Negro Heritage Seminar Held Last Week in Odessa by Delta Sigma Theta

Odessa—Calling the audience at a Negro Heritage Seminar presented in Odessa by Delta Sigma Theta, Inc. and Women in Community Service, members of the "haves" or the "making-it" in today's Negro population, Dr. W. C. Stewart, M. D. of Odessa, said Saturday, "Let's face it. We are not where it's happening in history today."

Dr. Stewart, admitted there are all areas between the poles of "making-it" and "not making it" in the Negro community, and between white conservatism and the New Left composed of "the young, educated articulate white"

Named Counselor For University of Computer Sciences

Mrs. Essie White, 3011 East 2nd Place, was recently hired by University of Computer Sciences which is based in the First National Bank Building.

Essie, a former student at Dunbar High School and a student at Wayland Baptist College, has received extensive training by the University.

The University of Computer Sciences offers courses in Key Punch Operations, Data Processing and Computer Programming for Business Applications.

She is the daughter of Mrs. Myrtle Hopkins of 1318 East 15th St. and is married to Alfred White.

They are proud parents of twins and are members of the 20th and Birch Street Church of Christ.

Mrs. White is more than willing to explain the program to those interested. She is concerned about informing you about the possibility of making a contribution to the university. For further information about the University of Computer Sciences, contact Mrs. White at SW 5-0382 or SH 4-8439.

Barber Shops to Remain Open Monday the 23rd

The members of the Eastside Barber's Association has announced that the barber shops in East Lubbock will remain open Monday, December 23, because of the Christmas holidays.

Joe Davenport, president of the organization, said an extra effort will be made Christmas eve, December 24, to comply with the many who wish to come to the shops.

Nevertheless, he said both groups in each race were divided from each other significantly.

The doctor's speech, titled "The Future: What is the Prognosis?" sought to predict what would happen in Negro American like. It wound up an all day session of speeches, workshops and discussions held at Blackshear Junior High School in Odessa. One of Dr. Stewart's predictions was that the term "Blacks" would completely replace "Negro" or "colored" in common usage. Three reasons for this he gave as (1) "It is a name we're choosing (2) black itself is perhaps beautiful in itself, (3) there is general agreement on the pronunciation of the word."

The Negro Heritage Seminar also included an address on "The Historical Significance of a Minority Group: The Negro" by James Bradford, President of the West Texas Social Studies Council in Midland. Thomas Heiting, Professor of History at Odessa College spoke to the group at lunch concerning "Negro Leadership in America 1900-1930." Mr. Heiting, an Anglo from Minnesota who has studied and taught at Texas Tech, traced the careers of Booker T. Washington, W. E. B. DuBois and Marcus Garvey. He pointed out that Booker T. Washington's power laid partly in the fact that presidents Theodore Roosevelt and William Howard Taft sought Washington's approval on virtually every black or Southern white appointment to the administration; that philanthropies, such as the Carnegie foundation, consulted him on where to spend their money, and that he had immense power in the Northern Press. DuBois, contrary to Washington, who was supported an emphasis on industrial education and wanted a liberal arts approach to black education. Marcus Garvey, a Jamaican who moved to the United States in 1916, started a Black Nationalism movement, edited Negro World and contributed greatly to a powerful feeling of Negro race pride in this country.

Workshops followed Mr. Heiting's speech. At one, "Review of Negro Literature" by Mrs. Mamie Williams, Co-ordinator of Language Arts in the Midland Public Schools contributions of Negroes to Drama and Literature were discussed and recommended selections were discussed which were okayed by the American Library Association and listed in the Stepping Stones catalogue of Multi-Racial Learning Materials for children.

Delta Sigma Theta presented lists of books sent from its Washington headquarters in the Seminar Kit. Their headquarters is located at 1814 "M" Street, N. W.

Negro Speaks on Race Woes

Daniel H. Watts, a former member of the NAACP who said he hates to admit it, approached the American race problem with a humorous touch at Texas Tech last Tuesday.

Panthers of Dunbar Honored Here Last Week With Awards Banquet

Those outstanding Dunbar Panthers of 1968, including all the state runner-up basketballers, the state track champs and the gridgers of this season, were honored last evening at their annual banquet at Mae Simmons Community Center.

Guest speaker was Coach Mike Ludd of Colorado State University. Over 300 Panther boosters were on hand to hear the Colorado coach mention that he would love to have Coach James Hillyer on his staff.

