H. E. W. Backs Original Findings In Ector County (Odessa) School Case

Odessa - The Ector County Independent School District Board of Trustees was told at a special meeting August 21st, that the original report of the team of investigators of the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare was correct and that changes would be required to meet the specifications of the Civil Rights Act of 1954. The inspection team, led by Don M. Vernon, a Negro, arrived in Odessa on Tuesday and spent a day and a half continuing its investigation of their prior charge that several schools in Odessa are still identifiable along ethnic lines. Previously the school board, after hearing the original report of the team notified the HEW that it believed the Odessa schools are complying with the law and left the next move up to the government. Vernon, an attorney, was introduced by Trustee Board Chairman J. E. Perkins. Mr. Vernon complimented the board on running what he referred to as a very fine school system and said, "We appreciate the very fine cooperation we have received." Vernon referred to the assignment of two supervisory officials of the Ector County Schools who took the team to wherever they wanted to go. Vernon referred to "vestiges" of a dual system, pointing out that Carver, Rusk, Travis, Milam and Hays elementary schools are identifiable as schools attended principally by minorities, referring to Mexican-American and Negro students. Vernon told the board that, although sanctions in the form of withholding federal funds are possible, the district would still be in violation of the law. The federal official said, "We do not have the authority to direct a school board to do anything. We can only state

Jackson State Tigers Get Set For Another Year, Maybe 9-0 Record

The Tigers of Jackson State College are facing many problems after a 6 - 3 record and the loss of 22 players from the '67 squad.

Because of the many gaps to be filled, this season could be said, "to be one of rebuilding."

Someone will have to replace the sensational Harold "00" Jackson, who was a 1966 Pittsburg Courier All-American. And don't forget John Outlaw, whose dependable 27.4 punt return average will be missed.

Coach Roderick Paige is optimistic about the upcoming season. He is assisted by Robert Hill, in his fifth season with the Tigers; Henry Lattimore, beginning his fourth under Paige; and William Gorden, beginning his second.

The Tigers this year will be young, with the will to win. Paige said, "I expect a 9 - 0 record."

OFFENSE

The Tigers scoring ability this year will be one to be reckoned with. Offensively the Tigers expect great things from James Anderson, 6'2", 220 lbs. Anderson is an outstanding blocker and aggressive.

Looking up for the on coming season is Richard Castor, 6'6", 215 lbs. Castor was the team's leader in pass receptions last season.

Included in this exclusive crowd of returning players is Jimmy Carr; 6'5", 240 lbs., whose agility enables him to play any offensive or defensive line position.

The position of signal-caller is uncertain with Robert Kelly, "the freshman sensation," Wilbert Vaughn and Freddie Jackson zeroing in on that target.

David Dowdell, 5'11", 135 lbs.

Weeds Once Again A Mess In East Lubbock

The rains have come and the weeds are plentiful in East Lubbock once again. Of course, the West Texas Times will gladly admit that this problem does not exist only in East Lubbock, and that the weed problem is noticeable throughout the city.

In looking at the situation from our standpoint, we feel as though a closer inspection should be made toward the private property owners in this community—since it appears as though these lots have not been touched. Granted, one time this summer the Urban Renewal Property was mowed but much of the privately owned property in this area has not seen so much as one blade all summer. At the same time, it would certainly help if the Urban Renewal property was mowed once again. There is a provision in the city ordinance making it possible for the city to mow these lots, if the property owner doesn't, in order to help keep the city clean and neat.

In regard to the motorist of this community, serious consideration should be given to the situation, since many of the corners are so obstructed that the neglect could constitute a traffic hazard.

Surely the City of Lubbock is concerned about preventing the lodging of the terrible mosquito, yet in looking at the situation at the present time, one would wonder if this area of the city has again been forgotten or maybe just overlooked accidentally.

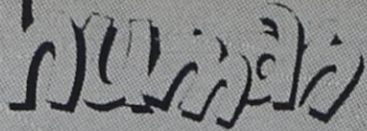

Perhaps at this point the City will reconsider this situation and start to erase this unsanitary problem in order to help remove the rodents and insects that this kind of problem helps encourage. At the present time, it remains to be seen just what actions the City of Lubbock will take to help.

