promises to put up buildings which the official planners will like.

When city planners decide that they would like to tear down everything in a whole section of the city and redesign it to suit their taste, (remember, their taste not yours), they can get tax money, (your tax money) out of the federal treasury for the scheme. At this point it must be pointed out that these planners do have certain formalities that they must observe.

First of all, the planners must present the federal Urban Renewal Administration plans for a Workable Program, meaning an Urban Renewal project which meets all specifications of the federal agencies, and is pleasing in the sight of the agency officials.

Of course this could be a big hurdle. How can lesser planners in small country towns draw up something to satisfy the Great Planners in Washington? Where will they get the money for working out their plans? The Urban Renewal Administration will advance funds to pay for surveys and planning work necessary to draw up the Workable Program. Nice of them, eh? But did you know that some of the federal advances for this initial survey-and-planning job runs into hundreds of thousands of dollars?

After the Workable Program has been presented to Washington officials and approved, the city government gets tax money from the federal treasury to buy all property in the project area. If any citizen refuses to sell, the city government condemns their property and forces them to sell.

The wholesale eviction of people from an Urban Renewal area often leaves many families without a place to live, and business firms without a place of business. The city government can get, from the federal treasury, $100.00 to pay the moving expenses of each displaced person, and $2,500.00 for the moving expenses of each displaced business firm.

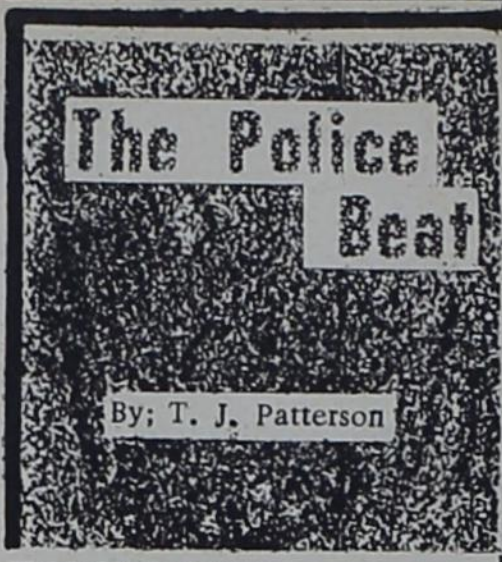

If there is no housing available for persons evicted from an Urban Renewal area, the city can get tax money from the national treasury to build "low-rent" public housing. It is called "low-rent", because the persons living in it do not pay much rent for the privilege of living there. The federal government provides an annual subsidy to operate "low-rent" public housing projects. The projects could accurately be called "very high rent" housing, if the rent which tenants pay were added to the "rent" which ALL taxpayers pay on each public housing project—in the form of federal subsidies to meet the cost of operation. A business firm evicted from an Urban Renewal project can usually get loans through some federal agency to acquire new quarters elsewhere.

Once human beings are removed from an Urban Renewal project, the city uses United States tax money to demolish and remove everything else—leaving the project area naked and ready for a fresh start.

The city can sell the entire project area to private developers who promise to build in compliance with specifications of the Workable Program. Often, the area is sold in one piece to one buyer. This generally means that only big real estate operators or syndicates can buy. It follows that many, if not most, major Urban Renewal projects are developed by big firms or syndicates which specialize in buying and developing "Urban Renewed" land.

The private firms which buy the cleared Urban Renewal project land can get tax money, from federal lending agencies, to do the developing. But the land and the developments are THEIRS—to be used for their own private profit, under certain provisions. Here are controls imposed on private developers of Urban Renewal projects:

- (1) They must build something that conforms with the planners' dreams as revealed in the Workable Program.
- (2) They must abide by whatever federal requirements may be made under the terms of Section 106 (c) (7) of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended, which provides that the Urban Renewal Administrator; "notwithstanding the provisions of any other law, may...include in any contract or instrument made pursuant to this title such other covenants,

TWO CHURCHES' MACHINES LOOTED

Now it's the churches of the community, not the schools, that are being robbed by unknown people.

The first church to be robbed was the Mount Gilead Baptist. Rev. S. R. Roberts, pastor, reported the burglary to the Lubbock Police Department last Friday evening. It was learned that someone had conditions, or provisions... as he may deem necessary."

(3) They must comply with Section 109 (a) of the Federal Housing Law, which contains the Davis-Bacon Act provision that the Secretary of Labor has absolute power to set wage scales for all work connected with a federally-financed Urban Renewal project. This is a law which union bosses lobbied through Congress. Its purpose is to force private contractors, when using federal tax money, to hire union labor, or, at least, to pay whatever wages union bosses want paid—regardless of local conditions and wage scales.

(4) Private developers of federally financed Urban Renewal projects must comply with "no racial discrimination."

Apart from these political restrictions, the private developers who buy land confiscated from private owners in an Urban Renewal area, and develop the land with Federal Tax Money, enjoy ownership of the development.

The major burden to the taxpayers, in an Urban Renewal project, is the net cost of acquiring and clearing the land.

While the major burden to the citizens living in a Project Area is the moving, relocation, and heart-break with leaving their homes at their personal expense for the benefit of a chosen few.

pried open the pop machine and taken an undetermined amount of cash.

According to the pastor, the building was olcked and there was no sign of forced entry. He went on to say that the burglary took place during choir practice when several people were inside the building.

In another church burglary at the Greater St. Luke Baptist Church, Harry Bunton, 3516 Ute Avenue, told police that the pop machine in the recreation room had been broken in to and all of the money was taken... amounting to only fifty cents. Entrance into the building was not known, but it is believed that the front door of the church was picked with a knife.

Damage to the machine was approximately $15.00.

HOUSE BURGLARY

Valley Moore, 2606 Weber Dr., told police that she was asleep and that the children woke her up and told her that someone had tried to break into her apartment. She said that this type of incident had happened before.

In checking the window, someone did take the screen off of the window and then throw a rock through it. The window was not unlocked.

WIFE STABS HUSBAND

A young man told police that his wife stabbed him in the left shoulder with a butcher knife. According to the police, both had been drinking together and an argument began. His sister took him to the hospital for treatment.

He required several stitches.

HUSBAND SHOOTS WIFE

Another family incident happened here which led to the husband shooting his wife. It was learned that a bullet did graze her eyebrow and temple. She was also shot in the left thigh.

In talking to her husband, it was learned that they had been having many arguments. She was shot with a .22 caliber pistol. She stated that she would file charges.

CAR DESTRUCTION

George Beaks, 1710 Zenith, told police that someone unknown broke out the right door glass of his 1962 model two ton truck. He also stated that he did not think that anything was stolen. However the damage to the truck was approximately $15.00.

STAB VICTIM

Carolyn Freeman, 1012 East 28th Street, told police that she had been stabbed by a 20 year-old