A. G. Perryman took the Dunbar player of the year honors, while Frank Melton, Panther quarterback, was presented an award.

Hillyer also surprised four long-time Dunbar backers, Roy Davis of Plains Co-op; Dr. F. L. Lovings, Dr. J. Hooper Stiles and Gib Weaver, head trainer, by presenting each plaques of appreciation.

Six Panthers were added to the Hall of Fame. Joining Perryman were John Hollins, and March Wilson, basketball; and tracksters

Wayne Davis, Sidney Hall, Charles Sims and Roy Davis.

The Mom and Dad Club surprised Panther Coaches Hillyer, Prenis Williams, Lewis Kelly and their wives with gifts of appreciation.

James Lee Marion Murder Case Set For Hearing Here This Week

Three area murder cases which have attracted widespread attention have new court dates coming up this week. Of the three, two will be held in Lubbock and the third magazien has been described as the "black bourgeoisie's man on the barricades, a kind of cross between Kropotkin and James Bond, marini in one hand, Molotov cocktail in the other."

As a Columbia University graduate, he took pot shots at black revolutionaries who foresee an uprising from which the black peoples emerge dominant, a t white liberals who can't quite figure out what the problem is with the black man and at college students who "want to be committed, who want a taste of soul, who want to help, but are trapped by their middle class upbringing."

In stressing his belief that the black man must use violence to obtain "a realistic piece of the action," and to secure goals of "coexistence and mobility," he argued firmly that the white community must not be destroyed—changed but maintained.

"The nation cannot continue to exist as two nations—one black and one white," he made known. "If it is to continue to exist, the white society must change."

He made it very clear to the crowd, "if you (whites) collapse, I go too. But I want to survive and so I'm going to do my best to force you to change, to accept me and to do away with the divisions separating our clutures."

More than 500 persons in the Student Union Ballroom heard him say that "I don't want to go down with your ship; so I am going to have to save you, too."

in El Paso.

Included in the three is James Lee Marion who was sentenced to death for the murder of a wealthy Midland woman five years ago. Marion is seeking a new trial in a habeas corpus hearing before Judge William R. Shaver in 72nd District Court here at 2 p.m.

Five of 13 points cited in a petition for the hearing concerned selection of the jury which convicted Marion and sentenced him to die in the electric chair.

The former Midland fry cook was convicted in the death of Mrs. Fred Turner, Jr., 66, at her home October 29, 1963.

Final Rites Read for Mrs. Othella Precipha at Mexia

Final rites were read for Mrs. Othella Precipha last Sunday afternoon at 1:00 p.m. at Bethsadia Baptist Church in Mexia, Texas, with Rev. W. H. Jones, pastor, officiating.

Interment was held at Woodland Cemetery, Limestone County, Texas, under the direction of Dorsey & Keatts Funeral Home.

Mrs. Precipha, the oldest child of Mrs. Matilda and Will Farris, was born in Limestone County and spent her entire life in and around Mexia. She attended the Woodland Community School.

At a very early age she joined the Bethsadia Missionary Baptist Church. Here she served faithfully giving service where she was needed. She served as president of the Mission, president of the Usher Board and Mother of the church.

In 1911 she united in holy matrimony with Leroy Precipha, and to this union eight children were born, of which six and her

Those fighting Estacado Matadors, a team who has never lost a contest in varsity play and only one in non-varsity competition last season as a junior varsity against 4-AAAA schools, will go for the big one Saturday afternoon at 2 p.m. in Fort Worth's TCU Amon Carter Stadium.

Last Saturday at Abilene in a semi-final contest, the Matadors chalked up lucky number 13 for the year and moved them into a position to go for the big stakes Saturday. In this contest, the best of the Class AAA schoolboys in West and East Texas were on the field of action, but Estacado came out victorious as they mauled the Lions of Henderson, 30-0.

Henderson's well-known all stater, Joe Wylie, was stopped cold by the "sock to em" defense of Estacado. Before this contest, Wylie had rushed for 1,940 yards, but could only muster 92 yards on 25 assignments against the Matadors. Actually, the majority of the total yards gained by Wylie came in the closing minutes of the game.

Lion quarterback, Keith Bobo, was upset ten times by the powerful Matador defense as he lost 39 yards in the shuffle.

Estacado's field general, Kenneth Wallace, who was injured several weeks ago, led his Matadors to a 16-0 lead at half. Not only were the horses running for dirt, but his aerial game put six points on the scoreboard on a 23 yard completion.