GRAFFITI

Back in Neanderthal days, cave men drew paintings on cave walls. Today, a different brand of artists write on the washroom and subway walls. Columnist Norton Mockridge has "immortalized" the world of graffiti in "The Scrawl of the Wild," (World, $3.50). Here are a few by that great author, Anonymous: Death is Nature's Way of Telling You to Slow Down, Support Mental Health or I'll Kill You, Marshall McLuhan Reads Books, In Case of Atomic Attack, the Federal Ruling Against Prayer In Schools Will be Temporarily Suspended.

Every now and then go away, have a little relaxation, for when you come back to your work your judgement will be surer since to remain constantly at work will cause you to lose power of judgement . . . Go some distance away because then the work appears smaller and more of it can be taken in at a glance and a lack of harmony and proportion is more readily seen. —Leonardo da Vinci

THE RIGHT PEOPLE

Stephen Birmingham's book on "The Right People," (Little, Brown, $10) is not about reformers, revolutionists or the ultra-right. It is a description of the "Real Society," the social establishment in America. Perhaps the best review of the book is a definition I once heard: "Upper Crust—A bunch of crumbs held together by dough."

ROOTS OF ANGER

A new book, "Black Rage," by Negro psychiatrists William H. Grier and Price M. Cobbs (Basic Books, $5.95), vividly illustrates how white racism still forces American blacks "to a degree that approaches paranoia" to be "ever alert to danger from their white fellow citizens...a posture so close to paranoid thinking that the mental disorder into which black people most frequently fall is paranoid psychosis."

The book makes us aware that beneath the "cool" style and the syndrome of ingratiating deference and passivity, the Negro has been spending enormous amounts of psychic energy to mask his suffering and rage.

"As a sapling bent low stores energy for a violent backswing," the authors insist, "blacks bent double by oppression have stored energy which will be released in the form of rage—black rage, apocalyptic and final."

"Under slavery," the authors write, "the black man was a psychologically emasculated and totally dependent human being. Times and conditions have changed, but black men continue to exhibit the inhibitions and psychopathology that had their genesis in the slave experience."

These traits that American Negroes found it necessary to acquire included cultural paranoia (every white man and every social system is the enemy until proven otherwise), cultural depression (sadness and intimacy with misery) and cultural antisocialism (an "accurate reading of one's environment" in which laws are never quite respected because they are believed to be designed to protect white men, not Negroes).

To "attempt to remove such traits by treatment," the psychiatrists write, "would be akin to analyzing away a hunter's cunning or a banker's prudence. This is a body of characteristics essential to life for black men in America and woe be unto that therapist who does not recognize it."

We cannot deal with such massive black rage with temporary summer jobs or other palliatives. The latest reports of the Kerner Commission on Civil Disorders make it clear that it is not Negro criminals but a large segment of America's blacks who share this rage. Senator Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma reminds us that black rage is the result of our failure, after 300 years, to permit black Americans "to find an identity, a sense of worth, to relate to others, to love, to work, and to create." Only by assuring black Americans massive economic aid and control over their own destinies can we hope to avoid catastrophe.

WATCH THAT LULLABY

Chinese Communists are still working overtime to root out dangerous imperialist influences. Shanghai's Wen Hwei Pao, a newspaper designed for intellectuals, reported the case of a woman who sang a foreign lullaby on Shanghai's Route 25 trolley bus. It provoked a heated debate, with some Chinese Reds insisting the lullaby was having a "demoralizing influence" on the other passengers. They suggested that she should sing "A Long, Long Life to Chairman Mao" instead. That, I gather, was guaranteed to put everybody to sleep.

EGYPT OVER BIAFRA

Some black extremists who have been hailing Nasser as a champion of the black world are having trouble reconciling their line with the fact that Nasser has sent Egyptian pilots to fly Soviet MIG jets to strafe and bomb schools, markets and hospitals in Biafra, Nigeria's rebellious state.

Some of the heaviest damage was done to a hospital run by Presbyterian missionaries. A large Red Cross flag flew high above the hospital, whose cor-

NPI PRE-CONVENTION NEWS CAST

Chicago, braces itself for what is predicted to be the greatest battle of this year's political clod-hopping campaign. Veep Humphrey's forces claim a slight edge in the battle for Capitol Hill. But there is a slight indication that the Texas Rancher may recuperate from his dropout position and be forced to take over the Humphrey contingent. This would be a serious blow to the attacking forces of McCarthy, McGovern, and the latest Georgia Valley entry, who are presently holding seige on the Hill.