Estacado chalked up 14 first downs with Henderson taking the honors with 15. The Matadors gained 204 yards rushing as compared to the Lion's 110.

Reserve quarterback Daniel Johnson scored the final touchdown on a five yard run with one minute left and Miller did his thing to make the fellows from the "blue and white" total their points to 30.

husband preceded her in death.

Mrs. Precipha departed from this world December 12, 1968.

To mourn her passing she leaves: one son, Loyd V. Precipha of Mexia, Texas; one daughter, Mrs. Willie Jewel Sedberry of Lubbock.

Support The Merchants Who Support You

There are only five more shopping days until Christmas. Many of you will be making big plans to buy that turkey or ham, other groceries and gifts for your loved ones. The West Texas Times would like to encourage you to patronize those merchants who want your business.

In looking at the "Times", you can easily see those who are willing to go the right way and let the world know that they appreciate your business. On the other hand, there are those who care less about your business and this is evident in this weekly media.

As you go to and fro from your shopping spree finding the best bargains for your dollar, please consider this, because these merchants who refuse to advertise in the West Texas Times because of various reasons must understand that this media has a constructive purpose and is a part of building Lubbock.

This media, which is dedicated to informing the Negro Citizens of West Texas, is primarily concerned about the attitude with the business community. It's hard to understand about the attitude with the business community. It's hard to understand why they refuse to cooperate and help this media go.

In looking at the situation, it's easy to detect that the white community is still using their old traditional habits to keep the black community in line. But what they don't realize is that this media or the Negro in general is not looking for a hand out, but rather for a tool to work with in order to make this media or himself stronger.

The white community must also realize that we must work together. We are on the same ball team and we can't afford not to work together for the cause.

Not only do we urge you to support the merchants who patronize this media, but we also like for you to investigate the situation and see if those who are not seen from time to time really want your business. After all, it's your money and you have the right to spend it as you see fit. By the same token, evaluate it constructively and find the answer.

This is your weekly news media and as a reader, we're sure you want the best and this can be accomplished if support is given from the establishment.

From My Scratch Pad

By: George Parrish

Amarillo-Reader, as we near another Christmas season, let us keep in mind what we are celebrating, which in this case is, the birth of our Savior Jesus Christ. This is a season to be merry but whatever we do, let us remember to not take Christ out of Christmas. I would like to at this time join the rest of the staff of the West Texas Times in wishing you and yours a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. Please be careful during the holidays because we would rather have you as a reader than to have someone reading about you.

Mrs. Will Knapp motored to San Angelo, Texas last week to visit with her adopted mother, Mrs. S. C. Dodd, who is hospitalized there. While there she was the guest of Mrs. Sparks, who is manager of the Sparks Funeral Home. On her return home, she stopped off in Lubbock to see a long-time friend, Mrs. Lyons.

The Carver Junior High School P. T. A. will be giving the school a Christmas party in the school gymnasium Friday, December 20th from 3:30 to 5:00 p.m.

Last Friday night the students from West Texas State University were host to the children in the Opportunity Neighborhood Center. This was in the form of a Christmas party—with the whole works, Santa Claus and all. December 20th the Community Board, along with the workers of the center will have their annual Christmas party for the neighborhood children. From what I have seen there is a lot in store for the youngsters. Then, on the 23rd, a group of girls from the Latter Day Saints Church will entertain a group of thirty first and second graders in the center. After the party a group from the center will go to the Veterans Hospital to sing Christmas Carols. These are the children attending the home work exchange classes held daily at the Opportunity Center. Mrs. Lorain DeBois, director of these children and a program aid, is a patient at St. Anthony's Hospital.

I would like to make a correction on a name I wrote last week, this should have been Bill Cooks, instead of Paul Cooks. Sorry about that Mr. Cooks.

Do any of you watch "Ask Your Minister" on Sunday mornings on Channel 7? I would like to congratulate Rev. David Hill and Father Mike for the way they defended the church and most of all the minority groups. I especially liked what Rev. Hill had to say, that we are our brothers' keeper and our brothers brother.

The question raised in my mind was whether or not the true meaning of what the Rev. Hill had to say got through to the other members on the panel and to the TV listeners. While I am on this subject involving the church. Why are the local churches listed as Colored Churches, rather than jsut under churches according to their denomona-tions?

The Sunday church school was well attended at Johnson Chapel A.M.E. Church leading to a very inspiring 11:00 service, with Pastor Davis bringing the message. His text was based on Saint Matthew 1:21, using as his subject, "A Right Christmas."

Elaine Davis, president of the youth department, sponsored a Christmas party during the youth hour Sunday evening, December 15th. All of the youngsters present expressed their appreciation to Elaine.

Mrs. Elnora Woolbright and Sister Miller are yet on the sick list, let us continue to pray for them, and also for Mrs. Mary Lou Hazelrigg of Jenkins Chapel Baptist Church who is still on the sick and shut-in list.

EDITOR'S NOTICE

Due to the holiday season and the fact that Christmas day falls on Wednesday this year, the West Texas Times will be printed and distributed on Monday, December 23rd and again on December 30th in order to better serve our readers.

Deadlines for the next two weeks, only, will be moved up to Saturday, the 21st and 28th for advertising and news copy. Happy holidays to all.

Around The Hub City

Around the Hub City has been hearing some rumours that there is a possibility of Coach James Hillyer, Dunbar football coach, going to Colorado State University next year.

Coach Hillyer has done a splendid job in the "Hub City" and could do another splendid job for any college. He is a gentleman and is capable of contributing a great deal to our young people.

Keep up the good work Coach Hillyer, Around the Hub City is watching your actions!!!

Around the Hub City would like to endorse the editorial this week in encouraging our readers to continue to support those merchants who want your business. Within these pages are those who really care and are not afraid to tell the world that they welcome the opportunity to do business with you.

S/Sgt. and Mrs. Aaron Pryon are the proud parents of a baby girl born last Sunday morning, December 15th. The mother, "nee" Sue Kathryn Brown, was given emergency treatment at West Texas Hospital and transferred to Reese Air Force Base Hospital for further care.

Both are reported doing fine. The father is serving in the U. S. Army and has been in the Viet Nam war zone since November 1st.

Mr. Otis Proudme, Mrs. Pearl and Miss Maurice Carter attended funeral services at Mexia, Texas, Sunday for Mrs. Othella Precipha.

Mr. W. B. "Hog" Hamilton is a patient at Methodist Hospital. Mrs. Sherna Davenport entered Methodist Hospital Monday afternoon. She is scheduled to have a goiter operation. Lorenzo Wadley is yet a patient at Methodist Hospital. He suffered a broken leg recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Sedberry and children, Shelton and Cynthia, and also Mrs. Juanita Simmons, Mrs. Louise Sedberry and Mrs. E. Brunner attended final services Sunday at Mexia, Texas, for Mrs. O. Prechipa, the mother of Mrs. Leo Sedberry.

Final rites were read at Ennis, Texas, Saturday, December 14th, for Mr. Jay Vance Oliver, brother of Mrs. Ada Graves. He passed away last Tuesday, December 10th.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Graves and their daughter, Mrs. Mary McGraw, attended the services. Beside the sister here, survivors included other relatives such as a brother and two sisters and many other relatives.

The Graves returned Monday afternoon.

The Tiger, the annual year book of Mary & Mac Private School, is in its final stages as it will go to press in the immediate future. Delcia Scarlett is editor of this year's Tiger. Mr. J. C. Graves, Jr., is advisor.

Around the Hub City would like to encourage you to purchase a year's subscription for a friend at Christmas time to the Times. It would make a beautiful gift for someone. For information as to how you may subscribe for a friend, call SH 7-4419.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

Being a citizen of Lubbock, I think that it is of relevance and importance that this editorial be directed at the Black citizens of the "Hub City" and should be written in a Black paper since your motto is "Dedicated to informing the Negro Citizen of Lubbock" although I disagree with the terminology "Negro."

Before I begin, I want to clarify a few things so I won't be misconceived. I am a student of an all-white college, but I am also Black and I am proud. I am not trying to point an accusing finger at any one Black group or any one Black establishment, but I hope rather to discuss in an objective manner, a very paradoxical situation.

The Negro power structure can and often is as dangerous to the Black community as the white power structure because, as Black people, it is our duty, when possible, to employ, embrace and coerce the Black community (regardless of class or background) instead of using our Black brothers as a stepping stone for our own personal desires.

Our churches, our schools and our entertainment institutions must act simultaneously to correct the sort of "Black Bourgeoisie" complex that is so prevalent in our fair city. We as Blacks regardless of class are regarded as Blacks in society's eyes, it is only to the extent of our Blackness that we are prejudiced against.