There are more problems than communication facing the Windy City battleground. The "hack" strike will hamper transportation facilities. And it is doubted that Defense General Mayor Daley's anti-riot alert can stave off hectic demonstrations.

Sharp focus has shifted from the McCarthy and McGovern wings to the Maddox and Wallace Racrats. A sizable contingent of the defecting party throngs hail Maddox as a converted conservative who has changed his former bloody segregation cloak and is trying to camouflage his attack with equal opportunity leanings.

The Alabama rear guard holds the edge when the voting attack starts. In all probability they will place Gorgeous George's nomination in the battle-line first. While Wallace is running on his own Un-American Party banner, his supporters feel a psychological advantage point can be gained by placing his name before the convention. Wallace strategists, according to intelligence reports, feel that maybe it would be more effective for the 'Bama hopefuls to yield to the Georgia delegation on the first ballot, because the defecting forces, within the convention, may not reject Maddox as much as Wallace.

McGovern, who claims to have taken over the Kennedy forces, has drawn little enthusiasm in his bid. He has, however, boosted his stock as a possible running mate to Humphrey. But the Humphrey bid hinges on whether or not LBJ is forced out of his dropout position. If Johnson's name is entered into nomination—a move that probably will come from the Illinois delegation, if they can get an early switch from Arizona or Arkansas—Veep Humphrey may do a right-about-face and switch his delegation support to the President. But this prognostication is only a result of other pending developments.

The Key to the whole strategy is the drafting of the platform.

If The Platform embraces, in no uncertain terms, the ideological projection of all the candidates, and LBJ's name is placed in the nomination draft early—with a smoke-room promise of cabinet posts and even a switch in the Supreme court appointees—convention maneuvering could revert from a factional battle-royal to a Sunday mornign prayer meeting spectra.

Gene McCarthy, who has been the most vocal contestant against the administration, practically threw in the towel when he hinted that it will be hard to stop Humphrey on the first ballot.

Maddox, on the heels of his masterful announcement of his candidacy, placed himself in a precarious position as a possible within-the-party stop gap to the Wallace November inroads. There is really no rigid bitterness between the four Democratic hopefuls, and it is possible that through the context of a broad platform, outlining specifics, the convention could very well develop into a political "love-feast."

Another Situation that presently shows no national significance, but no doubt, a thorny implication, is the Texas anti-Connally feud. The liberal Texas forces are set on blocking any move to place the Texas governor in line for the ticket's second spot—a position he has denied having any desire for. A Johnson-Humphrey, or a Humphrey-McGovern ticket would allay this contingent.

Another All-Healing possibility could be a Florida entry into the spectra of political deals. In the background is still the 1960 Convention keynoter, former Governor LeRoy Collins.

And that's the way it looks from here.

rugated iron roofs were daubed with red crosses. Nevertheless, in two separate raids, the Egyptian MIG pilots bombed the hospital and sprayed the area with cannon fire. One Scottish doctor, gazing at his dead and wounded patients, had one explanation: "I suppose they are doing this to us because they can't do it to the Israelis."

Around the Hub City

Around The Hub City was glad to learn last week that Christ Temple Church of God in Christ, Bishop W. D. Haynes, minister, is in the process of building a day care center for the boys and girls of our community.

For several weeks, members of this congregation have been soliciting funds to help in this effort. As of this time, many establishments in the City of Lubbock have given contributions to this endeavor.

According to Rev. Haynes, the day care center will be located at the corner of Elm Avenue and East 24th Street.

This is a good move for this religious institution. Around The Hub City will be looking for further developments toward this most needed project.

Man in White Hat Grabs Purse—Runs

A 30 year-old man wearing a big white hat grabbed Patsy Terry's purse as she came out of the Shenandoah Lounge at 500 East 34th Street, last week.

According to Patsy, she had just come from the building where the man was standing, and he grabbed her purse and ran toward Globe Avenue.

The purse contained only five dollars and some valuable papers. If the man in the white hat would be so kind as to bring the purse back with the valuable papers, I'm sure Patsy would be happy.

Next time Patsy, beware of men in white hats.

Burglary at Holiness Church

If you think people won't break into the Lord's House, just ask Brother Vernon McGrew. According to Brother McGrew, someone broke into the Holiness Church, 1614 Vanda Avenue, and took a guitar and amplifier which were valued at $150.00.

The burglar came through a window by merely prying the screen off. McGrew has no idea who could have taken the musical instruments, but he admits that he can easily identify them.

Theft
Willie A. Thomas, 1510 East 6th Street, reported that someone took a rotary mower from his back yard.

According to Thomas, the $71 mower was minding its own business when someone decided to take it with them.

Destruction of Property Over $50.00 in Value

Mrs. Novela Cain, 1920 East 1st Place, told police that someone beat the windshield out of her car. According to Mrs. Cain, the window was completely shattered.

She knew who was responsible for the damage and would definitely file charges on the subject.

Dear Editor:

I, Mrs. Pearlina Rucker, the wife of Jimmie Rucker who is a native of Lubbock, Texas and who worked for Purina for fifteen years, is asking for your help.

I have a little girl about six years of age who has been left in my care. In order to enroll her in school, I need her birth certificate. This little girl has never been to public school except for Head Start and I want YOU to help me to send her to school to get an education.

The child doesn't know her grandmother or aunts' addresses but she does know their names. I have enclosed on another paper with all the information that I have regarding her relatives.

I am sending you a couple of pictures of the little girl and also $5.00 to be used to get her birth certificate.

So I am asking you to PLEASE help me to help her for she really needs to go to school. I know her mother but she is no longer out here and I have been unable to get in touch with her.

In appreciation, I, and a former resident of Lubbock, Texas, Mrs. Ethelean McGee would, like to subscribe to your paper for one year. Our addresses are listed below.

Please give me a reply as soon as possible. My husband's father lives at 2509 Cedar Avenue.

Thank you again for your assistance and send me a bill for the two subscriptions.

With Sincere Gratitude,
Mrs. Pearlina Rucker

to them that the law is present and that there must be compliance with the law." Mr. Vernon cited three areas in which the Odessa schools lacked compliance. When queried by one board member if the team suggests additional busing of students, Vernon replied that more than 1,800 students are already being bussed in Ector County and it is possible that no more than that number would need to be bussed in order to arrive at compliance with the law. Vernon was accompanied by four other investigators, including Richard Waters, also a Negro. Superintendent Floyd Manry asked if a written report could be sent to the school board for further study and was told that he would receive such a report shortly after the team's return to their offices. Board President Perkins thanked the team for their attention to the situation and dismissed the meeting.

Ancient Headache Malady May Soon Be Beaten

Mankind has been complaining about headache for thousands of years — the pulsating jungle drums inside the skull come and go, and come again.

Although science has come up with a solution to many a problem which has threatened the human race, the common, everyday headache still throbs, leaving the hapless victims at a loss for guaranteed relief, much less any assurance that another will not occur later.

There is now hope for a positive headache cure which is startlingly close to being a promise. One group of scientists has uncovered a cause, perhaps the cause, and they are doing an impressive job with it.

Headaches are traditionally treated with chemical substances and sometimes with extremes of temperature as with the ice bag. In times past, even hot packs have been tried—the sufferer would put a hot towel on his middle in the hope the blood would be pulled into his abdomen, thus relieving the pressure in his pounding skull.

History describes natives who let headache pressure out by cutting a hole in the top of the patient's head with a sharp stone; witches attempted both black and white magic; and others hopefully followed the prescription of swallowing a dog's hair with a glass of water. On the modern scene, pills, though sanitary, sometimes kill pain temporarily but blaim no curative value.

The secret of any cure is in controlling or removing the cause.

It is the Doctor of Chiropractic who has been busy with the problem from an entirely different approach than other healing professions have attempted.

Through extensive clinical research, the world of Chiropractic has pin pointed the cause of most headaches at the base of the skull, where subluxation, or misalignment of the spinal bones, brings pressure on some of the nerves within the spinal cord.

In the past, those suffering from headache caused by nerve pressure were tricked into thinking the head or blood pressure was what should be treated, while all the time the problem lay in the spinal column.

Once this nerve pressure is relieved, the headache victim is on his way to recovery if that was his problem.

Man, after suffering the common headache for 5,000 years or more, can now hold out hope for routine and permanent relief.