Organizations such as ours, the Afro-American Association of Angelo State College, are earnestly working to tear down the attitude that prevails in so-called college students that we are in a sense better than our Black brothers in the ghetto, we are just more privileged. In order to tear down the apathy that prevails in the Black community every Black person must work together in making the Black community a power base, not only economically but intellectually because an enslaved mind is worse than an enslaved body.

Respectfully yours,
Arvid Ray Hicks, President
Afro-American Association
Angelo State College

Patrolman Britt Receives Award

A city patrolman, William H. Britt, received an award for distinguished service as a member of the Lubbock Police Department last week. Britt is a forerunner in the department who has helped establish communication between the community and law enforcement officials in the city of Lubbock.

The award, which was presented by Police Chief J. T. Alley in a ceremony including eleven other patrolmen, is meant to show the community how well they appreciate his talent. He is an example of true leadership portrayed by a citizen of our community.

Aside from this honor, he has worked diligently in an effort to curtail some of the shortcomings faced by the youth of our community.

Good Luck Officer Britt, and others, for a job well done. Lubbock needs more capable men like you!

Vandalism

George Scott, 1801 East 26th Street, reported to the Lubbock Police Department that some unknown person broke the front antenna off of his car while it was parked at his residence.

Burglary

John C. Walker, 3307 East 16th Street, owner of Walker Auto Clinic, at 2809 East Main, reported to the police department that someone entered his establishment one night last week and lifted it of several of his pieces equipment, including two steel head hammers.

Entry was apparently gained by kicking in the wall of the rear of the building. The value of the hammers taken was believed to be $10.

House Burglary

J. L. Mohnkeen, 3008 East Main, reported to the police department that someone broke into his house and took $34.00 worth of merchandise while he was away.

Entry was gained by merely breaking a window on the west side of the house. The damage to the window, which was broken, was believed to be $10.

Man With Gun

A lady summoned the police in regard to a man with a shotgun in her house. Police came and found that the man was in the house in a drunken condition and did have possession of a loaded shotgun.

Police found the man lying in bed asleep. He was quickly relieved of the gun and taken to the police department where he was booked.

Broken Window

Authur Simmons, 210 East Broadway, told police that someone unknown did throw a rock through a window of his service station.

The window was valued at $12.

Man In House

Hanna Freeman, 1707 Avenue E, told police that someone did ramsack her house while she was away.

Entry was apparently gained by taking a screen off a window and raising the window.

She discovered that the Xmas tree was knocked over and that she could not find anything missing.

last July. He expressed his thanks and appreciation to the Federation of Choirs, the ministers and friends who were so nice to him during his illness.

A special offering was accepted for W. B. "Hog" Hamilton who is ill in the hospital. A donation was sent to the Good Fellows Christmas Fund.

By special request, the Christmas carol, Joy to the World, was sung for Mrs. P. F. Younger who is 90 years old and yet quite active.

The next host church is St. Matthews Baptist Church, Rev. R. S. Stanley host pastor.

We are praying for the recovery of our beloved president, Brother Oscar M. Iles.

Maunita Terrell is secretary; G. C. Colvin is treasurer and vice presidents are A. L. Smith and Wilson Baldwin.

Final Rites Read For Eli Phylow At Crowell, Texas

Final rites were read for Eli Lidge Phylow, 61, of 1805 East 2nd Street, at the Hopesville Baptist Church at Crowell, Texas last Saturday afternoon with Rev. S. M. Simms, pastor, officiating.

Burial was held at Crowell Cemetery under direction of Jamison Funeral Home of Lubbock.

Phylow was found dead at 2:30 p.m. last Sunday in the 2100 block of East 37th Street.

A ruling of death by exposure was entered by Justice of the Peace Wayne LeCroy. The body was found in Phylow's auto parked near East 37th Street and Yucca Avenue at 2:30 p.m. Sunday, and apparently had been in the car 12 or 13 hours before being found, Judge LeCroy said.

According to authorities there was no evidence of violence action found.

Phylow lived in Lubbock the past 20 years. For the last several months he had been a janitor at Methodist Hospital.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Charlie Mae Phylow of Lubbock; five sons, Charles King and

Manuel King, Jr., both of Dallas; Alvin Phylow, Horace Phylow, both of Petersburg; and Tim Phylow of Houston; six daughters, Helen Williams of California; Dorothy Williams of Hawaii; Lucy
